"Dreams are like the paints of a great artist. Your dreams are your paints, the world is your canvas. Believing, is the brush that converts your dreams into a masterpiece of reality." -Anonymous.

One might agree that Key West High School is that canvas and each student is that artist. Each day that passes, the students and faculty add color, technique, style and dimension to this masterpiece called high school. With many academic opportunities, a student can achieve his or her future goals while studying hard and making the academic landscape fun.

The campus is filled with many colorful organizations that attract students of all walks of life. The organizations help mold students into leaders, develop social skills and give back to the community. Our athletic teams help students build endurance, reach ultimate physical fitness levels and teach true sportsmanship. The school year presented many memorable moments that we will cherish beyond our days at Key West High. The CONCH Yearbook Staff presents to you our Conch Canvas.

STUDENT LIFE

Life as a Key West High student is thrilling and at times stressful. Throughout the year, students attend various pep rallies, sporting events and also experience Spirit Week. As a small community, there are times when school is more than just learning, but also about having unforgettable times with peers. Our school is loyal in keeping traditions alive as well as bringing new ideas to the table. Although some experiences may not be defined as fun, for example, student life during mid-term exam week, school can be very serious and if one procrastinates, it can become overwhelming. Throughout high school, many experience break-ups, form life-long friendships and develop one's character. High school is the time to make memories and experience new adventures before moving on to adulthood. Whether it's trying a new sport, new club, or just having a great time during Spirit Week, student life is a definite memory maker.

Memorable Moments

Throughout the school year the yearbook staff catches many memorable moments. Whether we laugh at those moments or become sad to see that they are over, they provide a great feeling when reminiscing. This page is devoted to the sacred moments that we will cherish forever. As we take a look at the events that took place during the 2012-2013 school year, let's relish in those times when we were happy, let's relish in those moments by looking back at pep rally pictures or pictures of us sharing a laugh with classmates. No matter who we are, each of us can find something memorable about our high school experience. That memory could be receiving an award for academic excellence or dancing to the band's songs during a pep rally. After all, we only experience high school once, and if it is done right, one time provides enough memories to last a lifetime. When you look at the pictures think back to your favorite memories of high school because that was a spirited, youthful, and fun time.

A New Year

First Day of School

The first day of school can be exciting, sad or even nerve wracking for some students. For seniors, it is the last first day of high school which can be bittersweet. Freshmen are often scared and tend to not know what to expect on the first day of school. No matter the circumstances, the first day is always something to celebrate because as the seniors know, high school flies by, and before one knows it, their senior year has arrived. There are many traditions that seniors participate in. The senior entrance is a tradition that becomes more and more epic as the years pass by. This year, the senior class formed a group under the pavilion and mingled with fellow classmates while Christopher Cohen dj'd with dub step and other popular music. The first days of high school can be unforgettable as students make new friends and meet teachers that they will form bonds with throughout the school year. Whether one is a freshman lost trying to find his or her 2nd period or a senior waiting for the graduation date to approach, the first days of school are days that will be remembered for a lifetime.

Throwback

Way Back When...

We all remembered those awkward stages where we experienced different styles and were unsure of what type of person we would become. Oh, and we can't forget those embarrassing baby pictures that we did not want anyone to see that our moms always tried showing to our friends at just the perfect time. This is a page dedicated to honoring those pictures that we call throwbacks. Throwbacks are pictures from any given earlier period, whether it was taken 8 years ago or just last year. Many students participated in the weekly Throwback Thursday by posting pictures on media sites for everyone to see. Something great about pictures from way back was being able to compare how a person looked then, to how they look now. Over our high school years we matured, changing both physically and mentally. Although we may not have been too fond of these photographs, we will all look back and get a good laugh out of them. The yearbook staff hopes you enjoy these throwback pictures as we reminisce, remembering those awkward stages, embarrassing moments, and of course, the fun times.

Dress for the Thrill of it FASHION

Fashion is forever changing. Throughout high school, our fashion tastes changed and we were much different as seniors than as a freshmen. Fashion was a way for students to express themselves and sometimes being different made students unique. The way students dressed was one of the ways a person could express his or her personality. Personality was shown through creative expression which included physical appearance. The items worn sometimes expressed a student's likes and style. After interviewing students Rachel Spencer And Caleb Holley, one can reflect and say high school is a time to realize what truly makes you, you, and not what someone else wants you to be. Fashion is a powerful thing so, embrace it and wear it well.

Life is a Highway

Transportation

A teenager's prized possession was his or her first car, customized bike or possibly a long board. Transportation allowed students to feel independent, alive and enabled students to move about the streets of Key West.

Some students received hand-me down cars from their parents while others received cars that were brand new. Some received 'project-cars' that allowed teens to work with their families. No matter the type of car, most students would not trade them for anything.

Cars were not the only transportation seen around the campus. Key West, being the small little island that it is, made it possible for students that didn't have a car to have other choices in getting around. Students sometimes chose long boards, bikes, or foot as a means to get from point a to point b.

Transportation was not only a prized possession, but something that students took pride in. Whether it was taking a stroll by foot, rolling with a long board, or just stylin' in a car or truck, transportation definitely proved to be important in day to day living.

