What A Year!!

Foreword

Your 1967 CONCH is a publication which I am sure will become increasingly valuable to you in the years ahead, for it is designed to be a pleasant way in which you can relive the many activities of the school year and revive memories of your former classmates.

Pictured on its pages are many of the organizations and outstanding individuals who have contributed to the growth of Key West High School through their achievements in various fields. Also captured through words and pictures are the many traditions and events which provided you with many enjoyable hours, as well as the teachers and activities which contributed to your development of scholastic skills.

The student body has helped to develop Key West High School into one of the finest in the state, and I hope that as you thumb through this book in years to come it will generate within you a feeling of pride, resulting from your being a part of this school.

Sincerely,

Glynn R. Archer, Jr.

Mr. Kelly
Guidance Counselor, Annex

In a school as large as ours, there are many groups of unsung "heroes." The Guidance Department is one of the few groups working for the betterment of the student as an individual. The counselors aid students and teachers who are participating in the "self-help" program. They assist students preparing for the PSAT, the National Merit Scholarship Tests, and the SAT. They are always ready to lend a hand to the confused senior who has questions about college. Together with the administrative department, they comprise the "brains" of our school, providing thoughtful help and co-ordinated support for the entire student body.

Language Arts

No matter what occupation a student intends to pursue after graduation, he will find himself completely lost unless he has mastered the ability to communicate with his fellow man. Correct and efficient communication is the goal of the English Department. This year, the teachers are putting more emphasis on reading, thorough word recognition, comprehension, and interpretation. A better understanding of the written word, no matter how familiar, will lead to more effective ways of communication and thus to easier perception into the world around us.

Library

Throughout the year, whenever a student is busily searching for references for a composition that he is writing, there is always someone behind the scenes ready to assist him. That someone is the librarian. She never leaves her post, and is ready to help him sort through the countless books, magazines and encyclopedias that are at his disposal. Although they are often taken for granted, the librarians are an important part of our everyday school life.

Foreign Languages

Much of our understanding of foreign lands depends on our comprehension of their languages as well as their customs. Of the three language courses offered by Key West High, Spanish is the most helpful here in Key West because a large portion of the population is of Spanish descent. A knowledge of French or Latin is very useful in studying the cultures of two of the world's oldest countries.

Social Studies

The social studies give us many concepts of what has kept our world in one piece, socially and economically. By viewing the triumphs and the errors of our predecessors, we are more able to cope with the problems of our motley society. Understanding the past and interpreting it into the present, we can become better citizens, no matter what the future holds in store for us.

Science

The future is the present, and our knowledge of the things in and around us is constantly changing. The numerous areas of scientific research offered at Key West High bring understanding of the familiar and insight into the unknown within our eager grasp. With an open mind and firm hold on the facts, we can face the future prepared.

Mathematics

In our modern civilization, one that is continually expanding in all dimensions, science is indeed an important factor. But without a means of expressing our scientific know-how, we are like the cavemen trying to explain the stars in the sky. Mathematics is the tool which enables us to convey the meaning of the most profound happening in our existence. We gain the power to use this tool through the study of algebra, geometry, and trigonometry.

Physical Education

The years have not marred the meaning of the old Greek saying, "A sound mind in a sound body", nor have they lessened the desire for physical fitness. Within the last few years, there has been an increased emphasis on the improvement of our physical well-being. The athletic department of Key West High has kept pace with many of the new developments and has not fallen behind in the demand for better athletic education. Our able instructors find time not only to teach us the basic fundamentals of our favorite indoor and outdoor sports, but also to coach the fine "Fighting Conch" football squad. They help us build the bodies we need to stay fit and lead happy, healthy lives.

Driver Education

There is a continual rise in the number of automobile accidents each year. This, along with the fact that more cars are being produced annually, has increased the ever present desire for careful drivers. The Driver Training instructors can never over emphasize the fact that "defensive driving" is the only means of staying alive on our nation's highways. Through Driver's Training, we can acquire good driving skills and keep from becoming statistics.

