Milestones are worth celebrating: the winning team, the outstanding student, and the graduating class. This year we have the honor of presenting the 100th commencement ceremony. Our school and the community are hinged on tradition and Conch pride as seen in our classes, organizations, and sports.

Although we have had different locations, Key West High has flourished and we look forward to Celebrating 100 years.

Making a Mark

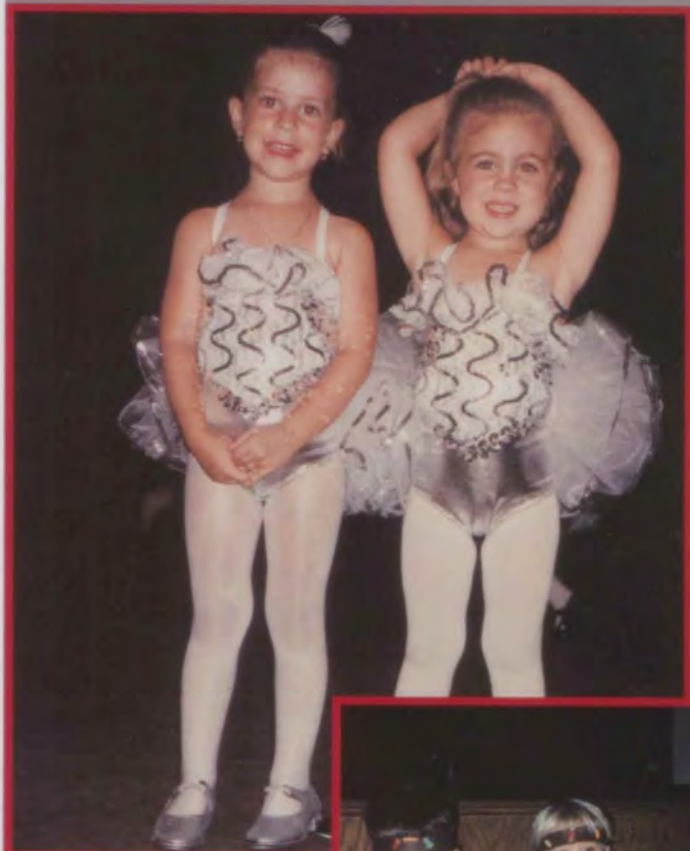

Since the high school was established 100 years ago, it has not been based solely on academics, but what defines us as people.

The school year captures our creativity, school spirit, and the dedication to our classes. It gives us the opportunity to show what we are capable of doing as people, so one day we are able to Make a Mark...

Getting ready for a dance recital, Katelyn Oropeza and Brooke Oropeza strike a pose.

Performing in their school play, Steven Monsalvatge and Anna Gaston star as Indians.

After a Rainbow meeting, Lauren Talbott and Ashley Henriquez eat at their favorite local restaurant.

As the seniors look back through the years, they can see the many changes that have happened to them. They all look different, but most of them remain close friends and have been that way since way back when. "It's crazy to look back and see how much we have all changed and what we have been through. Our class has really grown together since we were little," said Megan Turso.

Way Back When

Childhood friends Kendal Harden, Ashley Henriquez, Brooke Oropeza, Alexis Williams, Lauren Talbott, and Alicia Aguilar smile for a group shot in fifth grade.

Ready for a preschool play, Megan Turso and Amanda Cox dress up as a butterfly and a sun flower.

Sitting on a set of stairs, Patricia Wise puts her arm around her life long friend Dillon McLean.

Getting in the Halloween spirit Fallon Owen and Keith Durden dress up as their favorite Disney characters.

What's in your closet??

Talking with friends in the hall, Reinaldo Suarez sports his sleek button up shirt.

Popping his collar on his Lacoste shirt, Justin Alce hurries to class.

Walking proudly, senior Geoff Patomson wears his camo shorts and a black polo.

With layered shirts, Lisa Kehoe and Bryce McBratnie wait for their teacher to arrive.

Walking back to class, Janessa Giannetto is pretty in pink wearing her favorite Hollister shirt.

Wearing her long chandelier earrings, senior Lauren Talbott studies in class.

What is style? Even though everyone has their own style, style continuously draws from the past and intertwines with each other. Who would have thought that anyone would be wearing the same style's as our parents did when they were our age? "It's weird to see the same styles coming back throughout the years," said senior Lauren Talbott.

Wearing a head band and stripes, McKenzie Anderson is working hard on spirit links.

On their way to class Chloe Barrera and Patrick McCarthy talk about Chloe's fashionable jean jacket on this very hot day.

Weekends are the most anticipated part of each week. Students spend their time mini golfing, bowling, going to dances, and partying. Some weekends don't have much going on, but students manage to find alternative entertainment.

"Weekends are a time to relieve all the stress from the school week and just let go," said Samantha Robbins.

As the weekend began, Kimberly Parker, Claudia Gerbracht, and Brett Estenoz pose like 'Charlie's Angels'.

At dinner, a group of girls say cheese for the camera after enjoying a scrumptious meal.

After a long time away from home, Amanda Alfonso's friends welcome her back with several hugs and kisses.

Seniors Angelica Domenech and Jessica Sims take time to capture a night worth remembering.

Playing mini golf, Colin Smith, Hannah Hjerpe, Chantez Neymoss, George Clark, Michael Eder, Trisha Lowe, Starr Clarke, and Abigail Barrett pose to capture the moment.

Seniors Deanna Mercado, Katelyn Oropeza, Samantha Robbins, Victoria Phillips, and Brooke Oropeza hang out at the bowling alley.

Seniors Martika Roberts, Zjaquela Sala, Eboniece Williamson, and Sharmika Brooks have a great time during school.

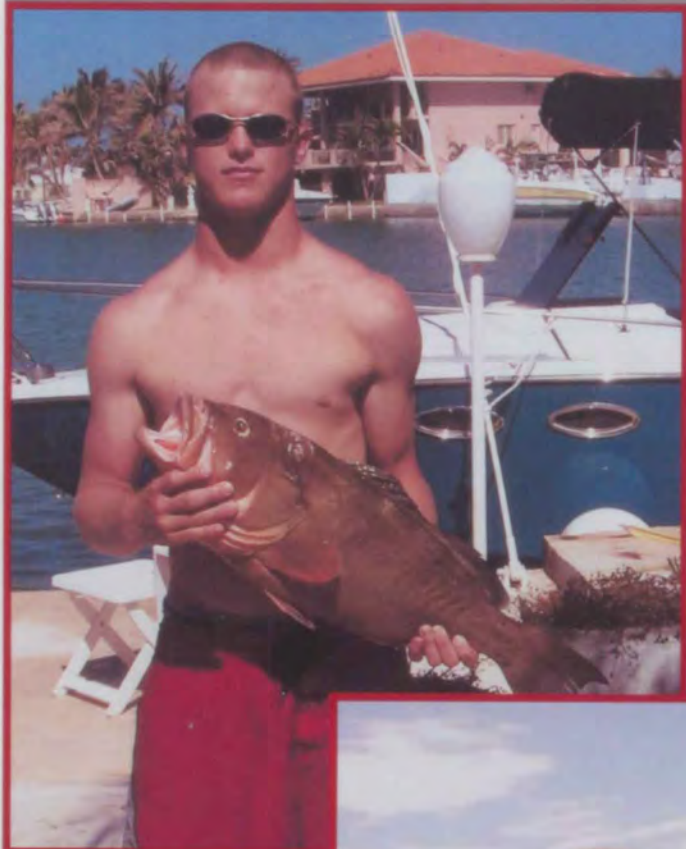

Seniors Kevin McChesney and Benjamin Blacow keep the fun alive even after the dance is over.

