Wisconsin Dells Prepares for District Convention to be Held in August

By Dr. R. D. Boynton,
District Convention Chairman.

As you know, Wisconsin Dells was the unanimous choice of the delegates at the Marquette Convention last summer for the 1940 Wisconsin-Upper Michigan District Convention.

Before the invitation was extended to the District a committee was appointed to make a complete survey to determine whether the "Biggest Little City in the State of Wisconsin" could meet all of the requirements necessary to satisfactorily entertain the Convention. This committee having reported favorably, a convention committee was appointed consisting of Dr. R. D. Boynton, General Chairman; Rev. E. C. Dixon, Vice Chairman; and George M. Pike. A convention fund was set up and the members of the club, amounting to about 50 voted both individually and collectively to aid the convention committee in every possible way.

A tentative outline for the program of the Convention suggests that when you arrive at Wisconsin Dells on Sunday afternoon, August 25, you and your party register at the Convention Headquarters in the Community Building, the home of the Wisconsin Dells Kiwanis Club. After registering and getting located at your hotel, it is suggested that you drive up to Camp Wawbeek, the summer camp of the Wisconsin Association for the Disabled, a vast estate located several hundred feet above the city at its eastern limits. Here one can witness at first hand the wonderful job being engineered by our own Past Governor "Bill" Faulkes. Guides will escort you about the camp and to the top of the castle where an excellent view of the surrounding country and The Dells Region can be obtained.

If you choose, you may secure your evening meal at the camp and remain for the usual semi-religious program which will be in charge of Rev. J. W. Davies President of the Wisconsin Dells Kiwanis Club.

The past officers club will breakfast together Monday morning.

On Monday morning the Convention proper will open in the Auditorium of the Community Building, at noon the meeting will adjourn to the gymnasium of the high school where luncheon will be served, following the luncheon the Divisional Conferences will be held in various rooms of the high school.

At 4:00 P. M. the delegates and guests will meet at the Dells Boat Company Landing where their General Manager, Kiwanian George M. Pike will direct the party through the nationally famous Upper Dells by motor boat, making stops at Cold Water Canyon, Witches Gulch, and Stand Rock, where a high-class box luncheon will be served, community singing and a real Kiwanis get-together held. Following this, we will be entertained by the Indian Ceremonial held in the natural amphitheater at Stand Rock, the only ceremonial of its kind in the world. As a prelude to the ceremonial about 30 minutes will be given over to a special program honoring distinguished guests.

Following the ceremonial we will return by boat down the Wisconsin River to Wisconsin Dells, enjoying enroute the singing of Kiwanis songs led by Indian artists, the fantastic outlines of the river bank as shown by the search lights of the fleet of launches and the moon, which by the way will be the same moon, but bigger and better than when seen at Marquette last year.

The delegates to the Nomination Conference will be assigned a private launch where they can hold their deliberations under the guidance of Past Governor George.

After returning to Wisconsin Dells Monday evening the delegates and guests will be entertained at the Governor's Ball.

On Tuesday morning the delegates will reconvene for the regular morning business session at the Convention Hall, the business session will be followed by luncheon and afternoon business session at the high school gymnasium.

Ladies, Gents, and Juniors Golf Tournament will commence at the close of the afternoon session at previous assigned nearby country clubs, trophies and awards will be presented at a banquet following the tournament at Dell View Hotel on Tuesday evening. Kiwanian Henry Tofson and his committee will direct the tournament.

Several years ago our district conventions were very much stag affairs, then the ladies became interested and the past few years has seen more of the junior Kiwanians and Kiwanianas in attendance and so your Convention Committee this year would like to suggest that you make it a family affair—a real vacation for the entire family. Dr. Dixon is in charge of the ladies and childrens entertainment and I know that he and the Kiwanis ladies will work out a delightful program.

Wisconsin Dells is easily accessible by train or motor, being located on the main line of the Milwaukee Road about 120 miles west of Milwaukee, on State Trunk Highways, number 12—16—23 and 135.

Smith of Georgia Heads Kiwanis

Mark A. Smith, of Thomaston, Georgia, is the 1940-41 president of Kiwanis International. He is an educator and active in school affairs in Georgia and throughout the South.

He is a charter member of the Thomaston Kiwanis club, joining in 1924. He was president of his club in 1927 and governor of the Georgia district in 1934. Mr. Smith was first elected to the board of trustees of Kiwanis International in June, 1937, for a two-year term, and re-elected at the Boston convention in 1939.

Mr. Smith has been superintendent of his community's public schools since 1919. He is a past president of the Georgia high school association; director of the Georgia education association; national director of the Horace Mann League and the Beta clubs for boys and girls, and a member of the elementary, high school and southern high school accrediting commissions.