Mr. James Pannell

Home Economics

Our modern society has placed quite a task at the feet of the modern homemaker. She must not only bear the physical demands of her work, but she must also have energy to spare for her creative side. The Home Economics Department gives our future homemakers time to experience some of the occasionally disastrous happenings that take place while trying to keep a home in order. But more than this, the good instructor should be able to show the student how to use imagination, ingenuity, patience, and careful planning to the best of her ability, in order to manage a successful household.

Humanities

Last year, when Humanities was first offered, no one, not even the instructors, knew how this experiment would be received by the students. While everyone agreed the course was needed, they were not sure we were ready for it. But the speculative venture managed to make it through the year with a minimum of problems. What few there were, they were quickly ironed out by our able teachers.

The Humanities program is now a permanent member of the Key West High curriculum. It serves to fill the void concerning art and music appreciation. Culture in any form needs to be understood, and the Humanities are the keys to these rooms filled with the comprehension of what is an elemental factor of our lives.

Mr. Tom Whitley

Music

As long as there is man, there will be music, for no matter what is happening, there is always something to sing, whistle, or hum. The occasion may be exuberant or melancholy, but, no matter which it is, man will make music. And the study of music and its history and development is one of the most self-satisfying experiences there is. Members of the Band, Chorus, and General Music classes are indeed fortunate in having two well-qualified instructors, Mr. Whitley and Mr. Higgins, to lead them down the path through the fields of the world's greatest music.

Arts & Crafts

Through the elective courses of Arts, Crafts, and Woodwork, the creative student is able to use his hands constructively. This is his chance to show off his ability to draw, paint, or sculpture. The more expressive student can improve his already acquired techniques. Very often, constructive criticism is given by his fellow classmates who have seen these "objets d'art" in the display cases. This will prepare him for facing the critical cultural world.

Business

Shorthand, Typing, Bookkeeping, and Office Machines are the building blocks of a successful business career. In this way, the instructors help business-minded students discover the best means of getting ahead in any workaday occupation they may choose to follow.

Cafeteria Workers

Just as a good school feeds the brain of a knowledge-hungry student, so a good school also provides facilities for nourishing the ravenous stomachs of those very same famished students. But a well-equipped cafeteria is nothing unless there is someone to run it smoothly and efficiently so as to produce the well-balanced noon-day meal for over fifteen hundred students and faculty members. This is the job of the cafeteria workers, and they more than adequately meet our demands.

Maintenance

Our campus reflects the attitude of our student body. It is clean if we are clean. Helping in our modern approach to neatness is a group of behind-the-scenes workers who are very often neglected. They are the janitors, and to them we give acknowledgment of a job well done in keeping order in our every-day school life.

Class

The Senior Class of 1967 claims a vast range of experiences — struggles, disappointments, victories, and excitement — which have constituted a most unique existence at Key West High. Now the year has slipped through grasping fingers, and all that remains is the occasional recollection of fond memories.

When they recall all the landmarks of their senior year — the class play, Conch Day, Junior-Senior Prom, the All-Night Affair, and many others — they cannot help but think that this was indeed an unparalled year. Others may try to imitate their performances, but that something that set them apart, that undefined element, will always be out of their reach. Theirs was a vintage season.

Juniors

Sponsors: SEATED: Mrs. Burgess, Mrs. Keyser, Mrs. Roberts, Mrs. Taylor, Mrs. Case. STANDING: Mr. Henderson, Mr. Bridenback, Mr. Des Londes, Mr. Saunders.

Already expectant and looking forward to their senior year, the juniors kept busy by preparing for a decisive battle with the seniors on Field Day. Though they worked hard all year, they must have left their ambition and sale-ability at home during the Magazine Drive.

Anxious as they are for their rings and privileges, they will re-enter next year pensive, knowing the responsibilities that are lowered on them. With leaders as expert as the ones they had this year, they should have no troubles.

Up By Club Participation

Sophomore Class

Though they sat at the bottom of the hill this year, last year's Magazine Drive victors still have a promising tomorrow. Another year's experience has taught them many things. Maturity comes with age, and their progress is steadily uphill.

SPONSORS, Front Row, left to right: Mrs. Stark, Mr. Whitley, Mr. Korous, Mr. Ulrich, Mrs. Kennedy, Mr. Avant.

