The paper was folded in half and again in quarters and is discolored along the creases. The paper has been folded over and creased in two other places: one inch from the top left corner down nearly to the bottom edge and from the bottom edge just about two inches right of center up about seven inches. There are minor tears in the paper where the creases end along the top and bottom edges. There is a dark stain near the top left corner of the page. Three small holes are found where the three vertical folds meet the horizontal fold. On the cover page there are three dark stains on the left side near the bottom.
