"L" Day—and most of us will be trudging upward toward the letter that signifies the spirit of LaVerne college. It is a long, sometimes hard climb; but the view from the mountain and the feeling of success at having gained the heights more than compensates for the arduous climb. So it is in life—at times we can scarcely se the goal for which we are striving; sometimes the going is rough and we scarcely have strength to reach the top. But when we have achieved the end, when we have attained the ideal which we set for ourselves, we feel the same thrill of success and renewing of spirit that we sense when we reach the "L".

The "L" stands for more than the name La Verne. It is a symbol of all for which we stand. The chorus of the "Guide of La Verne" sums up for this spirit of the "L".

"Guide of LaVerne, you will ever bring glory
To all who learn to revere and adore thee,
Our "L" is a symbol of freedom,
Of loyalty, hope, and of love,
On! On! Upward with might Towards the light above."

Letter Cleaned By Freshman Class On Traditional Day

Cleaning the "L" today is the Friday education of the frosh. By tradition they have charge of seeing that the "L" is cleared of brush and undergrowth.

After the letter is cleaned, all the students hike down to Brown's Flats for a leisurely lunch and a game of ball. In the evening, when all have returned from the mountains, the entire student body will gather at San Dimas park, where the sophomores, under the direction of Dorothy Holmes. Marie Sarafian, Jewel Niswander, and Madge Fischer, will serve a picnic supper. Frances Kutchback and Hal Michael will direct the juniors in the program.

Examin Her

By Mrs. Hen and the Cackle Sisters

"Resolved: That Mr. Woody would make a better dorm matron than Mrs. Holsinger." This was the subject of a heated debate in the dorm Monday night. The affirmative was upheld by Roberta Jenkinson and the negative by Frances Pineo. The judge, Olive "Solomon" Burnette, decided that Wit Hoover would be the best matron.

Musical Tea

An interesting and detailed account of Lauritz Melchior's life was given by Professor Reed at the second Musical Tea, Tuesday afternoon at the home of Lois and Miriam Myer. The freshman girls served punch and cookies.

The musical teas are given before each number on the Artist Course. An interesting talk is given about the artist who is to appear. These accounts lead to a fuller appreciation of the concert.

Slumberless Party

An exciting slumber,—or should we say, slumberless party was given by Hildegard Weiss for several of her lucky girl friends the evening before Armistice Day. Those who attended were Hazel Beekly, "Penny" Penland, Doris Meacham, Madge Fischer, Gladys Lininger, Margaret Grant, and the hostess, Hildegard. They ate, talked, and performed gymnastics until the wee hours of the morning. What fun!

PROFESSOR REED SINGS AT Y.M.C.A. PEP MEETING

Twenty-five men held a short Y. M.C.A. meeting Friday morning which featured three vocal numbers by Professor Harold Reed.

In the absence of Sam Ellenberger, president, Professor Ralph Travis took charge of the meeting. The assembly was adjourned after the singing of popular songs directed by Ralph Mangun and accompanied at the piano by Gladden Boaz.

A Cappella Choir Presents Program Monday

As you know or perhaps you do not know, the A Cappella Choir is sponsoring two plays, "Coincidence" and the "Finger of God." Don Sperline and Rube Callison put forth their efforts in "Coincidence". Jean Backner, Hal Micheal, and Eddie Bamber dramatize "The Finger of God."

Patricia Packard and Rube Callison will provide vocal numbers.

Professor "Quiz" is to be present and sponsor a contest. Anyone desiring to participate can get more details from Prof. Travis. Cash prizes are to be awarded to the winners.

Let's see everyone in the College Auditorium, Monday evening, Nov. 22, at 8:17 p. m. A small admission fee will be charged.

STUDENTS OBSERVE MORNING WATCH

At last we have on our campus what many students have been asking for—a period for quiet meditation. Each Tuesday and Thursday morning from 6:15 to 6:30 is held our Morning Watch devotional period. These [illegible]gs give us a chance to think together on indilvidual and group problems. We who have attended invite you to be with us.

LaVerne College Women Defeat Pomona Jaysee 70-9 and 23-18

Coach Hank Lloyd Tenders Resignation Effective in June

Coach Hank Lloyd has turned in his resignation as head coach, to take effect in June when his contract expires. This news was first revealed by President Studebaker at a special meeting of the varsity football team Tuesday morning. Coach Lloyd has been at La Verne two years, having come from Santa Barbara where he was freshman coach.

Routing Pomona Jaysee to the tune of 70-9, the lower division proved they are basketball players. The first team also beat Pomona 23-18.

The first team game was fast and closely contested. The score was 10 up at the end of the first quarter.

The fast and efficient lower division team was led in scoring honors by "Flash" Fischer who made 27 points. "Fuzzy" Meacham, handicapped by a hand injuy, made 18; she was closely followed by Weiss with 16 points.

Lorine Larimer was high point for the uppers with 10 points to her credit. Outstanding guards were Vaniman and Newcomer.

First team: Penland, Larimer, Flarup, forwards; Myer, Miller, Shirley, guards; Brownsberger, Burnette, Vaniman, Smith, substitutes.

Lower division: Meacham, Fischer, Bowser, forwards; Holmes, Whisler, Newcomer, guards; Weiss, Leonard, substitutes.

Monday the Leopard women meet Citrus J.C. in a return game here.

Sport Shots

Armistice Day found our Leopards in Flagstaff, Arizona, where they lost a game and won it. At least, they would have, had the game been divided into two separate games, because the first half found them outplayed and behind 20-0, but the second half was entirely reversed with LaVerne holding the upper hand and scoring a touchdown while Arizona went scoreless.

This week the Leopards are taking it easy because they have a bye before their final game with Whittier a week from Saturday afternoon at Whittier.

Frosh Downed

Capitalizing on breaks, Oceanside J.C. defeated the LaVerne frosh 39-0 at Oceanside last Thursday. Completed passes from La Verne to Oceanside seemed to be the deciding factor in favor of the beach team, because in straight football the freshmen were able to hold the J.C. fairly even.

Jack Kissel, freshman punter and backfield star, broke his leg in the game, bringing the total of two broken legs on the LaVerne campus because of football this season.

Intramural Football

The freshmen six-man football team secured a firm hold on the cellar positon this week when they bowed to the sophomores 41-18 and to the seniors 35-27. This completed the round robin between classes and finds the following

At last Suzanna's got company again. Since Bill and Galen's girl friends left them, Suzanna's been lonesome; but Meacham and Hiemie have fixed that up.

Its' certainly been a dull time for the Cackle girls. They've hardly had a good gossip in a. week Any choice tidbit would be appreciated. Just address it to the Misses Hear Sumpin and Changeit Around Cackle.

Whooz Hooey

A couple of nice quiet sophomores are the La Verne limelighters this week. The girl has black hair, sparkling brown eyes and an ever ready friendly smile. She's an A student and is always willing to help out a friend when it comes to lending class notes, but she doesn't go around demonstrating her intellectual superiority—she's very modest about it.

The fellow is very handsome and what a physique—but is he bashful! At least, that's what the gals around here think. They say he's smart, but he's not overly conscientious about studying his French —but then, he has a natural gift for that.

Last wek: Frances Kutchback, Bob Elliott.

ATLANTIC MONTHLYS DONATED TO LIBRARY BY POMONA COLLEGE

The La Verne College Library now has an almost complete file of Atlantic Monthlys from 1859 to the present date. A recent gift of some three dozen volumes from the Pomona College Library filled in some of the larger gaps. The books were originally owned by Mrs. P. E. Spalding and were the gift of her daughter to the Pomona Library who thoughtfully gave them to us.

Would You Believe It:

That many of the fairer sex of the upper classes would like to know the secret of the popularity of a certain frosh girl with our senior Romeo, "Johnny" Johnson?

That "Mendy" claims he no longer has a girl friend at L.V.C.? (Here's a chance for some of you fun-loving co-eds.)

That even though they get very little publicity, Leatha Flora and Miriam Myer are very interesting to know?

That we disagree with some of the statements made by the author of the "Guess Hooey" two weeks ago when it was falsely stated that the feminine element in the chem. class thinks only of the curly hair of their lab, assistant? (We think Cliff teaches us a lot, and not about curly hair, either).

That whenever you "run down" the school you belong to, you are "running down" yourself, for "It isn't the school, it's you!"?

That Madge, upon being told that lots of people would like to be her sister-in-law, said that she wished lots of people would like to be Bob's brother-in-law?

That we realize we haven't said anything in this article so we are going to stop before we go on saying nothing?

"Be careful for nothing; but in every thing by prayer and supplication with thanksgiving let your requests be made known unto God. And the peace of God, which passeth all understanding, shall keep your hearts and minds through Christ Jesus." —Philippians 4:6, 7.

WE THANK THEE, LORD

In the midst of turbulent times—labor unrest and stock market difficulties at home, and in other nations "wars and rumors of wars"—how very fortunate we are in this favored little section of beautiful Southern California! True it is that we have had a share in the difficulties which have wracked the nation, we have suffered a severe freeze and have expended much money in our effort to protect our fruit and our trees, but still we say, how very fortunate we are!

Perhaps we are inclined to pat ourselves on the back and credit our good judgment in bringing us to this good land. Perhaps we can thank our parents for bringing us here; but even so, is it through any merit of ours that we have been touched so lightly with the difficulties that are abroad in the world today?

