Identity Statement:Scope & Content / Abstract:

Single sheet of lined paper with a waybill written in black and blue ink. The waybill reads "Regular Line!, Way Bill April 27th 1848". The first two lines of the bill appear to be written in blue ink that has smudged but the rest is written in black ink. There are five lines written sideways at the bottom with the last of the five lines crossed out with two lines. There is also a line of pencil at the very bottom. The back cover page reads "No 1878, Thursday April 27th 1848" but the 7 in the number is crossed out and replaced with the 8 making it No. 187.

The paper has been folded in quarters and is most discolored along the creases, especially on the back. The back is the dirtiest but both sides have staining. There is a black stain on the back cover page in the bottom right corner along with spot stains on the front in the lower right quadrant in black and blue ink.