James P. Gallagher, Newton, Mass., was elected vice-president for the United States; and Robert J. Prittie, Winnipeg, Man., was re-elected vice-president for Canada. Dr. W. Eugene Wolcott, Des Moines, Ia., was re-elected treasurer. Bennett O. Knudson, of Albert Lea, Minn., is immediate past president.

Six members elected to two-year terms on the board of trustees are: Ralph C. Barker, Durham, N. C.; Frederick M. Barnes, Jersey City, N. J.; Charles S. Dudley, Dallas, Tex.; Franklin C. Haven, Brooklyn, N. Y.; R. George McCuish, Vancouver, B. C.; and E. B. Stahlman, Jr. Nashville, Tenn.

Elected for one year to fill the vacancy on the board created by the election of Mark Smith as president was J. Hudson Huffard, of Bluefield, Va.

Trustees elected to office in 1939 at Boston and to continue for another year are: Ben Dean, Grand Rapids, Mich.; Charles B. Holman, D. D. S., St. Louis, Mo.; Fred G. McAlister, London, Ont.; Donald B. Rice, Oakland, Calif., and Daniel S. Wentworth, Chicago, Ill.

Club winners in an achievement contest, which gave awards for community service programs, were as follows: gold division, Oak Cliff, Dallas, Tex.; silver, West Toronto, Ont.; blue, Tujunga, Calif., and white, Batesville, Ark.

The district winners in this achievement contest were: gold division, Michigan; silver, Pacific-Northwest; blue, Texas Oklahoma, and white, Kentucky-Tennessee.

Highlights of Club Activities

Appleton—Secretary Charles of the Appleton club gets out a very attractive club bulletin, creative in design and color. He also reports a resume' of the board of directors meeting which is very informative to the membership. Kiwanis was active in working with the Mayor's committee in the observance of Flag Week, and on June 19 the meeting featured a program captioned "Outagamie County and Its Rural Economic Status," with County Agent Fred Magnus as the speaker.

Boscobel—For the benefit of underprivileged children, Scout work, etc., the Boscobel club put on a fund raising program when they presented "The Showboat Minstrel" in April. It was a rollicking show and scored a decided hit.

Beaver Dam—Don Klinefelter, lieutenant governor of the North Central division, is managing editor of the Wayland Bulletin, a publication issued monthly by Wayland University of Beaver Dam. This with his faculty work keeps Don exceedingly busy. Kiwanians who tuned in on June 7 enjoyed Don's talk over WHA on the subject "The Place of the Junior College in Education."

Baraboo—The Baraboo club has sponsored a new Scout troop No. 90, supplying the hall, equipment and furnishings. 27 scouts are enrolled with Merl Hanley as scoutmaster, and Bob Ott as assistant. The club's secretary, Ernst C. Henke, is a pioneer in this office and is one of Baraboo's charter members.

Cudahy—The club had an interesting program featuring Jeff Davis, "King of the Hoboes." Mr. Davis is editor of the Hobo News and was in Milwaukee attending the Hobo Convention. Cudahy has a fine fund for its Underprivileged Children activity. The club made a net of over $400 on their "Headlines" show, all for underprivileged child work.

Cedarburg—Instead of having a program committee, the Cedarburg club has made each member responsible for a program each week. Member's turn goes by alphabet, and each member is notified in plenty of time in advance to arrange for a program. The first program under the new set-up goes into effect August 12, and the plan will be interesting to watch.

Eau Claire—Dokyasek in announcing the program of "Your Milk Dollar," reminds the members in his bulletin that "It's milking time at Kiwanis luncheon," and about the speaker, Asher Rost, who claims to be half Irishman, he wittingly remarks, "Like skimmed milk, that's better than none at all."

Eau Claire—Kiwanians had the pleasure of having an officer of Kiwanis International address them at their meeting the other week. He was Joe Frohock of Florida who stopped off on his way home from the Minneapolis convention.

Milwaukee—Nearly 500 Kiwanians from clubs within this area attended the inter-club meeting at the Milwaukee Athletic club Wednesday, May 22. It was one of the biggest, finest, liveliest "whooper-up" meetings ever held sparking with good fellowship, good entertainment, good food, and a headline speaker, Dr. Charles Copeland Smith of Chicago.

Escanaba—Ladies night on June 17 in celebration of All Kiwanis week was staged by the local club. The program featured dance numbers by pupils of the Cloutier school of dancing. 21 Kiwanians had perfect attendance records during June, and 10 are on the honor list for the first five months of the year.

Fond du Lac—A talk on trees and landscaping by Leonard Baker right in his own back yard provided an interesting program. The meeting was held at Martin's Tree Nursery. This setting plus a sizzling steak fry brought out a big gang of the boys. Sec. Mac enclosed a map showing how to get to Martin's, and suggested that if anyone had doubts on how to get there, red and white canes would be furnished to all blind men who could tap their way to the steak fry.