Freshmen

This, the first of four (or more) busy, hectic, but rewarding years, was a year of re-orientation for the newly-arrived mass of freshmen. They had to learn the basic facts of life in a high school; they had to get into the "groove." But these freshmen seemed to be fast learners, for they came out on top of the Magazine Drive. Enthusiasm and spirit will help them in handling the numerous new duties and obligations that the future holds in store for them.

Student Council

Student Council is the only organization in Key West High School that represents the entire student body. It is organized to give each member of the high school a voice in student government through the homeroom representatives or his own participation in the council. Through the combined efforts of the council it provides the school with services that would not be available otherwise.

Some of its contributions to high school life are an orientation program at the beginning of the year and a welcome to the new and returning teachers. It is in charge of homecoming activities at the school and holds the spectacular homecoming dance. Many other programs are undertaken such as surveys, safety programs, and Americanism assemblies. With the money raised during the year, it leaves a sizeable gift to the school every year.

Student Council is an active and vital part of Key West High School that enables students to become strong leaders and good followers while providing a service to the school.

Future Teachers

Future Teacher club members are devoted to their prospective profession and serve as clerical helpers to teachers around the school. While gaining insight into the teaching profession they were invaluable to the teachers. They also spurred interest among both teachers and students through their election of Teacher of the Week and Teacher of the Month.

Officers: Scott Youmans, president; Kathy Jenkins, vice-president; Nancy Kirk, secretary; Brenda Gastan, treasurer; Miss Oslack, Mr. Pineda, sponsors.

Future Homemakers

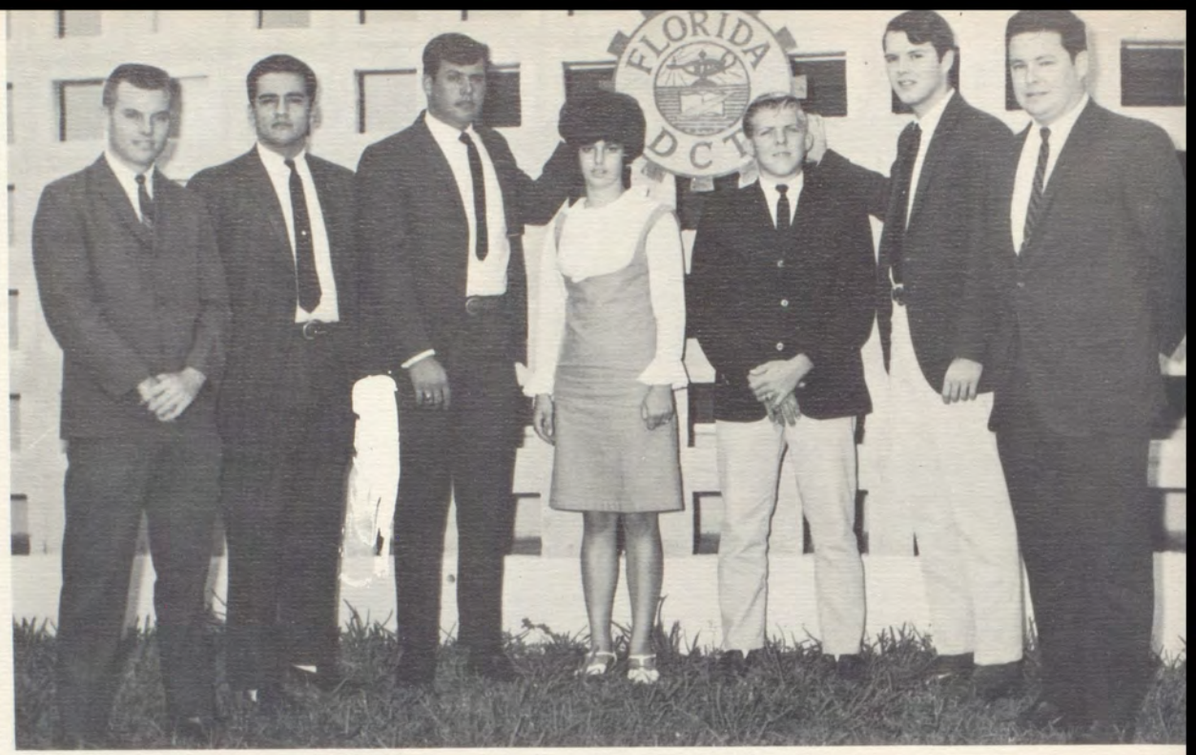

After one year of improving their homemaking skills, Key West High School girls are able to join the Future Homemakers of America, an organization which aims to enrich individual and family living. Besides the regular development of their already acquired proficiencies, the members take part in whatever civic function is helpful in raising money for charity.