Trying to blend in with the background, Sandra Welter and Karen Alpizar act like monkeys.

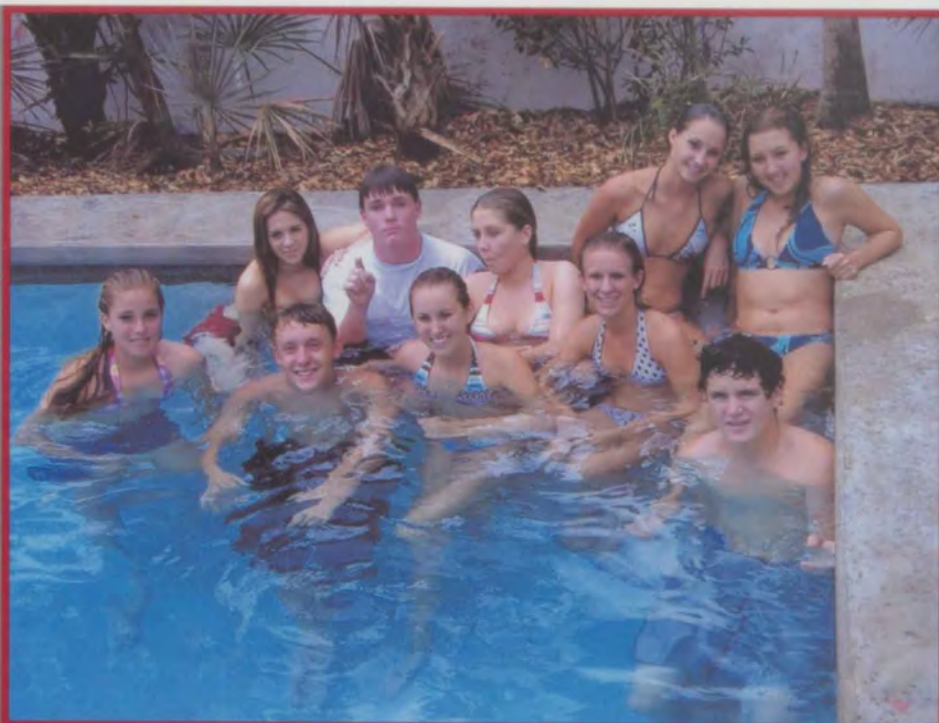

Let the Good Times Roll

Senior John Bader holds up his hog fish he speared on a long adventurous day on the boat.

Having fun in the sun, a group of juniors take a dip in the pool to cool off.

Working hard, Jenna Moeller breaks a sweat trying to reel in a huge fish.

Above: Sisters Alina Mongelli and Nicole Mongelli have a great time snorkeling.

With water as our school theme this year, students show all they've got with what the keys has to offer. From fishing to snorkeling, breaking the waves on the boat, or just playing in the sand, students take advantage of all the fun in the sun. "Without all the water activities, Key West just wouldn't be fun," said Zachary Harden. "It helps to make us who we are."

After spending the day at the beach, Claudia Gerbracht, Kimberly Parker, and Andrea Romanoff take time from their tanning to pose for a picture.

Breaking Waves

Seniors Monika Moreno, Morgan Meyer, and Ashley Henriquez are having a great time tubing on the boat.

After a successful day fishing, Christopher Trosset holds up his large, well deserved fish.

Spirit the way we like it !!

The marching band entertains students and staff at the pep rally before the first Varsity football game.

The football players and the cheerleaders join together for the Alma Mater.

The senior class yells loudly as their class is announced at the pep rally.

The Conchettes shake their pom poms after dancing for the crowd.

Cheerleaders shout out their school colors at the pep rally before school.

Ms. Bosco and Mrs. McPherson watch the cheerleaders and the band root their team on.

The junior class shows their school spirit at the morning pep rally.

Sophomore cheerleaders, Amanda Talbott and Callie Ford cheer for their class and the school.

The Varsity football players watch as the student body cheers them on.

Pep rallies are a lasting tradition to enhance our school spirit and pride and to get ready for the games and events ahead. This year our school has brought back morning pep rallies to boost the moral and Conch spirit even more. "The purpose of pep rallies is to boost the spirit of the student body and bring more attention to our football team playing home games." said Mindy Vinson.

It's tradition at Key West High School to have spirit week. Starting off the week on Tuesday is toga day, then twin day, pajama day and ending the week with color day. Spirit week gives the students a chance to show their creativity and get their spirit up for the homecoming game. "Spirit week is one of my favorite weeks of school because everyone gets involved and shows tremendous school spirit," said senior Brett Estenoz.

Seniors Alicia Manley and Alina Mongelli stop to compliment each other on their creative togas.

All the seniors gather around for a group picture in front of the conch on Toga Day.

After taking a group picture for toga day, Fallon Owen smiles at finally becoming a senior.

Walking across the pavillon, Kiernan Blasberg and Cody Thurber discuss what they are going to be wearing on twin day.

Twins Ashley and Erica Stephenson exchange books between classes.

As if even eating their favorite food cookies wasn't enough, Samantha Robbins and Miroslava Palanska decided to play the role.

Sophomore Jacqueline Garcia and senior Karolina Nowak say "Howdy" to each other between classes.

Is that a Doublemint twin? Janna Williamson and Angela Perez dress up as the Doublemint twins for twin day.

A Week...

Stopping for a chat in their comfortable pajamas are sophomore Katherine Albury and senior Justin Alce.

Comparing pajamas are Ashley Stephenson, Johnathon Daza, and Alexia Degraffenried.

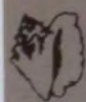

Everyone knows how to get into spirit week; including our very own Mrs. Webster.