Our nation has failed in many respects of being a truly Christian nation, but through all the years since the founding of our country, the chief executive of the United States has made it a point to set aside one day for reverent thanks to the Almighty Ruler for the blessings received.

How prone we are to take credit to ourselves for the good things of life, and to blame Providence for the evil. We accept the sunshine and favorable rainfall and work with them and say, "We have done well this year." Another year comes with freezing weather, too much dampness or some other condition that is not for the highest development of our fruit crops, and we say. "Fate has been against me this year."

The Good Book admonishes us, "in everything, give thanks," but we are apt to set our wisdom above it and give thanks only for that which pleases us. As a people we should approach this Thanksgiving day very humbly and reverently, give thanks for the Guiding Hand that is offered us, and pray earnestly that all—government officials and people—may have the ability to see and follow that guidance.

At this time we are not praising the administration of our government for the things that seem good to us, nor are we condemning them for those things that seem wrong. We are thanking the Giver of Life for His blessings, praising Him for His wisdom and mercies, and reverently asking for wisdom and ability to walk [illegible]ps as He leads [illegible]e way. WOLFSKILL—THE FIRST ORANGE GROWER

While San Diego Mission was founded as early as 1769, it was not founded as a pueblo with families of settlers, but only with the priests and the soldiers who built a presidio as protection against the Indians. Jose de Galvez, at that time viceroy in Mexico, representing the authority of the King of Spain, however, desired to colonize California, and commissioned Felipe de Neve as Governor to carry out the colonization projects.

Last week in this column we told of the founding of Los Angeles by de Neve in 1781, but Los Angeles was not the first of the pueblos officially founded by authority of the Spanish crown. The padres had noted an attractive fertile spot near the Mission Santa Clara on a stream then known as the Rio Guadalupe. This is the present city of San Jose. It was founded in November, 1777, and ranks as California's first organized pueblo. Fourteen families comprised the settlement, made up for the most part of retired soldiers of the presidios of Monterey and San Francisco. The idea of colonization was to make a start in California for agricultural communities which would grow the needed food supplies for the presidios. De Neve, however, found that the settlement at San Jose of old soldiers to till the soil was a failure and hence sought Mexican farmers for his next colonization project—Los Angeles.

We have already called attention to these settlers of whom only two were Spanish. Three of the families were of such evil repute that they soon moved elsewhere "by request." The little community grew very slowly and there is nothing of historic interest in its development until the Americans came, some by vessel and some across the mountains—traders, trappers and hunters of the pioneer age which has passed.

Southern California had in the early part of the nineteenth century been parcelled out by various governors to prominent Spanish families, giving them large acreages of land, often 50,000 to 100,-

War Talk:

A great many s[illegible]eriously inclined people here in Wa[illegible]shington are beginning to be wor[illegible]ried about the possibility of our [illegible] country being pulled into a war[illegible] Most of them seem to think tha[illegible] the best thing Uncle Sam can do [illegible]is to stay home and mind his own [illegible] business. For some time that ha[illegible]s been the policy of the United [illegible] States, but now the administration [illegible] has apparently come to the conclu[illegible]sion that a new policy is necessa[illegible]ry — that the United States mus[illegible]t take an active part in policing [illegible]the world and frightening the "[illegible]ad boy" nations so that they will [illegible]behave.

This about-face [illegible]in the policy of the administration [illegible]is bad news to a lot of people. Th[illegible]ey say that with circumstances as [illegible]they are right now it will be pr[illegible]tty hopeless for us to attempt to [illegible]make Italy or Japan or Germany [illegible]or anybody else behave. Those co[illegible]untries are desperate—their dicta[illegible]torial rulers are fanatical men of [illegible]passion—and if anybody provokes [illegible]them too much there will be a w[illegible]ar. The truth is the situation, it s[illegible]eems to us, is something like th[illegible]is: No matter what we do there [illegible]s almost certain to be a war in e[illegible]ither Europe or Asia—to be realis[illegible]tic, and sweep aside all this fo[illegible]olish diplomatic terminology about [illegible]"punitive expeditions," "justi[illegible]able reprisals," and the like, the[illegible] actually is a state of war rig[illegible]t now in Spain and China. We ca[illegible] take our choice of jumping into it [illegible]or staying out—in neither case w[illegible]ll we be able to stop it. The most [illegible]sensible thing to do, say people w[illegible]ho are anxious about peace, is t[illegible] stay out of all foreign wars.

For a long [illegible] we have endeavored to think ou[illegible]arefuliy the attitude we as an [illegible]vidual ought to adopt in case t[illegible] United States ever gets into ano[illegible]her foreign war. Just what we wou[illegible]d do under the actual pressure of [illegible]war propaganda of course we can't [illegible]ell now, but we think that while [illegible]e still have the ability to reason [illegible]almly we know what we should do.

The problem, to [illegible] our mind, is simple. Killing pe[illegible]ople is wrong, whether we walk [illegible]ut in the street in ordinary clothes[illegible], whip out a knife, and begin [illegible] carve any pas-is quoted as saying that "War is an exhilirating sport!" But we believe that sort of attitude is absolutely inhuman, and as a matter of principle we will never, while in our right mind, go outside the borders of this country to fight in a war.

However, we know that it takes more courage not to go than it does to march off with all the other boys, and we would have to be tested with the actual condition before we could positively say that under no circumstances would we go to fight in a foreign war. We know that it would be wrong, and we hope we have the courage, no matter what might happen to us, not to go; but we might be weak enough to relinquish our principles under the pressure of war time propaganda.

We think that a war here at home to repel an invasion is a different matter. We don't suppose anybody would be foolhardy enough to attack this country, but should that happen we think we would run as quickly as anybody else to push the invaders back.

When we have time for philosophical speculation we are sure that killing people even under these circumstances is wrong. But still, there is something different about it, and although we might not be able to justify it in theory, even so we know that there are certain subconscious promptings and instincts that would make us rush to defend this country from the attack of a foreign invader.

The great curse of war is not the killing of soldiers and the destruction of cities. Men and women who survive the experience of war are far worse off than the dead. All sensitivity toward goodness, toward truth and toward beauty is coarsened by war. All principles and standards are trampled on with filthy boots, and the debasing after effect is the real price we pay for the folly of war.

We emphatically do not believe that it is "silly for people to fret over these problems." Precisely the thing this country needs is a lot more people doing some intelligent fretting. If nobody ever worries about it, it will never be pos-

Siam, Formerly Ruled by an Absolute Monarch, is now ruled by a "Big Three" a kind of regency during the minority of King Ananda Mahidol, who was elected king when 11 years old, in 1935, when his uncle, King Prajadhipok resigned. Siam has a population of 12,000,000, of whom about 3,000,000 are Siamese and the others principally Chinese and mixed races. Observers say that Siam shows tendencies both towards a democracy and a dictatorship. As in other oriental countries Japan is seeking control in Siam. At the present time the government is spending fifty millions for armaments. The Foreign Minister, however, says Siam wants to take a neutral position like Belgium and Switzerland.

A War Resisters International has members in 68 countries. Although there is no war in any of these countries except Spain, yet it is illegal to hold membership in this organization and hundreds are in jail or concentration camps because of it. Italy, France, Russia, Germany, Bulgaria, Yugoslavia, Rumania, Belgium, the Netherlands, Switzerland and other countries have imprisoned men of military age who have refused military training. The War Resisters League of the United States has 13,000 in its membership and is growing. The War Resisters declare: "War is a crime against humanity. We therefore are determined not to support any kind of war and to strive for the removal of all causes of war."

Death Valley has Been Found to Have 26 Species of Mammals, ranging in size from field mice to coyotes. Prof. Grinnell, of the University of California, who has made a study of these conditions believes that these animals exist on very little water as little evidence could be found that they visited water holes even when near at hand. Dr. Grinnell has called the attention of tourists and campers to the fact that that the wild life in the valley can escape only from their enemies by seeking security in mesquite, hence mesquite should be preserved. Watering places have also been provided for the mountain sheep so that tourists may see these big horns of the desert.

COMMUNITY PRIDE

We felt a real glow of pride last Thursday as the Armistice Day parade came down the street, to think that this was in OUR town, those were OUR school children, OUR American Legion, OUR Boy Scouts, OUR W.C.T.U., OUR library, in fact, OUR community in a united fashion.

It did us good to get out and mingle socially with our neighbors—not only those of our city block, but all our neighbors of La Verne. And maybe some of us were a little surprised that there were so many good looking and pleasant people right here in La Verne. We had a good time together, our kiddies had a grand time, and the older folks laughed and chatted together of the present and of other days. It was really worth while.

And next year? Next year we will do better. We'll plan longer ahead of time for entries in the parade, we'll have costumes and floats—the W.C.T.U. did it, the rest of us can, too. We'll have a big time, and we'll let everybody in this section of the county know that La Verne is on the map—that we are a friendly town, and a town where our people work together for the good of all.

That's cooperation! That's community spirit! That's the spirit of La Verne!

HAVE YOU DONE YOUR BEST?

The Community Chest Drive is under way in LaVerne, and each one of us has been given an opportunity to contribute something to help those less fortunate than ourselves, and also to provide wholesome, uplifting recreation for our boys and girls here in our own community.

