1952 CONCH

SENIORS

CLASS OFFICERS

President—HOKE HOLCOMB

Vice President—ARMANDO HENRIQUEZ

Secretary—PAMELA RUSSELL

Treasurer—GLEN DORA SAWYER

We seniors of '52 are proud of these officers chosen to lead us in the most ambitious program ever undertaken by a senior class of Key West High. Our success depended largely on these efficient officers. Whether we were planning dances and picnics, giving more and better plays, putting on vigorous selling campaigns, or just carrying on regular school activities, these officers kept us on our toes and enlisted the aid of every senior.

CLASS HISTORY

COURT CRIER: Hear Ye! Hear Ye! Hear Ye! In this third year of the reign of King Edward I, the royal court is declared to be in session. All persons having business before this court draw near.

BAILIFF: First case, Your Majesty, is KING VERSUS JUNIOR CONCH. He is charged with illegally inhabiting the halls of Key West High School.

KING EDWARD: How do you plead, young Junior Conch?

JUNIOR CONCH: (Gulp) Not guilty, Your Worship—er, Your Honor,—er, Your Majesty.

KING EDWARD: Well, step right up, prisoner, and confess.

JUNIOR CONCH: My story begins when I was but a mere lad, barely able to ride my scooter to school. My tutors were the Duchess of Davenport, Lady Kathryn de Lowe, Lord Holland, and the Princess Margaret of Wellons.

PRINCESS MARGARET: That's right, Sire, and what a student!

KING EDWARD: Continue, prisoner.

JUNIOR CONCH: That was when my fun and troubles began King Goldy I, a kindly old monarch, was ruler at the time. Those girls remained undefeated in basketball, and took over the Boosters, who were organized at this time. And I shall never forget the royal ball which celebrated the end of our nine years' service as vassals. It was held in the royal patio. Such grandeur! The Lady June Yates and Lord Eugene Roberts reigned as King and Queen of the Ball, and led the procession. What a beautiful sight! Beautiful, swishing gowns and dreamy music by the court troubadours marked our debut into the society of the royal court.

LADY KATHRYN DE LOWE: Ahh, yes! I myself superintended the scullery maids who prepared the viands.

JUNIOR CONCH: Ye vintage coque-cole was imported into the royal court, and all the maidens and pages did partake freely at the parties. Sometimes they were given the honor of inviting guests of higher rank at the court.

PRINCESS MARGARET: Yes, I often attended them as patroness.

JUNIOR CONCH: Then one day we were approached with a new proclamation. We had been promoted to a higher position at court. And, just as Your Royal Highness' reign began, you yourself dubbed us Sophomores. New tutors were introduced to us—the Baron and Baroness von Keiser, the Lady Marian of Stark, Lady Mary de Milner, and Countess Joyce of Williams. As more exalted Sophomores, we helped give the Color Capers and operetta, brilliant performances at the court. And then, before we knew it, we were dubbed Juniors! Our tutors thought they had lost us, but found they were again responsible for us.

BARON VON KEISER: Yes, and how active a group!

JUNIOR CONCH: Now we occupied a truly lofty place at court. It was our duty to entertain our Seniors at the court with a grand ball. But before that we had to get funds for this great undertaking. Now the pages and maidens did really work to produce a brilliant masque, which we called the "Old 'n' New Talent Revue." They young squires William Neblett and Hoke Holcomb were troubadours, singing love songs in the newest style, while a royal ballet of lovely "maidens" danced the classic dances. Now that we had good stores of gold, we were ready to proceed with the grand ball, this time far more exquisite! We danced in the gallant knights' ballroom known as the Officers' Club. From far Cathay came the decorations and favors. By the light of Chinese lanterns the King and Queen of the Ball, Lord Wesley of Brooks and Lady Jacque, were crowned and presided over the fete. But I forgot. Before that came the jousting, both basketball and baseball. The girls were undefeated, and the boys showed true knightly sportsmanship.

LADY MARY DE MILNER: Don't you remember how on Senior Skip Day that mischievous young page, Morton of Hall, flew a false Conch Flag from the roof? What commotion! And all the time young Squire Albert de Garcia had the true flag on that day.

JUNIOR CONCH: After such excitement, court was adjourned for the summer. With the coming of September, the lords and ladies of the court gathered again. This year my patronesses at court were the Lady Marian of Stark, Duchess Billie of Crowley, and the Lady Mary de Milner. With my truly exalted position, I received the title of Senior and many privileges. When I entered the royal assemblies, all other Conch pages and maidens had to stand as I advanced to the front of the Auditorium. We now had our Senior Conch officers, whose duty it was to assist King Edward. The young Squires Hoke Holcomb and Armando Henriquez presided over our meetings, while the records and moneys were in charge of the maidens Pamela Russell and Glendora Sawyer. For the enjoyment of the entire court we produced a riotous play, entitled first "Our Conchs," but later called "Our Girls." A few weeks later a traveling seller of emblems called at the court and proffered emblems suitable to Seniors—rings, invitations, and calling cards. Just about this time we suffered a slight humiliation. Certain Juniors, with the assistance of other underclassmen, gave us a drubbing at football. Shortly after this catastrophe, court adjourned for the Christmas festivities, to which we contributed by holding a ball in the court patio.

SENIOR CONCH: Court reconvened on January 7 of 1952. At last the very year of graduation had come! Things went so very fast after that that some facts have slipped my mind.

