The form was folded in half and then in thirds and is mostly discolored along the creases. Other stains include white stains just above the center crease near the left edge, similar (mirror) stains on the right edge just below the center crease. There are brownish-orange stains close to the bottom right corner of the form, just above the signature of George Westcot. There are two small holes where the vertical creases intersect with the horizontal crease. And there are multiple holes along the top half of the creases. Large stains can be seen on the cover page including a cluster of black stains along the center crease near the left edge and a large black stain just below the center crease near the right edge. The cover page is also the most discolored of the entire document. The paper was folded weirdly on the top half of the cover page.