Staff

Twenty-eight journalism students worked earnestly each month to publish an eight-page paper containing all the latest news concerning clubs, activities, sports, feature stories, and student opinions through the editorial page as well as pictorial accounts of student activities. Since the class only met one hour a day, many hours were spent working after school, at night and even on Saturdays when deadline time rolled around. With the enthusiastic staff and guidance of the sponsor, the newspaper became a symbol of pride for both the staff and the school.

Conch Staff

Of the many activities in which students at Key West High may participate, perhaps the most interesting, diverse, though often nerve-wracking, is the job of compiling an accurate, as well as unprecedented record of this year at the high school. The pace is strenuous, and the staff members often find it difficult keeping ahead of their constantly-approaching deadlines.

Many harrowing hours are spent re-writing written copy, re-arranging previously arranged layouts, and re-scheduling already previously scheduled pictures. In the end, we of the Conch staff, knowing that our dreams of a complete yearbook have materialized into something special, sit back and hope that the joy of those receiving it matches the joy of we who produced this chronicle of our school year, 1966-67.

Chorus

It is really quite amazing the way the Chorus, under the direction of Mr. Whitley, is able to combine the eight notes of the scale, mix them up, pour them out, and come up with some of the most thrilling sonarities imaginable. Occasional sharps and flats prove that even chorus members are human. Gifted with the finest musical instrument — the human voice — they emit the sounds of all the human emotions — praise, sorrow, joy, death, much to the pleasure of those fortunate people who are the recipients of those fine sounds.

A rattle of drums . . . a clash of cymbals . . . and the band marched out into the year, wearing brand new red and white uniforms which gleamed as brightly as their instruments, pouring out scintillating sounds as they cheered the Conchs onward.

As proof of their accomplishments this year, the Band received straight Superiors in the District Marching Contest. The concert band played for many community affairs, as well as presenting its annual series of "Pops" Concerts and participating in district and state contests.

The big events of the year was travelling to Washington, D. C., to march in the parade during the Cherry Blossom Festival. This was indeed an honor because only 50 bands in the United States are invited to attend, one from each state.

MAJORETTES

Perhaps not receiving as much recognition as other groups, the Majo ettes bring sparkle to a field and style to a stage as only they can.

In addition to constant performances throughout the year, they a nually receive superior ratings at district and state twirling contests. Th also perform such services for the band as sponsoring dances, bake sal and participating in ticket sales, and the annual Tag Day. Adding th charm to many school activities, they add to the spirited scene at Key W High School.

"Oh you shouldn't have done it girls!" (Mrs. June Sanchez, Conchette director)

The Key West High School Conchettes are a group of talented girls who work for the betterment and entertainment of the school. They perform at all half-time shows and present their annual Conchettes Capers in the spring. This year they were honored by being asked to perform in the annual Cherry Blossom Festival Parade in Washington, D. C.

Founded in 1955, the group is modeled after the Kilgore College Rangerettes of Kilgore, Texas. Membership is open to all girls in grades 10-12. Girls must have aptitude and be of average scholastic ability, as well as have a winning personality and a warm, friendly smile.

Sponsor Joe Pineda

"K" Club, under the head sponsorship of Coach Joe Pineda, was established for the purpose of giving recognition to all varsity lettermen, to establish an environment in which high standards of conduct would be maintained among all athletic contests, and to promote school pride in all school-sponsored events.

Key Mantas

Key Mantas is the school's skin diving club which is open to sophomores, juniors, and seniors, male or female, who have a good scholastic record and approval by previous teachers.

The club makes six outings a school year and also raises funds for the Charity Drive by selling concessions, bake sales, and other means.