KING EDWARD: Your what?

SENIOR CONCH: Yes, my mind. First came that day when Senior Conchs took over the running of the school. That afternoon there was the softball game for both boys and girls, when Juniors and Seniors joined battle. The scores seem to have eluded me. Next we had Senior-Junior Sister Day. Then, when we received our Senior Conch rings, there was not a happier group anywhere.

LADY EUNICE O' HARRA: Yes, I well remember that every Senior held out the hand that wore that emblem so that all could see it.

SENIOR CONCH: Nothing much happened until the great Skip Day, when privileged Seniors came to school ready for a picnic and a day of leisure, while underclassmen looked on enviously. Then came the Seniors' turn to be entertained at the grand ball, known as the Junior-Senior Conch Prom. My, but those Seniors were good-looking, all dressed up! By May all Seniors were either joyful, or sad, or worried—joyful at the thought of graduating, sad about leaving school or worried about poor grades and not graduating and leaving School. At the last assembly in May came the long-awaited Conch Investiture. In a grand assembly of the entire court, by authority of King Edward and our patrons at court, each Conch was invested with cap and gown.

LADY MARIAN OF STARK: Yes, I myself presented the group to Your Majesty for investiture.

SENIOR CONCH: My, you should have seen all the Conchs of lower rank crying; I don't think they wanted us to leave. Next came Class Night, when many an award for excellence was given. We had no time to be sad now, for many parties and banquets kept us busy. And then came The Day—Graduation Day! All dressed in caps and gowns, and with diplomas in hand, we went home to cry awhile, and then got ready for the last event of our school life, the Senior Dance. So you see, King Edward—

KING EDWARD: But what does this have to do with your inhabiting the halls of Key West High School?

ALUMNUS CONCH: You see, Sire, I want to see all my friends and wish them luck, for they have now become Senior Conchs.

KING EDWARD: Well, Jury, what is the verdict?

JURY: We find the defendant guilty of inhabiting the halls, but not of doing so illegally. For any time an Alumnus Conch wishes to visit Key West High, he may.

ALUMNUS CONCH: Thank you. I'll spread the news to the others.

KING EDWARD: Court is adjourned.

CLASS WILL

State of Florida
County of Monroe
City of Key West

We, the Senior Class of 1952 of Key West High School, being of sound body and fairly sound mind, while bidding farewell to our Alma Mater, faculty, and friends, with many happy memories, do declare this to be our last will and testament.

- I, Doris Hargrave, do hereby will my shy and quiet way to Blanche Alligood.
- I, Homer Herrick, do regretfully bequeath my ability to annoy certain teachers to my brother Richard, who is eagerly following in my footsteps.
- I, Jose Padron, will to my good friend, Nestor Alvarez, my love for Ford products.
- I, Yvonne McCardle, leave my faithful baritone to Joyce Johnson, in the hope that she will enjoy playing it as much as I have.
- I, Esther Smith, leave to Dale Mitchell my ability to make clothes; she may need it some day.
- I, Morton Hall, leave my ability to flirt to none other than Tommy West.
- I, Margaret Little, leave my sarcastic manner and witty ways to anyone who can get away with it as I have.
- I, Pat Bubbis, leave to Don Cruz my talented mechanical ability for awhile.
- I, Maxine Miller, leave my ability to get along with Mr. Sweeting to Lucy Hulzing.
- I, June Yates, leave to my brother Stuart the distinction of being the only Yates in High School—for awhile anyway.
- I, Frank Veliz, bequeath my analytic ability to diagnose sport statistics and averages to Lucy Gonzales and Clinton Warren.
- I, Ottilie Aguerro, leave my height to Elizabeth and Camille Walterson.
- I, Raymond Lones, leave to any future manager of the football team my ability to carry a bucket of water across the field without spilling a drop.
- I, Alma Thompson, leave my will to learn to the future students of the Key West High School.
- I, Richard Morgan, leave to Robert Staves my ability to understand mechanical workings of auto engines.
- I, Raymond Rothfuss, leave the girls whom I haven't sorted yet to any Junior who is willing to undertake the task.
- I, Mildred Archer, leave my ability to hold onto one man to Margaret Cormack.
- I, Lorenzo Murguia, do will to Mr. Lazier my ability to use a Cuban slide rule with accuracy.
- I, Lewis Barber, will my ability to roam to Mrs. Crowley.
- I, James Baker, leave to Robert Sawyer my love for basketball and my ability to play it.
- I, Jay West, do hereby leave my place as a mighty Senior to any Junior who can stand up under the financial strain.
- I, Joan Crusoe, leave to Betty Cooper my ability to giggle at anything and everything.
- I, Pamela Russell, leave my cheerleading ability and all the fun I have had as a cheerleader to Terry Parish and Betty Cooper.
- I, Dolores Perez, do hereby will my height to Osa B. She might need it some day.
- I, Addie Schoneck, being one of the tallest of the Letter Girls, leave some of my height to those coming up.
- I, Yvonne Malone, leave the pleasure of being the dash in the Letter Girls to anyone who is small enough to take it.
- I, Marilyn Leahy, do hereby leave my nickname "Plumpy" to Elizabeth and Camille Walterson.
- I, Eugene Roberts, hereby leave my gift of gab to Frank Roberts, who I am sure will use it wisely.
- I, Hoke Holcomb, leave to Whit Swain my ability to argue hard and long in the Student Council.
- I, Mitchell Appelrouth, leave my ability to play basketball to Donald Key.
- I, Sylvia Knowles, will my love for dancing to my sister Gloria. I hope she has as much fun as I have.
- We, Gail Sweeting and Judy Pellicier, leave to Elizabeth Walterson our favorite bottle of "33" bleach.
- I, Xavier Sanchez, do hereby will my very stiff beard to any Junior who thinks he can shave it off.
- I, Tony Barrera, leave to Frank Bervaldi my ability to play the trumpet.

