Identity Statement:Scope & Content / Abstract:

Large leather bound ledger. The covers have borders made of three curled lines. The spine has two black labels with gold lettering. The top says "Abstract" and the bottom reads "Calumet County".

The first page (which was missed during scanning and is too large for museums scanner) is an explanation that states this is a "Registers Office of Calumet County" and is "An Abstract of the Stockbridge Reservation, in Calumet County and State of Wisconsin." The ledger is only about half filled. The cover is attached to the pages via blue, yellow, and red marbled paper.

The ledger is in okay condition. The covers are worn and slight insect damage can be seen on the corners and sides. There is staining to the cover that includes what looks like ink, but also water damage. The pages are in good shape, slightly brittle.
