New Restaurant For Crossroads

A new, ultra modern restaurant was assured for Orinda on Sept. 6 when a long time lease was signed by Fred Wood and William H. Straus, 3688 Nordstrom Lane, Orinda. The property, formerly occupied by the Orinda Pharmacy at the Crossroads, will be the home of the fourth unit of the "Ground Cow" restaurant chain which has branches in Berkeley, Oakland and Auburn.

MARMONTE CORP. BUYS PINE GROVE SITE

The "pros" and "cons" on the P. I. E. issue, relative to the Pine Grove, may at last bury the hatchet according to information recently received. In a formal news release issued September 3 Pacific Intermountain Express announced the moving of its general offices from 299 Adeline street, Oakland, to a three-story downtown location at 1417 Clay street. The announcement was made by A. S. Glikbarg, president of the motor carrier firm which operates in the western two-thirds of the nation.

Under terms of an agreement signed by the trucking line and the Marmonte Corporation, P. I. E. will occupy the former Taft & Penoyer department store building under a 15-year lease, with options to extend. Move to the new site is expected to start in December and will be completed by January 1, 1958.

As a part of the agreement, Marmonte Corporation is purchasing P. I. E.'s property at Orinda which was acquired three years ago with the intent of constructing a general office building

Football Queens To Be Feted Locally

The luxurious Lafayette estate of Murray Lehr will be the headquarters for a bevy of campus beauty queens, gathered from colleges throughout the nation to compete for the "Miss Football of 1957" title during the Berkeley Football Festival, next week, Sept. 17-21.

Coeds from 16 universities will be quartered at the Lehr estate along with Nancy Knight, Hostess Queen from the University of California, during the week's whirl of festivities. The 12th annual Festival is sponsored by the Berkeley Junior Chamber of Commerce, and Forrest Luddon is general chairman.

The campus beauties will also be feted at a garden party Wednesday, Sept. 18, at the Lehr estate, splashing in the pool for the benefit of news and television cameramen.

"Miss Football" will be crowned at a glittering Coronation Ball, Thursday evening at the Claremont Hotel Garden Room. The winning Queen will reign over the spectacular parade of lights in downtown Berkeley on Friday evening, and all of the coeds will take part in halftime ceremonies during the California-Southern Methodist game at Memorial Stadium on Saturday, Sept. 21.

The annual Festival ushers in "King Football"—symbol of the intercollegiate football season.

A fashion show jointly sponsored by the Berkeley Jaycees and the Children's Hospital branches, will be held Thursday noon at the Hotel Claremont.

Contra Costans serving on Festival committees, under the general chairmanship of Forrest Luddon, include Jerry Farrell, 5 Lincolnshire Court, Walnut Creek; Alan Fraser, 101 Meadow Lane, Orinda; and Bob VanVoorhis, 1243 Chatton Court, Lafayette.

The competing coeds will represent Maryland, Mississippi, Rice Institute, Oregon State, Texas Christian, Southern Methodist, Michigan State, Arkansas, Washington, Pittsburgh, Missouri, British Columbia, Tulane, Oklahoma, Kansas State and Baylor. The California queen is not eligible for the competition.

The queens will gather in Hollywood on Monday, Sept. 16, to tour TV and movie studios and Disneyland, before arriving in Berkeley on Tuesday for the first event of the celebration, a civic reception.

Tickets have gone on sale at Football Festival headquarters, 2168 Shattuck Avenue, Berkeley, and at the Hink's, Breuners' and Sherman-Clay box offices, for and at the Hink's, Breuners' and Sherman-Clay box offices, for the Coronation Ball, reserved and bleacher seats for the parade, and for the fashion show. Coronation Ball tickets are $2.50 per person, parade seats are $1.00 and $2.00.

Scores of colorful, illuminated floats will be joined by bands and crack marching units for the Parade of Lights, which will follow a "merry-go-round" route on Shattuck Avenue in downtown Berkeley, starting at 8 p.m. on Friday.

To meet functional requirements of a modern motor transportation headquarters operation, the Taft & Penoyer structure will be completely modernized and become known as the P. I. E. Building. The new offices will house 300 employees and executives.