Pep Club

Just two years old this year, the Pep Club continues to strike the sparks that set the fires of school spirit ablaze. Assisting the cheerleaders in their chore of making the songs and cheers heard by the Fighting Conchs is no easy task. It requires a lot of "pep" and naturally, much school spirit. This year's members have not only increased their activities, but have also enlarged their already huge cheering section.

Ski Club

The Ski Club, completely devoted to the sport of water skiing, has gained a large following from the students at Key West High. The club has sponsored numerous activities including picnics, parties, and ski outings. More adept members were able to participate in local competition. This worthwhile organization has made skiing facilities and equipment available to all interested students.

Ten vivacious seniors and juniors made up this year's Varsity Cheerleading Squad. Enthusiasm, personality, hard work, scholastic abilities, and a good moral character are required from each girl.

Practice starts during the summer and continues until the end of the basketball season. During this period, the cheerleaders must raise money for their trips to out-of-town games. This is done by making and selling Conch dolls, Conch buttons, and by having bake sales during summer school.

The biggest project and most rewarding for the cheerleaders is raising school spirit, and keeping it at fever pitch. Pep rallies and assemblies help a great deal with the student participation. They also give the team a feeling of confidence by encouraging them to greater heights.

Many things have influenced our team to try unceasingly to win; often this is one thing which can mean the difference between an optimistic, go-getter outlook and a downcast, out-of-sorts approach. What is this "thing"? It is school spirit. And the junior varsity cheerleaders are bubbling over with it. Their loud, boisterous voices compel the J.V. team to strive for the highest peaks: victories.

Tennis

Boys' Tennis

Although the tennis team receives little recognition, these students work to do their best in representing K.W.H.S. Tennis is a sport which requires great endurance, and these boys work long hours to get in shape for their matches. Few people realize the physical strain the boys undergo during a match. When playing a Gold Coast Conference opponent, these boys must play hard tennis for several hours under the hot afternoon sun.

Girls' Tennis Team

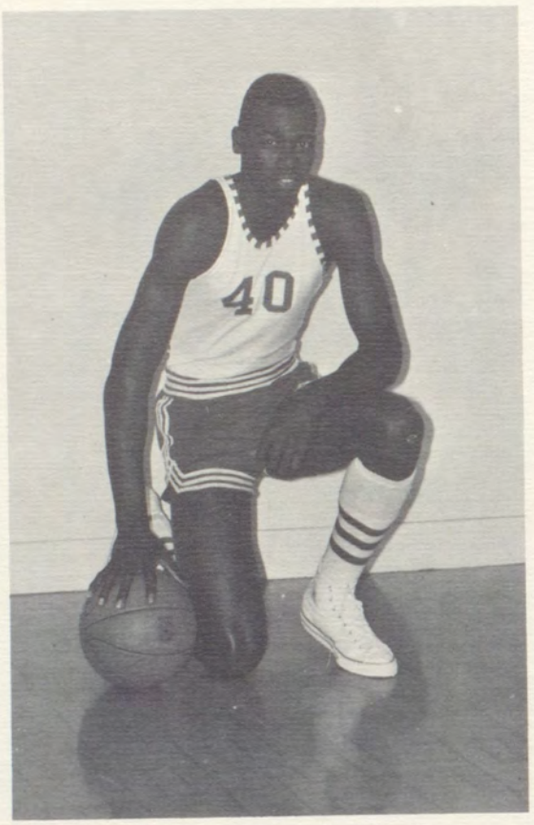

This year's team started with only one returning player. Although the season record was not an impressive one, these girls tried hard and met some of the strongest teams in the state. Girls started practicing early in the year, and there are many prospects for next year's team.

The Conchs were slow in getting started, but once they did nothing could stop them. They drooped team after team as they improved their record of victories. Ron Harris, junior forward, broke many school records, such as most points scored in a game by one player (44), most points scored in a career (833), and most rebounds in a career (320). The Conchs advanced to the 16AA Tournament playoffs and won consecutive victories over Coral Park and Columbus. At the yearbook deadline, the Conchs were advancing to the regional playoffs.

Junior Varsity Active

The Junior Varsity Conchs, like the Varsity, were slow in getting started, but improved with every game, and soon won the respect of all who observed them. A few boys were added to the team, which helped them considerably.

