Dear friends:

We, the United States Delegation to the International Civil Aviation Organization (ICAO), a United Nations Specialized Agency, thought that you who love and admire Christa McAuliffe, would like to see the spontaneous outpouring of sympathy and respect that we received, in several cases only a few minutes after her death.

Enclosed are letters that we received from a high-ranking ICAO secretariat member who happens to be a Soviet citizen, from the delegation of Canada, from the European delegations of the USSR and the Federal Republic of Germany, from the African delegations of Algeria, Egypt, and Madagascar, and from the Far Eastern delegations of Indonesia and Australia. Some Latin American delegations such as Guatemala and Mexico came to our offices to express the sympathy of their people.

The President of the Council, who happens to be from Lebanon, also made the enclosed public announcement of condolences on behalf of the 33 countries with delegations to ICAO here in Montreal.

Yours sincerely,

Edmund Stöhr