- I, Samuel Nodine, hereby leave my ability to get along with teachers to my brother Edwin, who needs it.
- I, John Curry, leave to Harold Solomon my ability to plow the line in football.
- I, Bill Neblett, leave my ability to get teachers off the subject to any Junior who wants it.
- I, Roy Butler, leave my ability to drive the teachers crazy to Jim Solomon.
- I, Joetta Beott, leave my ability to get along with Mrs. Bond to Lucy Hulzing.
- I, Harry Norviel, leave my ability to dance to Charles Taylor. He needs it.
- We, Laverna Carrero and Doris Tyson, leave to Faye Lowe our ability to get out of tight squeezes.
- I, Walter Walteson, leave my ability to play the drums to Jack Knowles.
- I, Nildo Garcia, leave to Sandy Gray my books, my notebook, my desk, and my ability, to learn, read, and spell.
- I, Jimmy Cooper, do hereby leave to Jimmy Davis my ability to look innocent when accused of something I did.
- I, Joan Mercurio, do hereby leave my giggles to Billie Arnold.
- I, Pat Johnson, leave my ability to be guilty with an innocent look to my sister Sheila.
- I, Nancy Watkins, bequeath to little Sylvia Eley my ability to be seen in a crowd. In other words, my height.
- I, Ken Bazo, leave to Carlton Pinder my size 12 feet and my quietness.
- I, Harvey Johnson, wish to leave my ability to sleep in Mrs. Salis's class to any future Senior.
- I, Art Di Lallo, leave my ability to wear Kat Collars to anyone who can look as good as I do.
- I, Eleanor Garcia, leave my ability to play the piano to my sister Jean.
- I, Bookie Henriquez, leave my nickname "Fatboy" to Lucy Gonzales.
- I, Wayne McFarland, leave my girl friend Sue Ann to anyone who is brave enough to take her.
- I, Glendora Sawyer, leave my ability to get out of classes and still pass to any Junior who thinks he can get by with it.

- I, Don Bernreuter, leave my ability to charge down the field to any incoming football player.
- I, Elsie Butler, leave my long hair to all the Junior girls.
- I, George Calverly, leave my ability to get lost in a boat to anyone who thinks he can.
- I, Bobby Cooper, leave my ability to be a Casanova and yet be sly about it to Orinaldo Lopez.
- I, Nellie Diaz, leave my flying fingers to Carol Dalton.
- I, Jimmy Curry, leave my desk and everything that goes with it to the incoming Seniors.
- I, Rosario Lopez, leave my ability to grow to Lillian Russell.
- I, Ernestine Valdez, leave to Myrna Lewis my ability to throw wisecracks and grow long fingernails.
- I, Exiquio Vidal, leave to my cousin Gilbert Gates my love for sports.
- I, Janet Brown, leave my nickname "Frenchie" to anyone who wants it.
- I, Lydia Paz, hereby leave to Lourdes Diaz my ability to learn bookkeeping.
- I, Bobby Whitaker, leave my ability to do math to George Perez and George Lastres.
- I, Billy Osterhoudt, leave to Lucy Gonzales my ability to play flyback.
- I, Richard Gardner, leave to any underclassmen my ability to look shy but—.
- I, Fidelio Hernandez, leave to Gus Perez my ability to make A's. He might be able to use it.
- I, Catherine Wesley, leave my musical spoons to anyone who can make good use of them.
- I, John Griffin, leave to Clinton Warren my ability to sing and play the guitar so he can serenade some young maidens in the moonlight.

We declare this instrument to be our last will and testament, thereby revoking all past wills and codicils. In witness whereof I, as president of the Class of 52, do herewith set my hand and seal this twentieth day of December, 1951.

CLASS PROPHECY

The time is 1962. You won't believe it, but we—Joan Mercurio and Janet Brown—are now popular singers, beginning our fifth personal appearance tour around the U. S.

As we board the ultra-modern passenger jet plane, we notice that the stewardess is none other than Mildred Archer. We hear a familiar voice from the cockpit, and when we peek in, we see that the pilot is John Curry.

We relax in our seats and notice a tall young man as he boards the plane. He turns out to be Morton Hall, now a Merchant Mariner. Opposite us is Elsie Butler, who has become a minister, she tells us. Further down the aisle, Kathryn Wesley seems to be having a little trouble controlling her two sets of twins.

Our first stop is New York, where we decide to do some shopping between shows. We see that Macy's Department Store has changed its name to "Mitch's Place." As we enter the clothing department, the latest fashions are being modeled by Esther Smith and Glendora Sawyer.

While in New York, we take in a baseball game at the Yankee Stadium. Much to our surprise, two of the outfielders for the Yankees are Frank Veliz and Art Di Lallo. Both are batting over .300.

