

Landmark Will Be Replaced By Modern Building

The Sunday School building of St. John's Lutheran Church on Clifford Street will soon be razed to be replaced by a new building. Plans for the new building were drawn by Halsey & Cummings, architects. General Contracting Co. will build the structure at a cost of $85,764. The present building, more than a century old, has been inadequate for several years. (News and Courier Staff Photo.)