Roy H. Strawhecker, general manager of the Hotel Claremont presents monthly donation to Orinda Branch chairman Mrs. Robert Jurs, Lafayette, September 4 at "Wednesday at the Claremont" fashion show luncheon. Mrs. William Harold Oliver, general branch chairman of Children's Hospital of the East Bay (center) was also present to accept award.

Orinda Branch Receives Donation

At last Wednesday's Children's Home Society luncheon and fashion show, a donation of $50 was given to the Orinda Branch which had the most representation within the charity. Mrs. Robert Jurs, branch chairman, accepted the award presented by Roy H. Strawhecker, the Claremont's general manager.

Guest model at the eagerly anticipated designers' show which took place on September 11 for the "Wednesday at the Claremont" fashion show luncheon series was Mrs. Chester Williams, 250 Estates Drive, Piedmont.

Mrs. Williams, who will soon take office as president of the East Bay Council of Chapters of Children's Home Society was doubly feted in that the fashion luncheon also honored Piedmont. Each week a socially prominent guest model will be selected from a different Bay Area city in honor of her community.

The style luncheon included fashions from designers Oleg Cassini, Estevez, Harvey Berin, Larry Aldrich, and Adele Simpson, as presented by Sather Gate Apparel Shop in Berkeley.

In a final tally, ballots crediting favorite charities submitted during the month of August, Children's Hospital of the East Bay won with Children's Home Society a close second.

The "Wednesday at the Claremont" 12:30 p. m. to 2 p. m. fashion luncheons in the Garden Room and patio are commented by Ruth Franklin Dixon and co-ordinated by Pat Donogh Fink.

Attending from the Morinda area were Mrs. Ruby Tombling and Mrs. Frank Jackter.

Ben Franklin said: If man could have half his wishes, he would double his troubles.

Upward of $40,000 will be expended in remodeling and redecorating, according to Straus, owner-manager of the chain.

"The new unit will encompass many up-to-the-minute innovations," Straus states, "and I'm sure will be a credit to the business area of the community both as to quality of food, carefully created atmosphere, and caliber of service."

Remodeling will be commenced immediately and the establishment is expected to open for business sometime in October.

SCOUTS ENJOY TRIP

Boy Scout Troop No. 207 of Orinda enjoyed their second annual summer Sierra pack trip. Leaving Orinda Saturday, August 24th, they drove to Tuolumne Meadows. On Sunday they hiked over Tuolumne Pass to Bothe Lake and spent two days at this beautiful small lake. The entire party climbed Vogelsand Peak, 11,511 feet on Monday and the view of Yosemite Valley was outstanding. The next two days were spent hiking into the Valley via Little Yosemite arriving Wednesday evening at Happy Isles. Thirty miles had been hiked.

CAPEHART PROJECT

Orinda Architect Is Given Big Contract

David Coleman, Orinda Architect, together with E. I. Norberg, A. I. A. and Wilsey & Ham, Civil Engineers, have been awarded the architectural contract for the design and engineering of the $8,900,000.00 Capehart Housing project which is to be built at Hamilton Air Force base in Marin county.

The project covers 213 acres, with 550 housing units plotted to afford the greatest in interest and privacy for each family. There are 2, 3 and 4 bedroom homes in the group, each with the maximum of comfort, beauty and livability, and the minimum of care and upkeep.

Mr. Coleman's Architect office is located at 107 Orinda Highway, where this very exciting design work is being done by the men of his staff, namely: Joe Smoot, Kaya Ogdemli, Joe Amestoy, Jess Marks, Harold Hayashi and Howard Weber.

Mr. Coleman has his Master's Degree in Architecture from the University of California. He holds the Commission of Lt. Col. in the U. S. A. F. Reserve and spent 18 months as a fighter pilot in the South Pacific during World War II. He also is a graduate of Command and General Staff School.

In association with E. I. Norberg, A. I. A., Mr. Coleman has designed several multi-million dollar Government Housing Projects at Hamilton Field, March Air Force Base and the Navy Installation at Port Hueneme. The Post Offices at Benecia and Danville, and the West Coast Center for the U. S. Geological Survey at Menlo Park. He has designed and constructed numerous residential buildings in the Bay Area: the F/W Maisel Real Estate building in Lafayette and the Buehler building now under construction on the Orinda Highway.