The junior Conchs lost all of their players from last year and this hurt too. The boys were all new and not too experienced, but because of the fine coaching of Coach Cabanas were able to win.

For the first time KWHS had a Freshman basketball team. They had a great season, being undefeated in all their games. The boys were under the excellent coaching of Coach Avant.

Hello? This is Coach Pineda, head coach.

"The circle represents you, squarehead," says Coach Russo.

The "66" season was indeed one to remember. On first sight it looked like the season was to be full of losses. But as the season progressed, so did the Conchs. From a meek, weak shambles they soared to a mighty team. They improved but still suffered defeats. The defeats did not dampen their spirits though. It made them fight harder and they ended with 2 wins, 2 ties, and 5 losses.

Phil Montero intercepts a Beach pass.

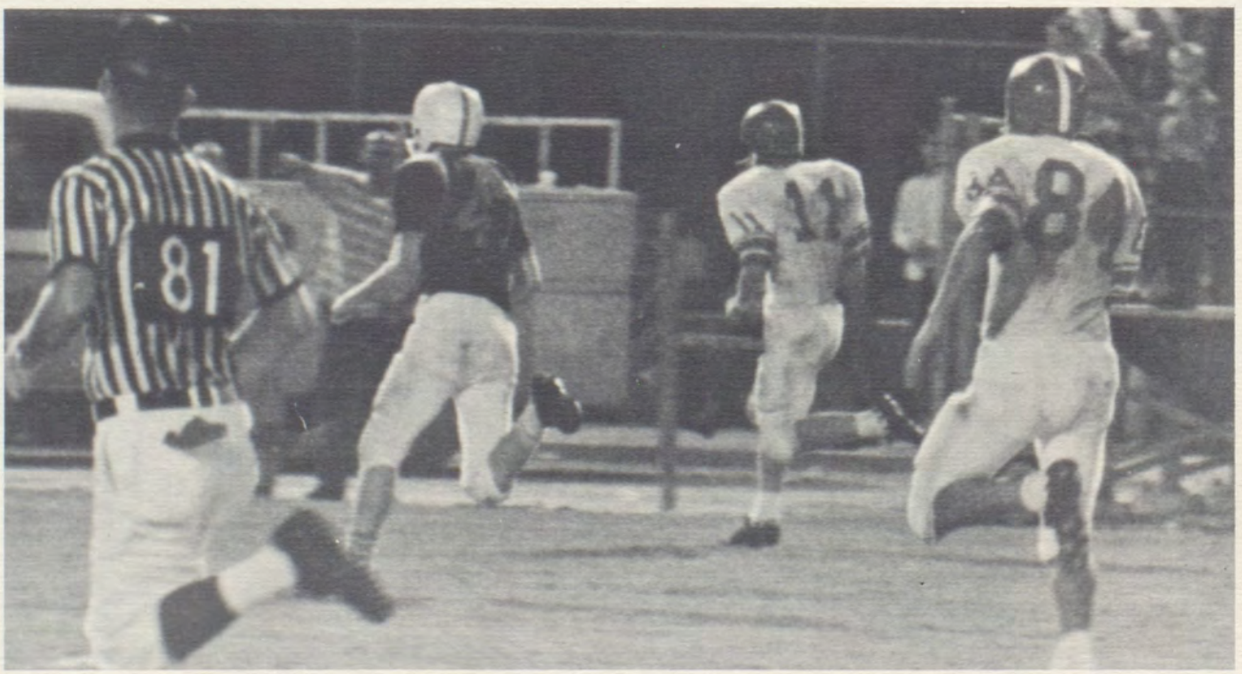

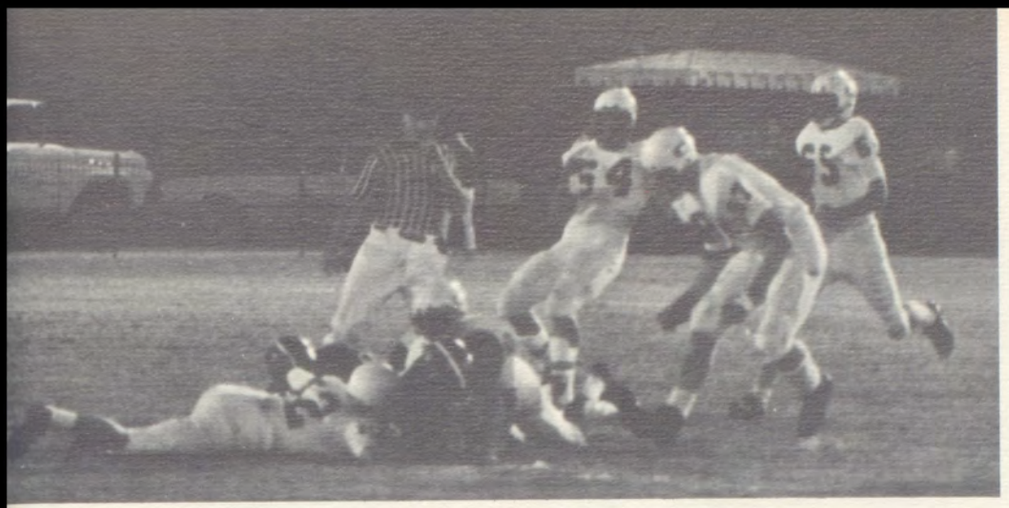

Mike Reeder hustles down a Gables man.

The Conchs didn't look too good from their first game with Beach, but held the score to a 0-0 tie. They knew they would be facing a tough foe when Gobles came down for a visit and were dragged under for a 33-7 defeat. They could not help remembering that in 1963 they beat Gables, giving them their first defeat of the season.