Have you done your best? You are the best judge of that question. You know your resources and the demands that are made upon them, and no one else is capable of being the judge. A gift of a few dollars from one family may mean sacrifice and privation, where ten or a hundred times that amount would be scarcely felt in another.

Let us each one give something—and give as we have been prospered, that our youth may have opportunities to grow into clean manhood and womanhood, and that none shall go hungry in our midst. You know your ability. Do your full share and then double it.

I do know something of broken hearts and homes, and I do believe that too many of them may be traced to bridge-playing mothers. —Mrs. Alexander M. Damon, Salvation Army official.

A moment's insight is sometimes worth a life's experience.—Oliver Wendell Holmes.

With Fall ushering in the rainy season motorists planning mountain trips should carry chains as an extra safety precaution, advises the touring bureau of the Automobile Club of Southern California. Many mountain roads are of dirt construction and become dangerous when wet or covered with snow.

large herds of sheep and cattle were kept, and the rancheros had a small army of vaqueros and retainers. Many of them lived in princely style, offering generous hospitality to all comers. The several periods of drought in the 1860's and 1870's ruined many of these great land owners, who were compelled to borrow money which they could not afterwards repay and thus lost their great land holdings. Nearly all the great ranches such as the San Jose rancho, now the Pomona valley, were thus thrown on the market and with the "coming of the gringos," were subdivided and are now occupied by farms and fruit orchards and by prosperous cities and towns.

William Wolfskill was one of the early pioneers coming to Los Angeles overland from Santa Fe. He was a Kentucky trapper and came to the San Joaquin valley with a caravan to trade bright serapes and fresadas with the Indians for beaver skins. They also traded for mules with the ranchers.

Wolfskill remained at Los Angeles and married into the Lugo family. He secured a large tract of land centering about the present Southern Pacific depot, and built a comfortable adobe home, which remained on its site on Central avenue for some years after this writer came to Los Angeles in 1883.

Wolfskill first planted his land to grapevines. In 1841 he planted two acres to oranges as an experiment, but by 1860 he had one hundred acres in oranges and was shipping the golden fruit commercially—before the days of the railroad. However, while Wolfskill is recognized as the father of the industry in California, Jean Vignes planted the first orange trees in Los Angeles on his vineyard on Aliso street. His stock came from Mission San Gabriel where the padres doubtless had planted the original trees grown in California.

Jonathan Warner was another pioneer who came with Wolfskill and also achieved prominence. He married into the Pico family. He was from Connecticut and built his family residence and also planted an orange grove at Sixth and Main streets. He died in his home sixty-four years later after an eventful life. In 1840 he went back to Connecticut to lecture on California and urged the building of a transcontinental railway. He was known as "Colonel" Warner as

THANKSGIVING

What a vast difference there is in the Thanksgiving of 1937 and that of 150 years ago. Tradition and custom alone is the motivating power that moves us to proclaim a certain day as "Thanksgiving Day." We have everything to be thankful for and yet we growl and complain about things that are of no consequence.

With our Pilgrim fathers Thanksgiving sprang from the very depths of heart and soul and in the midst of hardship they lifted songs of praise and prayers of thanksgiving to God and Heaven for what they felt was a bountiful harvest, while surrounded by hostile tribes of savages and with hard winter months ahead.

Let us take inventory of our possessions for which we can surely give thanks then turn to the credit side of our life's ledger and see how little we have to our credit.

ON TO 1938 HOME COMING

We feel that La Verne demonstrated the fact that she can put on a very creditable parade on short notice, when there was such a fine response on Armistice day by so many organizations and everybody had a good time doing it.

The splendid cooperation of every group made the day a success and the chairman happy; for no one person can make a success unless there is whole-hearted- cooperation and unity of purpose.

We accepted the job with fear and trembling because of our own inability, but with faith in those to whom we appealed for help, and we were not disappointed in any of them. So we refuse to accept credit for a successful day's program which was so generously given us, but we pass it on to those to whom it really belongs.

Next year you have the assurance from Coach Lloyd that a La Verne college conference game will be scheduled to be played here on Nov. 11, 1938.

Word also comes thru Mrs. Elsie Rager, librarian at LaVerne branch of the Los Angeles County library, that next year is the 50th anniversary of the County library and they will cooperate by entering a float in the parade and there is a chance of having the Historical society put on a pageant. So there are wonderful possibilities for one of the finest parades ever put on here.

Let's keep home coming day alive and growing.

HARRY THE CLOWN

Most people, when they watched Harry Krammer, bicycle riding clown here at the Armistice day program, who amused and amazed them with his stunts on the bicycle and wagon wheels, saw only a dirty old clown, greatly in need of a bath and a shave.

Here is the man that we learned to know as we sat on a little tool chest in Krammer's home on wheels and learned something of the man inside.

Krammer travels around in a light bus which he has converted into living quarters as well as a means of transportation. We found him at work making some cupboards for this home and discovered that he is a mechanic of ability.

He is 65 years old, has been performing on a bicycle 50 years, is the father of eight children and is working to give them an education.

One of his boys goes to Emmerson junior high school in Pomona; one daughter is in college at Alexandria, Va., and one boy travels with him. We also learned that Krammer does not use liquors or tobacco which no doubt accounts for the man's perfect coordination of muscle, brain and eye in his performances.

We also learned that investments made before the depression went the way many other investor's money went. One was a machine shop in Florida, another a service station in Virginia.

AND

The OUTDOORS

By S. P. Hunsaker

Ever since Eve gave Adam the apple in the garden of Eden, man has been a peculiar cuss. Most any morning of the year friend wife has a time getting her men folks up in time for breakfast, but on the first day of the hunting season—well, that's different. Up before the peep of day, drinks a cup of coffee, eats a snack of food and away he goes to be on the ground before sun up.

After traveling to the place desired, off they go through the brush to walk miles and miles in pursuit of a few quail. They work harder and say less about it than they would if paid a big salary per day.

This is as it should be, as we are simply following our natures and answering our primitive call that should exist in every true American blood.

It is our way of "resting" from our everyday life, is of great value to our state of mind, gives us a broader view of our fellow man, keeps alive the tradition of our forefathers that pioneered our country, and finally teaches us tolerance of our fellows as we meet them in the field.

Big Opening

Last Monday morning was the opening of the quail and pheasant season, and long before daylight the roads were ablaze with headlights from cars loaded with eager hunters. Long before sunrise the bombardment commenced, and continued throughout the day.

There were no generals or captains in this army, as all were on equal footing as to rank—just hunters. Some were better shots than others, and some were better observers than others, but all were enjoying the time off from the job left behind.

Analyzing the results of the opening day, we find about the usual amount of quail and a slight increase in the number of pheasants. Few limits were taken, but everybody came home with some birds.

The brush is dry, which makes hunting difficult as the quail will only flush once, then light running and continue to run. This dry condition makes it bad for a dog, as his sense of smell is soon destroyed by the [illegible]. A good rain

Thanksgiving Bird Passing as an Holiday Institution

The Thanksgiving turkey as an institution seems to be slowly passing from the land in favor of an all-year consumption of the delectable bird. However, a considerable November "peak" still remains, and the Christmas demand is expected to remain as strong as ever.

These conclusions were reached in an exhaustive study of the industry made by the Giannini Foundation of Agricultural Economics of the University of California at the request of a number of industry groups. The increasing popularity of the turkey in restaurants and hotels has created an all-year demand, while the decrease in size of the American family, and a more or less general desire to spend Thanksgiving "out," has had its effect on the demand for the great American bird on that day.

The study also disclosed the remarkable fact that, while the human population of the country has more than doubled since 1890, the turkey population has been cut in half since that time. Agricultural census figures showed a turkey population of approximately 8,700,000 at the time the gay nineties started, whereas the 1935 population was estimated at 5,382,000. There has not been any material increase since 1935. The causes of this decline are given in the study as high prices, change in the size of the average American family and changes in production conditions. In the face of this decline, however, the Pacific states produced two and one-half times as many turkeys in 1935 as in 1890. The greater part of this increase came in the past fifteen years.

The BOOK SHELF

THE PROFITS OF WAR THROUGH THE AGES by Richard Lewissohn—Translated from the French by Geoffry Sainsbury, New York—E. P. Dutton and Company—Copyright 1937

There have been many books written about peace and some about the profits of war, but this book is different in that it attacks the problem from the standpoint of its profits. The conception is different and if the information is authentic, as it sems to be, it is a most revealing study of the whole iniquitious war system.

The author begins with the profits to the generals showing that Julius Caesar began at approximately two million dollars in American money in debt, and at the end of his short life had amassed a fortune of approximately six and one-half million dollars.

In those days and through the ages until comparatively recent times, the general in charge of the forces got the lion's share of the loot. Of course, he took the risk of losing it all in case of defeat, but the great of history amassed the profits.

After the close of the World war General Haig got a grant and subscription of 400,000 pounds and various grants were made to leaders. The author then turns his attention to the financiers who profited by the wars showing the growth of the Florentine bankers, the Rothschilds and finally the house of Morgan in the World war. It is estimated that some two thousand million dollars passed through the Morgan's hands during the war, to the extent of 70 million dollars directly and probably twice that much indirectly through the subletting of contracts.

