

From: Kevin R. Eberle
To: Emmons, Karen
Subject: Four Mile House
Date: Wednesday, June 21, 2017 7:39:04 AM

---

These pictures of the Four Mile House were taken in the 1920s, according to their owner, Suzanne Glenn. They had belonged to her grandmother, but she does not know what happened to the originals after her grandmother died. These scans are lower dpi than I know are best for archival purposes, but they are good images still. Suzanne said she was okay with having them in the archives but didn't want them posted without her permission. Are these okay even with the lower dpi?

Kevin

---

The information transmitted is intended only for the person or entity to which it is addressed and may contain confidential and/or legally privileged material. Any review, retransmission, dissemination or other use of this information, directly or indirectly, by persons or entities other than the intended recipient is prohibited. If you are not the intended recipient please contact the sender and delete the material from all computers in which it resides. Internet communications cannot be guaranteed to be secure or error-free as information could be intercepted, corrupted, lost, destroyed, arrive late, incomplete, or contain viruses. Therefore, we do not accept responsibility for any errors or omissions that are present in this message, or any attachment, that have arisen as a result of e-mail transmission. If verification is required, please request a hard-copy version or contact us by phone. Any views or opinions presented are solely those of the author and do not necessarily represent those of the Charleston School of Law.