The Conchs suffered another loss when Stranahan downed them 23-12. Mike Reeder was the highlight of the evening after he ran 58 yards for a touchdown.

South Dade tried but they could not catch the Conchs.

The Conchs came back strong after their defeats and surprised South Dade by exploding to a 26-1 victory.

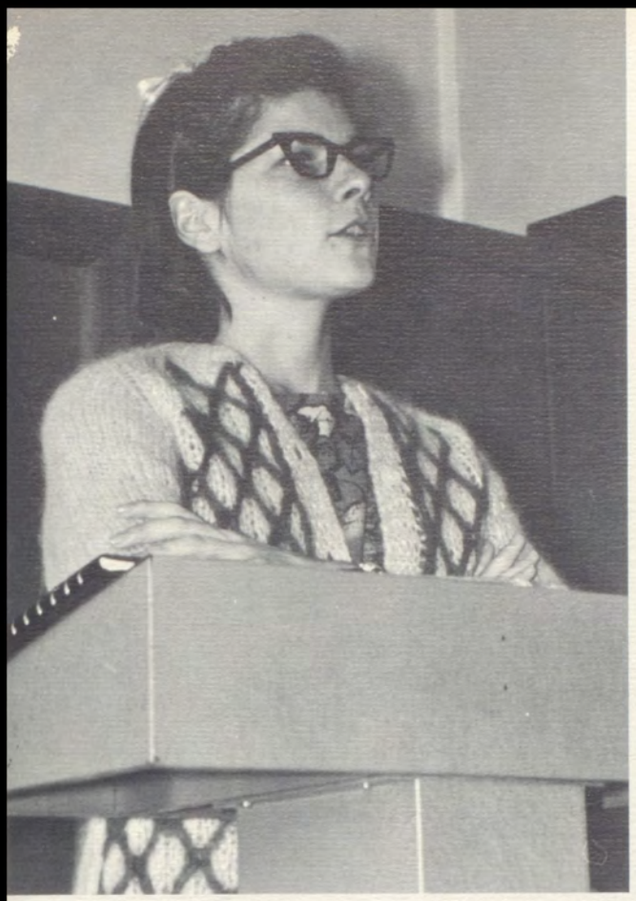

Tough Columbus came down thinking they would add another win to their record, but were tripped up when Key West held them to a 6-6 tie.

There were many pep talks between games.

Our Christmas tree, the most beautiful ever.

The Conchettes also sparkled.

Our "Gift To The Community"

The annual Christmas present to the public was well presented and well received. For the second time, the pageant was in the auditorium. Thanks to the hard work of Student Council members, the decorations turned the auditorium into a cozy seat by the fireplace, expressing the holiday spirit from the glittering star which topped the Christmas tree to the guiding star looking down on the manger.

