Identity Statement:Scope & Content / Abstract:

The oldest recorded correspondence in the collection it is a single sheet of paper. The paper has a blue hue to it and the ink is black. At the top it reads "Mohegan March 12, 1850. Dear Friend". It appears to be missing at least a second sheet because it abruptly ends on the back of the page.

The letter was folded into quarters horizontally and thirds vertically to create a small square. There is discoloration mostly along the creases. There are also brown spots, about four large ones that can be seen on the front and the back. One near the top right corner, one near the center of the paper, on near the center but closer to the left edge, and one in the bottom right corner (all as you look at the front page).