Green Bay—Some outstanding programs have been provided Kiwanians of Green Bay recently. Among the headliners was Dr. Harry McNeill of Fordham university who spoke on "Meet Father Coughlin;" Serafim Strelkoff, Russian-American troubadour; James C. Wilson, author and traveler, and C. Ray Hansen, lawyer criminologist of Chicago, who found himself a victim of gangland with his jaw broken and head battered, and who has been a militant crusader against gangland ever since.

La Crosse—An interclub meeting with Governor Bill Darling as the speaker brought members from Viroqua, Sparta, Lansing, Iowa, and Richland Center. The annual boys picnic featured a kittenball game between the boys and men. It was held June 4 at Myrick park.

Madison—Kiwanian Marschall is back among his club members after an airplane trip to Buenos Aires and return. Another member, Dr. Virgin, was on the Fracture program at the American Medical association meeting in New York City. Past district governor Faulkes is back at the club meetings after some weeks absence due to illness.

Mineral Point—An Iowa County Home and Food Show was sponsored by the Mineral Point club May 15-18. It was a big success with more than 5,000 people in attendance. The club is also sponsoring a drive for funds for the Red Cross with $200 set as the quota. A good-will banquet was another splendid club activity. It was held on June 10 with about 50 business men from Gollandale and Waldick as guests.

Oconomowoc—A Kiwanis Education program, so badly neglected by most clubs, was carried out in fine style by club members of Oconomowoc June 17. Paul Robbins spoke on "Know Kiwanis," Sam Leard on "Accept Kiwanis," and Walter Dally on "Practice Kiwanis." All past presidents of the club were introduced and the objectives of Kiwanis work reviewed.

South Milwaukee—During the summer months the club is meeting at the Grant Park club house. Sec'y. Fred preaches attendance in each issue of his bulletin, and wants to know from International what the rule is in the case of Werner Lehman, a faithful member if there ever was one, who was absent for several months—on a trip to darkest Africa.

Plymouth—Kiwanians interested in conservation enjoyed a fine talk by F. L. Brown of the State Conservation commission who had charge of the removal of rough fish from the Sheboygan Marsh. He described the work and the results that had been secured.

Wausau—A thoughtful aid to the sick is being promoted by the club members who are collecting various magazines and distributing them to the hospitals, sanatoriums and the county home. Children at the Preventorium at Mount View were pleased in securing some splendid children's magazines.

Portage—The club has changed from evening to noon meetings after a poll taken by members. Fifteen guests from rural areas were present at the meeting which featured Oscar W. Olson, educational director of the Chicago Mercantile Exchange who spoke on "Speculative Markets for Farm Products."

Platteville—The lead and zinc industry is one of the mainstays in southwestern Wisconsin. Kiwanians heard an interesting discourse by W. N. Smith on this industry and how the National Defense program will benefit this district.

Port Washington—A four-star program was enjoyed by the local club when they heard John Poulter, research engineer of the Koehring Company, and brother of the designer of the giant snow cruiser used by the Byrd Antarctic expedition, tell the story of the 70,000 pound vehicle. Poulter helped to build it. His lecture was illustrated with movies, and Sec. Lou comments that the program was magnificent.

Reedsburg—All work and no play makes Jack a dull boy. Reedsburg Kiwanians recognizing this are meeting at the Country Club during July and August with softball games between the members followed by a dinner later. Games start at 6:45 with "bitter" rivalry between the Nestle's Skim Milks and Reedsburg 4 Per-centers.

Seymour—Encouraging 4-H activities is a worthy Kiwanis objective. The Seymour club invited the North Cicero 4-H group to present their play to the club and the boys enjoyed it immensely. The play was the winner at the county drama contest at Freedom, and was also presented at Madison during 4-H week.

Wauwatosa—"A Trip to Romantic Peking" headlined a program with James Henry White as the speaker. Mr. White spent eight years in China in educational and publishing work. He is a member of the Explorer's club and the American Geographic Society of New York. Club member J. Lester Esch did not forget to keep up his attendance while in Florida. He attended the Orlando club meeting 14 times and the Winter Park, Fla. meeting 3 times.

West Allis—Education and how it is carried out in West Allis was the theme of a June program with Mel Larson, newly elected school board director in charge. Harry B. Nash, superintendent of schools, Harry Belman, director of the Vocational schools and principals of the various schools attended. Harold Stamm showed a film of school life in West Allis.

Marquette Club Sponsors Tour of Salvation Army Staff Band

Unlimited enthusiasm, extra large application of hard work, and an unbounded degree of faith in the drawing power of the Chicago Staff Band of The Salvation Army were responsible for the success of this famous organization's recent 3-day series of appearances in Northern Wisconsin and Upper Michigan—a series which commended auspiciously in Marquette, Mich., on Friday evening, May 3, and ended in Marinette, Wis., on Sunday evening, May 5, with intermediate stops at Gladstone and Escanaba, Mich., on Saturday and Sunday.

