The letter has water and mildew damage along the right edge of the first page, mainly in the top half of the edge. There are stains throughout each page. Large stains are on the fourth page in the upper left quadrant; the bottom right quadrant of the first page; and these have bled through the paper to pages two and three. The water damage and mildew on the first page can be seen on the second page. There are holes along the last page moving from the edge to the center along the bottom crease. These look like insect damage and can be seen on the first page but not as prevalent.