After the game, we notice that there is a parade going on. There's Harvey Johnson leading his Army regiment. Behind them, in the Women's section, Lieutenant Doris Tyson of the Women's Air Force is heading her battalion, which includes Sergeants Laverne Carrero, Maxine Miller, and Joetta Beott. The Navy comes next in the parade. Looking a little seasick are Wayne McFarland and George Calverly. Their commander, Ray Lones, really keeps them in step.

After our last show, we visit a night club, where the floor show features a small combo headed by trumpet man Tony Barrera. Also in the band are Walter Walterson on the drums and Jay West at the sax. The vocalist is Rosario Lopez.

On the way back to the hotel, we stop for a paper. Our eyes meet the headlines which tell of an exciting legal battle. Two top lawyers of New York, Fidelio Hernandez and Hoke Holcomb, are engaged in this very interesting case. Another headline tells of the tennis champ, June Yates, who has successfully captured the U. S. Singles Crown. We see that the quick thinking of railroad engineer Patrick Bubbus has saved the lives of all the passengers on his train.

On the sports page, we find that Coaches James Baker and "Bookie" Henriquez are leading the Columbia U. basketball team to its third straight unbeaten year.

Next day, another jet plane takes us to Chicago, where we are to appear in a benefit performance for the veterans at Hines Hospital. On the medical staff are Lorenzo Murguia, head surgeon, and a crew of our old classmates as nurses—Ernestine Valdez, Sylvia Knowles, Eleanor Garcia, Patsy Johnson, and Gail Sweeting.

As we walk down a busy Randolph Street, we bump into Squeaky Vidal, who is now working in Chicago as a dental technician. He tells us that Ken Bazo, Bob Whitaker, and Jimmy Curry are engineers for General Motors and living in Detroit.

Saying goodbye, we go on down the street and pass an interior decorator's shop which has such a beautiful display that we stop and enter. We find that it is owned by Nancy Watkins and Nildo Garcia.

We must again be on our way. At the airport, a faulty engine is quickly repaired by Richard Morgan and Roger Cole. Stewardess Dolores Perez helps get everyone settled on the plane.

Next stop—Los Angeles. We are to be guests at the annual Officers Ball. Air Force Captains Sam Nodine, Jimmy Cooper, and Richard Gardner are among the guests, along with Rear Admiral Lewis Barber.

The following day we have no shows to do so we plan to do some sightseeing. We meet some more of our old classmates. Heading for their secretarial jobs at a Hollywood movie studio are Edyth Hampton, Pam Russell, Doris Hargrave, and Addie Schoneck. They tell us that Roy Butler works on publicity at the same studio. We decide to go to the studio with them. Judy Pellicier and Yvonne Malone are there, busy making up movie star Joan Crusoe, whose gowns for the latest movie were styled by Alma Thompson.

After this thrilling visit, we go to the Brown Derby for dinner and see Marilyn Leahy and Margaret Little, who are now doctors. Marilyn works on animals, while Margaret's specialty is babies. A tall, well-built aviator enters and turns out to be Ray Rothfuss. At one end of the restaurant, the Scientists and Chemists are holding a dinner as part of their convention festivities. Among these distinguished scientists are Xavier Sanchez and Harry Norviel, as well as Bill Neblett and Homer Herrick, who are working on atomic energy.

After dinner we return to our hotel. Since this is the last stop on our tour, we are going to take a vacation in our old home town—Key West.

When we arrive, we are greeted by several of our old friends, among them Coach Bob Cooper of the High School, who has been guiding a winning basketball team. He extends to us an invitation to witness that big game between Key West and South Broward. The conchs are gunning for their fifth straight win. Also on hand at the airport is Bill Osterhoudt, who is proprietor of his own funeral home. He jokingly asks us if we have any business for him.

That night, at the game, we hear a friendly "Hello." As we turn around, we see Gene Roberts, who has been doing personnel work at the Navy Yard. Two rows ahead of us are Yvonne McCardle and Lydia Paz; they also work in the Navy Yard, where Yvonne's a secretary and Lydia a bookkeeper. Nellie Diaz and Ottilie Aguero, with their husbands, seem to be enjoying the game. After the game, which the Conchs win, we notice Jose Padron, owner of "Padron's Supermarket," and stop to talk to him. Don Bernreuter, expert fisherman, joins the conversation, as does Philip Holland, who has become a successful contractor.

Next day, we make a trip to the County Jail. None of our old classmates are there, so we can see that all the Junior Conchs of 52 have turned out pretty well after all.

Now we can prepare to relax in the Key West sunshine.

STUDENT COUNCIL has been busier than ever this year making our school and activities more enjoyable. Dances in the patio are sponsored by the Council and it was through their efforts that we have a public telephone in a booth. Parking areas have been marked off and there are special sections for faculty and students.

To much confusion was caused by the old method of putting on assemblies so the Council took the job. An assembly committee was appointed, the result being less confusion and more enjoyable assemblies.

Representatives have been sent to all Student Council District Meetings. At these meetings the representatives obtain new ideas which go to further smoother cooperation between the Council and the students.

Student Government Association was first organized in 1928 and reorganized by the students in 1932. Since then it has grown in power and prestige at Key West. Our Council is a member of the National Association of Student Councils.

JUNIOR HIGH STUDENT COUNCIL is a functional and active body to promote and direct student government. Through the Council, social activities, monitoring of hall traffic and junior high assembly programs are planned. This year the Council assumed responsibility for planning assembly programs.

Officers are nominated and elected by the students, each homeroom having a representative and each having a vote in Council decisions. The body also directs student traffic court, complete with judge and jury, to prosecute "traffic delinquents."