Under the able leadership of Staff-Bandmaster Ray Ogg the band displayed a high grade of musicianship and showmanship, a smoothness of performance which bespoke an unusually fine spirit of cooperation among the players, and well balanced, varied, appealing programs.

Comfortably billeted in Marquette at the Hotel Clifton—through the courtesy of Kiwanian Roe H. Hill, manager—after a 400-mile drive from Chicago, the Staff Band's initial engagement was a half-hour broadcast by a small group over Station WDMJ, the radio voice of the Daily Mining Journal. The program was presented through the kindness of Station Manager Gordon Brozek.

On Friday evening at the Northern State Teachers College auditorium the band played to the largest and most enthusiastic audience of the entire tour—1,200 persons, who cheered and applauded the performers' every effort.

To quote from the report which appeared the next day in the Daily Mining Journal:

"It was a warm, impressive performance... The intonation was well-nigh perfect, in the opinion of Martin Johnston, music supervisor of Marquette public schools... All ensemble numbers were well done, and the program was adequately spiced with solos and duets... An outstanding feature was the bass drum artistry of Brig. H. E. Burtenshaw, who is widely known for his unusual stick-twirling technique... Other numbers well received were the piano selection, 'Mala-guena,' featuring Jack Atkinson, and a cornet duet, 'Two Friends,' played by Capt. W. Stevenson and Ronald Rowland."

Noticeably free of the clutter of distracting "small talk" so often included in band programs, the concert proceeded unannounced after a brief message of explanation and appreciation had been given by William E. Miller, president of the Marquette Kiwanis Club, under whose sponsorship the band had come to Marquette. Major Len Burrage, local corps commander, also expressed his sincere thanks to the bandmen and to the Kiwanis committee responsible for the success of the venture.

With the cooperation of Warden S. A. Anderson, Chaplain Sidney Smith and Educational Director Raymond Bushkol of the State House of Correction and Branch Prison, the Staff Band visited the penal institution on Saturday morning and presented a brief concert for the inmates.

The final engagement in Marquette was a noon luncheon of the Kiwanis Club at the Hotel Clifton, where the band played several numbers and all who had made the trip possible were thanked for their work. Board Member Webster H. Pearce, president of the N. S. T. C., addressed a brief speech of appreciation to the bandmen. The following men, directed by General Chairman W. F. Armstrong, headed various groups in the sponsoring committee: John Biekkala, co-chairman; Francis A. Hatch, tickets; William Sense, publicity; Major Burrage, program; Clyde D. Rankin, entertainment.

Proceeds from the concert will be used to finance the Kiwanis Club food project for under-privileged children, an important work which includes the feeding of hot lunches to over 40 children during the school year.

Dells Prepares for District Convention

(Concluded)

As to hotel and housing facilities, Wisconsin Dells offers virtually any type of accommodations Kiwanians and their families may demand. Hotel accommodations for two persons with private bath can be had from $3.00 to $5.00 per room; two persons without bath $2.00 to $3.00 per room. In addition to the hotels, excellent accommodations can be secured in private homes or if one chooses, reservations can be made for either cabins or cottages. Hotel or housing accommodations can be secured through the Hotels Committee of which Kiwanian O. P. Helland of Wisconsin Dells is chairman. A listing of hotels and other accommodations will be shown in a later issue of this Bulletin.

To make this convention a success we urge your cooperation to the end, that is (unless you have already done so) you begin planning on attending the District Convention in August under the very able direction of Past Governor Norton J. Williams and his "On to Wisconsin Dells Committee." Drive, fly or walk; we do not care, just so you come to what we hope to be the biggest and best convention in the history of the Wisconsin-Upper Michigan District.

Novel Plan Used to Bolster Attendance

Here's a plan to bolster attendance. It was in Secretary Herb. Turner's Bulletin of the Portage Club and has really been put in operation by the Portage club. We'll report in the next issue on the increase in attendance and the size of the pig. The plan as described by Herb. is:

The Board of Directors arrived at a scheme to improve attendances which we believe will be beneficial to the club. A baby pig is to be purchased and brought to the meeting each Monday and weighed. Those who failed to attend the noon meeting or make up their attendance elsewhere will be responsible for the care and feeding of the animal and see that it is returned each Monday at which time it will be noted who is absent. The members who took care of the animal the week before and brought it to the meeting will then deliver it to the home or place of business of one of the absentees as they choose. It is then up to them to feed it and see that it is brought to the next meeting. So, if any of you feel that you would rather not take care of the young porker and transport it, just attend the meetings. While the pig may not be large or weigh much now, can you imagine what a job it is going to be when he gets older? Our attendance ought to improve each month until we reach 100% and the porker starves to death.