Our Time to Shine

Student Recognition

There were many clubs and organizations that had many shining stars and there were many students that set goals and accomplished those goals. Some of the accomplishments included: the band earning a Superior rating, science fair project winners, new school records set by athletes, the Choir earning a Superior rating at All States, the Academic Challenge team bringing home the trophy, the A school rating, and so much more. Students proved that they were talented with bright futures ahead of them. Our school was lucky to have such a fantastic population of students that cared about their grades and future. Coming from a small town, many underestimate students' strengths, but this year, students showed what they were capable of and pushed themselves to reach top goals and honors. Our school was proud of what was accomplished in the 2012-2013 school year and looked forward to the future success and prospects of our student body.

You Know

You're a Conch when...

The definition of being a "Conch" varies from person to person. Some people take it as the way one dresses and others view it as being on the water daily, but what is the true definition of a conch? To the people outside of the island, a Conch is a tropical marine mollusk. To locals, a Conch is defined as being born and raised on the island of Key West, Florida. One, main characteristic of being a Conch is being actively engaged in the community. Whether you come from Key West or are considered a "freshwater Conch," the community welcomes all. As Conchs, we all do things that we believe are unique to our community such as sporting "Conch Life" stickers on the back of our cars or styling Kino sandals no matter where we go. Key West is a very different place and that's why it's so famous. Students spend free time on the boat, fishing, which is practically in the backyards for many people. Conchs live a unique life because of the beautiful surroundings and the year round warmth, often referred to as paradise. How many other places can students walk around the corner and be at the beach or wear bathing suits during winter? Conchs live a life that is only dreamt by some, so let's enjoy the things that make us "Conchs" and live the "Conch Life."

Spirit Week

Just be "You"

Spirit Week allowed students, as well as teachers, to show off their Conch pride with creativity. This year's spirit week consisted of Toga Day, Twin Day, Celebrity Day, Pajama Day and Class Color Day. Each day served as a time for students to step away from being dressed up or dressed down and allowed students to just be themselves or even possibly, who they would like to become. Toga Day gave seniors the chance to wear their favorite bed sheets to school and resemble Greek gods and goddesses. Twin Day allowed students to be creative with their best friends and dress the same, whether it was dressing up as babies, presidential candidates or animated characters from the movie Despicable Me. However, this year a new theme was created: Celebrity Day. This day allowed students to think about who inspires them. Later in the week was Pajama Day, which gave students an opportunity to roll out of bed and go to school in what they were wearing. The last day of Spirit Week, Color Day, was a day students showed their class spirit by wearing their class color. Overall, Spirit Week was a time when the student body was one. It allowed students to see people's inner rock star without the possibility of being judged. For some, it was the best week of the school year for the awesome memories that were created.

The Game of Life

Freshmen Float

The Class of 2016 Executive Board showed what they were made by creating the Life board game. Although their truck size may have been small, the class made up for it by being big on spirit and detail. The class placed fourth place in the parade, but it isn't always about winning, but more importantly about having a fun time with classmates and putting on a performance for the community. Class president, Ofelia Baloy said, "We had no experience and no money so I believe we did really well for our freshmen year. If we didn't have the support from our classmates and parents we wouldn't have done as well as we did." With the knowledge and experience, the class now has under their belts, they have the ability to build future great floats that will prove that they are a creative class with lots of Conch pride. Considering what the class of 2016 had to work with, they did an amazing job and built a great float, which is a noteworthy triumph. Watch out upperclassmen 2016 is on its way.

History in the Making

Sophomore Float

The Sophomore chose Battleship as their float theme this year. Members of the Class of 2015 tried something different with their float and projected most of their float on a backdrop. This method helped them place third place overall and showed the Conch community that floats don't only have to be wood and paint. They were very creative and used their resources which included the students' knowledge of electronic equipment. Some of the students were in Television Productions class at school and used it to benefit their final product. The skit included the classes battling over Conch pride. In the end Conch pride came out on top. The message sent was that all classes can come together and team up to conquer similar goals.

Conch Monopoly

Junior Float

The Class of 2014 showed their creativity by turning a flat board game Monopoly into a life sized float. Their theme included members of clubs and athletic teams in search of their Conch Pride. This year the junior class placed second for the third year in a row. Monopoly served as a great board game that revealed the Conch Pride that the class had for their school. The junior class combined various ideas and their float was proof of it. In the class skit, the plot explained that Conch Pride can't be won but, instead, developed. Although they placed 2nd, the class had the character to make the best of the situation and have fun with their peers. Props included were money people, football players, cheerleaders, club members and many more. They truly captured the variety of activities and sports teams we offer to the student body. The Class of 2014 Executive Board looks forward to building their last homecoming float next year.

Candy Land Senior Float

The seniors, overcome with excitement as their class won first place in the homecoming parade. For the first time in four years the Class of 2013 finally comes out on top. With their colorful creation of Candy Land which included dancing candy canes, a lollipop forest, talking mountains, a blue princess, and a ginger bread house proves that dedication and perseverance pay off. Not only does working hard prove to have a winning effect, it also seems as if it made the class of 2013 a lot closer. The class worked extremely hard to make their float as colorful and fun as possible. After three years of not placing, the Class of 2013 made a comeback to be remembered. They incorporated key characteristics in their float that are displayed at school every day. Our community was all eyes when the float appeared in front of the judges with it's various props that were well lit, imaginative and artistic.

