

From: Kevin R. Eberle
To: Emmons, Karen
Subject: FW: Dukes family photo
Date: Wednesday, October 28, 2015 8:50:42 AM

---

The first photo is 78 Cannon Street before the porch was partly expanded and enclosed in the 20th century. The other one is the corner of Anson and Hasell Streets.

I asked Josh Dukes, and he was happy to have you add his family material to the collection of images!

Kevin

---

From: Josh Dukes mailto:[iphoneforjosh@gmail.com]
Sent: Wednesday, October 28, 2015 8:45 AM
To: Kevin R. Eberle
Subject: Dukes family photo

Kevin,

Thanks again for reaching out yesterday and providing me with an answer to my question about the attached photo. I'm going to attach two that we have that are architecturally interesting to Charleston.

The first you've seen. In the photo, top right, is my great grandfather, Thomas David Dukes (1887-1966). He was born in the Orangeburg/St. George area and the family moved to Charleston in the early 1920s. The two little girls are his daughters, Lurline Dukes Metts (1917-2002) and LeVeta Beatrice Dukes Burnsed (1919-2002).

The second photo is of my grandfather, Joseph Preacher Dukes (1933-2005). He is standing in front of the home he grew up in at the corner of Anson and Hasell Streets. There was apparently an A&P store there at the time as you can see from the photo. They lived on the second floor of the building and at that time it had huge piazzas and a detached kitchen house off the back. I have a few additional photos of the porches and kitchen house if you think those would be of interest to the archivists.

Thank you for your help,

Josh Dukes

---

The information transmitted is intended only for the person or entity to which it is addressed and may contain confidential and/or legally privileged material. Any review, retransmission, dissemination or other use of this information, directly or indirectly, by persons or entities other than the intended recipient is prohibited. If you are not the intended recipient please contact the sender and delete the material from all computers in which it resides. Internet communications cannot be guaranteed to be secure or error-free as information could be intercepted, corrupted, lost, destroyed, arrive late, incomplete, or contain viruses. Therefore, we do not accept responsibility for any errors or omissions that are present in this message, or any attachment, that have arisen as a result of e-mail transmission. If verification is required, please request a hard-copy version or contact us by phone. Any views or opinions presented are solely those of the author and do not necessarily represent those of the Charleston School of Law.