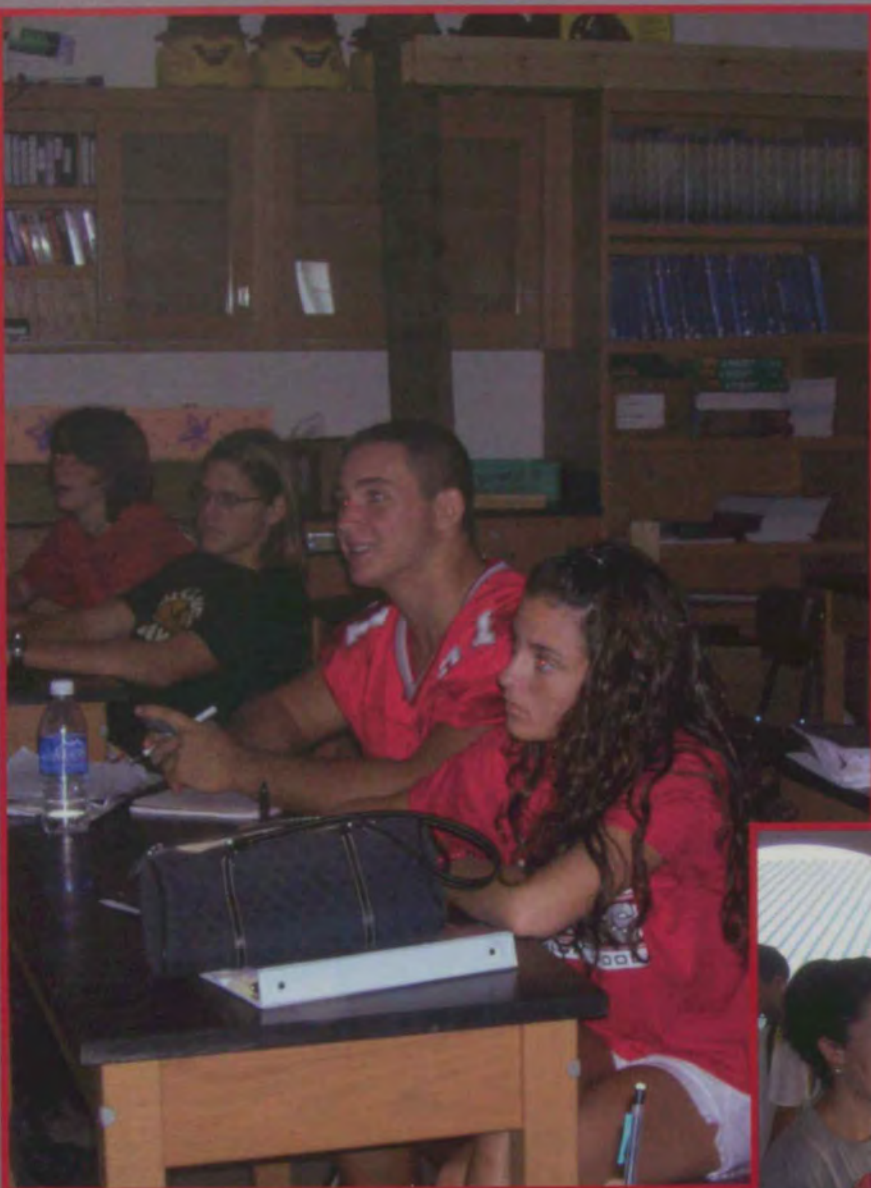

Standing in line for lunch, Calle Ford, Andres Garcia, and Briana Marinitti catch up on some gossip.

Talking at lunch is Kayla Johnson and Esperanza O'Dell.

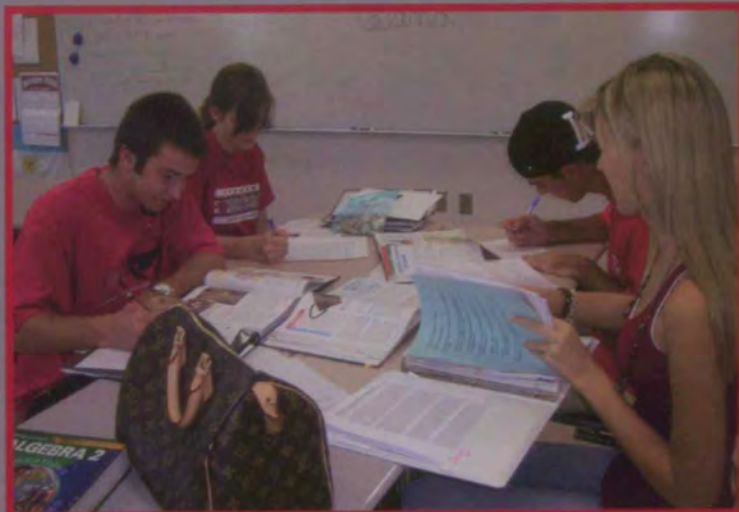

to Remember

Showing their pride on color day are Devin Genchl and Chloe Barrera.

Doing their work in a sea of red are Laura Price, Phillip Neuman, and Michael Ware.

Walking to the pep rally on color day, Zulayka Sanchez and Ariel Esquinaldo make sure they are ready to yell for their class.

Stopping to talk between classes, Chelsea Niles and Alexandra Hagel see who has more class spirit.

Steaming Seniors

After their float opened up, the seniors get ready to sing the Alma Mater.

Robert Hogan precisely cuts out letters for the float's title.

Senior Morgan Meyer adds a nice touch of glitter to give a sparkle to the float.

Hurrying to finish in time, Benjamin Blacow puts on the last minute touches.

Trying to figure out how to place the letters, Robert Hogan, Kevin McChesney, Mike Canizares, and Reinaldo Suarez brainstorm ideas.

Senior Edward Cutie staples blue strings to the wheel to give the float a water effect.

Practice makes perfect! Kristin Baumgarten and Hunter Potalivo act out their scene for their skit.

This year the senior class decided to go way back and act out Steam Boat Willie. The skit starred the infamous Mickey and Minnie Mouse.

Throughout the performance Mickey and Minnie were on the search for Minnie's Conch Pride. "We did what we set out to do, but we had technical problems which was unfortunate," said senior class president Kevin McChesney. Even though the seniors placed fourth, they did it with great spirit and had lots of fun.

Assisting Reinaldo Suarez, Alicia Aguilar helps hold the wood down for cutting.

A few seniors wait anxiously on Flagler for the parade to begin.

Getting a late start this year, the juniors came together to make a great float. The theme for this year's float was cartoons. The junior class decided to do something a little newer and that would catch the eye of the younger audience. They came up with they Nickelodeon hit cartoon "The Fairly Odd Parents". The class of 2008 put a lot of time into their float. They worked on the float early in the mornings going into the late hours of the night. On the night of the parade, this group of talented teens showed off their master piece which included eye-catching colors and replicas of cartoon faces cut out and made into masks. All of their hard work paid off which landed them a second place trophy for their efforts on their float.

Imitating our own principal, Mr. Welsh, Kristen Babich takes her part in the skit very seriously. The resemblance was uncanny.

Working together, Pablo Pradas-Bergnes, Nicole Mongelli, Laura Kaczowski, Brandon Martin, and Courtney Walker move the boards for the backdrop onto the float.

Juniors Celina Goodreau, Britney Bethel, and Briana Bosco paint Fairy World on the backdrop to their float. "It was like color-by-number! we had fun painting it, we got to make our own little fairy world" says member Briana Bosco.

A little to the left! Moving the lockers into place, Cheyne Barroso, Andre Gallardo, Robert Higgs, and William Freeman lift the pieces to the corner of the float.

Acting out the skit before the parade, Stephanie Leone, Jeremy Boros, Jonathan Daza, and Jessica Carey make sure they have their parts down.

Ready, lift!! Andrea Wells and Bryce McBratnie carefully maneuver the base of the fountain on to the flatbed. The fountain was a clever idea, which had running water the night of the parade.

Always with that jig saw!! Kaylah Rivas uses the jig saw to cut out the masks of the cartoon characters. The masks were a big hit with the audience. They were identical to the characters' faces.

Concentrating hard, Derrick Cassel cuts out the "Fairly Odd Parents" sign out of plywood. The sign later filled up the sky on the float with its bright colors.

5, 6, 7, 8! The day before the parade, the dancers practiced their routine in front of the fire station. The dance was choreographed by Kaitlin Krause and Dawn Robbins. The Dance was cute and original, and the dancers loved it.

Fairly Odd Juniors

While performing the skit, Brianna Masiello swims through the front of the float.

Before the beginning of the skit, Rafe Halpern, Mckenzie Anderson, and Jesse Hammers get ready for a spectacular performance.

Working hard on the coral is Michael Palka.

The class of 2009 took home the first place title at the Homecoming Parade. The sophomores performed a skit involving the popular cartoon Popeye. In the skit Popeye loses Olive Oil and the only thing that will help him get her back is his conch pride. The sophomores put in a lot of time and effort which all paid off in the end when their hard work was rewarded. "The best feeling in the world was when they announced that we got first place and we were able prove that we were winners," said sophomore President Alexia Degraffenreid.

At the end of the performance Jesse Hammers and McKenzie Anderson sing the fight song.

Working hard on posters for the parade is Katherine Albury.