This year's theme, "Toyland," was presented by foremost authority on toys, Santa Claus. After a dance by his spirited reindeer, portrayed by the majorettes, Santa showed off many of his 1966 model toys, portrayed by the Conchettes. The dancing numbers were backed up by our band and chorus.

The religious half of the pageant, narrated by Lionel Cobo and JoAnne Roche, once again told the age old story, but with ever new meaning. As the birth of Christ was enacted, the band and chorus beautifully interpreted the song of the angels.

. . . And song filled the auditorium.

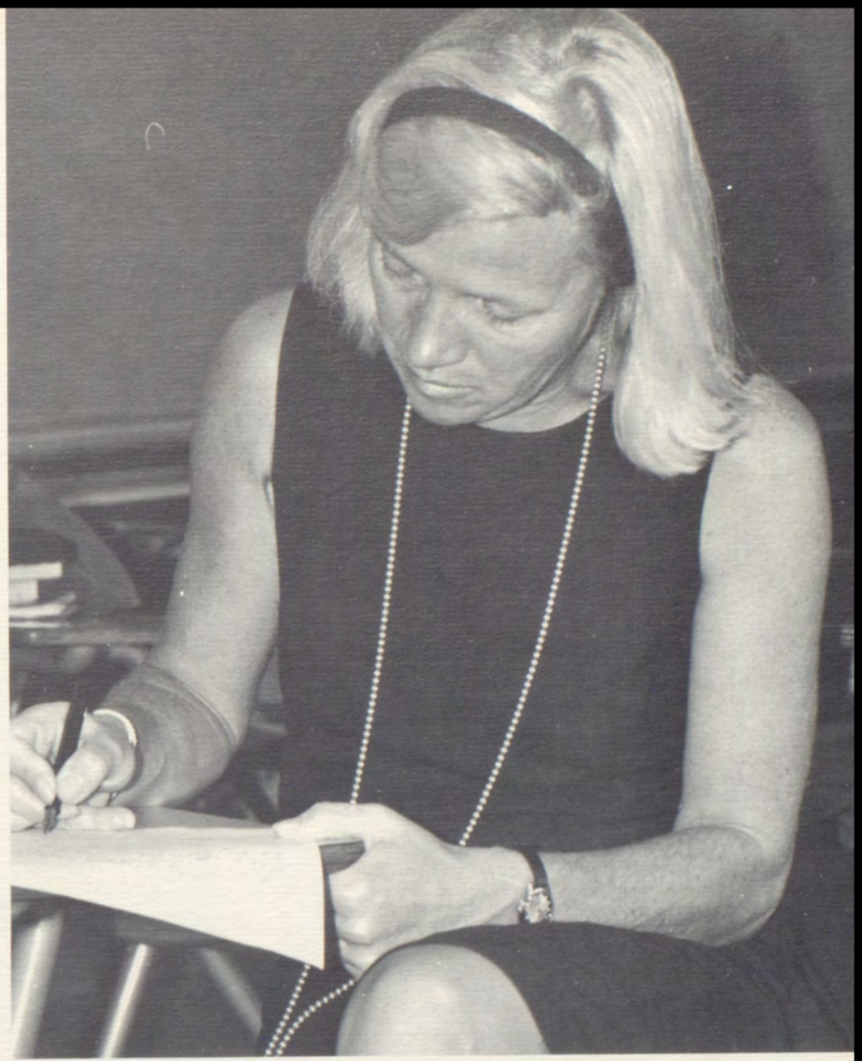

The Peace Corps

The Peace Corps group started out with about 100 members who were in training in Key West from January 9th to February 7th. Their preliminary training was held in California at San Francisco State College, in November of 1966. Although the official language of Liberia is English, there are 26 tribes, and therefore several different dialects are spoken.

The Peace Corps had to learn the most important dialects, which somewhat resemble country-English.

Liberia's climate is similar to that of Key West, and this is one of the reasons that Key West was chosen as training ground.

However, the Peace Corps group was not the only ones who gained new knowledge from their stay in Key West. Many students at Key West High School expressed quite a bit of curiosity about the Peace Corps and approached the individual workers with their questions.