The story of the profits of armament makers is well known. The author discusses the international nature of this organization and tells of the stupendous profits which some of them were able to amass.

The author then considers the independent contracts. The speculators come in for further consideration under each of these classifications. The author begins with the will improve conditions very much, as the birds will react better to the liking of the hunter.

Among all these hunters, it is reasonable to believe that some of them will violate the law, which is bad for the rest of us, and sometimes expensive to the violator.

One warden reported four cases of violation of the law which says that it is legal to kill male pheasants only. These hunters killed hens, which will probbly prove rather costly for them.

Quail season remains open until Dec. 31st, and pheasant season until Nov. 20th.

Looking forward, the next opening will be on water fowl, which opens on Nov. 27th at 7:00 a.m. This requires the purchase of a federal duck stamp, sold only at Post Offices, and cost $1.00. Boys under 16 years do not need a stamp.

Prospects for ducks are good, wherever it is possible for the hunter to get to water. Sloughs and lakes in the Sacramento and San Joaquin valleys are well populated with ducks and some geese.

Big Bear and Baldwin lakes are literally alive with ducks, and will be unless we get a cold snap between now and the opening date.

Not much to offer in the fishing news, although some good catches of perch and catfish are being made at Puddingstone lake.

Hunters going out over the week-end should be very careful of smoking, as the brush is dry as tinder. Also shoot at game and not at the farmer's stock or your fellow hunter.

Ford Presents Two New Passengar Cars For 1938 Buyers

An advance showing of 1938 Ford V-8 cars and trucks has just closed at the Ford Metropolitan show rooms in New York. The standard Ford V-8 is designed for owners to whom economy in first cost and operating cost is paramount. The de luxe car provides added luxury and style for those who desire them.

Both cars have the same V-8 chassis. The eight de luxe types are available only with the 85 horsepower V-8 engine, the three standard types with either the 85 horsepower of the 60 horsepower engine.

The de luxe car is a stylish sister of the standard. It is entirely new in appearance. The radiator grille is of new design. Appearance of the hood is longer and more sweeping. Fenders are massive. Interior appointments are in keeping with the styling of the exterior. Substantially more room in the closed sedans, greater passenger comfort and much larger luggage space are provided.

The standard V-8 cars reveal new styling, with a different radiator grille design, long hood and interiors are roomy and attractive-flowing contours. The spacious interiors are upholstered and appointed.

In addition to the two passenger cars, Ford is to present an expanded line of V-8 trucks and commercial cars.

early wars and carries the discussion up through the World war. The final chapter shows the struggle against war profits, reveloped through the League of Nations and various foreign countries, including the United States.

To date most of the programs exist only on paper, however, it is probable that in the event of another war decisive action will be taken to limit personal profit as the result of war. The book abounds with statistical information, is well written and well translated.

TRAFFIC SIGNS MUST BE OBSERVED TO AVOID FINES

Sooner or later, the law of averages will catch up with the driver who is careless about observing traffic signs and signals. When two such drivers meet at the same intersection, a crash is almost sure to result, states the Public Safety department of the National Automobile club.

Don't try to beat the light. Come to a full stop back of the pedestrian crosswalk when the signal is red, and wait for the green before you start. Give the pedestrian a break by giving him a chance to use the walk which he is entitled to.

Remember that "Stop" means stop, and "slow" means slow at intersections so marked. Observe carefully the warning signs on rural highways. Be especially careful to observe every precaution at railroad crossings. Warning signs are not always uniform, but a railway crossing should always mean: "Stop, look, listen and live!"

Carl MacLean-Florence Wymore Married at Ontario Church

Florence Almeta Wymore of Ontario, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred A. Wymore and James Carl MacLean of 2637 Sierra Way, son of Mr. and Mrs. Don McLean were united in marriage at the Four Square church in Ontario at four o'clock Sunday, November 14, by the Rev. W. B. Stadler.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was attired in a white satin gown fashioned princess style with a short jacket and a train trimmed in lace. She carried a shower bouquet of gardenias and lillies of the valley, and wore a tulle veil caught with orange blossoms.

Elva MacLean, sister of the groom, as maid of honor was attired in royal blue taffeta trimmed with fuschia velvet, and she carried a bouquet of talisman roses and blue delphinium.

Neva Fern Buchanan, cousin of the bride from Santa Paula, Evelyn Walker and Sylvia Underwood of Ontario were bridesmaids attired in old rose taffeta, American beauty, and turquoise dresses, and carrying bouquets of mixed sweet peas.

Elvina Withrow of Ontario was the flower girl and she wore a rose taffeta dress, floor length made princess style. Mrs. Wymore, mother of the bride, was attired in a transparent blue velvet gown, and Mrs. MacLean wore a mahogany cut velvet dress, and both wore gardenia corsages.

Lloyd Stevens, cousin of the bridegroom, assisted the groom as best man, and Charles Hall, Edward Buchanan of Santa Paula, and Edward Starling of Pomona were the ushers at the semi-formal ceremony.

Mrs. Robert Herald of Pomona provided piano music for the ceremony, also playing "Ah Sweet Mystery of Life" (Herbert) and as the recessional "The Bridal Chorus" from Wagner's "Lohengrin." As vocal soloist, Miss Helen Rahn of Upland sang "Because" (d'Hardelot) and Glenn Story sang "I Love You Truly" (Bond) with violin obligato by Albert Gale.

The church was decorated with potted palms, white candelabra, white chrysanthemums, and the church was filled to capacity with around 500 friends and relatives.

Following the wedding a reception was held at the Ontario Woman's clubhouse for one hundred and seventy-five close friends and relatives. Decorations consisted of autumn shades of chrysanthemums and a large bouquet of roses on the gift table. Mr. and Mrs. McLean, parents of the groom, and Mr. and Mrs. Wymore, parents of the bride greeted the guests.

Refreshments included a handsomely-decorated wedding cake and ensemble music was provided by Albert Gale, Judith Fisher, Florence Healy, violinists, Katherine Fischer, cellist, D. C. Stults, flute, Bonny Jones, clarinet, Edgar Wight, French horn, and Mrs. Gale, pianist.

Immediately after the reception the couple left for a short trip to San Francisco, after which the couple will make their home in Pomona. Mrs. MacLean wore a rust wool dress with black accessories for her going away outfit.

Mr. MacLean is a graduate of Bonita high school and attended Chaffey junior college, and is now employed at the Pomona Tile factory. Mrs. MacLean is a graduate of Chaffey high school and attended Chaffey junior college.

Y.W. Council Holds Meeting Monday Night

Miss Charlotte Neely, Pomona attorney, gave an informal talk on the Chinese-Japanese situation at the Y.W.C.A. Council meeting held at the home of Mrs. E. M. Studebaker Monday evening. Miss Neely was formerly a Y.W.C.A. secretary in China.

Other business brought before the council was the secretary's report read by Mrs. W. H. Belcher, the treasurer's report read by Theo Davis and a note was read from the Bonita G.R.'s thanking the members for contributing the food for the benefit tea held at Mrs. Edgar Rothrock's.

Mrs. A. A. Neher led the devotions and reports were given on the activities of the Palomares, Lincoln and Bonita Girl Reserves. Mrs. Raymond Sickel reported for the membership committee stating that 40 members had signed up, and that the drive was still in progress.

Miss Hazel Bell Withrow, valley Y.W.C.A. secretary, announced the annual recognition service to be

Two Grades Give Programs For P-T.A.

At the Parent Teachers Association meeting held Tuesday in the cafeteria at the Lincoln school the seventh and eighth grades put on short programs, while their room mothers assisted with the social hour.

Jean Roynon, announced for the seventh grade sketting that they had been studying the story of "Rip Van Winkle" and that they would present a modern version. Those in the skit were Marvin Snell, Donald St. Clair, Jack Lentz, Raymond Harwood, Shirly Rambo, Virginia Garvey, Mary Ellen Ikenberry and Jean Pierson.

Roy Hylton, eighth grade teacher, announced their program. Paulina Hylton gave a short introductory talk, Lois Bell spoke on "Crime," noting the rapid increase, Harold Hibes on "How to Prevent Crime," and Doris Overholtzer on "Progress in Transportation."

Bert Randall of Pomona was the speaker of the day. He was secured by the American Legion and spoke on "The American Legion Prayer for Peace." Marvin Snell and Crawford Brubaker in scout uniforms carried the flag while the flag salute was read and Robert Walker led the group in singing "America."

Mrs. Crawford Brubaker, president, had charge of the meeting, Mrs. L. R. Jones, vice-president, announced the program, secretary's report was read by Mrs. Harold Kendrick and Mrs. Lena Bell Sickel read the treasurer's report. Mrs. Brubaker read the finance report for Mrs. George King which stated that $52.72 was cleared on the carnival. It was announced that Mrs. Roy St. Clair will be the new citizenship chairman.

Miss Ruth Clark spent the weekend with her mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Clark. Miss Clark is a school teacher at Lennox by Inglewood.

Members of Class Plan Christmas Party At Zimmerman's

Members of the Friendship Sunday school class of the Church of the Brethren met at the home of Mrs. G. R. Russel on Wednesday afternoon. Mrs. Ira Butterbaugh, president, presided, and Mrs. Earl Deardorf, assistant secretary, assisted.