Sailing to the Top

At the end of the skit, Popeye, Jesse Hammers, gets his girl Olive Oyl, McKenzie Anderson.

Painting the clouds for the float are Shuana Reynolds, Kaya Lydamore, and Alexa Walterson.

With artistic talent, Hope Anderson and Shea Reager create the colorful backdrop.

Taking their time, Jamison Little, Alexia Degraffenreid, and Kayla Reams make sure that the coral looks realistic.

Who Lives in a Pineapple Under the Sea?

Adding a sparkling touch, Lynsey Rodriguez, Aubrey Rodriguez, and Lindsey Vinson spread glitter over the flowers for their homecoming float.

Squidward is painted by Samantha Grizzle, Sandito Santiago, and Janessa Gianetto. What a face!

Spray painting a stove for the float, Jessica Laino doesn't slow down on a rainy day.

With a week to spare, Natalie Dudley fills in the blanks on the plywood cutout of Spongebob.

A job well done! The finished float is looking good, and the faces in the crowd are smiling wide.

After creating a stove for the float, Corinne Haskins and Jordan Roberts add the finishing touches.

For their skit in the parade, Carson Neymoss and TJ Bethel paint lines on this "football field."

The freshman boys and Mr. Rodriguez cut plywood for a frame for the float's pineapple.

Unloading the supplies, Cale Hartle and Zachary Harden carry plywood over their heads.

Some paint, plywood, and a bit of glitter... The Freshmen Executive Board mixed these together with some hard work and weekend afternoons to create their Spongebob Squarepants homecoming float. After many trips to Home Depot, the freshmen had assembled an awesome float for the parade. Corinne Haskins says, "It took about two weeks to build the back wall and paint the whole float."

Homecoming court member Sharmika Brooks, with escort Justin Alce.

A Crowning Glory

Homecoming Queen Lea Moeller, with escort Robert Maconi.

Getting ready for the big night, senior Andrew Carmona puts a corsage on his date Meagan Gomez.

Anxiously waiting to go in the dance, Pedro Guadarrama and his date move through the line to get their tickets.

This year the homecoming dance took place in the Key West High School gym. It was held October 14th, from eight to eleven in the evening and the theme was "Cartoons". It was decorated with beautiful drapes, movie film strips and many cut out cartoon characters. Everyone came dressed to impress with their dates and friends. Having a good time was all that was in mind. The homecoming dance, 2006, was one to live up to.

Getting Ready for the night ahead of her, Amanda Malott gets her hair done at Isle Style.

Taking a second, Callie Ford stops to seize the moment.

Living It Up

Dancing it up! Kristen Babich and Natasha Blanco take advantage of the music.

Juniors Zulayka Sanchez and good friend Jonathon Daza have fun dancing to the beat.

Having a good laugh, Rolando Arteaga, Raiko Alfonso, and Radier Gonzalez take a brake to discuss their plans for the evening.

A group of excited students stand around waiting for the music to begin.

The Classes Will Clash

Seniors Angela Perez, Amanda Stanley, Frank Abreu, and Andres Ceberio wait for directions for the eating event.

During the chugging contest, Michael Hernandez drinks guava juice as fast as possible.

Kristin Baumgarten chugs a bottle of Fanta in order to beat the underclassmen in the officer's event.

After winning the whipcream in face contest, the seniors celebrate loud and proud.

Eating their bannana split, Jessica Kerry eats a bannana while Jimmy Hirschbeck tries to finish the pint of icecream.

Junior Courteny Walker tries to balance an egg on a plastic spoon while walking across the field.

Trying to get her shoes on, Nicole Mongelli rushes to keep the juniors ahead in this event.

Danielle Malby is looking for some pay back for being pied in the face as she positions herself to pie Richard Cormack.

Class of the Clashes is a way for all classes to get together and have fun while showing spirit. There are many different events that the students can participate in such as eating contests, chugging contests, pieing in the face, and many more. The competition is held at the field, and the students constantly show their class spirit through out the whole event. This year Interact sponsored Clash of the Classes. "It was a great year with lots of spirit and competition. I was surprised how well it went; the events turned out better than expected," says Interact President Brooke Oropeza. This year the seniors came out on top and won first place. The juniors placed second followed by sophomores and the freshmen last.

Trying to finish the fudge, Rafe Halpern moves along in the eating contest.

Trying to go as fast as she can, Natacha Palay pies Blake Oropeza in the face.

Sophomore Jamie Little chugs down guava juice in the chugging contest.

Sophomore Brandon Bravo looks for his shoes to untie so he can get ahead of the other classes.

Sophomores wait patiently for the pie event to start.

In the chugging contest Lindsey Vinson drinks grapefruit juice.

Freshmen Sandito Santiago and Gaberiella Dail take on the officer event by trying to drink the whole two liter of Fanta.

After putting on her shoes, Jordan Roberts dashes to get back to the finish line.

In the eating contest the Freshmen start to devour their banana splits.

Stepping up the Game

Sophomore Collin Smith, host at Outback, prepares to seat the customers.

Denise Gonzales, a Gerald Adams employee, ties a shoe for a young boy in the Pre-K class.

Want your hands pampered? Thuy Van paints nails at her mother's shop.

Although many students concentrate on their academics, some still manage to have an after school job. "I am not going to lie, having a job, making sure your grades are good, and managing friends is a lot of work," said Amanda Malott. School jobs teach many students responsibility and hard work, which in the long run will prepare them for their future.

Looking at the screen at McDonalds, Dan Thorndike helps prepare the order for the next customer.

Making the store presentable, Angela Perez folds shirts at Champs.

Money Makers!!

While assisting customers, junior Yurisan Caridad, works at the cash register at Winn Dixie.

Looking over the menu, Sam Tong helps a customer make a decision on what to eat at Tong's Garden.

Ice cream any one? Arquedia Bousquet serves ice cream at Dairy Queen after school.

Getting ready for her future career in accounting, Desiree Pelletier inputs receipts for an office.

What the...

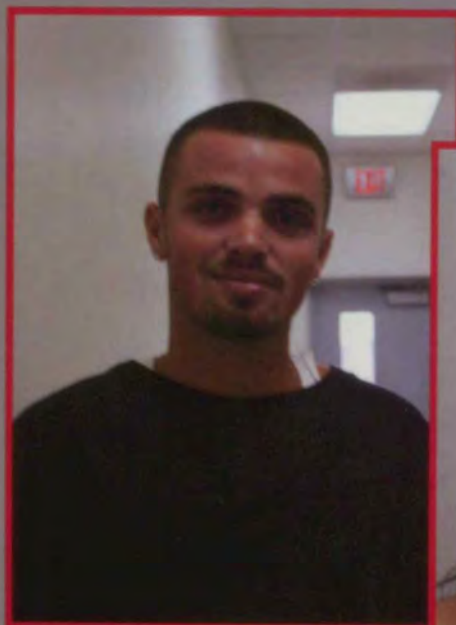

What was your best year in high school?

"My freshman year because I made many new friends, and I adjusted very well," Arlette Rodriguez.

"My senior year because we party hard!!!" Frank Abreu.

High school is mostly fun with lots of excitement, but the most important piece of school is academics. Our small community has allowed us to offer many different subjects for students to choose from. There is everything from pottery, choir, photography, to all of the core classes. To top it off, we have great teachers that give us our education. They will prepare us for the next level and help us

History is a good way to learn about things that have happened before our time. Some people have the ability to spot items from another era quickly, while others do not recognize them right away. Not only does history look fun, but teachers make it even more fun. It's important for young adults to learn about the history of the world around them.

