Peggy just emailed this version of the photo of 839 1/2. Its properties list it as 1200 dpi, but it doesn't really seem any sharper than the first one. I'm not completely sure what Peggy was doing to get this. She might have just been taking a photo of the photo? I'm not sure.

I always hate to seem unappreciative and ask a person to do a better job! But I also hate not to have the best possible version of a photo! It's a tightrope.