A special prayer service was held for Mrs. Harry Smucker, Mrs. Harvey Vaniman and Mrs. W. C. Winder who are all ill. Mrs. D. W. Kurtz reported that Mrs. Fike is ill in Los Angeles. Mrs. W. E. Flory gave the report of the membership committee.

It was decided to have the Christmas party on December 15 at the home of Mrs. J. S. Zimmerman at which time everyone is supposed to bring a small gift for the Christmas tree.

Announcements were made after which a social hour was held with Mrs. G. R. Russell serving light refreshments. All members were urged to go to Mrs. Cora Shrock's to work on the class friendship quilt.

Faculty Wives Entertained At Luncheon

Mrs. George Bell entertained the wives of Bonita high school teachers at a luncheon last Friday, November 12.

Decorations consisted of chrysanthemums, and food served was in keeping with the autumn motif. One of the guests, Mrs. John Price, was surprised by a stork shower during the afternoon, and the guests attended the Bonita-Colton football game for the remainder of the time.

Present were Mesdames Rudolph Fischer, John Price, Orville Thomason, E. N. Green, G. F. Harbin, Kevork Sarafian, Howard Smith, the hostess and her daughter, Lois.

Mary Ebersole and Cletus Holmes Married Before Many Friends

Before a strikingly simple setting of white chrysanthemums, white candelabras and potted palms, Mary Lorene Ebersole, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Ebersole of 1044 North Grand became the bride of Cletus Ernest Holmes, Jr., of Tonasket, Washington, son of Rev. and Mrs. C. E. Holmes of Tonasket.

Rev. Holmes, father of the groom, performed the formal ceremony before 350 friends and relatives gathered in the Church of the Brethren Saturday evening at 8 o'clock.

For the single ring ceremony, the bride was gowned in traditional white satin en train with a fingertip veil falling from a halo. She carried a shower bouquet of gardenias and lilies of the valley, and was given in marriage by her father.

Olivene Ebersole, sister of the bride, as maid of honor was attired in autumn red moire taffeta with a hand decorated muff to match her gown. Mrs. Elvin Ebersole, sister-in-law of the bride from Ontario, and Dorothy Holmes, sister of the groom, as bridesmaids were attired in veaux rose and dubarry moire taffeta, and they also carried matching muffs.

Ruth Gary of San Dimas in veaux rose taffeta was the flower girl. Elvin Ebersole of Ontario, brother of the bride, attended Mr. Holmes as best man, and Rolland Callison, Robert Deal and Dale Ebersole were the ushers.

Elvin Ebersole sang "Until" and with his sister, Olivene, "Ah Sweet Mystery of Life," arranged by the bride for the occasion. Robert Walker, with his violin, played "Souvenir" while Mrs. Merlin Eisenbise of Chino, organist for the occasion, played "O Promise Me," "Amour t' Jour" and "The Swan" as well as the wedding marches and accompaniment for the vocalists and the violinist.

After receiving congratulations at the church, a reception for the asket, Washington, to make their home.

Mrs. Holmes is a graduate of Bonita high school, Chaffey junior college and attended La Verne college. She has been active in Christian Endeavor, Sunday School and church work at the Church of the Brethren, having been organist for the children's choir and assistant organist for the church.

Mr. Holmes was graduated from Tonasket high school, attended La Verne college and studied at Throne's business college. While in La Verne he was active in Christian Endeavor work at the Church of the Brethren.

Among the out-of-town guests in addition to the immediate family of the groom were Miss Irene Miller of Tonasket, Wash., Mr. and Mrs. E.E. Woolsey, Mrs. Winona Forrer and son, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Martin and Mrs. Beulah Vinson of Los Angeles; Mr. and Mrs. James Loomis and Mrs. C. E. Marsden of Montebello; Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Reed and Mrs. Earl Reed and Mrs. Alvin Reed of Bellflower. Mr. and Mrs. William Holderman and Mr. and Mrs. John Zug of Covina; Mr. and Mrs. Peter Gault and family of Pico, Mr. and Mrs. John Reis and family of San Bernardino, Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Ebersole and son, Walter, of Bakersfield.

Dr. and Mrs. George H. Bell spent the week-end at their cabin at Hermosa Beach. While there they visited with Mrs. Emma Wicks, a friend of the Bell family.

Down the Garden Paths

by Dee Dee

Confession is good for the soul, so we are told. For the past two weeks this column should have been headed "Down the Garden Paths" by Bee Bee, our Secret Operative No. 1 has been carrying on for us. We only wish that we might convince Bee Bee that she is the logical person to continue with the articles, but we are very grateful for the help from an experienced gardener and hope we may call on her again in a pinch.

We are hoping that many of you went to the chrysanthemum show at Mrs. Water's in Pomona. We read about it too late to go, but no doubt her yard would be a treat at any time. The reports were very enthusiastic from people who were fortunate enough to attend.

Some one asked us the other day when it was the proper time to plant Eschscholtzia. Of course they didn't use that word, we are only showing off our superior knowledge. What they really wanted to know was when to sow California poppy in vacant lots. Any month in the year but June, July or August will bring results accordingly from April through September. If you are a good weather prophet and can plan for rains, then you might plant at the most advantageous time for the needed moisture. Just as a side issue—poppies are no longer the lowly flower that we native Californians are wont to consider them. There are many varieties now that come fluted, or in deep scarlet, wallflower red, or creamy salmon.

This fine month of November is a good time to plant evergreens, either trees or shrubs. Also from now until March one may plant amaryllis and agapanthus umbellatus (Blue African lily). The best time to prune roses is from now until February. The poinsettias should be fertilized with a complete plant food, for they are very heavy feeders. Always something!

Although this is definitely the wrong time of year to speak of Linaria maroccana, we must tell you about it before we forget again. We saw it last spring in a garden in Pomona, but forgot all about it until we found it spoken about in a library book. The common name is Fairy Bouquet and it is just that. In appearance it resembles miniature snapdragons. It is easy of culture and only grows about eight inches high. It is useful as fillers for bouquets, or as bedding plants, or in pots, or boxes. These dainty midgets come in rose, yellow, pink, lavender, red, violet, salmon and white. The time for planting is February thru June and the blooming period runs from March thru September. Linaria is going to be put down on our list of "can't do withouts."

Imagine our gratification the other day when an acquaintance from out of town said, "La Verne? Oh, that's the city of homes where every one has a lawn." At least we've given the right impression to one person.

There is one house that would certainly help to convey that impression if only it were on a more traveled street. The home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Lemon on Fifth street west of A has a grand clover lawn and the whole yard is as neat as a pin. We wish more people might see it.

Kagawa Sees Economic Relief Through Christian Cooperation

Denying that Communism or Fascism are the only ways out of the present world economic chaos, Toyohiko Kagawa, noted Japanese leader, pointed the way to cooperative associations, based on the spirit of Christian brotherhood, some months ago. The following summary of his address is reprinted from the "Claremont Courier."

Declaring that Christian principles should be applied to every phase of life, Kagawa pointed out the astounding success of the Japanese cooperative associations which are based on mutual assistance, rather than competition. Solution of economic problems does not rest on violence as suggested by revolutionary Communists or Fascists, he stated, as this endangers life, one of the seven major economic valuations.

Advocates of the philosophy of economic materialism forget, he observed, that modern life is not concerned only with life, labor and exchange, but also with growth, selection of occupation, order and purpose. Any system of economy which ignores any of these or stresses one to the disadvantage of the others is doomed to failure.

Communists would stress labor, solving exchange by means of rationing, ignoring selection of occupation and solving order and purpose by regimentation, he stated. Fascism is capitalistic, but also based on the principles of bureaucracy, revolution and state control.

Kagawa indicated that the basic fault of capitalism, exploitation in exchange, may be obliterated by a cooperative association system, while still preserving private ownership. The cooperatives in Japan now number 80 per cent of the farming population, exceeding the large industrial concerns in assets. Having 13,000,000 members, they own 6,000 warehouses and a central bank with assets of 2,000,000,000 yen. Producer cooperatives are also included in the membership.

CHRISTIAN WORKERS

LESSON TEXT—I Corinthians 3:10-15; Galatians 6:6-10.

GOLDEN TEXT—And let us not be weary in well doing: for in due season we shall reap, if we faint not.—Galatians 6:9.

PRIMARY TOPIC—In Our Church.

JUNIOR TOPIC—What Can I Do to Help?

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—What Can I Do for Christ and the Church?

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—The Need for Christian Workers.

"Laborers together with God"—such is the glorious and distinctive title of true Christians, according to the verse just preceding our assigned text. Unfortunate is the all too common error of regarding only pastors and missionaries as the workers in God's vineyard. While we recognize that there is a special calling for some men to leave their vocations and devote their entire time to the Lord's work, let us be sure properly to stress the importance of every Christian's being a worker for God.

The portions assigned for our study present the privilege and responsibility of Christians as fellow-workers with Christ, under the figures of builders and of seed sowers.

I. Builders of the House (I Cor. 3:10-15).

The first requisite of a building is a foundation and it must be strong and true. Builders for Christ have a sure foundation stone in Him.

