This mortgage is the most discolored most likely from water damage of all the mortgages in the collection. The stains are white in color and are concentrated along the creases but also of "This Indenture" at the top and along the bottom edge. However, stains of various sizes are all over the paper. There are holes along the creases and especially where the four vertical folds intersect with the single horizontal fold. There is a dark stain near the bottom left corner of the paper that moves straight right from the left edge about 2 inches. There is also a dark stain in the top right corner.
