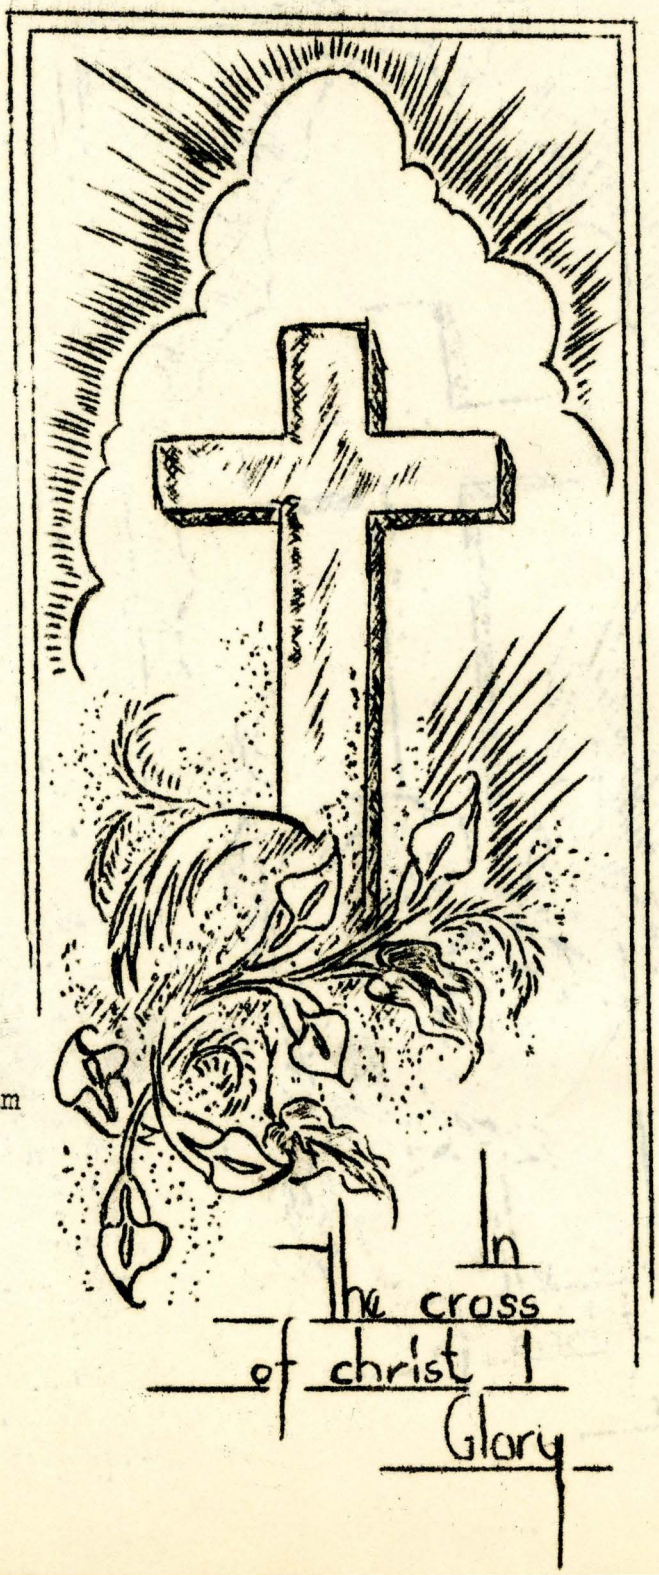
"APRIL FOOL!!"



"Three Cornered Moon" is to be presented the Friday following the return of the students to the La Verne campus after Spring vacation. The date was set while the members of the Alpha Psi Omega and the cast took care of apples and buttered popcorn.

Annually the Alpha Psi Omega play is the most outstanding of the events to take place during the year, and the working of the triangular shaped planet cast gives all indications of surpassing any previous performances.

Have you heard Blick say: "Love is like a potato." Jimmy: "I love being dispossessed. It makes me feel that I have executive ability." Smeltzer: "That bird Shelley, has been seen on the floor with more women---"

BEYOND THE HORIZON

Why do the loyalists' forces in Madrid offer such stubborn resistance to an apparently better trained and equipped rebel army? It is because those who support the loyalists are fighting with their backs to the wall. They have had a taste of freedom from oppression, and they do not intend to abandon their quest for more complete freedom. In a sense they are fighting for an ideal; but an ideal that has immediate benefits.

On the other hand the rebels or fascists, many of them, are hirelings. The Italian troops who embarked, apparently for service in Africa, and ended up in Spain have no great interest in spreading Fascism, at least not to the extent of giving their lives. Moorish troops are likewise without altruistic motives. This does not mean that the loyalists will win because of their greater zeal; but that a civil war should not assume the character of an international conflict.