1. The Foundation—Jesus Christ.

There is only definite assurance in Paul's word concerning the foundation. It is perfectly clear to him that there can be no Christian faith without Jesus Christ. Such a statement sounds almost childish. One might well assume that no intelligent person would claim to be one of God's builders, and reject his foundation stone. But, alas, many are they who claim to be Christians, who profess to be raising a structure of Christian life and testimony, but who have set aside the only possible foundation on which to build. Plain consistency and ordinary honesty would seem to require that they announce their organizations as being social, benevolent, or political, but certainly not Christian.

2. The Master Builder—and his

THE LOW DOWN from HICKORY GROVE

When I get to squintin' around in the paper, I always seem to run across something or other that is kinda comical. And the latest, it is where they are fixin' to have a convention of the cosmetologists.

A cosmetologist is something that maybe everybody don't know all about. And I looked her up, and it is a person who tells you why it is you look so funny, and what you should do about it.

And they are like a fisherman, and any person who believes a fish story, it would be safer to lock him up. And a person who imagines that a touch of purple paint at 2 dollars per touch, is gonna do anything except make you look like a sick Sioux, they might also be watched.

But these artists of the cosmetics, maybe they do some good, 'cause I see where the Gov't says that we should put money in circulation. And instead of saving or payin' our bills, we should spend more.

And for fish stories, it is a tight race between the cosmetologists and Uncle Sambo.

Yours, with the low down, million went as wages to labor, in the groves and to packing house workers.

"Orchard supplies including fertilizers, water, pest control, and frost protection accounted for 32 million and packing house supplies another ten million. These supplies come from numerous industries and labor makes up much of their cost."

By-products outlets, developed over a period of years by the Exchange, gave much of the damaged fruit recoverable value. The Exchange's own orange products plant utilized over 2,000 cars of oranges in the manufacture of all types of juice products. In all, this plant handled 98,988 tons of oranges and the lemon plant, 35,726 tons of lemons, a total of over 7,800 cars.

The two Exchange products plants paid their members almost one and three-fourths million dollars during the season. Final payment on 1935-36 lemons brought the average to $20.05 per ton.

The total 1937 California canned orange juice pack is estimated to be 1,250,000 cases (24 12-oz cans to the case) and lemon juice 150,000 to 200,000 cases. Volume and distribution are not sufficient to indicate with any certainty the place which canned juice will ultimately occupy in the operations of the industry, Armstrong points out.

The operation of the Exchange juice canning pool, through which oranges for canning have been sold during the past two years, has enabled growers to receive their fair share of the value of the finished product, and it is believed has resulted in a better return to Exchange growers for such fruit than would any other course of action during that period, according to the report.

Paul was a pioneer. He declares his ambition and calling to be "to preach the gospel not where Christ was named, lest I should build on another man's foundation" (Rom. 10:25). Such a privilege does not come to all men, but let those who thus serve learn of this "wise master builder" that they may lay only one foundation—Jesus Christ.

"Let every man take heed how he buildeth thereupon." It is a serious matter to serve the Lord as a builder, for it is possible to go badly astray at this point as well as in laying the foundation. We dare not heedlessly rush about "doing things" for God, without giving thought and prayer to our work.

3. The materials—good and bad.

Whether we apply Paul's words to the building of our personal spiritual life or to the work we do in the church they are equally serious and urgent. "The day"—when Christ returns, and we shall stand before him to give account of the deeds done in the flesh—will reveal by flaming fire whether we have been faithful, true and diligent in preaching God's Word, in prayer, in sacrificial service for Christ, or have sought to introduce into our lives and into the churches we serve the "wood, hay, and stubble" of unspiritual schemes, neglect of God's Word, prayerlessness.

Saved? Yes, but entering into God's presence as a man who has escaped from his burning house with nothing but his life.

II. Sowers of the Seed (Gal. 6:6-10).

The figure changes. No longer are we builders—but rather sowers of seed. Would that it were all good seed that were sown—but we see the sowing to the flesh as well as to the Spirit. This is true

1. In our own lives. The inexorable law of sowing and reaping prevails in the moral realm as truly as it does in the physical. Men who would never expect wheat to grow where they have planted thistles, seem to expect that they may sow in their own lives the seeds of selfish indulgence, of careless neglect of the things of God, and still somehow reap the fruit of good character and noble living.

2. In the lives of others. We may be tempted to take attractive by-paths and short-cuts to win the interest and allegiance of men to ourselves and the church, but they will prove to bring but corruption and destruction. Spiritual seed will always produce spiritual life.

3. Waiting for the harvest. Harvest must be patiently awaited. We know it to be so in natural things; the same is true in the spiritual realm. We may not even live to see the harvest, but we may confidently leave it in God's hand. Others may have the joy of reaping, and will have, if we sow the good seed.

"Let us not be weary in well-doing."

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

"Mortals and Immortals." This was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon on Sunday in all branches of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Massachusetts. The Golden Text was from Paul's epistle to the Galatians: "Because we are sons, God hath sent forth the Spirit of his Son into your hearts, crying, Abba, Father. Wherefore thou art no more a servant, but a son; and if a son, then an heir of God through Christ."

A section of the Lesson-Sermon included these verses from the Psalms: "Let thy work appear unto thy servants, and thy glory unto their children. And let the beauty of the LORD our God be upon us: and establish thou the work of our hands upon us; yea, the work of our hands establish thou it." "One thing have I desired of the LORD, that I will seek after; that I may dwell in the house of the LORD all the days of my life, to behold the beauty of the LORD, and to enquire in his temple."

One of the correlative passages from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, stated: "Man, governed by immortal Mind, is always beautiful and grand. Each succeeding year unfolds wisdom, beauty, and holiness."

WORLD WIDE VIEWS

By Ulrich Knoch

President Roosevelt's Message to Congress advocates crop control, shorter hours and better pay for labor, reorganization and planning especially of the executive department of the government. In the latter he asks for one or more additional departments and an increase in the White House staff, opposes any savings in government—which he says can be made only "by cutting down or eliminating governmental functions"—and asks the question, which function of government would you cut off? The general comment of the press is that the message is more moderate and conciliatory than his usual state papers.

Alpine Tav[illegible]on Mt. Lowe is now a thing of the past. Built nearly fifty years ago by Prof. T. S. C. Lowe, the attractive resort and railway never was a money making enterprise. When Prof. Lowe failed it was taken over by the Pacific Electric Railway and and had some years of popularity. Last year Alpine Tavern was destroyed by fire, and now the Pacific Electric officials have decided to abandon the enterprise. Many no doubt, like this writer, have a sentimental interest in this beauty spot on the mountain side, where the lights of twenty cities could be seen at night and will regret the passing of another milestone in life.

Who Will be Elected Governor of California in 1938? There evidently will be enough candidates to go around previous to the primary election of next August. The Democratic candidates in the offing are "too numerous to mention." The Republicans led by Gov. Frank F. Merriam, who is a candidate for re-election, seem to be confident. At a recent meeting of the Progressive - Commonwealth League, Raymond Haight, who received a large vote in 1934, was again boosted for governor.

The Alliance of Italy, Germany and Japan in an anti-Communistic front has been big news for the past weeks. The Nazi newspapers

Drunk Driving Arrests for Past Two Years More Than Double the Total of Ten Years Previous; Fines Collected Largest in City's History

The following figures are from the city police court and police department records and reveal two unrefutable facts. For one thing they show that drunk driving has increased to an alarming degree in the past ten years. It also shows that arrests and convictions of drunk drivers during the past twelve months are more than the total from 1926 to 1936 in LaVerne.

These are interesting facts and certainly justify the purchase of our own city police radio car by the city council last April.

Another important thing that cannot be overlooked is the fact that thefts here were about 50 per cent less during the past 12 months.

The police blotter shows that almost all of the motorists arrested here for driving while intoxicated were out of town people coming in here at all hours of the night and without a police car few of them could have been apprehended.

From March 1, 1926 to March 1, 1935, there were 18 drunk drivers arrested here in La Verne. While in the last two years 28 have been arrested, 24 of which were within the last 12 months.

The following figures indicate the charge, number arrested, number who went to jail on that charge and the fines paid.

LaVerne Heights P-T.A. Sponsors Benefit Dinner

A steak dinner is being sponsored by the La Verne Heights Parent Teachers Association tonight beginning at 5:30 with tickets priced at 50c for adults and 25c for children.

Proceeds from the dinner, which will be held in the cafeteria of the La Verne Heights school, will go towards a scholarship for a child in the David and Margaret Home. Menu for the dinner will include salad, steak, potatoes and gravy, green beans with carrots, hot rolls, butter and jam, pumpkin pie and whipped cream.

Mrs. Alice Mount, president, has charge of the benefit and is being assisted by Mrs. Earl Gillette, Mrs. Lawrence Gillette, Mrs. Joe Whitehead, Mrs. R. S. Coleman, Mrs. Fred Harmsen, and Mrs. William Johnson.

School teachers will serve the rolls and pour the cream, while Mr. William Johnson, principal of the school, will pour the coffee and receive the crowd. Mrs. William Wood and Mrs. Eda Willis are assisting the women in charge with the preparation of the food.

State Citrus Associations Report Encouraging Prospects for 1938

M.O.D. Meeting Forecasts Prosperous Citrus Year Ahead

A navel orange crop of fine quality and a coming heavy production of Valencias, also of good quality, were pointed to as cheerful signs for the California citrus grower to consider at the annual meeting, Wednesday of the Mutual Orange Distributors.