Homecoming Game

As each year passes, we experience many traditional ceremonies. One of the most attended was the homecoming ceremony, where one of five homecoming candidates was crowned queen in front of the community. This year, Ms. Clare Kehoe was crowned the queen of the 2013 Homecoming Court. Many groups were involved in the full ceremony. The Conchettes, band, cheerleaders, choir and many more lined the field to participate in the magical event. To add to the excitement, the football team beat the Forest Hill Falcons 39-20. The homecoming game was intense with our football team pushing themselves to get a win on this big night. Many students gathered to celebrate this event. They built up anticipation concerning which football team would win, especially with the timing after the homecoming float parade. The student body, along with the Key West community gathered at the Tommy Roberts Football Stadium for a homecoming game that will be long remembered.

Homecoming was that night that students all hear about in the movies, a night that left students with plenty of memories for years to come. It was the night that everyone looked their best and enjoyed themselves.

The Homecoming Dance was held on November 10th in the school's gymnasium. This year's theme was favorite Boardgames.

Aside from all of the fun everyone had dancing and being with their friends, spending time with the Homecoming Court and Queen was very exciting!

All in all, the night was wonderful and filled with lots of fun - just like the movies. Even if you only went to the dance with friends, this homecoming was still a great experience for everyone who attended.

Clash of the Classes

Eat, Untie, Laugh

This year's Clash of the Classes was one for the books. The events consisted of the shoe tie race, the obstacle course, the frozen T-shirt event, the dirty diaper event, a watermelon race, eating contests, the balloon pop, and the egg toss. The most interesting to watch were the eating events where students ate spam, sardines, beets, canned fruits and baby food. The Class of 2013 took the first place title with the Class of 2014 coming in second. Sophomores came in third place, leaving the Freshman holding fourth place. The Interact Club organized this fun filled and spirited event, creating a variety of competitive events that allowed students to have fun while competing amongst upper and lower classmen. The Clash of the Classes provided students a chance to bond with their classmates by cheering their peers on as they faced distasteful food, confusing obstacles or just competitive odd events. Everyone found something to love, whether it was watching Stephanie Baloy chow down on a block of spam or Deonte Stemage eating canned sauerkraut. No matter the circumstances, this yearly event is always eagerly anticipated by the faculty and student body.

Something to shout about

Pep Rallies

We all experience that time when we just want to scream at the top of our lungs. Throughout the school year, students attend numerous pep rallies to cheer on the season's sports team as well as give them recognition. The teams desire support from their peers and the community to get them pumped up for an upcoming game or meet. During pep rallies the classes assemble and the spirit fills the gym. Whether it's listening to the drum line, watching the cheerleaders hit their stunts or the Conchettes make their moves, or even listening to the loud cheers for the classes and teams, this is no doubt a time when the gym is filled with intense Conch pride. Pep rallies allow students to let loose and not use inside voices, as well as prove their class has the most school spirit and dance with classmates. To add more variety, our staff assembles obstacle courses and events as entertainment for the classes. This year senior athletes, class officers, homecoming candidates, as well as Bernard Simmons Jr. and Elliot Valdez participated in the events to make things more entertaining. Pep rallies are one of the many fun things presented to the students. However, the main event is always which class will win the spirit stick. It's no doubt the school consists of many spirited people, but it's always difficult to determine who can scream the loudest. More often than not one's ears will start to ring when Conch pride gets a hold of the students. This is a spirited event one does not want to miss.

UNDERCLASSMEN

What is an underclassman? When you look it up it is defined as any student in high school that is not a senior. But what really is an underclassman? Seniors may think that they have an advantage as upperclassmen, but really it's the underclassmen that have the advantage. While seniors are feeling the stress concerning what college they're going to attend or making the grades to graduate or even calculating the fees that come along with graduation, underclassmen are mainly focused on keeping their grades up and enjoying their high school years. Students go through those seemingly slow years as freshmen, sophomores and juniors but, really, these years are the most enjoyable with fewer pressures. The underclass years are the time of self discovery whether it's discovering what kind of person he or she wants to be uncovering a hidden talent or even taking up an unexpected hobby. Each new year comes with growth and change which allows a bolder and more vivid stroke in the canvas of life. One should make the most out of being an underclassmen and focus in school, but also have fun and laugh because these are the moments one remembers most when looking back at high school. So, underclassmen, enjoy your years because before you know it they will be gone and you will be graduating.

FACULTY & STAFF

Our administrators and staff did more than they were required to do by pushing the student body to new limits. The student body and staff had a connection bonded by Conch pride. We all worked together to make our school the best it could be. Our faculty helped the students stay focused on what was important and assisted the students in any way possible. It wasn't only their job, it was their passion. Whether it was teaching English or coaching students in a sport, they were committed to moving forward and wouldn't settle until the student body reached their full potential. They didn't only support the students in the classroom, they also supported students when they were on the field. Even as the students became restless, the faculty pushed them to strive towards excellence and show their true bold colors.

Holding The Path

Principal Ms. Amber Archer-Bosco

The principal, Ms. Amber Archer-Bosco, has been the principal at Key West High School for 2 years. She has been working for the Monroe County School District for 29 years. Goals she had for the 2012-2013 school year were to implement the code of conduct which consisted of the method R2D2, to improve physical work on campus such as beautifying the courtyard and cleaning up after oneself. Academically her goal was to have students focus on achieving good grades and for students to be in class to maximize the learning process. The method R2D2 was introduced to students this year and its purpose was to get students to show respect, responsibility, dedication and determination. Ms. Bosco is looking forward to the future success of Key West High and its students.