Governor Asks Record Convention Attendance

The District Convention to be held at Wisconsin Dells August 25, 26, and 27th should be more largely attended than any previous convention in the Wisconsin-Upper Michigan District. Wisconsin Dells is very near the geographical center of Wisconsin, if not of the entire district; it is one of the most picturesque spots in the country; and the city is accustomed to providing housing and dining facilities for literally thousands of people. Moreover the entire city, led by the Kiwanis Club is set to show the convention scenes and spectacles that will bring them back in subsequent seasons.

If there are those who are fearful of having to sleep under the stars, they may be entirely reassured. It is the business—the life-blood of Wisconsin Dells to provide comfortable living quarters for neighbors and strangers, and they will merely take this convention in their stride.

Past Governor Norton J. Williams is District Chairman of the On-to-Wisconsin Dells Committee and he will keep all clubs informed of developments. But every club should forthwith, elect its delegates to the Convention and the delegates should immediately apply to O. P. Helland, Wisconsin Dells for reservations.

Dr. R. D. Boynton is the General Chairman and he will undoubtedly guarantee all required medical aid gratis during the convention to any one who applies for lodging and is unable to be lodged comfortably.

The International Convention at Minneapolis was a superlative event. Let us unite to make our District Convention the best ever. Hope to see you at Wisconsin Dells.

WM. T. DARLING, Governor.

KIND WORDS FROM KIWANIS

The March issue of the Bulletin brought a number of kind responses from fellow Kiwanians. Among them were the following:

"We enjoyed your Wis-U-Mich Bulletin. It really was an outstanding piece of work. Congratulations."

"I have read your first issue of the Wis-U-Mich from 'Kiver to Kiver'. Let me say to you that it is the best issue ever published since you back when—I mean this!

"The things that make it stand out in my estimation is the originality you exhibit in its arrangement and also the individuality in the selection of ideas and topics in which we are interested. Your bulletin was conspicuous in our club bulletin this week."

"May I hasten to offer my congratulations for the March issue of the Wis-U-Mich Bulletin.
I like the change in stock, the typography and the make up of the bulletin is fine."

"The 'news style' of the bulletin lends tremendously to its interestingness. I am sending two bits. Will you put my name on the list for an extra copy each quarter? I have never yet read a copy of our bulletin without a desire to 'red pencil' some item and send it on to a friend who is not in Kiwanis."

"Congratulations upon the first issue of the WIS-U-MICH bulletin!

"If you can spare two or three additional copies, I would appreciate having them."

Dear Mr. Horn:

"In your March number of the Wisconsin-Upper Michigan Kiwanis District Bulletin, I was delighted to note that Kiwanis does a good job sponsoring Boy Scout Troops. We are deeply grateful for this support of our program."

"When men like those holding membership in Kiwanis become interested in boys to the extent of helping them develop wholesome character and citizenship traits, Americans may truly rejoice."

"If our Councils can serve you better, please let us know. We stand ready to help. May success come to Kiwanis with its far reaching program of Americanization."

With all good wishes.

Cordially yours,
C. J. CARLSON, Regional Executive Boy Scouts of America.

Committee Urges Inter-Club Relations

By William C. Sense, Chairman District Committee.

The Committee on Inter-Club Relations feels that each club president should see to it:

1. That a tentative schedule is prepared for the balance of the year for the year's inter-club activities.

2. That a carefully planned agenda is provided for each inter-club meeting, with the proper type of speaker, speaking within set limits, and the meeting start and close on schedule.

3. That each club form "Fly Squadrons, composed of their past officers, for the purpose of making inter-club visitations, especially to weaker clubs.

4. That visitations by individuals be encouraged, to make up attendance, interchange of ideas, fostering the spirit of fellowship, and looking toward the removal of any prejudice or jealousy which might exist between communities.

5. That every Kiwanis club should create for its visitors a genuine atmosphere of hospitality.

6. Arrange for at least ONE inter-club meeting sponsored by your club.

Reports are coming in making us feel that we are heading for the best inter-club relations year in our District's history. To make this possible we need your active participation. Send your report to the District Chairman on Inter-club Relations immediately after your event.

Milwaukee Club Gives Digest of Achievements for First Quarter

Each quarter the Milwaukee club gets out an achievement bulletin. It is in reality the taking of inventory of the club's activities for the quarter. Secretaries might well emulate this, and it should spur committees to get out of their do-nothing attitude and do some real effective work.

The report of the Milwaukee club is reprinted as an example for other clubs to follow. Dr. V. M. Purdy is Achievement Committee chairman, and his report is as follows:

The real objective of any Kiwanis club is betterment of the community in which it exists. This alone justifies its existence; the time it takes from busy men and the money spent in it. This alone will attract and hold worthwhile membership. The reason for submitting to you an achievement report is to make you realize that back of all the fun and frolic, the good times and speeches, there have been real things done for the community.

Achievement—The success of any Kiwanis club depends upon the achievements of its memberships. We hope that what follows will give you added pride in your club.

