Her father James worked at the stone quarry, and did construction. She remembers getting running water and electricity when she was 20 years old. She went to kindergarten in Menasha, then she moved back to Oneida and went to Elm Hill. Elm Hill School only had one room and one teacher. Mary went to Elm Hill for first grade through eighth grade, then she went to Oneida state grade school. She spent two years at Green Bay East, and another two at Flanduea Indian School S.D. She graduated at Flanduea Indian School. She worked for a year in Michigan at a machine shop. Mary moved back to Oneida and married Nick Metoxen. She went to Methodist Church. Mary started working as a cook for the tribe. She also started at Chicago Corner for a year. She then went on to the senior center, working as a cook for 21 years. A change that Mary noticed was many people moving back to Oneida. She had lived in the same house for 30 years. Education is the simple advice that she gives. Another change in her life is that she was a recovering alcoholic and was doing great. She also says that she has great family.
