

-KING STREET-
-:ABOUT YEAR 1860:-

The building to the right, with the drum-clock sign streets. Note the huge beaver-hat sign, with the umbrella below. The the street just above Wentworth. Note the tree on the west side of bricks. The two birds (upper left center) are buzzards. At that the buzzard was a valuable assistant to the Scavenger Department noble creature was protected by a City Ordinance making to kill one of them.

by Charles Taylor,
bird's store. Ladies
line the apparatus

photographers in ras, Johnson built
like most others,
h photography to subjects. Johnson leston. His early re, movement and

ghier of a master
er James Roulain
yard at the foot of ht in the Battle of
nt. He was awarded building ships for

i modest home on hurch. One early earthquake. On the airs reading as the Johnson ran into al drain was located lks for safety. After their backyard in nd plum trees until nd local authorities
l not occur.

out town with his
by the earthquake.
st standards, they
y. The earthquake
and acclaim were George Cook and

SHistorical Society identifies this as 253 King but need to confirm

W. Johnson's Umbrella Shop, Hassell Street

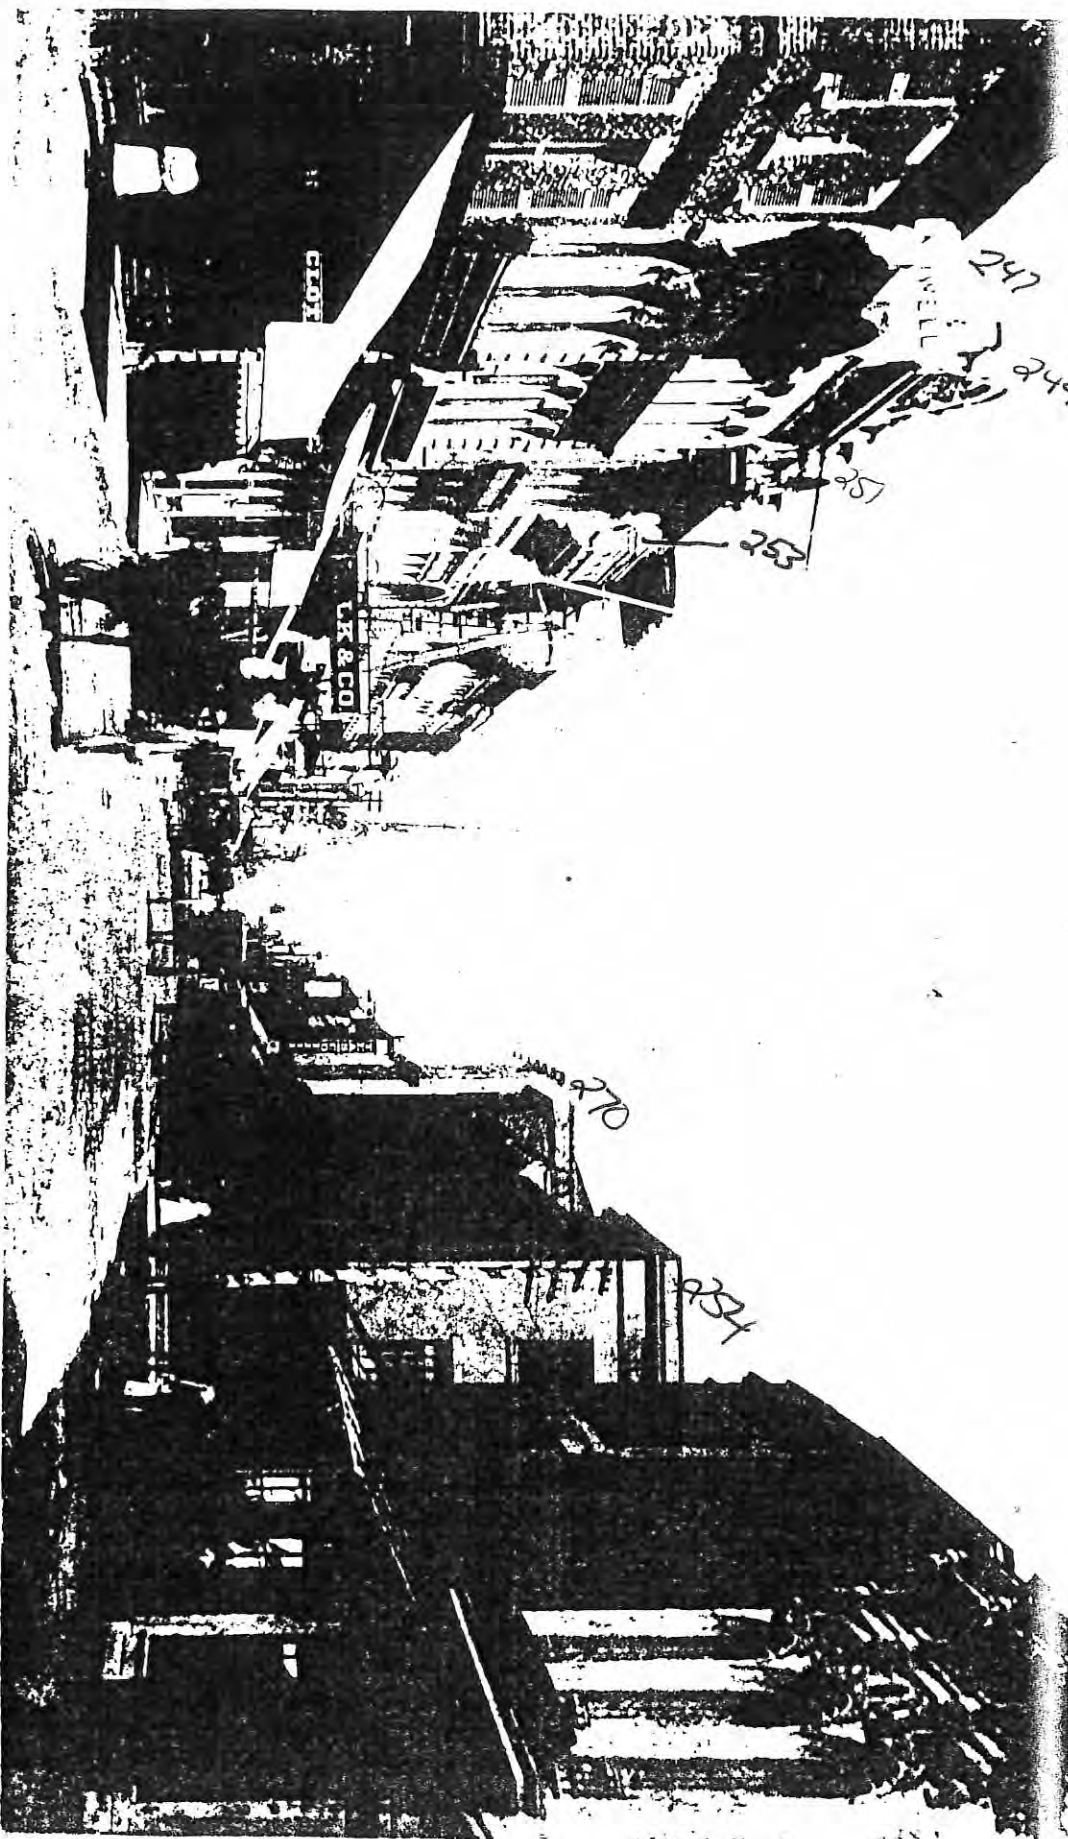

From: On the Eve of the Charleston Renaissance

• 13 •

George W. Johnson photograph

SCHS 30.01 file
C.1872

3001 King St. - General from Beaupain to Coleraine

---KING STREET, about year 1888, photograph taken near the corner of Beaupain and King, looking north. Trolley cars had not made their appearance ----those were the days of horse & buggy, carts and wagons. Business does not appear to be very brisk.

GIBBES MUSEUM OF ART ARCHIVES Record Series Robert Brown Collection Folder A1947.6.7

Gibbes Museum
Ring 249-273