EDITORIAL

DEATH

For thirty pieces of sliver Judas betrayed his Christ, and sold a most priceless possession--his own soul. He sacrificed all beauty of life for the clink of money. Everything of worth and value within his life left him when he accepted that betrayal money. How vain, selfish, greedy and utterly foolish was Judas and what a death he died! Not only a physical death did Judas suffer, but the most horrible mental death anyone could ever experience. Could it be that we, too, might be Judasses?

RESURRECTION

Down into the valley of death Chirst tread, yet too great, too powerful was He to reamin. He had a power too great for even death to overcome. That power was the power of guiltlessness. Christ had no sin. He was innocent of all false accusations which had sent him to the cross. This power of innocence was at last triumphant! Nothing could dim the beauty of the purity of Christ. He arose the victor over death. What power is greater than truth?

LIFE

Judas died and is forgotten! Christ lives and is revered. With the resurrection of Christ there was created a new life. A victorioua, powerful, beautiful life! This life is for all to enjoy! Within this life joy, happiness, peace, love, and life's beatuies abound.

Life is to be enjoyed. Christ made this life possible!

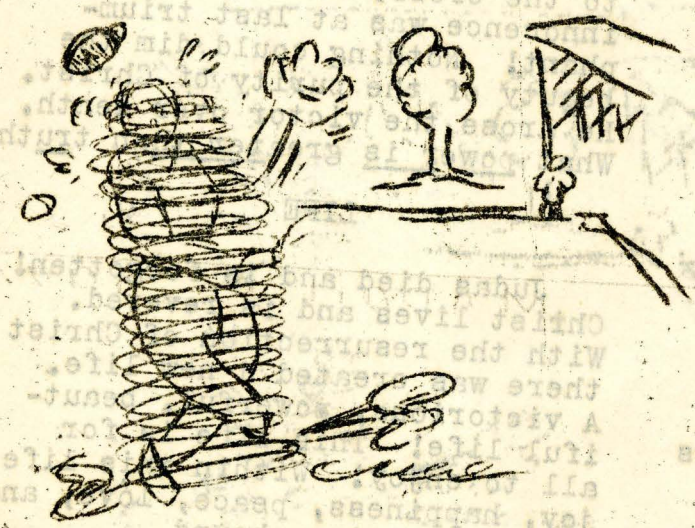
The boys have shown some promising material in some games with local teams, and we think they have some pretty good chances to win. Our first game is next Wednesday at Oxy, so they are the first to be polished off.

WATCH LA VERNE GO!!!



"No, there's nothing Wrong— that's Just Robin Winding up for his curve ball"

L. V. TRACKSTERS WIN

The La Verne Leopards took second in a meet at Pomona Sat. 20, 1937. Harp Lehman was high scorer for L. V. He took first in the broad jump and then he took second in the pole vault with Fischer following a close second.

Fischer also took fourth in the quarter mile which is a gruelling race. Snokelburg took fourth in the javelin while Perry Smith, the star javelin thrower of two years took second place with a heave of 170 feet.

Snokelburg took third in the 880 yard run.

L. V. placed third in the relay. With the small number of men La Verne made a very good showing, and they really need to be watched as they go on into the season. They are out to make plenty of points.

UPPER CLASSMEN RECEIVE TROUNCING!

Wednesday afternoon the lowerclassmen girl's volley-ball team defeated the upperclassmen to the tune of 49--21. The lowerclassmen captained by C. Miller with only four girls on the team, outplayed the upperclassmen(eight players) captained by V. Saul, on every count. With the power drive service of Madge Fischer, and the support of C. Miller, Doris Meacham, and Hildegarde Weiss, the lowerclassmen made the older girls look sick.

High point men were Madge Fischer and Catherine Miller with 16 points chalked up to their credit. Doris Meacham played a close second with 14 points.

Soocer season begins next week. Let's all be out for practice.

SOOPER SNOOPER

Two weeks have lapsed my gentle readers, and how gentle my readers are....Spring is really in the air, I heard Dallas Fox has been calling some little girl "honey-bunch" or something equal to that....It must be some of Ulmer's lessons taking effect. Also it looks as if Ulmer is on the make again; I do wish Opal would make up her mind, and so does Ulmer....So Andy and Dot are on speaking terms again. That's nice....Play boy "Bunny" Price still kids around the girls, this time it is L. Gregory.... Smeltzer takes a back seat while Dull marches on--Good going, Maurine,...Poor "Red" Crites is afraid of girls; imagine a big brute like him running away from two harmless girls.... Crash! Bang!! L.V.C. men broke all moral codes and ran away to Balboa!....I heard Madge Fischer tell some guy her folks were not home. Was that a hint, Madge?....Meacham was all thrills 'cause La Verne Crites was back in town....I hear some of our most promising men and fair co-eds were caught high, high upon a hill-top in the rain the other night. Nice going Glover and others....So Ople Shirley is rushing Conway. More power to you, Ople....There is no Mug like a real Mug, so I've been noticing and lately hearing....How come Mary went to the Junior skating party with someone else? I heard Price say he was taking the best skater in school. Next time he's going to take Thomas....Say, it isn't so that Cliff Frantz is trying to make Fike and poor Pahoney tried so long and hard... Spring hss gotten Andy--He's writing poetry and Francis Grober is writing, too. Francis is such a sweet,girl, too! .... So long, folks--see you next week!-----

CLASSROOM SLIPS

Why did Beauvais' whistle a tune when Dr. Hoover was beginning to teach the Economics Class? Of course,his excuse was that he thought he was in Chem. Lab.