Mr. Coleman and his wife Betty with their two daughters, Terry and Holly have lived in Orinda since 1948.

FRANCE

From Our Foreign News Correspondent--Paris Bureau

Our special correspondent in France (the distaff side of this paper's editorial department, that is) captures some of the old world charm after her second day there which we believe will be of some interest to our readers---Ed.

"Yesterday, I took a little ride around Paris. It was about six p.m. and as we came upon the Arch d' Triomphe they were gathering for the little ceremony they perform every evening for the soldiers of World War I, and to pay homage to the Unknown Soldier. The "perpetual flame" burns constantly.

"On the way home to Dreux (a quaint little town 70 miles from Paris) we paralleled the Seine to our left--with its burden of cement and brick barges--on the only six-lane highway in France and that Hitler forced the French to build. One passes through typical country-side, dotted with alfalfa fields, and everything is green, green, green! and lush.

"Everyone has a garden and there are lots of geraniums. Everyone too, seems to have a green thumb. One place, like a picture book Chalet, seemed quite run down in a quaint way but retained an atmosphere of charm with espalier pear trees on a rustic fence.

"The climate must be somewhat like San Francisco as the salvia, pansies, and petunias are plentiful and blooming like mad. The soil here is good but full of pebbles which they use in everything--in paths, cemented into walls of houses and in brick and cement fences. There are always at least two pots of geraniums in the windows of every house, no matter how small--even, sometimes, too many geraniums. The little town of Dreux, of course, is typical and charming. Its narrow streets wind around the hills; and each little picturesque shop boasts its own hand-hewn posts and shutters. One little shop had cut-outs in the shutters of a pair of pliers, a hammer and saw indicating that it was the headquarters of a cabinet maker and carpenter shop. They would be museum pieces over home. They had weathered all gray and pink, and the hinges had rusted beautifully. The whole effect is one the antique dealers at home in the States try to fake.

"On Mondays the little town has what is called the 'marche'. It is usually a square and everyone brings his wares to sell. Displayed side by side are beautiful examples of hand-made things, dime-store articles, vegetables and the like. The street is roped off to traffic and everyone just visits around, gossips, and shops all day.

"A little carnival is being set up at the foot of the hill and it is just like the one pictured in the old Frederick March movie years ago. They seem to be in no hurry and have put up a fence made of huge pieces of sacking, apparently to whet one's curiosity as to what's inside.

"When we shopped yesterday, we bought a pound of butter. It is from Norway and says on the package "Norwegian Dairy Association", and is real butter, wrapped in old-fashioned crinkly tin-foil--39¢ a pound. The milk and eggs too, come from Holland and are good, fresh products. Every a.m. the paper--New York Herald Tribune is delivered at the door.

"It has been overcast ever since I've been here--typical San Francisco weather, except that it blows up a squall every so often and really rains, then stops. The sun comes out, the people put away their umbrellas and rain hats and go about their business."

New Moon to Sail Into Woodminster

Sigmund Romberg's famous "The New Moon" will sail into port at Woodminster Amphitheater September 13, 14, 20 and 21, to close the seventh annual summer outdoor music season.

Under the direction of John M. Falls, the Oakland Light Opera Association's large cast of singers actors and dancers is headed by John Wall as the swashbuckling hero "Robert" and Nancy Stensaas as his French lover "Marianne", with Jess Thomas, Edgar Iversen, Gloria Williams, Tom Swift, Jim Falls, Dick McCoy, Ed Russell, Mike Manley, Rod Liles, Mike Kelly, Josephine Oddone, Francis Doran, Mary Mina-ker, and the Raoul Pause Ballet.

Set in New Orleans shortly after the American Revolution, the plot of "The New Moon" recounts the adventures of a young French revolutionary leader who has sought refuge in the new world, becomes a bondsman to a Louisiana planter, falls in love with his employer's daughter and, after thrilling sea-fights and sword-play, wins both his freedom and her hand in marriage.

Among the captivating Romberg song hits of "The New Moon" is the rousing marching song "Stout Hearted Men" plus the all-time favorites "Lover Come Back to Me", "Wanting You", "Softly, as in a Morning Sunrise", "One Kiss", "Marianne", "The Girl on the Prow" and the comic "Gorgeous Alexander."

