Re: 72 Tradd Street Documentation Book

Dear Tommy,

I had sent an email to you about this a few weeks ago but learned yesterday that you are recovering from a broken hip. I hope you are well!!

I have some very good news! It's taken over a year but the Lowcountry Digital Library has finally been able to digitize the 72 Tradd Street book and add it to Historic Charleston Foundation's collections on the website. Since you were the creator of the book, the rights to use it need to be transferred to HCF so that the book can be made available online. Therefore, please review the enclosed transfer agreement and if you agree, please sign and date the form and return it to me in the enclosed envelope. If you'd prefer to reply to the email, that will be sufficient. I know how eager you are for it to be accessible to the public! The Lowcountry Digital Library will make the book in its entirety accessible to its nearly 50,000 visitors each year.

Once the scanning is completed, I'll be able to forward the digital files to you if you'd like. And when it is uploaded onto the digital library, you'll be the first to know.

Best regards and with much appreciation,

A handwritten signature in blue ink, which appears to read "Karen", is placed above the typed name.