Our school paper, affectionately known as the SNAPPER, has been in circulation for about 21 years. At first it was mimeographed on the old hand machine, which took hours to print the copies.

This year SNAPPER funds paid for a new electric mimeographing machine, which uses quick-drying ink and will print on both sides without smearing. It takes only 25 minutes now to print the paper.

Under the leadership of our able and hard-working editor, Nancy Watkins, the SNAPPER made other improvements. More news, more features, more and better art work, as well as improved appearance made it the best SNAPPER yet.

New students are now being trained for staff work, especially in the art department. Students who work for the paper get experience in news-gathering, lettering, cutting stencils, and operating the machine.

Our fine paper is sponsored by the Student Council. Mr. Chapman and Miss Trevor provide invaluable help in turning out the SNAPPER every two weeks.

The RADIO CLUB has been in operation for four years but this year has been its most active year. About 600 people have appeared on about 100 broadcasts. We have, for the first time, a soundproof radio room, floor mike, and monitoring set. For furniture in the room we have acquired a wicker sofa and some of Mr. Whitley's folding chairs.

Our sponsor, Mr. Ertzman, has been most active and has helped us tremendously in our work. He meets with the executive board twice a month and helps us plan the next programs. He is present at all broadcasts to advise us.

Anybody in the Key West High School may join the CLUB but to get a pin he or she must appear in three shows in any capacity.

The Diversified Cooperative Training Program may be described as a plan for training junior and senior high school students of employable age in a variety of occupations by utilizing the community's businesses and industrial establishments as training agencies.

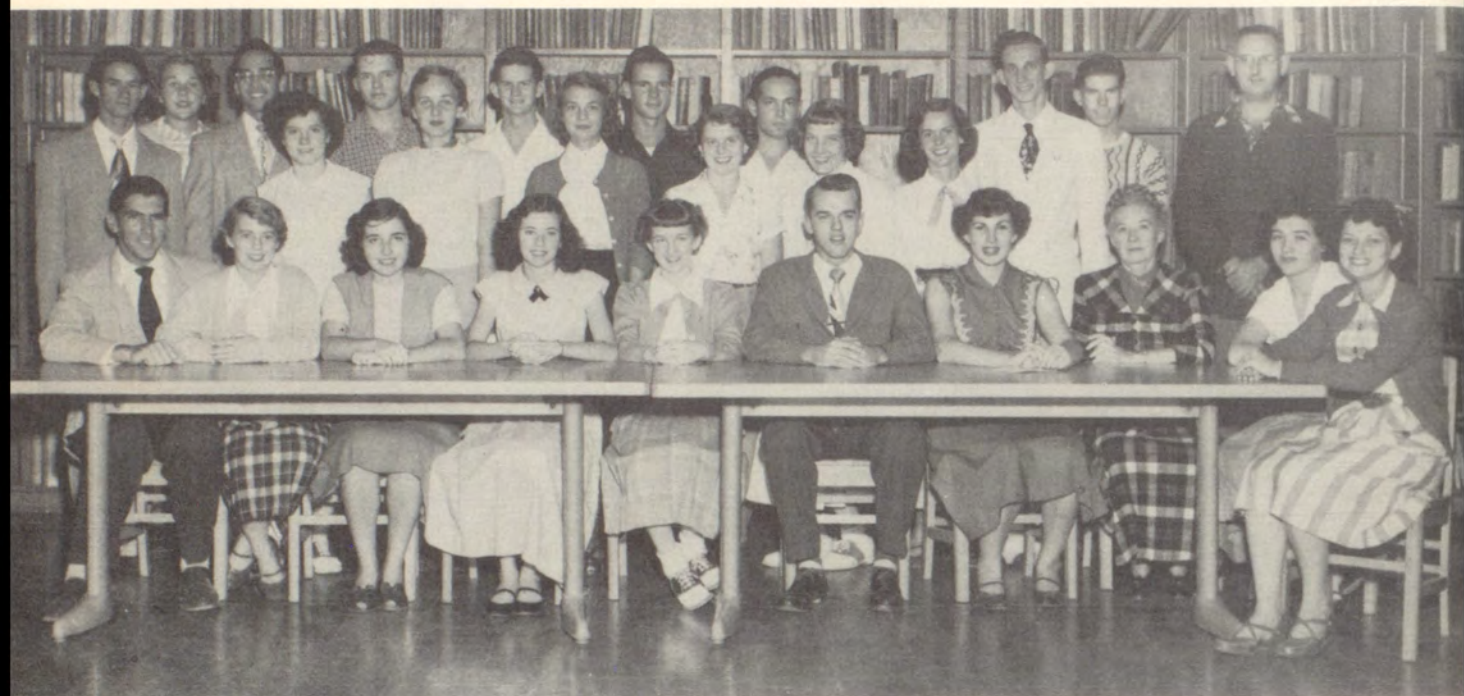

This is accomplished by dividing the school day into four hours of study in the high school and four hours of work in the student-learner's chosen occupation.

Of the four hours spent in school, two hours are devoted to required high school subjects—such as English and History—which enable the student-learner to graduate with his class; the other two hours are used for study related to his occupation under direct supervision of the coordinator.

Four high school credits may be earned each year by the student-learner—two of which are for required subjects and two for work experience and related study in the Diversified Cooperative Training Program. These credits may be used for college entrance as high school electives.