Woodminster Amphitheater is located in historic Joaquin Miller Park in the East Oakland foothills, 12 minutes from downtown via MacArthur Blvd. (Highway 50) and Lincoln Avenue.

Sponsored by the Oakland Park Commission, tickets are available at the theater or Sherman Clay in Oakland.

Early Days of Moraga

By Henry Harwood

Such was justice in those days. Yoakum finally gave up the battle to dispossess them, pulled up stakes and like the Arabs in the olden poem, folded his tents and silently stole away for parts unknown. Nothing much was heard of Yoakum after his defeat and peace and quiet settled down on the valley.

However, Carpentier still was active until he finally obtained complete possession of the Grant, including the Moraga farm and the adobe house. He in all probability paid the Moragas a sum of money for their right, title and interest. As to the final survey of the Moraga Rancho by Carpentier in metes and bounds descriptions about the year 1877, and exterior boundaries established. He could not include in this survey, more than 13,316 acres, but he made every effort to include within this acreage as many springs and level spots as he could. By zig-zagging around he was able to take in the very choicest pieces of land, leaving out many of the steep hillsides and rocky bluffs. Hence the many sharp angles seen upon the maps of the Grant. All going to show the natural, grasping disposition of the man, and by the way this is the very same identical Horace W. Carpentier, who, as an elected Trustee of the Town of Oakland prevailed upon the then City Council, elected with him, who, in all probability were nothing more or less than his puppets, to deed him the entire City water front, along the estuary for the building of a couple of cheap wooden wharves.

He subsequently disposed of this same water front to the Oakland Waterfront Company, a subsidiary of the Central Pacific Railway Company and which resulted in endless disputes and litigation and which retarded the future development and progress of the City for years thereafter, and it is only recently that the last of these complications are being settled. But that is another long story entirely unconnected with the story of the Moraga Rancho.

INDUSTRIES

SAWMILL: Along about the year 1855, a sawmill was built and located in the heart of the Redwood belt, down in the canyon where runs the Sacramento Northern Electric Railway. It was located at or near where the station known as "Canyon", on the line referred to. This sawmill was built by a Mr. Thorn and operated by him to manufacture redwood lumber and he kept his mill running until the last redwood tree was felled and made into lumber.

There were many great trees in this grove, some being as large as 15 feet in diameter at the base. All redwood trees now seen in this location are the second growth and fully 80 years old. This grove is located on the Rancho de los Palos Colorados and at one time belonged to the Moragas, who sold the timber in the trees to Mr. Thorn to be converted into lumber. Many of the first dwellings in Oakland were built from lumber obtained from this mill.

It was this same Mr. Thorn who built the old wagon road, known as Thorn Road, over the mountain at the head of the Canyon, which is now abandoned, over the steepest part of the hill, (however hikers or pedestrians may still follow it by carefully winding thru the bushes onto forsaken paths and old portions of the road). Mr. Thorn was compelled to build this road in order to get his lumber to market. All hauling and logging was done at this period by oxen. After the mill closed for want of logs, these same oxen were sold to farmers and woodsmen, who used them as draft animals. This Thorn road was the main road of ingress and egress to and from Moraga Valley for many years, and was once upon a time a toll road and kept in condition by Mr. Thorn, who operated toll gates as a means of livelihood, having failed in his mill and lumber business.

There was also another sawmill over in another canyon below Redwood Peak, known as Prince's Mill. GRISTMILL: There was another mill, known as a Grist mill, located in the village of Lafayette, where farmers used to take wheat of their own raising and have it ground, and return with the flour on the same day, if the miller did not happen to be too busy. There were several such mills scattered through the country in those days as the making of flour was not a monopoly at that time. Most of these mills were run by steam power. Lafayette, in the early days of the Moraga Rancho, was quite a busy place. Located there, was a sort of trading post and the nearest Post Office, also a stopping place for the stage which ran from Oakland to Walnut Creek and beyond.

Other industries on the Grant included grain raising (producing a very fine grade of wheat), the raising of beef cattle and some dairying, also poultry raising, all for the commercial market.

to be continued next week