CLUBS & ORGANIZATIONS

At Key West High, all students wished to gain a quality education and become well-rounded individuals. A large part of a well-rounded education was developing interests and becoming involved in activities outside the classroom. Extracurricular activities helped foster an atmosphere of responsibility, teamwork and friendship. They also encouraged students to have more pride in the school as they became representatives of Key West High School. The school offered a wide variety of clubs and organizations for students to become involved in. There was something for everyone. Students became involved in the decision making process by joining class committees, Beta Club or showed their passion for learning by joining the National Honor Society. Regardless of the varying interests, students continued to shift in the right direction, the direction that led to progress and growth.

Clubs Student Council

The Student Council was made up of students who focused on the quality of the high school experience. Hosting dances and decorating pods for the holidays to get everyone in the spirit was one of the many tasks the group participated in. Along with that, making signs for the homecoming girls' cars in the parade and also setting up for the homecoming dance, that the majority of the school attends, was another duty they handled. The student council club helped make our school fun for all and scheduled many of big events to be remembered.

The NJROTC is club that's purpose is to instill the value of citizenship, service to the United States, along with personal responsibility and a sense of accomplishment. Students in the club show interest in a career serving our country. Members can be seen holding flags at our Friday night football games or raising the American flag every morning in the front of the school along with many other dutiful activities. Their service and dedication showed every day in the many activities they participated in. In order to remain in the club, members needed to keep their grades up and strive to be well rounded. The NJROTC carried out many duties for our school and honors the United States at athletic events and much more.

Clubs NAHS

The National Art Honor Society made many awesome pieces this year. One being the bicycles that were donated to a good cause, along with the many other pieces that they make as a way to express themselves. Students of all grades made up the club and brightened up our campus with beautiful art creations. The group turned run down bikes into colorful bikes with unique creations on them, which is one of the many things this group accomplished this school year.

Be the Change is a group that lived by Ghandi's message, which is, "You must Be the Change you wish to see in the world." This year, members collected and wrapped gifts for local less fortunate children to make their Christmas one to be remembered. Another event they held was a Challenge Day which served to bring peers closer and forget about the prejudices in every day life. Be the Change provided the school with a life changing event for many. To make incoming freshmen more comfortable, the group held an 8th grade transition day. Throughout the year, members participated in many community projects with intentions of staying behind the scenes and giving a helping hand to those who need it. This group showed the true meaning of Conch pride.

Clubs Wakeboard

Whether you were a beginner or an experienced wakeboarder, the Wakeboard Club welcomed all students that showed an interest. Throughout the year, students traveled to the Orlando Watersports Complex and also to Grassy Key where students had fun and got some air. Club members met new people and shared laughs as they watched newbies wipe out on the wakeboard for the first time. Members not only laughed, but they helped each other out by teaching one another cool tricks and also teaching those that have never done it, the basics. The club brought memories that students will never forget. No matter who you hung out with, what you were into, or what type of clothes you wore, the Wakeboard club was all about having fun and shredding it up on the water.

Z-club is a group that gets together to do various types of community volunteer work. This year the group worked the blow up obstacle course at Children's Day, held a canned food drive, passed out water to runners, and helped out at the MARC House by rearranging pumpkins and Christmas trees. The Zonta club made a huge difference in the community as they plan to do every year. Students went above and beyond trying to give as much as they could to the small island of Key West. Many students also bought Christmas gifts for the less fortunate children so that they could wake up happy and in the Christmas spirit on Christmas morning. The club, made up of many women, and also men, continued to give and proved the endless possibilities that a small group in a small town can have.

Clubs Snapper/ Yearbook

The Snapper and The Conch yearbook capture many interesting stories throughout the year as well as the memories with classmates that the student body will never forget. Meeting deadlines is one of the many challenges both clubs must comply with. Our school would not be able to meet those deadlines without the dedicated students that make both The Snapper and The Conch yearbook a success.

Conchettes

The Conchettes is a group of talented girls with dance moves that will get the crowd out of their seats. This diverse group of ladies practice all year long and display their routines during football half time shows and at our school pep rallies. The Conchettes has been a club at Key West High for many years with girls carrying on the tradition year in and year out.

Clubs Choir

Choir included students of all grade levels. There was a Select Choir, Freshman Choir, along with Mistys and VIPs. Choir hosted four concerts for the Conch community to enjoy. The students belted out both high and low notes with confidence and enthusiasm. Singing is not an easy task, especially in front of big crowds, but our choir didn't hesitate to walk on the stage and sing like a bird. The choir had many naturally talented singers, but choir also taught those students that may not have natural singing talent, that it takes lots of practice, dedication and technique to acquire a singing voice. If one works hard enough and practices, one can perform a solo. The choir also taught the students how to harmonize, which sounded incredible. The choir concerts are always a joyful event and are eagerly anticipated by both performers and audience members.

SPORTS

Many students grew up dreaming of the day they put on the Conchs jersey. It is unquestionable that our student body consisted of numerous athletes with incredible abilities. Students pushed themselves further and further, preparing for the season. Conch sports, not only provided an opportunity to make one known, but they held some of the most treasured memories. Win or lose on a team athletes were still one and supported each other until the end. It required lots of dedication to stick through a sport. As records were broken, new limits were created while making the best of memories with peers. The Key West Conchs knew how to succeed both on and off the playing field. All students were welcomed to participate in the athletic program which had over 20 athletic teams to choose from. Student athletes had the choice of participating in high contact sports like Football or Basketball. For students who preferred sports with more individual focus, they were able to take part in Cross Country or Track and Field. The Conch student athletes made Key West proud. Not only did they compete against rivals such as Marathon, Coral Shores, Gulliver and Belen Jesuit, but they also showed that they had strong character and great sportsmanship that set them apart from everyone else. They made us proud to wear Crimson and Gray.