The Southernmost Chapter of the NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY is finding its place in the student life of Key West High School by trying to maintain high standards of scholarship, leadership, character, and service.

Organized in 1950, the Chapter is still quite new and inexperienced. However, we are proud of its accomplishments, for we have had a busy schedule this year. Besides preparing a Christmas basket for a needy family, holding and mid-semester induction services, planning dances and other activities for the enjoyment of its members, and sending a delegate to the State Convention in Tampa, the Chapter has gained much in fellowship and understanding from its weekly luncheon meetings.

For the first time since it was organized, members have applied for membership instead of being nominated by the teachers. In this way, the Chapter and the teachers know just who are interested and give these applications complete consideration.

The NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY recognizes its duties and responsibilities toward Key West High and is striving toward the goal of making the year 1952-53 an even bigger and more successful one.

BOARD OF DIRECTORS

Eugene Roberts Joe Pineda Gus Perez

Key West High School's KEY CLUB, like many other Key Clubs, is sponsored by the Kiwanis Club. Our chapter was organized in March of 1949. The purpose of the Club is to make this a better community in which to live and to make better citizens of the younger generation.

It is a service club for the school. In the past year our Key Club has: bagged peanuts for the Crippled Children's Fund; sold and iced cokes for all organizations in school; carried chairs for assembly programs; helped finance cheerleader trips; sold basketball schedules for the March of Dimes fund; moved all books from the book room to teachers' rooms; cleaned the school grounds around the new building; sent a representative to the district convention in Orlando; helped build a float for the Armed Forces Day Parade; and given dances for the football players.

Sponsors —Mrs. Jones, Miss Harra

The JUNIOR DEBS are sponsored by the Junior Woman's Club of Key West. Girls from the tenth, eleventh, and twelfth grades from the High School and the Convent of Mary Immaculate belong.

The purpose of the Club is to train girls to be future community and club leaders.

As the club is a service club, we have chosen a project of community service. Picket-painters as the girls are sometimes called, is derived from the club's project of painting the cemetery fence. The Club has also assisted the Business and Professional Women's Club by serving at their dinner and is helping the Cerebral Palsy and Cripples Association.

KEY WEST HIGH SCHOOL BAND

Harold T. Casterton
Director

Under the direction of Mr. Casterton, our new band director, drill was added to the band curriculum this year. With the help of three Marines and Mr. C. J. Cornell, the band learned many new formations. We played and drilled for every home football game and for the South Broward game there.

The year opened with the playing at the dedication of Wickers Stadium, where we wore our new uniforms for the first time.

The first big thrill of the year was playing a concert on December 14 under the direction of Mr. Henry Fillmore. Then on January 10 and 11 three band members—Roberta Van Alen, Mary Harris, and Tom Cornell—participated in the Band Clinic at Tampa. On February 10, 11 and 12 the band went on the annual trip to the State Fair at Tampa. This was the third year for the trip to Gasparilla. Something new was added this year, for we were invited by the Cuban Government to parade in their festival February 23. From the voyage via Cuban gunboat to the beautiful parade next day and the concert the day after that, the trip proved to be both educational and enjoyable.

Though the band members were often very tired after night drill at Wickers Stadium and after those parades, not a one of them would have missed the year 1951-52!

FOOTBALL RETURNS TO K.W.H.S.

In 1951 football returned to Key West High after 23 long years. Alumni who had played on Conch teams in the old days and many civic organizations worked hard during the spring of 1951 to raise the money for new uniforms, equipment, and work on the playing field. Among the most active were the Jaycees, Lions, Elks, American Legion, Masons, Navy, merchants, and the Key West Citizen. The school board cooperated by hiring a new coach to assist Coach Jones.

When it was certain that there would be football in 1951-52, swarms of eager boys and equally eager spectators reported for spring practice early in April at the County Beach. About 60 hopeful boys faced Coach Jones and the new coach, Mr. Edwin Beckman, who had come from Canal Zone Junior College, Canal Zone. Boys who had never even seen a football game began to learn what scrimmage and skull practice meant—hard work, and lots of it! Thirty-four boys survived the daily two hours' practice in the hot Key West sun.

In August, two weeks before school began, these 34 faithfuls answered the call for practice in order to be ready for the first game, with Lake Worth September 21. At Lake Worth the Conchs went immediately to work to show the Trojans they weren't to be fooled with, and led 6-0 at the end of the first period. Though the more experienced Lake Worth eleven came from behind to win, both Conch touchdowns came with spectacular runs of 89 and 86 yards, auguring great things for the future.

Back home, the team, making use of experience gained from defeat, went out to trounce a slightly favored Pahokee team 19-6, holding them scoreless till the final 2 minutes. Even in a downpour the game produced enough thrills to satisfy the standing room crowd at Wickers Stadium.

FOOTBALL RETURNS

This win touched off a streak that saw the Conchs march to three straight victories. A small but spunky Punta Gorda team was crushed 32-7, and a hard-fighting St. Mary's of Miami fell 19-7. The following week an aroused bunch of Seahawks from Seacrest of Delray Beach gave the Conchs the roughest game they had played, the game ending in a 6-6 tie.

Taking the road for the next 3 games, the team lost headway. Belle Glade dealt them a sad 21-0 blow, though the Belle Glade gridders scored 14 of their points in the final period on intercepted passes.

