

the
OLD CODGERS'
CHARLESTON
AddressBook
1900 - 1999

Betty and J. Francis Brenner

The Charleston Printing Company

HISTORIC CHARLESTON FOUNDATION

49 1980 thru 1999 Lyon G. Tyler (H) A grandson of U.S. President John Tyler, Lyon Tyler, came by his interest in history by inheritance. He taught history at the Citadel for many years. He attended the College of William and Mary, of which his father was president for many years, and studied law at the University of Virginia. He attended graduate school at Duke University, obtaining his M.A. and Ph.D. degrees there. Lyon Tyler was very active in the Charleston chapter of the Full Gospel Men's Fellowship International, and proudly proclaimed his Christian heritage and beliefs. 1970 Mrs. Gertrude T. Dubose (H) 1960 Admiral Lawrence DuBose Appointed commander of the Sixth Naval District with the additional duty as Commander of the U.S. Naval Base, Charleston, Lawrence Dubose assumed his command here in November of 1945. He was a much decorated hero for his command of the Portland in the Pacific during World War II. In 1948 he became Commander Battleships Cruisers, Pacific Fleet, and in 1951 served as Commander of the Eastern Sea Fleet with the additional duty as Commander of the Atlantic Reserve Fleet. He served in this capacity until his retirement in 1951. After two years in retirement in Annapolis, MD, Adm. Dubose was appointed superintendent of Pittsburgh Metallurgical Co., a position he held for two years. After leaving the Pittsburgh Metallurgical Co. he remained in Charleston where he was active in several anti-communist organizations. He died in 1967. 1940 thru 1950 Cornelius Huguenin 1930 C. C. Graves 1920 H. M. Kirke 1910 B. S. Aldret 1901 J. W. Fox / Mrs. Minnie Coleman

50 1980 thru 1996 William E. Crouch (H) Believing that women can have a career and a happy family all at the same time his wife, Dr. Rosalie Crouch, was the first female provost in the history of the Medical University of South Carolina. It had always been a strong belief of hers that women could have a career and a happy home at the same time. She came to MUSC in 1975 as an assistant professor of ophthalmology and biochemistry. In 1991 she became dean of the College of Graduate Studies. Her duties as provost involved overseeing both education and research at the university. 1970 Read Barnes (H) An architect brought up in Charleston Read Barnes did not hold much with traditional Charleston architecture. Although he appreciated the historic buildings here he felt that modern architectural design had much to offer and some of his buildings were a stark contrast to their traditional surroundings. Particularly noticeable was the Charleston County Library on King Street on Marion Square, known by many as the pink palace. His architectural degree was earned at Columbia School of Architecture. Read was delightful company with a wry sense of humor and a mischievous grin. He ran for city alderman in 1971. He was an adamant and liberal Democrat as was his wife, the former Anne Ball Gibbs. Anne is remembered as being one of the few who cheered for Ladybird Johnson when she made her visit to Charleston. Sitting on the steps of this house, waving small flags, Anne and her children called encouragement to the president's wife as she rode by in a carriage while some Charlestonians voiced their disapproval of her husband's policies particularly in regard to the Viet Nam war. 1940 thru 1960 Miss Henrietta Simons (H) / Miss Charlotte M. Hanckel Well known in her neighborhood as an intrepid driver, Miss Charlotte Hanckel was one who never agreed with the city's one way policies on Church Street. Undaunted by directional regulations on the street she would make her way to her chosen destination in the most direct line from her home. Since the street was one way south when she left home and, then two ways above Tradd, and then one way north when she crossed Broad Street, Miss Charlotte simply ignored the whole thing. Residents of Church Street, children and adults alike, all knew to watch out for Miss Charlotte, particularly when she was on her way to church at St. Philips. The police department gave up on trying to discipline her. 1930 P. O. Mead (see 76 East Bay Street) / W. S. Gaud. (see 53 South Battery) 1920 Vacant 1910 E. A. Eve 1901 C. W. Townsend