The football team is not the ordinary gridiron gang, they are a family. The minute they step on the field they share one common goal; to be the victors. From the laughs they share in the locker room to the motivation they pass on to one another, they create some of the best memories of their life. Football is a sport where the team as a whole depends on each player to carry out a specific job. For example, the offensive line has to block the defensive line to allow the quarterback to make the play without being tackled. The brothers share blood, sweat and tears trying to end the game with a win. The team spends all year training hard, lifting weights to build up the muscle that will give them an advantage and also practice drills to improve their reflexes to get faster as well as more accurate. This year the team went 6 and 5. The team left everything on the field by choosing the pain of sacrifice over the pain of regret. Whether they ended the night with a win or a loss, they focused on the up and coming game. The loyal community eagerly anticipates the Conch football season and Friday night lights.

Go Big or Go Home Junior Varsity Football

Many future football stars for the Conchs were noticed on this year's Junior Varsity team. Although they only had 2 games this season, they practiced just as hard as the Varsity team. Their record was 1-1. Although the team may have suffered a 36-0 loss against Belen, the team came back on their home turf to beat Cardinal Gibbons 36-0, which was a landslide. This proved the players worked out the kinks and developed the skills necessary for victory. Being on the JV team, allowed players to prove what they were capable of so they were able to move up to Varsity. The team not only displayed talent, they bonded while spending most afternoons in the backyard practicing drills under the sun with enormous Conch Pride. The football team did not give up. The moment they stepped on the field with a Varsity jersey they were ready. It goes without saying that the Conch football team has lots of potential and the boys are sure to put lots of hard work in for a victorious season.

Varsity Volleyball

Volleyball is a unique sport where not one person rules the court, but, instead, requires a dedicated team to be successful. It wasn't only about the wins and losses but rather how the team worked together to make memories and great friends. The team spent hours on and off the court between traveling and practicing. Spending that amount of time together helped bond the ladies into a family. Middle hitter Ryan Appleby said, "I would consider this team a family, because we bond and play together. This allowed us to trust one another and become as close as we are now." Being as close of friends as they were, the girls knew each player's advantage and worked hard to allow them to use that advantage on the court. The ladies had a fantastic season. Coach Archer pushed the team to make many big wins that were well deserved. The team was made up of many seniors with incredible talent, but also had many juniors and even sophomores that had outstanding skills. The Varsity volleyball team left a mark this season that will require future volleyball players to work hard and give their very best.

Love at first spike

Junior Varsity Volleyball

The thirteen girls on the Junior Varsity Volleyball team consisted of returning and inexperienced players that stepped on the court with determination and Conch pride. Some players looked for as much practice as possible to prepare them for the season and also as potential Varsity team members for next year. Players spent many hours practicing for their games and kept a sense of optimism by cheering each other on as players made great plays and worked tirelessly. There were 8 freshmen players that planned on returning next year, which was the perfect ingredient for a new and improved season. Returning players, Kayla Miskimon, Josephine Gruba, Brooke Wood, Kara Berces and Emelia Cardenas, along with Mrs. Filbrandt taught freshmen girls the basic volleyball skills and plays over the summer as well as at the beginning of school year. New players learned quickly due to the amount of role models on the team. The team ended the season with great confidence and power. The JV Volleyball girls continued to make the Conchs proud by giving it their all before stepping off the court.

Boys Cross Country

The Boys Cross Country team had a very successful season. With many returning athletes ready to break records and run faster, the team was prepared for what the season had in store. Not only did the team consist of students from last season, but lots of new guys joined the team as well. This season, the boys reached incredible times that showed how much training must be done to knock off those couple of seconds for a new personal record or even a new school record. Every day the cross country team practiced long and hard. Their dedication was displayed for all to see and with the support of our school and the community, the boys team accomplished many goals.

As personal records were met and shin splints were felt, the Girls Cross Country team ran to the finish line. Cross country meets required each runner to run 5 kilometers. Training for a long race, such as this, was challenging, but that did not stop the many stars on the team that shined this year. Each of them displayed their long distance running talent and continued to decrease their time, creating better personal records. Freshmen made up the majority of the team which was great because for many, it meant four years of intense running. One of the many record setters this year included Tristin Milliken with a new personal record of 21:35. Many freshmen that started this year showed growth, dedication and perseverance. No matter how difficult the practices got, the girls ran to the best of their ability and made it to the finish line. The Cross Country team started the season out with hefty goals, achieved those goals, and looked forward to what the future holds for the team. The girls proved that they are more than capable.

The swim team consisted of many students with incredible potential. This year, our girls' new 200 medley relay record was set by Michelle Konik, Jordan Henry, Kristen Reed and Kimberlee Reed. With many senior swimmers, the team started this season with goals to be met. It was not only the girls setting records, but also the boys team as well. Many underclassmen were involved in records broken this year; such as the boys 200 medley relay that consisted of senior Trevor Helms and underclassmen Derrick Allen, Marcus Brisson and Krzysztof Bujak. Our swim team was determined each practice and demonstrated that seniors were not the only people on the swim team with the work ethic to accomplish new things. The future is looking bright for the swim team, and although there are many seniors leaving the team, the underclassmen will carry on the never ending tradition of breaking records. Goals were met and records were set, leaving the underclassmen with high standards for the upcoming year.