Agriculture—Two meetings. Planned and sponsored club meeting for February seventh at which twenty-two leaders of various farm organizations were special guests of the club. The farmers brought gift packages, from eggs to radishes which were awarded as prizes. The recognition and encouragement of the agricultural leaders adds much to the pride of the farmer and strengthens his determination to stick to an intelligent tilling of the soil.

Attendance—Three meetings. They assigned all members of the club having poor attendance records to some member of the committee who is to be responsible for contacting these men and urging their attendance. Attendance at Kiwanis meetings is as essential to the welfare of the organization as food is to the body.

Automobile—No meetings. But, at the request of the under privileged child committee, they furnish cars to transport eight clowns from the Shrine Circus for the entertainment of the children at the Gaenslen school. The history of Kiwanis has proved that the average man does not weary of well doing.

Boys & Girls—Two meetings. A new Scout master for the troop they are sponsoring was one of their problems, but that is solved. They arranged a hike for this troop and provided instructions in first aid and simple forms of handicraft for a group of Girl Scouts. Just so long as men like these are rendering unselfish service there is no danger to our civilization.

Bowling—Thirteen meetings. The average attendance at the Monday night bowling was: January 35, February 37, March 34. The inter-club bowling get-together April first and the tournament at Marinette made history. The worst solitude is to have no true friendships. Here is one of your best bets for making 'em.

Business Standards—No meetings reported, but have something coming. They realize that mere criticism is like shadow boxing. It may be good for the liver but it won't win the fight.

Conservation — Five meetings. The wildlife feeding program was carried out 100% by the members of the committee. They plan to broadcast and otherwise spread the gospel of conservation to the public and to the schools. Just so long as men have deep in their hearts the desire to leave the world a little better place than they found it, just that long will Kiwanis flourish.

Entertainment — No meetings. We leave more to do when we die than we have done, so why take life so seriously! Let's get limbered up for that great picnic that will soon be here.

Finance—One meeting. The budget was prepared, approved, and is now within limits. Money is not paid into a Kiwanis club to be saved. It is for the sole purpose of being spent in carrying out the objectives of the club. Each year should see the entire income expended in some good work.

Golf—Two meetings. Five meets have been scheduled as follows: May 15—Westmoor, June 26—Tuckaway, July 24—North Hills, August 28—Tripoli, September 18th—North Shore. As an inter-club gesture, notices to the other clubs in the division will be sent inviting their members to join our golfers.

Inductions—Two meetings. Twelve new members were properly inducted the first quarter. They were given to understand that the men who put the most personal service into Kiwanis become automatically the most enthusiastic.

Inter-Club — Three meetings with "nothing to sell" but the thought that we have more neighbors today, but less neighborliness and we should do something about it. The bowling, golf and program committees are in cahoots with the inter-club relations committee in weaving that welcome mat for our front door.

Kiwanis Education—One meeting. The twenty-fifth anniversary of Kiwanis International was appropriately celebrated with the reading of the president's message to all clubs, followed by a Dakin gem, "Kiwanis As An Adventure". It will be found invariably that the more a man knows about Kiwanis the greater interest he has in it.

Laws & Regulations—No meetings. However, whereas our club has a set of by-laws and whereas they should be up-to-date, International was consulted by our conscientious Bill and it was found that we are in keeping with the standard form.

Membership & Classification—Four meetings. No man should be kept out of Kiwanis because of his ripe years, but it is an obvious fact that Kiwanis must be kept what it has always been, a young, virile organization which acts rather than sits around deploring conditions and doing nothing to remedy them. This committee is doing a fine job in building a strong club membership for greater community service.

Music—On account of bad roads, inclement weather, epidemics of colds and the flu, inventories, inability on the part of committee members to attend meetings, because of visits from home office officials and 101 other reasons the music committee did not hold meetings—according to their own report. But there is something about men's opening up their mouths and allowing the joy that is in them to become vocal, which adds to their spirit and their enthusiasm for Kiwanis. And ours is a singing club.

On to Conventions—Two meetings. In the minds of many Kiwanians convention programs are incubating. No man ever attended a Kiwanis convention who did not return to his club re-dedicated and re-consecrated to better Kiwanis work and greater activity in club matters. Members of this committee will be soliciting your interest and co-operation in convention attendance.

Program—One meeting. Committee chairmen have shown an unusual interest in the possibility of sponsoring programs and as a result many programs are already booked which will reflect directly upon the work that our club committees are doing. All committee chairmen have answered the call for service and have gone to work for Kiwanis with a vigor and an energy which speaks well for the inherent goodness in the type of men to which Kiwanis appeals.

Public Affairs—One meeting. Arranged for the placing of five hundred flash cards on street cars the week prior to the spring election which admonished the people to "Vote as You Please, But Vote—Kiwanis". There is a definite place for Kiwanis in public affairs.

