

HENRIETTA STREET

This one-block long street generated more than its share of controversy in the waning days of the twentieth century. Alarmed about renovations on a once handsome street that had lost all but three of its ante-bellum homes, the Mazyck-Wraggsborough neighborhood association called the attention of the city's Board of Architectural Review to improper renovations at 3 Henrietta Street. This and other similar instances in other neighborhoods led Mayor Joseph P. Riley Jr. to recommend beefing up the code enforcement spending by 20% for the coming year. The construction of the Mendel Rivers Federal Building on Meeting Street with its parking areas accessible from Henrietta Street obliterated many of the addresses on the south side of the street. At the end of the century, the building was still standing but vacant because of new federal safety requirements for its installations. The future of the Meeting/Henrietta site was unknown

1 1990 Warley Antique Restorers 1970 thru 1980 Mrs Virginia F. Garrett 1980 / Mary Jenkins 1970 The Nugget tavern 1950 thru 1960 Center Grocery / Virginia F. Garrett © 1950 Abraham C. Crosby 1940 Albert's Cut Rate Grocery 1930 H.L. Wille grocery 1900 thru 1920 H.L. Wille As the owner of a popular grocery on the corner of Henrietta and Elizabeth Street H.L. Willie encouraged a young neighbor, Peter Poinsette to strive for the best and left him half of his estate when he died. (see 86 Cannon Street)

2 1970 thru 1980 Mrs Bertha C. Heyward 1980 / George Jenkins 1960 Moses Heywood © 1950 Samuel J. Dobbins © Mose Heywood © 1940 Louise Coalsley © / Thomas Ford © 1930 Cornelia Berkley © 1920 Rebecca Hendricks © 1910 J.J. Lockwood © 1900 J.J. Chisolm ©

3 1999 Henry Quattlebaum. In renovating this single house, owner Henry Quattlebaum took down chimneys and gutted the house without the city's OK. The owner said "I felt like I was saving this house. It was the worst house in the neighborhood—a duplex, falling down. It was ridiculous how bad it was." Still the city placed a stop-work order on the job until the owner's preliminary plans were cleared by the board. (from a Post and Courier article by Robert Behre, November 25, 1999) 1970 thru 1980 Mrs Ophelia A. Green (H) 1960 Percival J. Green © (H) 1950 Rosa Davis © / Emma Hart © 1940 Archibald Nelson © moving & hauling / Robert Jenkins 1930 Emma Hart © 1920 Samuel Rogers © 1910 Thomas Heyward © 1900 B.H. Hogar ©

4 1970 Sarah Simmons / Sam Pinckney / Mrs Isabelle Robinson 1960 Louise Simmons © 1950 Taft Milligan © / Theodore Washington © 1930 Carrie Smalls © 1920 Samuel Heyward © 1910 John Lukens © 1900 Vacant

5 1970 Mrs Elizabeth P. Ross / Mrs Anna Green 1950 thru 1960 Moses Dais © Joe Green © 1940 Rubin Montgomery © 1930 Julius Wright © 1920 Georgie Morant © 1910 Michael Guy © 1900 Benjamin Smalls ©