The game of golf is both relaxing and challenging. Trying to get the golf ball to end in the hole that can be 100 or more yards away can be very difficult. Most members on the golf team have been playing the sport for most of their lives and are very familiar with the game. The team spent their afternoons working on their swings and perfecting them before their tournaments. With many experienced players on the team, the school was well represented. Golf required a great amount of concentration because the wrong hand eye coordination could send the ball in a pond or the bushes. The 2012-2013 season was coached by the Conchs' very own, Mr. Moeller. The team consisted of students of various ages, with some new players as well as seasoned players. The future of the golf team looked bright with more championships to come and many more blue ribbons.

The game of basketball can take years of practice to acquire the skills that the boys exhibit every time they step on the court. Our Varsity Basketball team played with their heart and had a love for the game. Each and every practice they built up better stamina and repetitively shot baskets with the drive to make it far and ended up playing at the state championships. The team shared laughs together and shared the same love for the game of basketball. The team consisted of many returning junior and senior players with the determination to win and make the Conchs proud. Their record this year was 3-2-0. More importantly, this year served to many, as a learning lesson allowing the players to reach skill levels that will take them further next school year. With many junior team members, players plan to come back to take it all the way their senior year. To the senior basketball players, the team cherished the memories of away trips and wins on Conch territory. The Varsity Basketball team was packed with talented athletes who continued to work hard on and off the court. The Conchs look forward to the future of the boys Varsity Basketball team.

Preparing for the moment when they run onto the court, our Junior Varsity boys played to the best of their ability. The team was filled with new freshmet faces. New players many times bring previous knowledge about the sport that may and may not be beneficial. The coaches taught their game strategies to the new players, enabling them to play to the best of their abilities. Although, there were returning Junior Varsity players on the team that served as mentors to those new freshman. The team went 3-3-0 this season. During one of the games against Coral Shores, the boys got a win with a final score of 53-28. Dominating games and learning from losses was key this season. Another win the team got was against St. Brendan with a final score of 63-35. Games that the team lost this season were often very close in score but the team will only come back stronger each season with returning players looking to accomplish goals and add more wins to the stats.

Girls Varsity Basketball

As the ladies worked tirelessly, spending hours practicing in the gym after school, goals they intended to accomplish were fulfilled. Many individuals on the team were outstanding on the court, such as Tanisha Multy who scored 32 points in one game, tying the school record set by Chelsea Storr in 2010. As many already know, the skill this game requires goes far beyond the court. In order to be successful, players must keep their grades up and be willing to put in the time to perfect plays for Friday night games. Not only did this team sweat together, they laughed together and shared the same sadness after a tough loss. Being on a sports team makes players much closer than they ever could be. Players spend so much time together that they become friends then, as the season progresses, much like a family. Overall the teams stats were 4-6-0. The future of this team is looking bright, especially due to the fact that many young girls are on this team and, with lots of practice, they'll only increase their skills. The ladies will continue to make Conchs proud by working hard towards the goals they aspire to reach.

Nothing but Net

Girls Junior Varsity Basketball

Dominating the court, the girls Junior Varsity Basketball team played with the mind set of nothing but net. The team of eight players was mostly freshmen and a few sophomores. The skilled players started the season off with years of experience having played in the PAL Basketball League during their free time. The girls went 2-3-0 this season and defeated Conch rival, Marathon, twice with the final scores of 42-38 and 42-3. During the intense game against Gulliver, Nicole Konhaeuser-Lopez scored 17 out of the 28 total points for the team. No matter what the outcome of the game was, the girls practiced long and hard. This season served as a benchmark for many on the amount of practice needed to be successful and the hard work required to go further in the season. Overall, the Junior Varsity girls proved that win or lose, they have great potential for future seasons. Our Conch community looked forward to following the stars that this team featured and believed in their aspirations. As they said, "Practice makes perfect." The girls are sure to prove this in the coming seasons.

Playing every day, the boys practiced and gave their best effort. The game of soccer required lots of leg strength and lots of speed, especially going against some of the best soccer teams in the state. Although, this sport required a lot of team work in order to score goals, the Conchs proved they were capable of many things. One of the many wins the team accomplished this year was against Port Charlotte with a final score of 1-0. Players on the field included seniors and juniors, but also many freshmen. Students on the team knew the sport after years of experience, which was an advantage for them at the beginning of the season. Instead of having to teach new players the the sport, they were able to get right down to business and play scrimmages. The team finished the season on a good note, with many young players moving up to Varsity adding new talent for the upcoming seasons.

As the group of girls practiced till dawn perfecting their routine, many didn't mind because cheerleading wasn't just a sport they participated in, it was their passion. Whether they hit all their stunts or they managed to do their dance with spirit and heart, every moment they stepped on the mat they knew it was to represent Key West High. Competitions were events where the girls could project their talent and unique school to the crowd. The team traveled to many different competitions all over Florida to show off their skills and Conch pride. Seniors on the team, who left their heart on the mat, were Grace Bleil, Mecca Hurst, Kennedy Brester, Michell Gonzalez and Taylor Williams. The girls made it past regionals and onto the state competition. Working very hard after school to prepare for that moment at states, seniors left this competition season proud at making it as far as they did. Our school is proud of their dedication and spirit of being a true Conch fan.

