

COMING DOWN—This old home at 52 St. Philip St. is being razed to expand an adjacent parking lot. Listed as “worthy of mention” in “This Is Charleston”, an inventory of the city’s historic buildings, the structure is being demolished by its owner, Construction Services Co., which also is razing the adjacent 50 St. Philip St. for the same purpose. This is one of a series of drawings by Evening Post Staff Artist Arthur Street of doomed old Charleston buildings.

Bldgs. - 52 St. Philip St.
Charleston

CEP 5-2-64