Object ID	Object	Description/Summary
AZ 2002	Bust	One (1) white marble bust of Ellen Martin Aiken (Mrs. Joseph Daniel Aiken). She is depicted as a stern-faced woman with hair pulled back to a bun wearing a loose Grecian type garment around her shoulders.
HF 158	Table	One (1) console table made of a wooden support for the lower portion and black and white marble for the upper portion. It is half circle shaped with rounded edge sitting on a solid wooden support which is convex curved at outer edge veneered with 3 strips running around the half circle. The solid back panel attaches the top to the base at the front. Two heavy cyma-curved scrolls (volute ends) serve as columns supporting the top and rest on the base which is carved (concave) and shaped at the front. The base rests on two convex scrolls at front and two simple rear blocks that taper toward the floor. On the right side in a wooden support under the marble; there is a hidden drawer that slides in by tenon and groove.
HF 452	Table	One (1) flip lid card table made of mahogany with a mahogany veneer top and carved giltwood dolphin feet.

If the bust is exhibited the donor wishes it labeled, "Bust of A Charleston Lady."