Run, Kick, Score Varsity Girls Soccer

This year the Girls Varsity Soccer team was full of hard working girls with great athletic abilities. On the team were many sophomores, juniors and seniors but there were also three freshmen as well. The Lady Conchs' schedule was not as easy this season with rivals such as, American Heritage and Jensen Beach to name a couple. No matter who the opponent, the girls continued to play with persistence and endurance. Every day Coach Paul practiced with the team after school in the backyard doing drills and running till they were exhausted. Seniors saying goodbye to the field and team this year were, Adriana Garcia, Lauren Schoneck and Raquel Schoneck. The three seniors played for Coach Paul all four years and left their legacy with the team. For the next couple of years, the Lady Conchs soccer team looks talented as there were many juniors and sophomores on the team with the drive to leave their legacy as well. The 2012-2013 season was filled with laughter and good times and as always, the girls kept pushing till the very end.

Break down Pin Wrestling

Wrestling was not your average contact sport, it was much more difficult than it appeared. Wrestling was both physical and mental. Between cutting weight and gaining muscle, the sport required determination and drive to accomplish goals. The boys spent countless hours in the weight room during their off season trying to build muscle for the season. Many wrestlers were determined to accomplish their personal goals this season. The sport required quick reflexes, strength and individual commitment because it was tough and at points stressful. The wrestling team won their 4th consecutive district championship with students qualifying in all 14 weight classes to the regional championships. Junior Angelo Guieb placed runner-up for the state championship title in his weight class and took the regional champion title along with Chase Kelly. Other Conch wrestlers that moved on to states from regionals were Uriel Diaz, John Pozzi, Kenneth Sagan and Roberto Val. This group of athletes was determined and the Conch community was proud of their hard work and believed in their future success.

Pain is only temporary

Victory is Forever

Boys Track & Field

From the early morning meets to the hot practices, this season was very successful. Not only were the boys determined to break their personal records but many broke school records as well. Sophomore Everett Wagner beat the school's sophomore mile record this season and Junior Jack Gruba beat the school's overall record in discus. Each practice, the boys tried their hardest to prepare for the coming meet. The sport, Track and Field, covers many different types of events and each requires different strengths in different parts of the body. Our team dominated in all the events, ranging from long distance running events to short distance races. When the sound of the gun was heard, the boys ran their hearts out. Our school consisted of many student-athletes with great potential. History was made this track season and will continue to be made by those who are not current seniors. Many of the seniors on the track team were runners on the team for 4 consecutive years and expressed their dedication during the challenging practices. This track season was one that will be remembered by many.

The Girls Track and Field team reached incredible heights and made outstanding personal records this season. Over the season, many girls met new people who ended up being good friends by the end of the season. Besides practicing with each other daily after school under the blazing hot sun in the backyard, the girls shared laughs and motivated each other to run faster. Almost every Saturday the team traveled to Miami for track meets which required commitment to wake up at 5 in the morning after a long hard week of practice. The team consisted of many young athletes with incredible potential to break records. The future of the girls track and field team will definitely be an event to keep an eye on. And last, but not least, the seniors who devoted themselves to the team for four years, will never be forgotten for the memories that were created.

Practicing night and day, the boys Varsity Baseball team showed dedication on and off the field. Baseball is a sport that required a lot of time to become a skilled player. The off season was the time when most players packed on muscle and got into shape. This year the team spent off season lifting weights and attended batting practices. The team had many aspirations this season, one of them being to reach states. Most of the players on the team played baseball their whole lives. Stepping onto the field was a dream for most of them after watching Friday night baseball games when they were younger. The Varsity team spent hours after school at the baseball field and with the commitment the team shows, their future seasons look promising. Conchs gathered every weekend to cheer on the team as they faced their weekly rivals. Whether the team won or lost, the school admired the team's hard work and countless hours perfecting their skills. The group of athletes ended the season successfully and made students proud to be a Conch.

With ten players on the team, the junior varsity team had players with experience at each position on the field. With varsity coaches preparing the players for the next step, varsity, the boys worked diligently to enhance their skill. The young players got advice from varsity players to better their idea of what they need to expect in a few years. Many of the boys played baseball their whole lives so reaching the varsity team is only a matter of time and perseverance. Baseball can be tough at times which is why so many people from the community come out to support the boys on the field. Our baseball team has definitely made some remarkable progress. The baseball team has high standards to live up to. Most of the boys play on a league outside of the school as well, so they have more experience. Hitting a small ball coming straight to you at about 60 MPH is harder than it seems. Most of the players don't plan to stop playing baseball after high school but, instead, plan to work on their skills to move up to the college level. The junior varsity team made the Conchs proud and worked hard to be successful this season and future seasons as well.

When most people hear about softball, they think of it as an easier way to play baseball. They're wrong. Softball is just as hard as baseball. Yes, the ball is bigger but that does not mean easier, it is harder to hit further than a baseball. The softball team is very hard working, practicing every day after school. As hard as the season may get, the ladies always tried their best. The softball team proved that they are a family by helping each other out with things they need to improve on and always pushing each other to do their best. This season, these girls gave everything they had. With practices every day, including Saturdays, the girls tried to get as much practice in as possible before districts approached. The team consisted of girls talented at many things. Pitchers practiced by throwing pitches repetitively and also doing workouts to strengthen their arms. They played mock games during their practices and they also practiced their plays. Not only did they give advice to each other, but also got advice from alumni softball players. Every year there is always something new to learn. The girls on the team don't take softball as just a sport. This is their passion and they played with heart and dedication.