For some students, English class may be a little tricky. Our language today is not exactly the same as it was years ago. We have some unusual meanings for certain words, which can be a little confusing for some. For example, bad could mean bad, or bad could mean good. Whatever the case, proper English and its usage is essential in every day interactions.

Helping by the Hundreds

Organizations are a big part of our high school. Students do everything from performing in concerts or at football games, to planting trees and building floats. They really put their time and their hearts into everything they do. The community is a constant support of our various organizations. They appreciate all that we do and always help us put our best foot forward. We are always

Facing A Challenge

Contemplating answers, Dillon McLean challenges Garret Ullom and Victoria Phillips.

Working hard to win the points, Garret Ullom and Victoria Phillips race to find an answer.

Getting into their game, Noah Kent, Deanna Mercado, and Dillon McLean go over some difficult questions.

Taking her time on a tough question, Carolina Mistretta works hard to figure the problem out.

Academic Challenge is a group of intellectual students who come together to compete against other students on a variety of academic subjects. The problems they work on deal with a variety of subjects. Any question, ranging from History to Calculus, Academic Challenge is ready to take it on. They love what they do and they work hard at achieving the very best.

The J.V. cheerleaders hit liberties at their halftime performance.

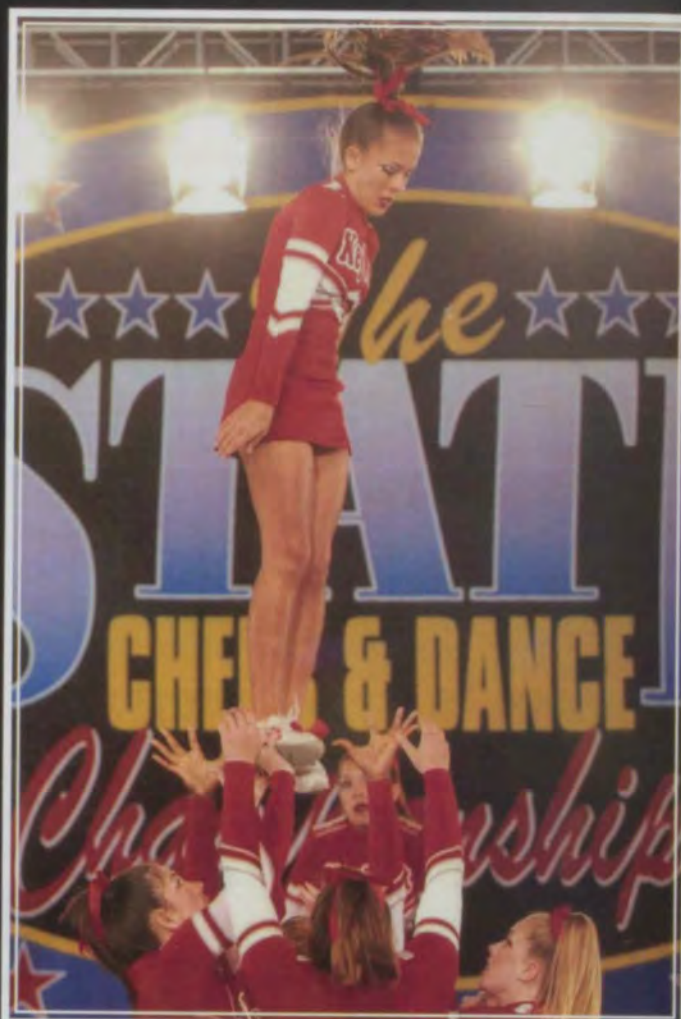

The J.V. cheerleaders are definitely something to look out for. With a lot of talent and spirit they made a fun filled year with many memories that will not be forgotten. "The J.V. cheerleaders have really stepped it up this year and we can't wait until next year," said Captain Amanda Talbott.

These girls eat, breathe, and sleep competitive cheerleading. They spend most of their time together practicing. With competitions in Miami, Jacksonville, Tampa, and Daytona this year, the girls are excited and want to do well. Over the years, the team has made a special bond with each other and every year they welcome new members. They don't just go to competitions to win, they want to have a good time too. "I don't care if we win or not, as long as we have a good time together, that's all that really matters to me," says returning cheerleader Briana Bosco. They have a lot of skill, determination, and heart. They go through pain, struggle, and drama, but they always come out of things together, as a team.

The J.V Lady Conchs consist of a group of hard-working ladies working to improve their skills to prepare for varsity softball. The team practices four to five nights a week. The team consists of mostly freshmen and their plan is to win by never giving up, even when things get tough.

Century Club

It is time for graduation and everything is about to change, but before we move on it is time to remember what we have done over the past four years. It's not just the clubs we have been involved in or the spirit we have shown, we are more than that.. We make the grades, we set the standards, and we all display great teamwork. The hundredth graduating class can't be better described, that is why we will be remembered as the Century Club...

Tyler

Tyler,

Eighteen years ago on November 21, we celebrated your birthday, we were so thankful, GOD had blessed us. You were loveable, happy, and peaceful.

As the years went by you would surprise us on how smart and independent you had become.

On February 18, 2006 we praised and thanked GOD for he had blessed us again. That night he and his angels went along for the ride.

So always remember to keep GOD in your heart, stay true to yourself, you can accomplish whatever you put your mind to.

Son, we are very proud of you. Live, laugh, love and be happy.

With all our love always,

GO CONCHS!!!

Troy and Lindsey
Keep up the great work!

Know you are loved

Remember, you can always come home

Help one another

Love one another

Stay in touch with each other

Always have hope

Take time to be quiet and peaceful

It can be done

Allow your disruptions to deepen your concentration

Strive to be better

Wherever you go, there you are

Familiarity breeds contempt

When you use something you have learned in school, smile and think of your teacher

Keep a secret stash of cash

Call your mother

Read good books

Choose you battles carefully

GOOD LUCK!!! HAVE FUN! ENJOY LIFE!

A hundred years have come and gone, leaving us with many unforgettable moments. This year we will remember how the spirit rose and how the competition intensified. Grades were at their best, while sports continued to set the standards. This year has awakened the true meaning of Conch Pride.

With the end of an era nearing, we wait to see what lies ahead. With the standards already set and new ones to be made, the next era will also be worth celebrating 100 Years...

As the years have passed and people have moved on, the spirit of Key West High School has never wavered. It still has that Conch spirit that you can feel walking through the halls and the traditions that keep it alive.