Publicity—No meetings held—so the reports say. But from the many articles and pictures which have appeared in the newspapers, we know that this committee chairman, "The Scribblin' Scribe" and "His Girl Friday" have worked hard and long.

Reception—Thirteen meetings. Three to five members of this committee have been on duty each meeting to greet and introduce visiting Kiwanians. Thirty-five guests have been so received this first quarter. There is no better way of lengthening our lives than by trying to make the lives of others brighter and happier.

Support of Churches—One meeting. Sponsored meeting March 20th at which time President Mc Carthy of Marquette University addressed the club. Law and order, the sanctity of matrimony, the golden rule, the clean life, all the eternal verities are rooted and grounded in the church and it is only fitting that Kiwanis should stand squarely behind the church as the greatest influence for good in the world.

Under-Privileged Child—Four meetings. Scholarships and car fare expense, new glasses and orthopedic appliances were appropriated this first quarter. Also a sum between $100.00 and $125.00 was set aside for camp expenses for crippled children at Camp Waubeek during the summer months. A member who wishes to remain anonymous, donated the cost of six Y. M. C. A. memberships to under privileged boys. There is no time a man stands so high as when he stoops to help a child. A book could be written on the splendid work of this committee.

Visitation—Committee made twenty-four calls on shut-in members. Many men find that Kiwanis not only gives them something to do, but it surrounds them with kindred spirits and friends.

Vocational Guidance—Three meetings. To have helped a boy or girl to find a vocation in life which will make his or her whole life a happy and a prosperous one, is a privilege enjoyed by few. Questionnaires were distributed among the membership to find out which of the members would be willing to interview individuals, lead discussions, or write material concerning vocation in which they are engaged. Letters were written to all high school principals in the city offering the services of the committee members and other members of the club in leading discussions, interviewing individuals, or talking to groups of students concerning the various businesses and professions.

Club Provides Hot Lunches in School

There are a score or more of hot lunch projects in the upper peninsula for the benefit of under privileged school children in lower grades, and to the Marquette Kiwanis club goes credit for pioneering the idea in a basement room at the Nester school on Bluff street. The project here has just completed its third year.

From 30 to 40 children from the first to the fifth grades are fed stews, soups, cocoa, crackers and cookies for lunch for 100 to 120 days in the school year, ranging from November 1 to May 1, and the increase in their weight and also the improved attendance record are remarkable, to say the least.

It started in September, 1937, when Miss Margaret Wickstrom, then an instructor at Nester school, suggested the hot lunch project to a group of Kiwanians. It was presented to the club and approved by its board of directors October 21, 1937. In fact, whole-hearted approval was granted, for the club readily saw the value of serving meals to under-fed children and saw in it a civic project that ranks with the best.

The club came through with dishes and silverware and provided money to buy food. The WPA paid the cook's wages and the first lunch was served November 1, 1937.

One hundred and sixty-five pupils are enrolled at Nester. Of this group, from 35 to 40 are selected to get the benefit of the hot lunches. Several organizations have co-operated in the plan by providing food and equipment.

For instance, the conservation department turned over 250 pounds of illegal venison steaks last season. The children bring bread and sandwiches and other food from home—their regular lunch—which is supplemented by the Kiwanis club in this manner, and here's a typical week's menu:

Monday—Bean soup, cookies, canned peaches.

Tuesday—Spaghetti, prunes, cookies.

Wednesday—Venison stew, rice pudding.

Thursday—Baked beans, dried peaches.

Friday—Macaroni and cheese, chocolate pudding.

And then there is milk or cocoa to drink and corn bread to munch on. Not bad, eh? A hot dish a day is the rule and it's done wonders with the weight, general health and spirit of the youngsters.

There are similar projects in the peninsula and throughout the state. Some are state-sponsored and some privately handled, but as far as is known, the whole thing was pioneered, at least in this part of Michigan, by Marquette's Kiwanians.

As for expenditures, the Kiwanis club feels the amount of money spent each school year is small compared to the reward of seeing its "family" of Nester school children happier and healthier. The club spent $125 the first year, $131 in 1938-1939 and about $100 this year. The 1939-1940 figure is less because of the food donated by the surplus foods commission.

GOVERNOR IN THE NORTH

Governor William T. Darling is spending July and August at his summer home near Hazelhurst. However, he is very much the governor as far as Kiwanis is concerned, and is meeting with clubs throughout the north and central areas every week.

An Interesting Bit of Indian Lore

Otto Heller of Brothertown, reputed to be "the best living authority on that little known era preceding the coming of the white man to the Garden of Wisconsin", sketched interestingly the early history of the Brothertown settlement in a talk before the Kiwanis club at the dinner meeting at Hotel Chilton Tuesday evening.