The Conchs then moved up to Vero Beach, where the boys held one of the most powerful elevens in the state to a 13-7 margin. The coaches agree that this was the team's finest showing.

Moving to South Broward in Hollywood, the team hit what Coach Jones termed the "season's low." Although the boys lost to a greatly underrated team 33-2, they held the Bulldogs to 6 points in the last half. About 300 supporters followed the team to see this clash between the traditional rivals.

At the last game of the season, back in Wickers Stadium, the team lost a tough decision to St. Peter and Paul's of Miami, 21-12.

As the season came to a close, the Conchs settled down to rest and enjoy the parties being given for them by the Masons, the Methodist Men, and the parents, Capt. John West, and Mr. and Mrs. Angel Delgado. It was just then the news broke that, if sufficient funds could be raised, the team would go to Panama to play Cristobal High School.

The plan soon became a reality, and on December 6, 28 boys left by plane from Boca Chica airfield. The Conchs thus became the second team ever to participate in an international high school grid contest. In addition, the boys were given a tour of the Canal Zone and locks, a day to shop in the bazaars of Colon, and two banquets. While there the Conchs took to the "mud bowl," and defeated their favored hosts 2-0.

At season's end many of the boys received individual honors. Among these Ken Bazo, Conch center, was picked, with almost no opposition, for the Herald All-State Team, and was elected the Conch's most valuable player. Ken was offered scholarships to Vanderbilt and F. S. U., the latter of which he accepted. "Squeaky" Vidal received the award for best blocker, and Carlton Pinder was voted best linesman. Twenty-five Varsity and 10 J. V. letters were awarded.

JUNIOR VARSITY TEAM

First row: Glynn Archer, Ronnie Pinder, Clinton Warren, Kenneth Felton, Gilbert Gates, Salvator Caleagno.

SENIOR VARSITY

Key West High's Varsity team got off to a slow start because of the late football games. With only 4 days' practice under their belts, they took on Redlands. Up until the last minutes of the game, the Conch five were close behind, but the old shooting eye wasn't there, and Redlands took the game 38-37. The next two games, with Cristobal and Coral Gables, dropped by 1 or 2 points also, were close and exciting.

After these games the Conchs started hitting their stride and took 5 straight, from Belen of Cuba, Gesu, West Palm Beach, and Seacrest. However, when we met our ancient rivals, the South Broward boys, on their home court, they broke up our winning streak. After another defeat, this time at the hands of the Miami U. Frosh, the court men picked up their stride again, winning 5 straight games.

Some of the better games played to date have been Miami High, West Palm Beach, South Broward, Miami Tech, Miami University B team, and the 2 games with Redlands.

For the last four games and the district tournament, Armando Henriquez and Bob Cooper were elected captain and co-captain respectively.

At the close of the season the Conchs will lose 10 seniors, with only 2 Varsity men returning next year.

TOP FIVE

*Who are the top five and a half,
Who are the beauties that yell and laugh,
Who are the Co-eds that cheer the teams,
And after the win are smiles and beams.*

*There's only five who boost the boys,
With cheers of pep, and yells of joys,
Well done, our girls! A toast to you,
Our "Cheerleading Gals" of '52.*

