HONG KONG INTERNATIONAL SCHOOL

A coeductional private day school, Hong Kong International School serves those in the international community who seek an American college preparatory education in a Christian context.

Well into its second decade, HKIS, accredited by the Western Association of School and Colleges, has an established identity, a clear purpose and a record of achievement. The emphasis continues to be the traditions of its founding: academic excellence, Christian teaching and living, and concern for the overall development of the individual.

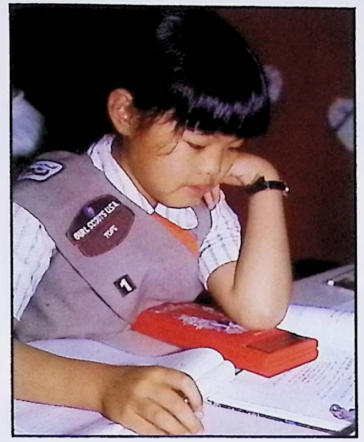
HKIS has two well-designed, air-conditioned buildings with two gymnasiums, a chapel and performing arts center, music and art studios, two libraries, science labs and a computer facility.

The student body represents 34 nations with the majority American. Professional faculty (120) and support staff (60) serve a student body of 1,360 in grades K-12.

Elementary Division (kindergarten — grade 6)

The program at this level operates in "open space" facilities which provide a flexible learning environment designed to meet individual needs. A cluster contains 90-100 students with 4 teachers and two aides. Each child belongs to a class group of about 25 students.

The elementary faculty includes specialists in art, music, computer, Chinese culture, P. E., library and counselling.



Junior High (grades 7 — 8)

Junior high students operate from a homeroom base. Each homeroom teacher is responsible for teaching language arts, social studies, and religion, enabling a student to spend half a day with his/her homeroom teacher. The relationship developed between student and teacher assists a homeroom teacher in monitoring each student's academic and social growth. Mathematics, science, foreign languages (French, Spanish, Mandarin), P.E., art and music complete a student's weekly schedule.

The junior high sponsors an after school Rice Bowl program which is a series of homeroom athletic and academic competitions throughout the year.

Senior High (grades 9 — 12)

At HKIS, where over 90% proceed to college, the curriculum emphasis is college preparatory. Courses are offered in Asian Studies, computer studies, English, foreign languages (French, Spanish, Cantonese and Mandarin), guidance, life skills, mathematics, religious studies, science, social studies, visual arts and P.E.

Students are encouraged to be active in planning their course of studies and may choose independent study projects; seniors may participate in a senior option which allows them to take their final semester with a blend of coursework and experiences out of the school environment.

High school students annually participate in an INTERIM program, a week of cultural explorations in Hong Kong and overseas.

The underlying philosophy: a liberal arts education is not only the best preparation for college, but also sound preparation for meeting the demands of the world.