"Navels are beginning to move from Tulare county," it was stated. "So far, the color has not been good, but the cold nights will improve this. The present small-to-medium sizes may take added growth. Southern California navels also generally are of good quality, except for the thrips damage in some districts and somewhat small sizes. Prospects are for a large crop of Valencias in Orange county, and well distributed among the groves The winter crop of grapefruit in both California and Arizona is of exceedingly fine quality and the appearance of even the first carloads was fine. There is great interest among the western trade in this grapefruit. The outlook for lemons also is cheerful with prospects of a crop of good quality and not excessively large. Generally it is a healthy outlook after the shock of the freeze last January. Trees are in better condition than in years."

This note of optimism carried through the various reports of ex[illegible] in the [illegible] year

Weather Forecast Given Nightly Over KNX

Citrus growers will be happy to learn that Floyd Young is on the air again over KNX with daily temperature forecasts and frost warnings.

During the period November 15 to 30, at 8:14-30 p.m. a general announcement is telephoned in by Mr. Young and broadcast by a station announcer. Should cold weather develop during these two weeks, additional time will be given.

From December 1 to February 15, Young will be on at 8 p.m., Mondays to Fridays, and at 8:15 p.m., Saturdays and Sundays, for the length of time necessary.

The general public in this section of the country is vitally interested in these weather forecasts and owes a vote of appreciation to Columbia Broadcasting company and the Wrigley company for continuing what is probably the most important public service program for agriculture in California.

Calif. Fruit Growers Report on Annual Meeting in Los Angeles

The California-Arizona citrus industry marketed 67,592 carloads of fruit for an f.o.b. return to all shippers of $102,828,425 during the season ended October 31, despite the most severe freeze ever experienced, Paul S. Armstrong, general manager of the California Fruit Growers Exchange, reported at the annual meeting held last week.

C. C. Teague was re-elected president of the Exchange by unanimous vote of the directors, and thus begins his eighteenth year as head of this forty-five year old cooperative marketing organization to which much of the progress of the industry is attributed.

Exchange shipments reached a total of 53,771 carloads, including the equivalent of 6,202 cars as loose fruit and 47,569 cars of packed fruit, which was 79.6 per cent of the total and the largest percentage of the crop ever marketed through the Exchange. Packed fruit consisted of 33,205 cars of oranges, 1,340 cars of grapefruit and 13,024 cars of lemons.

The f.o.b. return to Exchange shippers reached $82,564,229, only 2.7 per cent less money than the previous season for 23.7 per cent less fruit.

GIRLS' LEAGUE BANQUET

The 1937 Mother's and Daughter's Banquet began with a hearty welcome by Jean Johnstone, president of Girl's League. The response was made by her mother, Mrs. W. A. Johnstone. Dr. Bell, the only man allowed to be present, greeted the mothers and daughters of Bonita.

As the theme this year year was "Mexico, Our Neighbor," the entertainment was based upon this theme. Marjorie and Jean Belknap's Mexican dance was the main feature. Marjorie Creighton and Lois Clark sang Spanish solos Inez Garman accompanied by her sister Mildred, sang "On a Night Like This" and "Rancho Grande." The octette, consisting of Eltha Bradley, Lillian Eide, Ruth Doutt Emily Garvey, Opal Gary, Janellyn Price, Crystal Shamblin and Ruth Reed, sang "Estudantina."

The girls and their mother were very fortunate to have as guest speaker, Mary Sinclair Crawford, Dean of Women from the University of Southern California. She spoke of her experiences in Mexico.

The toasts were given by Nelma Garner, freshman; Silda Mae Wilson, sophomore; Rosemary Dominquez, junior; Gwyndylyn Jones, senior. Each had on a typical Mexican costume. Pauline Sue Russell and Doris Way played the piano during each course of the dinner.

Favors were made by Mildred Bixby, Mae Brydon, Betty Rothrock, Babe Dale. Floy Strayer decorated the banquet room. The programs were done by Winnie Rouse.

Miss Marguerite Randall had charge of the delicious dinner that was served.

the program. Mr. King concluded the program by playing the National Anthem, "The Star Spangled Banner."

JUNIOR PLAY

Last week you were informed as to the cast of "A Lucky Break." This week you are to be taken back stage to find out who pulls the curtain up, who makes the programs, who puts the makeup on the stars, who paints those posters you see scattered around, and many other things necessary to make a successful production. The following people are on committees: Publicity: Bill Woodcock, Earl O'Brien, Vici Sawyer, Bob Andrews, Roy Wiliams, Kathryn Funkhouser, and Wilfred Michael. The ushers are: Mae Brydon, Mary Davis, Marjorie Kampmeier, Ruth Reed, Rosemary Dominguez, Vici Sawyer, Doris Perry and Evelyn Zug. Helping Miss Randall with the properties are Truman Groendyke, Mary Davis and Mae Brydon. Helping Miss Lochridge with the makeup are Shirley Soder and Hazel Alexander. Bill Westlake and Marie Audureau will aid Mr. Smith with the ticket sales. Phyllis Bapple, Mildred Baugh and Rosemary Dominguez are in charge of the costumes. Miss Holmes, Louise Metzger and Doris Spotswood will take care of the programs. Mr. Harbin and the Stage Crew, Dick Harbin, Richard Tangeman, James Sawyer and Wesley Bunnelle will take care of all the back stage arrangements.

Just three weeks left until the Junior Play, so don't forget to save December 10th for "A Lucky Break."

F.F.A. CHAPTER NEWS

The Bonita Union High School F.F.A. Chapter has organized an employment bureau for all of the Future Farmers. The boys desiring to work are signed as to: name, address, what they can do, and when they can work. Most of the boys expressed a desire to do work during the cold season lighting orchard heaters. Odd jobs will be appreciated by the boys. The F.F.A. can supply your needs for small labor jobs and orchard heating.

All milk supplied by cows being grown as projects will be tested consistently once a month. Any milk brought in may be tested free of charge by the F.F.A. chapter.

Our chapter final public speaking contest will be held next Monday in the regular F.A.A. meeting. The winner of this contest will speak at Puente on Nov. 29 for the Southern California finals. From here the winner speaks at Los Angeles and the winner from there speaks at Utah and then at Kansas City. This contest is sponsored by the Future Farmers of America.

PLAY DAY

Last Saturday, November 13th, the girls basketball teams were off to play Citrus, Puente and Downey at Citrus. The group arrived in the bus and a few individual cars about 9:30.

The Seniors and Juniors played in the high school gym while the Sophomores and Freshmen played in the junior college gym.

The first game played in the former gym was the Puente Seniors competing against the Bonita Seniors. Bonita carried off the score of 28 to 5.

Following half of this game Downey and Citrus played.

After these two games the Juniors followed with Citrus and Puente starting out with a half a game and then Downey and Bonita following. Again Bonita carried off the honors of 17 to 2.

At the same time Citrus and Bonita played making a score of 10 to 10.

The Freshman team of Bonita played the Downey freshmen with a score of Bonita 28, Downey 6.

At 12:30 the group gathered in the cafeteria to enjoy a hearty meal. The students had a small orchestra of four or five pieces and the girls danced showing a few fancy steps.

A program was presented by the students. The first was an accordian solo by a Citrus girl. The second number was a group of girls singing two songs. The accordianist played another number preceding a tap dance by one of the girls.

The victorious Bonitans were a joyful group coming home.

LaVerne College Squad Opens Basketball Practice

Basketball started this week at La Verne college, when Coach Buck Elder gave out the first call for varsity practice. Although the Leopards have one more football game this season Coach Elder decided to start limbering up his men in preparation for their first practice game against the U.C.L.A. varsity to be played December 3 at Westwood.

The entire varsity of last year will be on hand for this year's squad, and will form a nucleus for what should be an up and coming team. Several freshmen and J.C. transferees will complete the roster.

Returning lettermen from last year include: Larry Stutzman. Glenn Thomas, Clayton Shehorn. Carl Dutcher. Charles Brickley. and Wilson Ferrell at forwards, and Elwood Johnson, John Landis, and Walter Anderson, at guards To this will be added Laverne Crites, Orin Cottle, Tony Scafani Dayton Dickey, and Monty Mordicia, at forwards, and Marvin Crites, Bob Elliot, and Bob Deal at guards. Besides these many other men are expected to report between now and time for the first game.

A good year is looked forward to by the Leopards and with this promising array and any luck at all, should be realized.

Miss Louise Larick, librarian at La Verne college and recently elected president of the association, presided at the meeting. Interesting items were given by the librarians in answer to roll call. Mrs. Rager told of the beginning of the La Verne library nearly 37 years ago and its various locations. Next year will be the silver anniversary of the library's absorption into the county library system.

Mrs. E. H. Horton clipped the following 'pome' from a journal and brought it in.

"Breathes there a man with soul so dead, who never to himself has said: 'My trade of late is getting bad, I'll try another ten-inch ad.'

"If such there be go mark him well, for him no bank account shall swell, no angel watch the golden stair, to welcome home a millionaire. The man who never asks for trade, by local line or ad displayed, cares more for rest than for worldly gain, new patrons only give him pain.

