

APPENDIX A:

BUILDING ARTISANS AND CRAFTSMEN ACTIVE IN CHARLESTON, 1795-1815

This index has been created to collect information on architects, artisans, and craftsmen working in Charleston and vicinity. The emphasis is on the period 1795-1815, but data has been selectively included from before and after that period if it seems likely to prove useful for the Russell House project. Researchers should treat this as a basic reference source--it is far from comprehensive. A number of related sources have been compiled by Charleston research scholars:

- 1) The Museum of Early Southern Decorative Arts in Winston-Salem, North carolina, has compiled an exhaustive collection of biographical files on artisans and craftsmen active in the South up to 1820. The microfiche index to that collection has been used here on a selective basis; the MESDA files are too extensive to include here for the more common trades such as carpenters.
- 2) Richard Marks has compiled detailed biographical files for stucco workers active in Charleston in the late eighteenth and early nineteenth centuries.
- 3) Jon Poston has compiled a guide to painters working in Charleston.
- 4) Jon has also prepared material on stonecutters for his study of gravestones in Charleston.
- 5) Martha Zierden has compiled a compendium of craftsmen active in Charleston in the eighteenth century.

The artisan index is divided into specific professions:

1. Architects and Master Builders
2. Bell Hangers and Brass Founders
3. Blacksmiths and Iron Workers
4. Bricklayers and Masons
5. Brickmakers
6. Carpenters and Joiners
7. Carvers and Gilders
8. Composition Work
9. Lumber Merchants and Measurers
10. Nail Manufacturers
11. Painters and Glaziers
12. Plasterers & Stucco Workers
13. Stone Cutters & Masons
14. Turners

The sources from which these listings have been collected are abbreviated as follows:

CCD	Charleston City Directory
CEN	United States Census
MESDA	Museum of Early Southern Decorative Arts, Artisan Index

When individuals are listed with more than one profession (particularly from one city directory to another), the alternate professions are listed in brackets. Note that the MESDA listings encompass all records located for the individual, and thus can include papers that postdate death.

12. Plasterers & Stucco Workers:

Note: Much of this list is derived from Richard Marks, "The Ornamental Plaster Work at the Nathaniel Russell House," (research report for Historic Charleston Foundation, 1995), p. 6., and Marks, "Ornamental Plaster Work in Charleston, 1800-1815," (research manuscript, 1995), p. 3-6, 12. Marks has located approximately forty plasterers working in Charleston during the period 1800-1815. Included here are fourteen individuals he has identified as ornamental plasterers, as well as two individuals (Robert Wilson and the anonymous "J.W.") noted in the text but not included in his overview chart. Date ranges for their work in Charleston are based on a comprehensive search by Marks of census records, city directories, Charleston newspapers, and primary documents such as land and probate records. Marks notes that John Dougherty, Andrew Mitchell [Mitchel], William Purvis and Lochlin Wright seem to have been the most influential artisans in the ornamental plaster profession in early nineteenth century Charleston.