Our Junior Varsity girls were very successful this season. Although, they had a shaky start to their season, the team managed to make up for it with the many wins later on. With many freshmen on the team, it took much practice to prepare for the start of the season. Not only did the freshmen have the ability to work with sophomores that have played against before, freshmen also worked with varsity players to better their defensive skills on the field. The girls practiced every day after school and also attended practices on Saturdays as well as during Spring Break, which proved their commitment to the sport and their team. Most people don't realize how much time it takes to get better at a sport, but the girls knew what it took and continued to work at it. Throughout the season, many players displayed incredible skills and also proved to their coaches what they were capable of. The Junior Varsity team ended the season on a good note and will continue to improve to reach their goals, whether those goals are making it on the Varsity team or moving onto college softball. Our school is proud of the Junior Varsity softball teams' season this school year.

Tennis is a sport that requires tight shoes, fast footwork, and good hand-eye coordination. The Key West Girls Tennis team might not have the best record in wins, but they do have the most heart.

The tennis world will never die with the fast pace movements and the quick thinking of today's players. That feeling you get when the adrenaline begins to pulse through your veins as you hit that first serve in is the greatest feeling you can experience, second to hitting a winner on your opponent after a long and exhausting point. Although the size of the team shrank compared to last year, the team is proud of themselves for putting forth their maximum effort all season long and never giving up when things got tough. Every day during season, the girls ran laps and played scrimmages against each other practicing on every possible aspect the game of tennis requires. Sunscreen and tennis shoes were the girls' best friends this season. The team made the Conchs proud at home meets as the crowds gathered to watch the young ladies play to the best of their abilities. Our girls tennis team has worked very hard to get to the skill level they are at and it showed throughout the season.

The game of tennis can be tiresome and challenging at times. Players must cover a wide range of area and run back and forth swinging the racquet repetitively. The boys team worked hard this season with players of all grades on the team. Not only were seniors Griffin Saunders and Alfred Knowles IV stars on the court, but also Krzysztof Bujak, along with the many other new freshmen players. The boys tennis team worked extremely hard to finish off the season well and for the seniors, this would be the last time they played for the Conchs so their goal was much more meaningful. Overall, the boys showed their coaches and the Conchs that hard work pays off. Players were driven to make it far this season, whether it was as a single player or as doubles. Our school has incredible talent when it comes to tennis and the future of team is going to be left in good hands as we say our farewells to the seniors and depend on the younger players to carry the team to more championships.

All or Nothing Cheerleading

The cheerleaders are much more than a team; they are a tight knit group of athletes. The Varsity Cheerleaders get the school screaming at pep rallies by bringing out the spirit in everyone. The girls get the football players pumped up and make the support of the school well known. They contribute much and are always supporting the school when needed. Throughout the year they hosted fund raisers for the program which included a cheer clinic for youth cheerleaders in the community and also a series of car washes. This season the squad of 22 girls welcomed a new coach, Mrs. Brester. Advice she gave her cheerleaders before games was, "Remember there is always a little girl in the stands that wants to be just like you, don't disappoint her." The cheerleaders have yet to disappoint the crowds that anticipate each game and half-time cheer routine.

SENIORS

As our senior year comes to an end, there are many memories we will carry with us for the rest of our lives. Throughout high school we've joined clubs in search of new interests or new friendships, we've played sports and failed at a few things. Looking back, seniors do not want to have any regrets because regrets mean we didn't keep an open mind. In these four years we may have discovered an interest that we want to turn into a job or a dislike that enables us to make more precise decisions about our futures. A new chapter in life is soon to come with more lessons to be learned. We are no longer freshmen, fearful of the high school years, we are now young adults with goals to accomplish. Throughout our four years, friendships have been created and some left behind. We have put the finishing touches on our high school years and made them meaningful and eventful.

ADVERTISEMENTS

The advertisement section is one of the most important sections in a yearbook. The advertisements section is what makes the rest of this yearbook possible. These advertisements allow us more pages that showcase the everyday lives of the students and staff at Key West High School. The CONCH would not be printed without the support of all of our parents, students, and the community. Ads not only allow seniors the chance to create a page full of memories leading up to who they are now, they let seniors showcase those memories to the Conch community to let us see those students most favorite moments in time. Our most cherished memories were captured in this section and we hope you enjoy walking down Memory Lane.

In Loving Memory of Matthew Gilleran

1997-2013

Matthew was the kind of person that was always there for you, but never spoke of his own problems. He was a loving person. He told the truth while encouraging you and was the shoulder you always wanted to cry on. He had many great friends and shared countless memorable moments with many.

will never forget
him.

Painting

THIS

For some of us this is our goodbye and the end of our high school education. We are ready to move on to a higher education and go to new places. For others, this was the last year being the newbies, the last year of FCAT, the last year being an underclassman, as we continue to move forward in our high school careers. Nobody can put a price on the memories we made and the things we have celebrated. We walked through those doors determined to face the year and now we have to say goodbye and exit them. We say farewell to the seniors and the four years of hard work they have put in. We are glad for the fun times we have had together from screaming our heads off at pep rallies and to our final good byes at our fairytale prom. We conquered the FCAT, EOCs, and AP testing in the spring and our final exams at the end of the year. We are students who even through the difficulties found the strength to persevere. We are ready for that final bell to ring, releasing us into a fun summer away from school to go on new adventures and learn new things. We are sad as we will miss all of our friends and teachers we are leaving behind. As the artists of Key West High School we will continue creating Masterpieces wherever we shall go.