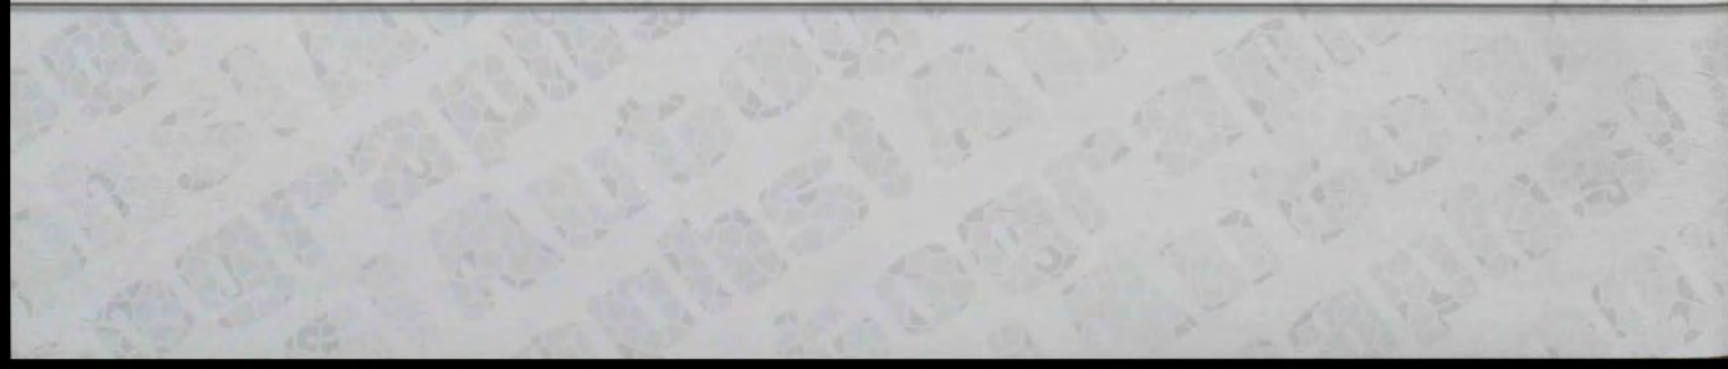

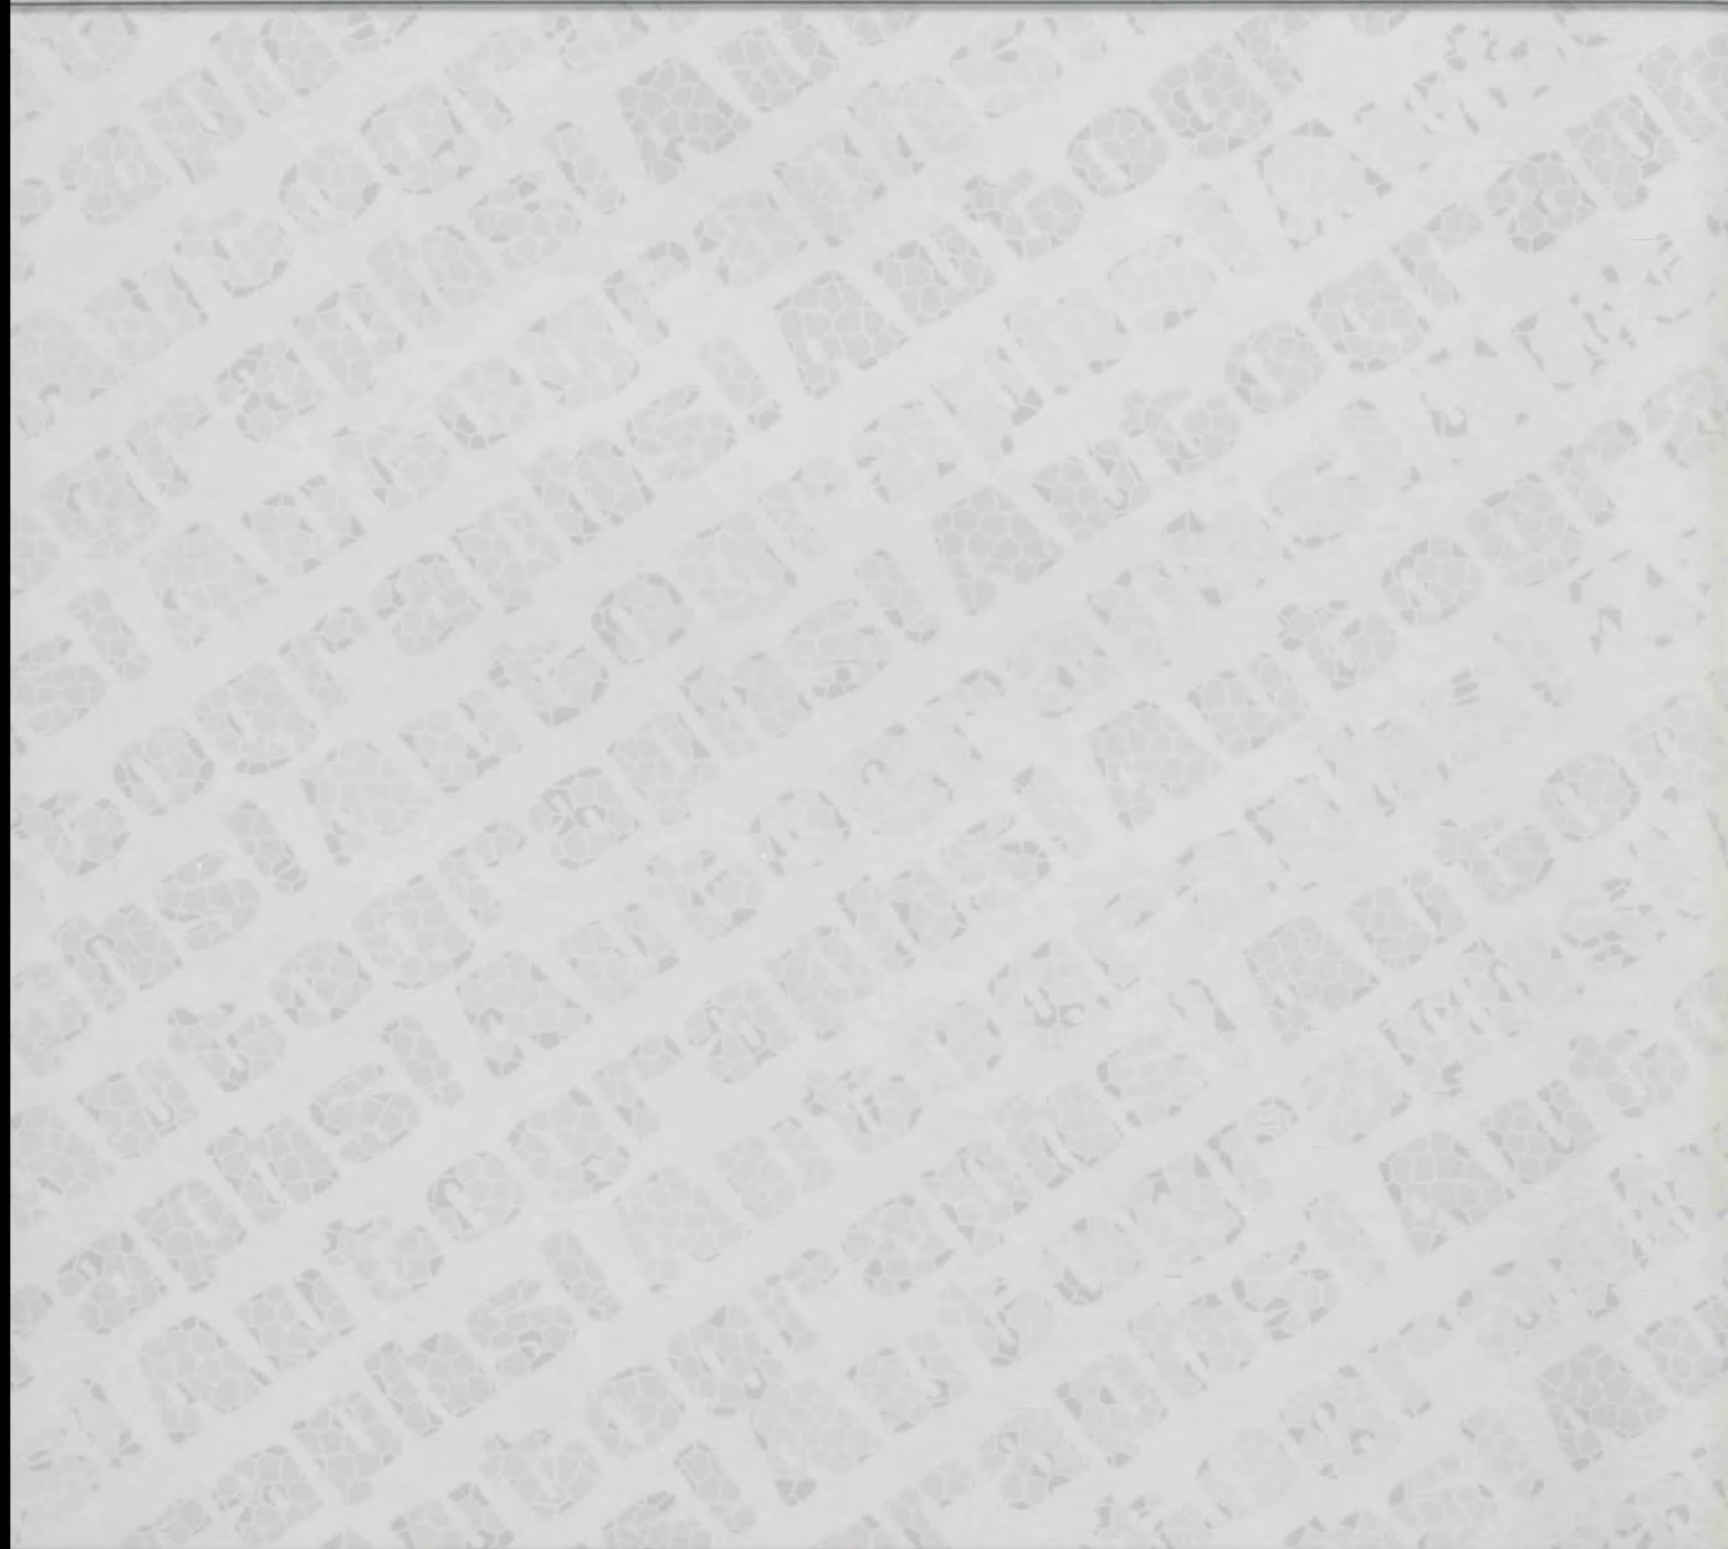

This year more than ever, the spirit was alive as the time has come for our 100th class to graduate. They have excelled in sports, made the grades, formed lasting friendships, and have truly surprised everyone with their Conch pride.