GIRLS' TENNIS

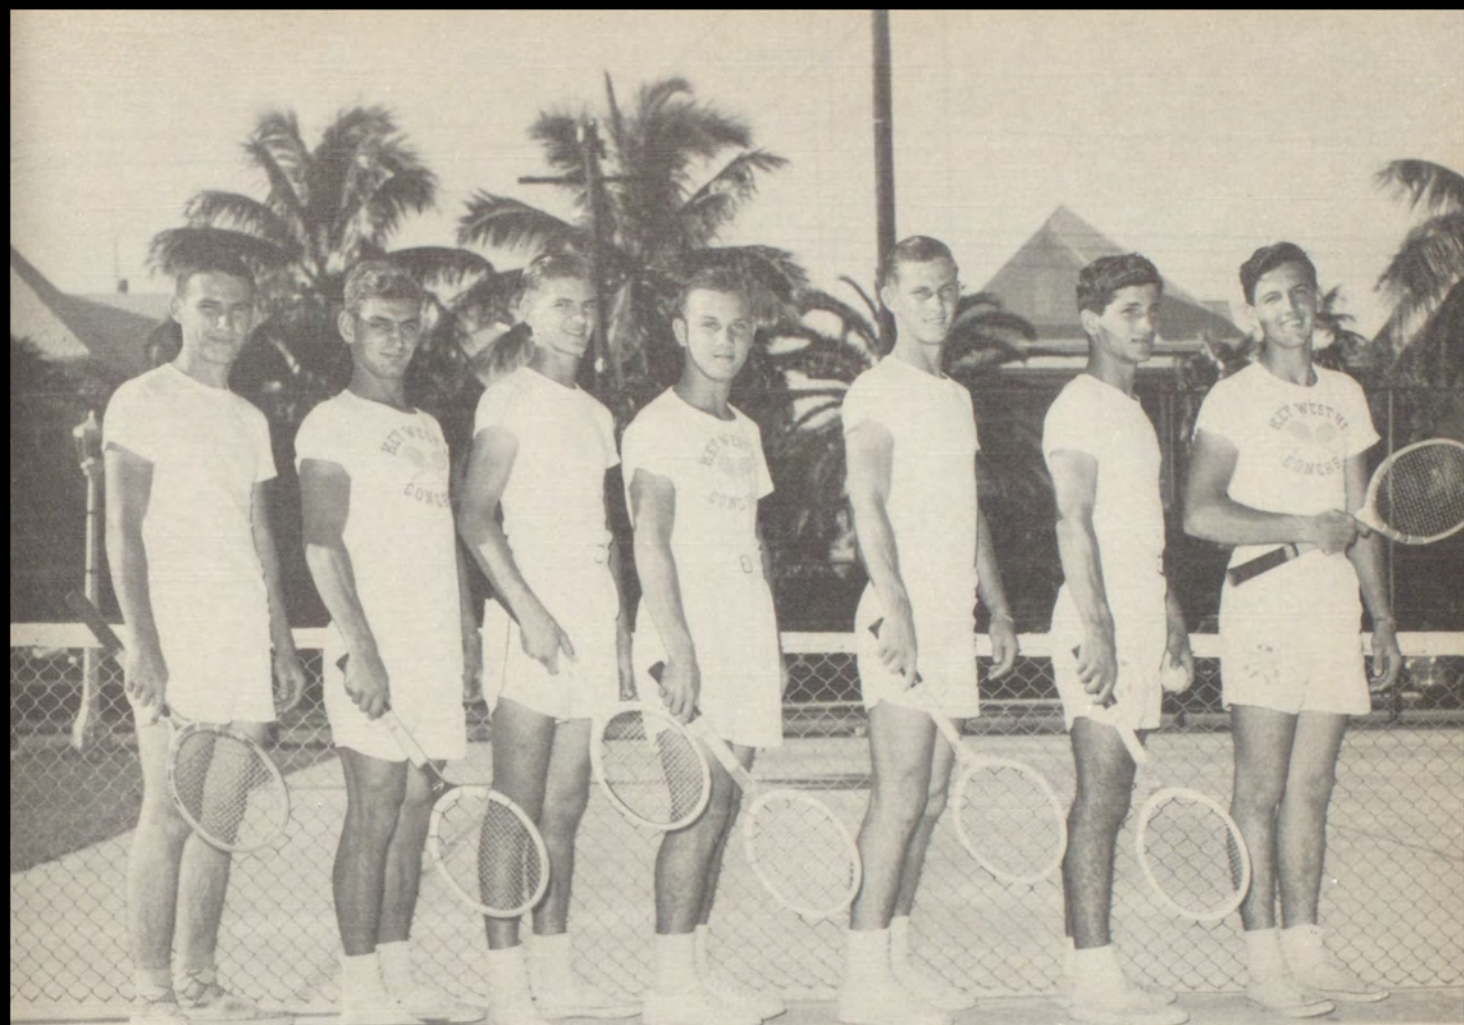

The Conch tennis lassies in their first three matches in South Florida High School Tennis League struck terror into the hearts of all their future opponents for in order they have defeated Edison 7-0, Fort Lauderdale 6-1, and South Broward 7-0.

So powerful has been the squad up to this date that nobody is more surprised than Coach Van and the players themselves. In all probability the squad will finish third in a league of nine schools, for two teams, Coral Gables and Miami Beach, are loaded with nationally ranked stars and it is just schools of this caliber. However, some of our players are gunning for the big upset and it is possible that their great determination and some surprise victory may bring the team up to second place.

In Harvey Cup play the High School has won three of the first trophy matches and therefore must be favored to keep the coveted trophy. The Convent, however, is proving to be a mighty tough adversary, and with their young players developing fast, it is possible that they would win all the remaining matches. But here again our fine squad will have something to say about the final outcome.

The team at this writing is composed of six fine players, the captain being June Yates. These players will be long remembered as the team that put Key West on the tennis map.

BOYS' TENNIS

The boy tennisters are still in the embryonic stage of development, but the quantity and most of the quality is already there. What is needed is more experience. When you go up against a team like Coral Gables, probably the best High School team in the United States, and Miami Beach, which has national champion Jerry Moss and Florida boys' champion Mike Green, you must play tennis of a high order even to win a match. The boys, however, are coming along steadily, and are hoping to end in the first five.

To date the boys have lost two matches 5-2, one against always powerful Fort Lauderdale and the other against Miami Edison. The boys are hoping for revenge when they meet both these teams on the home court.

They have conquered South Broward 4-3 and defeated a picked Navy team 7-0. So with the score even, they are ready to move and really anxious to win more than half their matches. And we think they can do it.

Three new players who have done a lot to pick up the team are Leo Carey, a picture stroker who is now playing number 1, Frank Roberts, and Don Carbonell. Add to these the fine players from last year's team, and you have a squad with lots of depth. It is a strong team right now, but in the near future it should be a powerhouse.

GIRLS' ATHLETICS

This year girls' gym has become an important department in Key West High School, with every girl taking gym five days a week. Girls throughout the school are participating in volleyball, kickball, softball, basketball, and swimming. Gym is important to every girl since it fosters good sportsmanship and adds to school spirit.

There have been many games of volleyball between the different grades, with the eighth grade nosing out the tenth grade in the tournament and coming in as first place winners. Girls' intramural basketball is just getting under way, as the Boys' Varsity season comes to a close and the girls can move over to the Boys' Gym for their tournament.

Classes are again going to be held at the Seaplane Base Pool, where the girls are taught the different skills of swimming. The girls will go in the school bus as usual. Those who won intermediate certificates will be out to add to their skill, and there will be quite a number of eager beginners, as usual.