Mr. Heller said that the Brothertown settlement is unparalleled in some respects in the history of the United States. The view from the hill on Highway 151 overlooking Lake Winnebago, he said, is one of the most beautiful scenes in the state. He suggested that the early mound builders, too, must have been impressed by this entrancing beauty, as they have left evidence of their settlement there in the form of several mounds which are still visible in the vicinity.

The name of the Brothertown Indians, Mr. Heller said, signified their determination to live at peace with one another. As early as 1813, he said, they had cleared for cultivation 2,000 acres of land in the vicinity of Brothertown. They early acquired knowledge of the white man's ways and made woolen and linen cloth.

They were, in some cases, he said, exploited by the white man and found themselves unable to compete with him. From a population of 150 in 1890, the Brothertowns had shrunk to 29 in 1935 and today, according to Mr. Heller, there are only 13 left, none of them under 50 years of age.

The first church in the settlement was a Methodist church built in 1834. Although the settlement was located 50 miles from the nearest store and the nearest point at which they could receive medical aid, the settlers seemed to like the location, Mr. Heller said. By 1836 the Military road gave them an overland route to Green Bay.

Mr. Heller traced the history of the tribe in the east before they established the Brothertown settlement. He paid high tribute to the Brothertown Indians for their faithfulness to the white man and for the part they took in wars, always on the white man's side.

Bay View Has Active Kiwanis Club

We did Bay View Kiwanis Club a grave injustice in the March Bulletin when we reported the membership attendance for January as 45 per cent when it was 78 and 81 for February. Bay View has a really fine club headed by W. Ross Gates as president and has set a course of increased activity and service in the community.

The 25th anniversary of Kiwanis International was observed, during which members heard a resume of the community activities participated in during the three years of the local club's existence, which included a number of boys' work, camp and church projects. Francis E. McGovern, former governor of Wisconsin delivered the message on this momentous occasion.

Numerous well known public figures were featured on the program this year. Honor was paid to one of the club's most active members, Stanley G. Roberts, secretary of the Bay View Y. M. C. A. on April 9, when Mr. Roberts left the city to take up work in Des Moines, Iowa; resolutions commending his work were presented by A. C. Kuehn, first president of the Bay View club.

Perhaps the largest undertaking of the club this year was the Spring Musicale held on Sunday, April 21, for the benefit of underprivileged children. An imposing array of Milwaukee musical talent was secured for one of the finest concerts ever presented in this community, and the program proved so successful that those who attended urged that the musicale be made an annual affair. The attendance was most gratifying and a substantial sum realized to further work among the unfortunate kiddies. Full mention should be given to Dr. A. W. Hankwitz and his committee of F. Dean Cardinal, Ed. Perschbacher, Jack Fenny, E. F. Zillman and A. C. Niemann, all of whom labored long and hard to insure the success of the undertaking.

(Concluded)

North Milwaukee—The good old summer time is picnic time, and the annual club picnic will be held July 21 at the Dam Site picnic grounds. The committee in charge is Milton Roesler, Elmer Kaul and Oliver Gehl.

Wisconsin Dells—An inter-club meeting was held on May 7 with E. G. Doudna of the Normal School Board of Regents as the speaker. Among prominent Kiwanians present were Gov. Bill Darling, Dist. Sec'y. Al. Goeckerman and Past Governor Norton Williams.

Wauwatosa—A testimonial dinner in honor of Gov. Bill Darling was given by his home club on June 25. It was also a special ladies night event and Dr. J. M. Klotsche was the speaker. His topic was "America and the World Situation."

West Bend—Norman Schowalter, prexy of the West Bend club, did a good job in reminding club members of their duty in voting at the spring election. With the club bulletin just before the election he sent a mimeographed copy of Past Gov. Clarence Whiffen's splendid address on "Citizenship Responsibility—the Price of Liberty" which was reprinted in the March Bulletin. P. S. Reports have it that Doc Kauth actually bagged a bear on his Ontario hunting trip.

Racine—Demonstrating in a practical manner the motto of Kiwanis, "We Build," members of the club turned thespians in a dramatic skit prepared by Fred Turner. Under the direction of Frank Carey, the actors "did their stuff" in a smooth, forceful manner. Ballots indicated that eight members approved of the program as being "excellent." Further investigation, however, proved that the ballots were those of the cast . . . which might have been prejudiced. Dressed as masons, John Allen, Oscar Frings, Ed Huntley, Dale Karstaedt, Carlyle Morris and Wally Cheesman, built an imaginary wall of stone. During the process of construction, various phases of the work of Kiwanis were discussed much in the manner of any layman who was acquainted with the child welfare work, vocational guidance and other constructive policies of Kiwanis as expressed in work done in Racine. Climaxing the skit was the appearance of President Guy Benson who likened the masons and Kiwanians as brothers. "You men are building the material structures . . . and we are trying to build human life in all its many and varied aspects," he said. He also read the Kiwanis code.