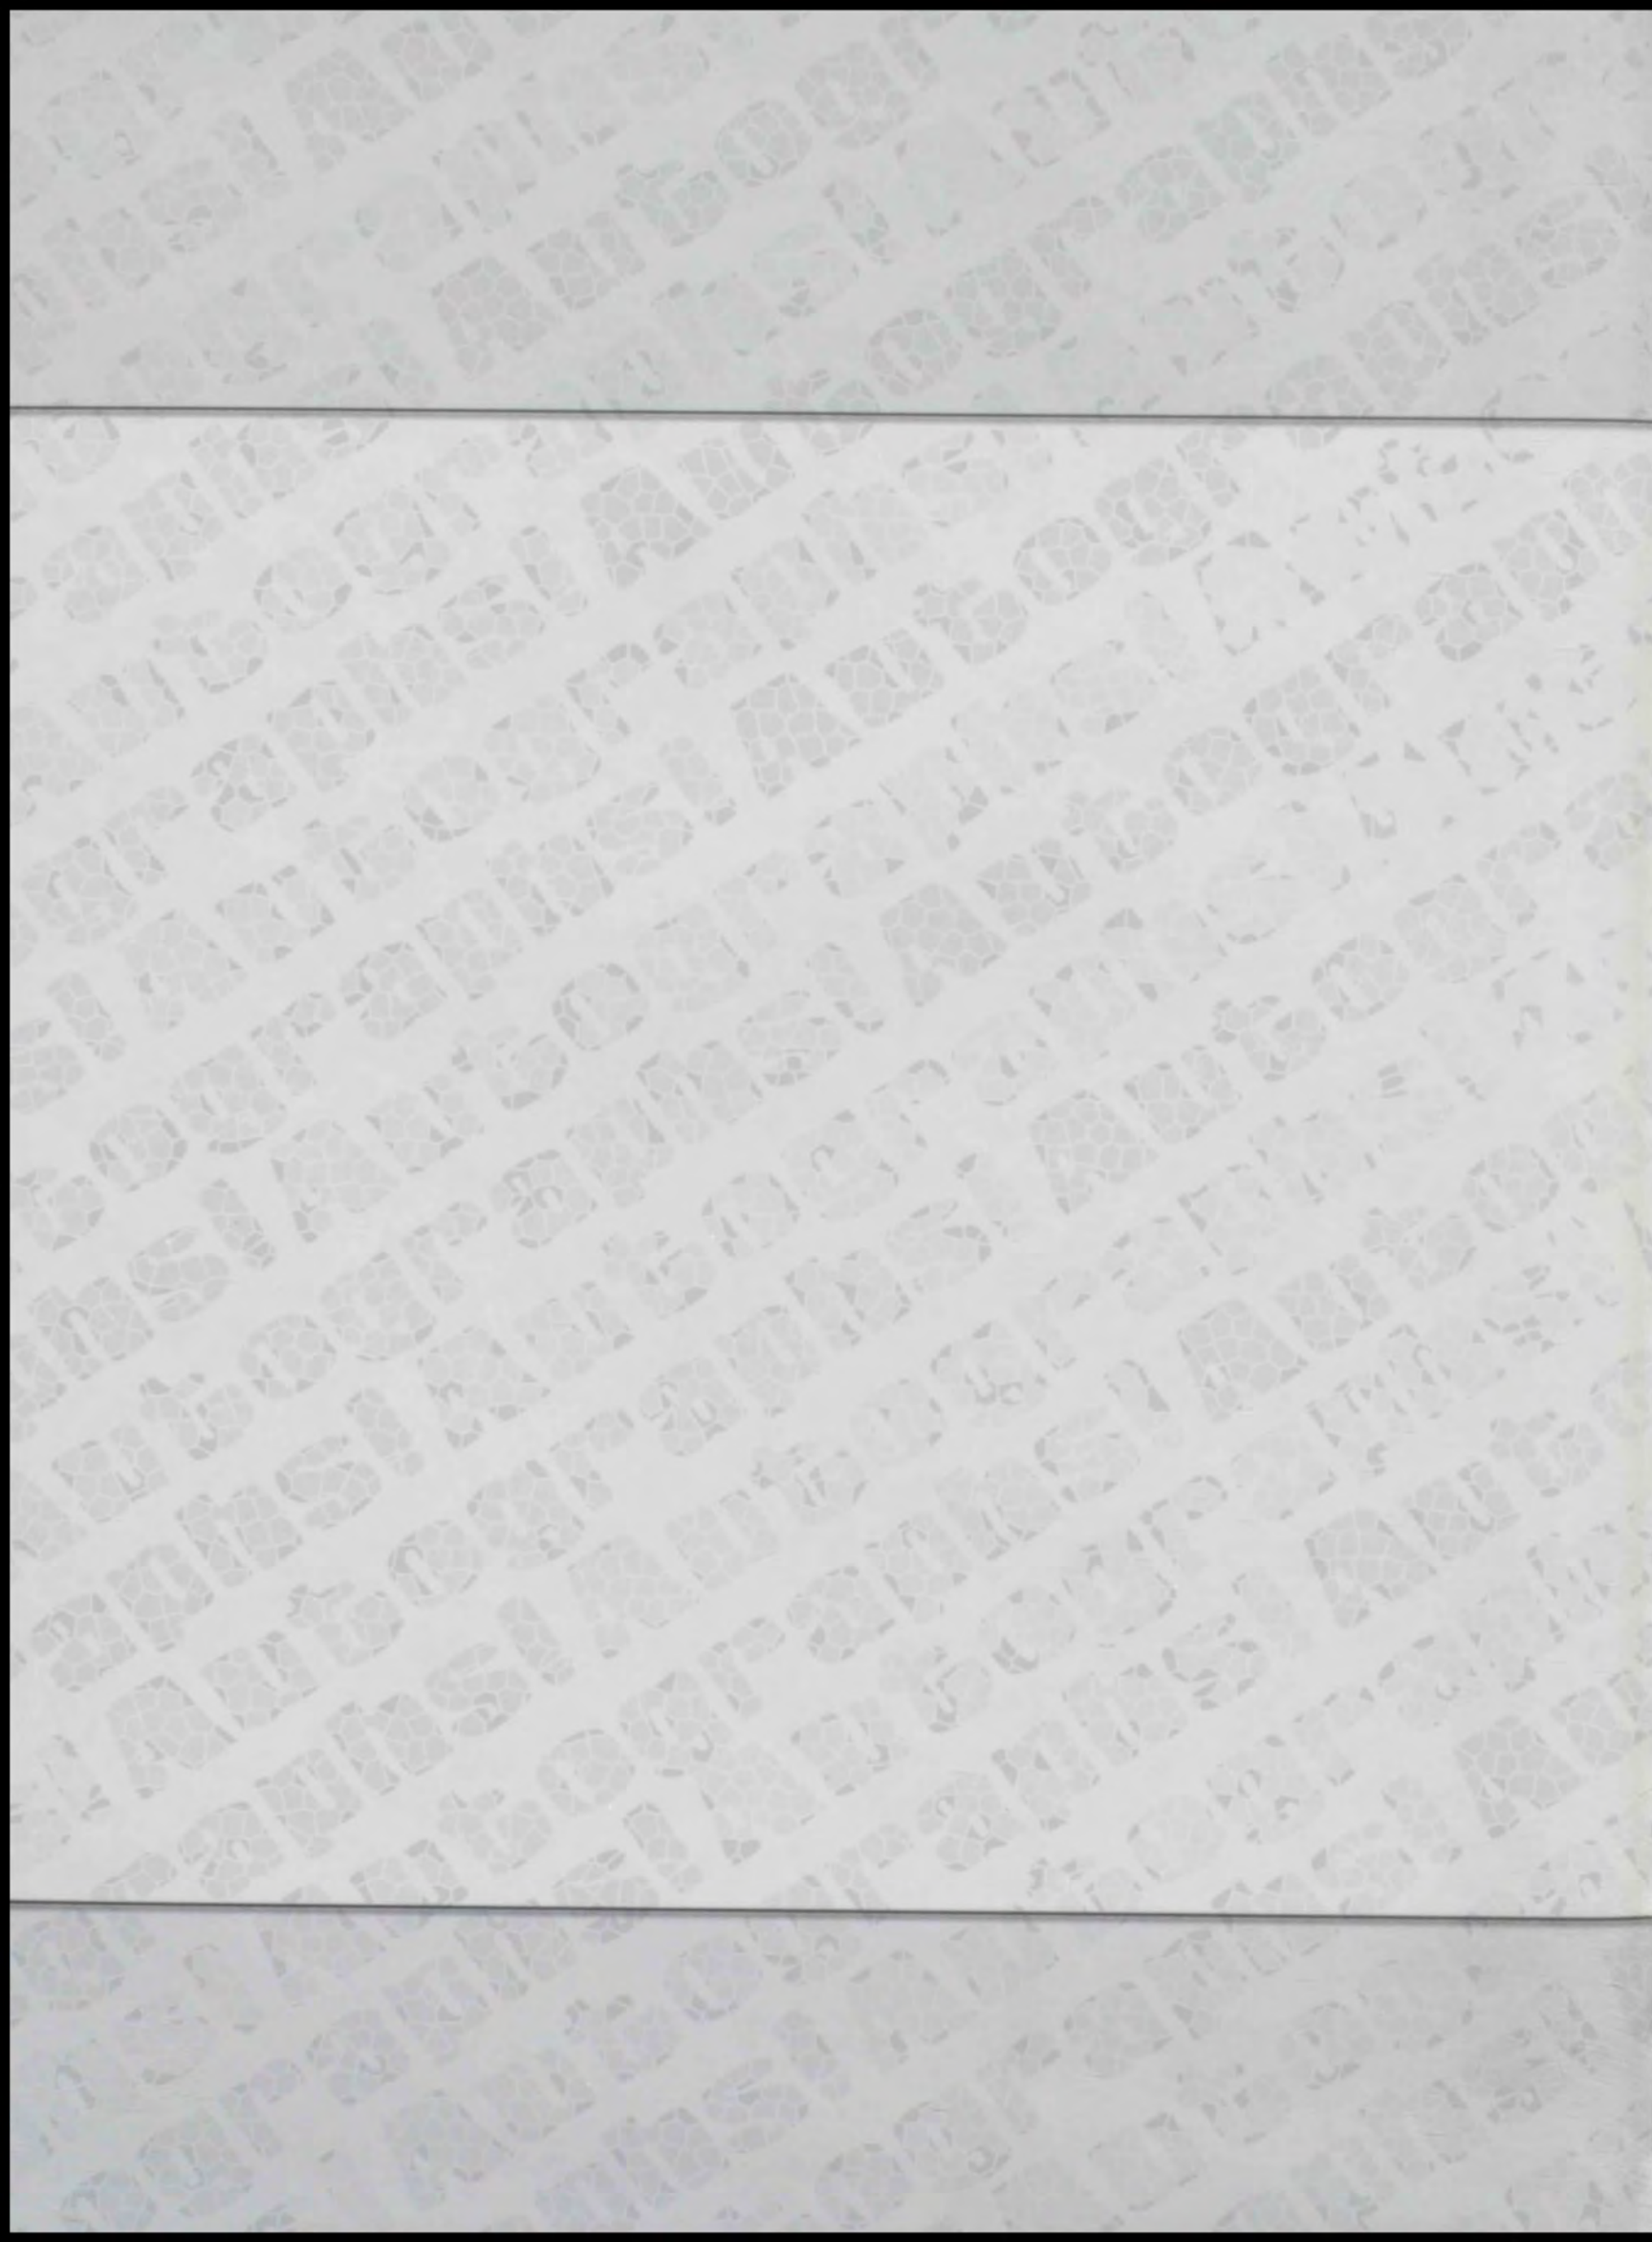

We want to recognize the class of 2007 as one that brought spirit back to our high school. They have set the standards for the next 100 years to come.

100 Years, Conch 2007 was produced by the KWHS Yearbook Staff at 2100 Flagler Avenue, Key West, Florida. Ms. Castaldo, adviser, headed production. The book is 9x12 with a press run of 800 copies and 384 pages of 100 lb. matte paper. The Conch 2007 was published by Taylor Publishing Company of Dallas, Texas, represented by Matt Thornberry and Ken Thornberry. The cover was designed by Kendal Harden and Brooke Oropeza using 160-pt binder's board an outlined embossed photo, silver foil, and a red silk screen background. The Conch design on the folio was used with the permission of Goal Line Embroidery of Key West, Florida. The end sheets are white with Silver 81 and combination color number 9247 red silkscreen, and Athena type.