Recently in the New Testament class, Professor Crist searched in vain for a piece of chalk, which he supposedly had placed at the blackboard. As usual it was in his pocket.

A model student was the cause of unexpected disorder in Chem. Lab. She pushed her chair back and forth to create a blood-curdling sound effect. Naturally the general commotion was continued by Ward Hanawalt. Of course, you can't guess who it is! But in case you are inquisitive, ask Francis K.

We have a distinguished person who has ridden an elephant in the jungles. At least that's what this imposter(who incidentally sits in the sophomore section)claimed last Thursday in chapel.

Recently in Frosh-Soph P.E. period, Jimmy Thornton deserted the other members of his class to indulge in a more worthwhile activity. During the same period the girls under the guidance of noteworthy "prof" "Lindy" were learning how to tumble. As usual James ambled over to the girls to give advice. Later he volunteered to be a statue over whom the co-eds might turn handsprings. As you might expect, the poor young ladies couldn't turn over him. Imagine Kutchie getting turns seven times in a row to learn the feat. Jimmy is still hobbling around with charley horses.

How can studious persons learn? One way is to go to La Verne College library. On Thursday morning the library was so quiet one could hear the clock tick. Suddenly there was a loud peal of music..

CAN YOU IMAGINE

Bud McSweeney has never received his ghigh school diploma.....

What the fellows on the Frosh basketball team did when they went to L..A.? Well, we notice their "maps" have been maroon ever since....

Our own dear Galen Price(of al all people) being prostrated full length at the entrance to Fraser's after viewing the book "Eve's Surprises"? Even if you can, I can't.....

Nondus Stump spending the first five years of her life in China?.....

Going any place in this college without seeing a poster advertising the Frosh Assembly?..

A group of L.V.C. co-eds discussing men's underwear, and V. Massey asking the most questions?.....

"Red" Brickley as a heavy weight wrestling champ?.....

Ruth Neeley being proposed to five times, and she refusing each one?.....

Little "Willie" staying up until 10:30 just a-courtin' his little lady? Tsk Tsk!.....

Dean Hoover doing the Balboa hop?.....

Leona Lehmer playing gypsy (or what is it?) by coming to chapel with a "watchamacallit" around her head? Why, Leona, we've seen curlers before.....

Liz Otto sleeping with a teddy bear!.....

Talismanic not making some crack about a chapel speaker.....

WE WISH WE COULD!!!

LA VERNE PLACES SECOND IN INTERPRETIVE READING CONTEST

La Verne closed her conference forensic activities by placing second in interpretive reading. Hal Michael represented La Verne taking second only to the Occidental representative.

DORM NEWS

Have you boys heard the continual buzz from the upstairs vicinity of the dorm as you sat in the lobby waiting for your lady love? And did you wonder what it was, since it's been going on at all hours?

With Easter, and spring almost here, the sewing machine has been doing double duty, and ambitious dorm-inmates are making new and beautiful creations to add to their wardrobes. Scraps of pink, blue, yellow and flowered materials are scattered around on the floor around the machine, and somehow suggest that the day will usher in a lovely fashion parade. Perhaps many of the girls will not be here for the day, but those who will be, have heard that the Easter bunny will visit them the night before and scatter around the grounds surrounding the dorm many gaily colored Easter eggs. The hunt will start early and the lucky girl finding the most eggs will be properly rewarded. Some girls will be home for the day, and some will be here, but where ever we are we wish every one a most Happy Easter!!

FAX WE LIKE TO KNOW-----

Dr. Harper Frantz, prominent professor of Chemistry and Registrar of Admissions for La Verne College, was born on the birth of a new year--January 1, 1896, at McPherson, Kansas. He attended the Mc Pherson schools for his early schooling up to and including, the first year of the McPherson Academy.

Moving from McPherson, he came to California and attended Long Beach High School for a half-year; later he moved to La Verne and attended the La Verne Academy.

CHAPEL

Rev. John I. Coffman of the church of the Brethren in McFarland, spoke in chapel Tuesday morning. "Is your character first rate, second rate or ready for the scrap heap?" he asked. Rev. Coffman told us that character is evidenced three ways: by what a person is, by being different, and by conforming to spiritual law. He encouraged us to consider these ideas in developing our characters so that they won't be ready for the scrap heap.

