Her mother took care of the family and did a small amount of work. Both of her parents spoke Oneida. Elizabeth first went to school in Wittenburg and then Tomah. She also went to a government school. She got married in 1948 in Chicago. There in Chicago she worked in a hospital until she retired. Sarah (her mother) did some lace work. Her mother used herbs for sickness. Elizabeth remembers that corn soup and corn bread was a special meal. Around the years of 1980 or 1981 Elizabeth moved back to Oneida. She remarried and lived on H. Her advice to young people is to, "Stay in school, and not just high school either." She also thinks that things are good in Oneida since she moved back.
