

Table of Contents

Contributors

Introduction

Checklist of the Exhibition

Evaluation Form

Gene Waddell, "The Introduction of Greek Revival Architecture to Charleston"

David Paul Ragan, "Washington Allston's Aesthetics and the Creative Imagination"

Paul Staiti, "John Ashe Alston: Patron of Samuel F. B. Morse"

Robert Stockton, "R. F. W. Allston: Planter Patron"

Kenneth Severens, "Architectural Taste in Ante-Bellum Charleston"

Anna Wells Rutledge, "Beyond the Smell of the Salt: Artists in Up-Country South Carolina Before 1865"

Rodger Streup, "Up-Country Patrons: Wade Hampton II and His Family"

Letitia Allen, "Wade Hampton II's Patronage of Edward Troye"

William Douglas Smyth, "The Artistic Experience of South Carolinians Abroad in the 1850's"

Sallie Doscher, "Art Exhibitions in Nineteenth-Century Charleston"

Beverly Scafidel, "A Promoter of the Arts: Gabriel Edward Manigault"

A. V. Huff, "The Democratization of Art: Memorializing the Confederate Dead in South Carolina, 1866-1914"

Contributors

LETITIA ALLEN, a graduate student in history at the University of South Carolina, holds an assistantship in the Southern Studies Program there.

SALLIE DOSCHER, a graduate of the College of Charleston, is Research Consultant at the South Carolina Historical Society.

A. V. HUFF, biographer of Langdon Cheves and holder of a doctorate from Duke University, is Chairman of the Department of History at Furman University.

DAVID PAUL RAGAN, a doctoral candidate in English at the University of South Carolina, holds an assistantship in the Southern Studies Program there and teaches art history at Midlands Technical College.