Two kinds of gardens were discussed by Rev. Becker of Glendora, during Thursday's chapel. At first, you might wonder what a minister would have to say about gardens, but there are two gardens that are very important in the Bible--The Garden of Eden, and the Garden of Gethsemane. These gardens have great significance but they are characterized by a very different spirit. One is a garden of selfishness and evil and the other is a garden of self-sacrifice and love. God lives in both, but in the Garden of Eden man is hiding from Him, and in the other, man is seeking God. Today we must try to take the spirit of the Garden of Gethsemane into all the areas of life in which the spirit of the Garden of Eden prevails.

LA VERNE "4" GO TO LONG BEACH

The LaVerne "4" sang at the Church of the Brethren of Long Beach, Wednesday, Mar. 17, for a men's brotherhood meeting. They presented mine quartet members. Between groups, Rube Callison sang three solos; Elvin presented two solos and Hal gave two readings. The solos were accompanied by "Travy". The boys enjoyed the trip and maal and were well received.

FASHION SHOW

Lovely styles of spring clothes were fashioned for the benefit of the Y.W. girls last Friday morning at eleven in the lobby of Miller Hall. Mrs. Caveness of the Caveness style Shope of Pomona very kindly offered the display of their recent spring styles, and gave the girls many suggestions as to the selection of the contents of their spring wardrobe. The La Verne Co-eds who very capably and fashionably modeled the lovely frocks were Opal Burnette, Frances Grober, Nona Fike, Dorothy Holmes, Mary Shich, Lucille Gregory, and Mary Lou Jackson.

---C.E. NEWS---

The college C.E. put on a creative program Sunday evening with Don Gans as leader. Every person present was asked to write on a slip of paper some vital question to have discussed. Some questions discussed were "Is the modern social dance Christian?" by Don Verbeck; "Can we expect prayers to be answered?" by Sam Ellenberger; "Howmay we improve our C.E." by Ruth Clark. The closing bell seemed to come quite too soon.

Becky--I did look into a True Story Magazine once, and did find it quite well done, really;
Archie--They never fuss over me. Turkey-I suppose, and two or three desserts;
Penny--He is for me and I am for him;
McSweeney--She's dumb, but cute and I love her;

And seen
Moomaw and Brickley in a clinch?

All these are in the Alpha Psi Omega's side-splitting production of this well-known comedy.

He received his A.B. degree from Pomona College, having attended Pomona College after finishing the course given by La Verne Academy. His M.S. degree was taken at the University of Chicago, and while in that school, he taught as an assistant. Following his M.S. he attended the University of California and received his Ph. D. from that school for achievement and study in connection with the Solubility Theory, his achievement was in Internal Pressures.

He began his teaching in La Verne in 1917, but was called away soon after to a military camp in Washington. Dr. Frantz was not there long, however, before he was found to have the smell and qualities of a chemist, and in due time was sent to Washington D.C. where he worked in the Bureau of Standards.

Following the war Dr. Frantz returned of La Verne, and resumed his teaching. In 1920 he married the former Alberta Nehr.

Dr. Frantz is a very able professor and has spent all of his teaching career at and for the advancement of LaVerne College.

EASTER

High upon Golgath's hill,
Black against the sky,
Stood three rough-hewn crosses,
Where Christ was made to die.

They sealed His body in a tomb,
Three days in death he lay;
But Sunday at the break of dawn,
An angel rolled the stone away.

Today in dim cathedrals
The Easter anthems play
Telling how death was defeated
That resurrection day.

OLD STUDENT RETURNS

Laverne Crites, former student of La Verne College now attending Kingsburg J.C. surprised friends here Wednesday by returning to ghe campus for a short visit. He returned home Thursday evening, accompanied by his brother Marvin Crites who plans to spend the week end in his old home town.

QUILL CLUB

The Quill Club met Thursday afternoon in the Y.W. room. Plans were discussed for the production of the "SCROLL", a book containing literary works of the club members. Tea was served by the hostess, Dehlia Stanley.

Discussions next week on the short story and the essay will be led by Madge Fisher and Elizabeth Otto.

We are very proud that poems written by Margaret Grant and Mary Kneeland were accepted by the publishers of the "First the Blade", a book of poetry contributed to by all the Colleges of Southern Cal. LaVerne is very fortunate in having two students represented.

Baritones, sopranos, basses, tenors, etcetra were all attempting to keep in tune. Out of the loud tumult could be heard words extending Happy Birthday greetings to Dick Moon. Imagine a grinning librarian, a scarlet-faced lad (Dick) and a group of would-be singers. No wonder the teachers are blessed with an abundance of over-studious pupils.