"Tread lightly friends, let no rude sound disturb his solitude profound. Here let him lie in calm repose, unsought except by those he owes, and when he dies go plant him deep, that naught may break his dreamless sleep, wherein no clamor may dispel the quiet that he loved so well.

"And that the world may know its loss, place on his grave a wreath of moss, and on a stone above: 'Here lies a chump who wouldn't ad tise.'"

INTERVIEW

If you remember, last week the game between San Dimas and La Verne girls was reported in this column. Our star player is Lois Bell, (because she is the only girl that made a run) and she is the object of our interview today.

Lois is an all-around girl, and is a good ball player. Her hobby is sports, and she likes volley-ball the best of all.

She was born on July 9, 1924, and is thirteen years of age.

In her spare time she likes to read novels, and Bavarian cream is her favorite dessert.

DOMESTIC ARTS

The girls of the seventh and eighth grades had no sewing on Wednesday and Thursday because there was no school those days.

Girls of the seventh and eighth grades were happy to learn that sewing classes will be postponed until the last quarter of this year, and cooking will be taken up in its place. The girls have already chosen partners for cooking, and are "all set."

Already five German warships have participated in joint target practice with Italian ships.

La Rioja, One of the Provinces Argentine, South America, has been granted limited suffrage for women. At the recent election all parties and candidates promised woman suffrage, which is expected before long. At the Buenos Aires Conference last year a resolution was presented by Brazil urging the extension of woman suffrage to all the American Republics. In 1933 at the Montevideo Pan-American Conference a so-called "woman's treaty" was passed to wipe out all legal discrimination against women. This was signed by the United States, Chile, Mexico, Honduras, Colombia, Guatemala, Ecuador and Nicaragua, and now by Brazil.

Prof. Albert von Szent Gyorgi won the Nobel Prize for Physiology and medicine this year. A professor in Sziged University in Hungary, he spent a futile year at the stockyards of Chicago seeking to find the source of ascorbic acid in the adrenal glands of slaughtered cattle. Disappointed he returned home and when his wife served him food too strongly flavored with paprika he took this to his laboratory. He thus found that paprika was a cheap and abundant source of ascorbic acid. Since then injections of this substance have been used successfully in treating hemorrhages, nephritis, pyorrhea, forms of haemophilia, and Addison's disease.

Library Association Uses Anniversary Theme at Conference

The annual autumn session of the San Antonio Library association met last Saturday at LaVerne with Mrs. Elsie Rager, Librarian of the La Verne branch of the L.A. County Library and Mrs. Gladys Fischer, assistant, as co-hostesses The golden jubilee anniversary theme was carried out in the appointments, decorations, and speeches.

Miss Gladdys Muir, professor of history at La Verne college, and Mrs. Harry Walker of San Dimas were the speakers. Mrs. Walker, who came here 43 years ago has done much work on the history of these communities, and Miss Muir confined her speech to the "boom" period, picturing the founding of La Verne in 1887.

Luncheon was served at Fellowship Hall at the Church of the Brethren by the aid society on tables attractively decorated by Mrs. Rager with the anniversary motif carried out by potted cactus at one end of the table with Indian pony and an airplane and other prosperous representations at the other.

Five eras were represented by the dolls on the tables including the American Indian, Spanish and Mexican, Russian and present day

Coach Lloyd Resigns Unexpectedly From College Staff

An unexpected announcement was made yesterday at La Verne College, when head football coach, Hank Lloyd, tendered his resignation to be effective at the close of the present school year.

Lloyd came to La Verne College at the start of the 1936 school year. He coached football, basketball and track his first year, but was relieved of this heavy duty this year and only coached football.

Besides his coaching duties, Lloyd has been instrumental in furthering the department of physical education at La Verne College.

He has no definite plans for the immediate future although he has received several offers. His many friends in and about the college wish him continued success in his future, whatever he chooses.

Lemon Growers Hear Report Of Year's Crop

LaVerne lemon growers heard the annual report of secretary-manager Fred H. Harmsen at the annual meeting of the LaVerne Lemon Growers Accociation held on Tuesday morning.

In the face of a year of unparalleled expense in bringing the crop to maturity, the growers expressed themselves as satisfied with the results obtained by their association. Because of the heavy frosts of last January, the crop was short, but packing house expenses were kept as low as was possible.

M. W. Bennett, who has been a member of the organization since it was organized in 1908, and a director since 1917, resigned from the board of directors, because of health conditions. His resignation was accepted with regret, and a resolution of appreciation was voted for the many years of service which Mr. Bennett has rendered.

Hoyt M. Leisure of Los Angeles, who owns citrus property in this section, was named to fill the vacancy.

Other members returned to the directorate were Arthur Durward, president since 1923; R. S. Brydon, vice president; I. L. Noggle, H. V. Bright, J. A. Hinkle, and R. Y. Reynolds.

E. P. Jochimsen was retained as general manager, and Fred H. Harmsen as secretary manager.

The Lemon Association will join with the Orange Association in their annual turkey dinner next Tuesday at Orange House No. 2.

Club luncheon, Paul Endicott, manager of the Home Builders Loan Assn. of Pomona, reviewed the different Federal projects and activities that directly affected all Home Loan organization throughout the nation.

Going back to 20 years ago, Mr. Endicott pointed out the radical changes made in the home loan field thru federal measures. Some phases he commended while others were impractical and expensive experiments.

The Federal Home Owners Loan Corporation, he said, was an emergency measure and began liquidation last June.

To lower the interest rate, as proposed by the administration on H.O.L.C. loans would be a most unwise thin to do, the speaker pointed out.

The F.H.A. with its 1,450,000 loans has been successful in creating a building stimulus, although 80 to 90 per cent of the loans made are hazardous, according to Mr. Endicott.

The Wagoner-Steel housing bill passed by the last session of Congress with an appropriation of $526,000,000 is the most important of all housing acts.

Program chairman L. E. Cree introduced the speaker, stating that O. L. Marshall, cashier of First National Bank was instrumental in securing the speaker.

Tuesday, November 30, Harold Reed, associate professor of music at La Verne college will present a musical program according to Dr. E. M. Studebaker.

There were 17 visiting Lions, 16 of them from Pomona Den and one from Claremont.

Ray Cullen acted as tailtwister and extracted a tidy sum for the kitty fund.

The meal was served by Gladys Cross, Eva Blumberg, Lois Bell and Jean Crosier.

There are now seven La Verne college students studying photography at the La Verne college studio under the supervision of J. E. Stover, manager of the studio. The following are the names of those taking photography for credits:

David and Daniel Miller, Marvin Crites, Norman Beauvais, Hildegard Weiss and Hollinger.

...their crops ... heating spent a substantial part ... its value in doing so," said Armstrong, who estimates that fuel and labor for frost protection cost the growers $6,000,000 and that 35,000 carloads of fruit were lost.

"Following the freeze the Exchange was able to readjust its operations and through rigid economy balanced its budget well within the normal retain," the report states. Average cost of all Exchange service, except the advertising, was 6.68 per box. The combined cost of marketing and advertising was 3.31 per cent of gross sales, compared to 3.2 per cent in the large crop year of 1936.

Curtailed by the freeze, Exchange advertising on all varieties amounted to $1,311,819, bringing the total advertising investment for the past 30 years to $24,453.043, which is 1.12 per cent of the delivered value of the fruit.

During that period orange consumption has increased two and one-half times and lemon consumption 24 per cent. Drinking of orange juice, introduced and fostered by Exchange advertising, now accounts for two-thirds of the crop while many consumers use citrus fruits for the health reasons pioneered by the Exchange.

Freight and refrigeration to get the crop to market took $28,799,369, which meant a delivered carload value of $131,627,793.

"Few realize how widely the returns for a crop like citrus are distributed and what proportion goes for labor and materials and services furnished by other industries,"

Lions and Ladies To Dine With Orange Growers

La Verne Lions and their ladies are invited to dine with the La Verne Orange Growers association at their annual turkey dinner which is held each year in the basement of packing house No. 2.

The banquet will take place at noon next Tuesday, following the annual business session of the association.

There will be no Lions club meeting at the Lincoln grammar school that day, but instead all local members will meet at the packing plant.

If time permits one steer will be shown as an individual. These animals were placed in the feed lot last Saturday and from now on will remain in the pen. They will get a balanced ration and the grain will be steadily increased until they are on full feed for the remainder of the time. The hogs that were to be shown at the show have been on full feed for about a month and they are gaining close to three pounds a day. These animals must be sold before the show as they will be overweight for their class at show time.

ELECTRICITY BRINGS PROGRESS

FOUR OUT OF THE FIVE counties in the United States ranking highest in value of agricultural production are in Southern California. These four leading counties are in Edison service territory, a part of a rural region which is one of the most highly electrified in the nation.

It is no coincidence that the area which is the nation's agricultural leader also is one of the largest users of electricity. Agricultural success is closely related to the use of modern electrical methods. Electricity brings progress in every branch of agriculture ...fruit raising, dairying, poultry raising, vegetable production, general farming. It brings new efficiency to each of these individual operations—and in addition provides the general backbone for the cultivation of Southern California's far-flung acres by supplying water for irrigation through electric pumping.

Edison service goes forward with the farmer, assisting him in solving his problems, pointing the way to new profits. It has pioneered with the pioneer...and it is prepared to be in the future, as it has been in the past, one of the farmer's best hired hands.
