

ca. 1955-56

Undated photograph by Samuel Chamberlain. Russell House research files.

East facade, viewed from garden, camera facing northwest.

This photograph was probably taken concurrently with the east elevation (prior entry), since the shutters are also in place in this view. The magnolia tree has gained sufficient size to conceal the southeast corner of the house in this view. A low hedge has been planted to screen the driveway from the front garden.