Key West, Florida

Volume 33

We have attempted to delve into the phases of our life to illustrate its importance to the individual. We have endeavored to present each phase of life as an important part of that great spectrum. The quest for knowledge, the search for the meaning to life and a deep understanding of our freedoms, are the beams of light shining from the vast spectrum of life. Each phase of our school life plays an important part of this vast spectrum, and each phase teaches us lights of wisdom so that we may learn to cope with our ever-changing world. Each beam of the spectrum is another step in understanding ourselves, the world around us, and life.

Chorus members signify one of the highlights of their success.

The band and chorus represent the Key West High School in the music department.

The band, under the supervision of Mr. Higgins, provides the entertainment during half-time at the football games, presents various concerts, participates in parades, and attends the district and state contests.

The chorus, directed by Mr. Whitley, presents operettas and other performances, school and public. The "Sing Along With Uncle Tom" assemblies were very well liked by all the students. The chorus attended the district and state contests for their second year.

Healthy Bodies Better Minds

The Physical Education Department seems to be improving its program each year. Stricter requirements for passing grades have toughened the schedule for the year making it mandatory for all students enrolled in gym to keep in good physical shape. A spacious gymnasium coupled with proper equipment provide the area and means for healthy exercise. The P.E. department heads realize that in order to have the mind function at its maximum, the body must first be healthy.

The Widely Known Marching Band

The Key West High School marching band has made a name for itself during this year. Besides presenting excellent half-time shows, the snappy Conch Band has marched on several out-of-town occasions. Included in these were performances in the Orange Bowl and in the well-known Cherry Blossom Festival in Washington, D. C. The school is proud to have such an outstanding organization.

The band and affiliated organizations presented excellent half-times.

Touchdown!

And The Score Goes Up . . .

There is nothing more important to school spirit than the varsity cheerleaders. They lead us in encouraging the boys on the field, so that our players know the entire school is behind them. This feeling is of utmost importance to a team because then all players will make sure they do not let their school down. We certainly owe some of our wins to the efforts of our vivacious cheerleaders.

TIME OUT FOR GINGER, the unusual tale of a female football player and her nonconforming family, was an outstanding play presented by the SENIOR CLASS. The cast was guided under the watchful eye and competent direction of Mrs. Mildred Almond, assisted by Tom Hinman and Bonnie Lewinsky. Mrs. Sylvia Abbey and Lisa Weymouth headed the prop department.

The cast, working long hours for six weeks, should be commended for their excellent performance. They were: David Barre as Howard Carol, Ruth Harkins as Agnes Carol, Pauline Kneiple as Joan, Linda Carlson as Jeanne, Nancy Duke as Ginger, Ronnie Heginbotham as Tommy Green, Bill Bentley as Ed Hoffman, Mike Baker as Eddie Davis, Jodine Mayberry as Lizzy, and James Hall as Robert Wilson.

Leaders of Tomorrow

Every year Key West High School has the honor of sending representatives to Boy's and Girl's State. The Junior sponsors and faculty select the students they feel are the most qualified. Each student is sponsored by a local organization. This year ten boys and one girl were chosen.

The purpose of this educational project is to learn the operation of our nation through observation of local and city governments. This is accomplished by a week's stay at our capital in Tallahassee. The citizens of Boy's and Girl's State participated in governmental procedures. Elections and legislations were part of the program. They also discussed such controversial subjects as reapportionment and better public school systems. This honor has had a great effect on the participants and will help them in understanding the workings of our nation.

Officials for a Day GIRL'S DAY

Girl's day, sponsored by the Business and Professional Women, aims to show younger citizens how the city government is run.

The girls themselves became temporary members of the Fire Department and city management, in order to learn governmental mechanics by first-hand experience.

Fake arrests and mock court provided entertainment even while the girls were learning. Girl's Day this year was unique in that the girls toured the partially completed city hall building in its new location.

February 28 and March 1 the Juniors of '63 presented a very successful 3-Act Comedy, O Men, Amen!

The play took place in the Zeta Zeta Phu sorority house, and depicted the odd adventures of the fine sorority sisters. Victories for Varsity

This year we had one of our better football seasons. With only seven returning lettermen, there were some doubts about our chances against bigger teams. The Conchs quickly convinced all skeptics with their rough defense and spectacular running and passing. Under Coach Allen's direction the Conchs moved as high as seventh place in Florida rankings and narrowly missed capturing the Conference championship.

CAGERS CHASED CONFERENCE

This was the year basketball really paid off for KWHS. Our Conchs stormed through the Gold Coast Conference to their best record in years and third place in the Conference.

Often taking on teams taller than themselves they always showed a will to win — and most of the time they did!

Coach Harold Haskins developed many of the players for years and the team's fine record certainly made the time well spent and worthwhile. The four Senior players, Greg Campbell, Larry May, Bobby Menendez, and Joe Pinder, will be sorely missed by next year's team for they were the backbone of our game. Congratulations Conchs.

Willo Ann Bleeks, Capt., Miss Rainer, sponsor, Kay Brown, Co-capt.

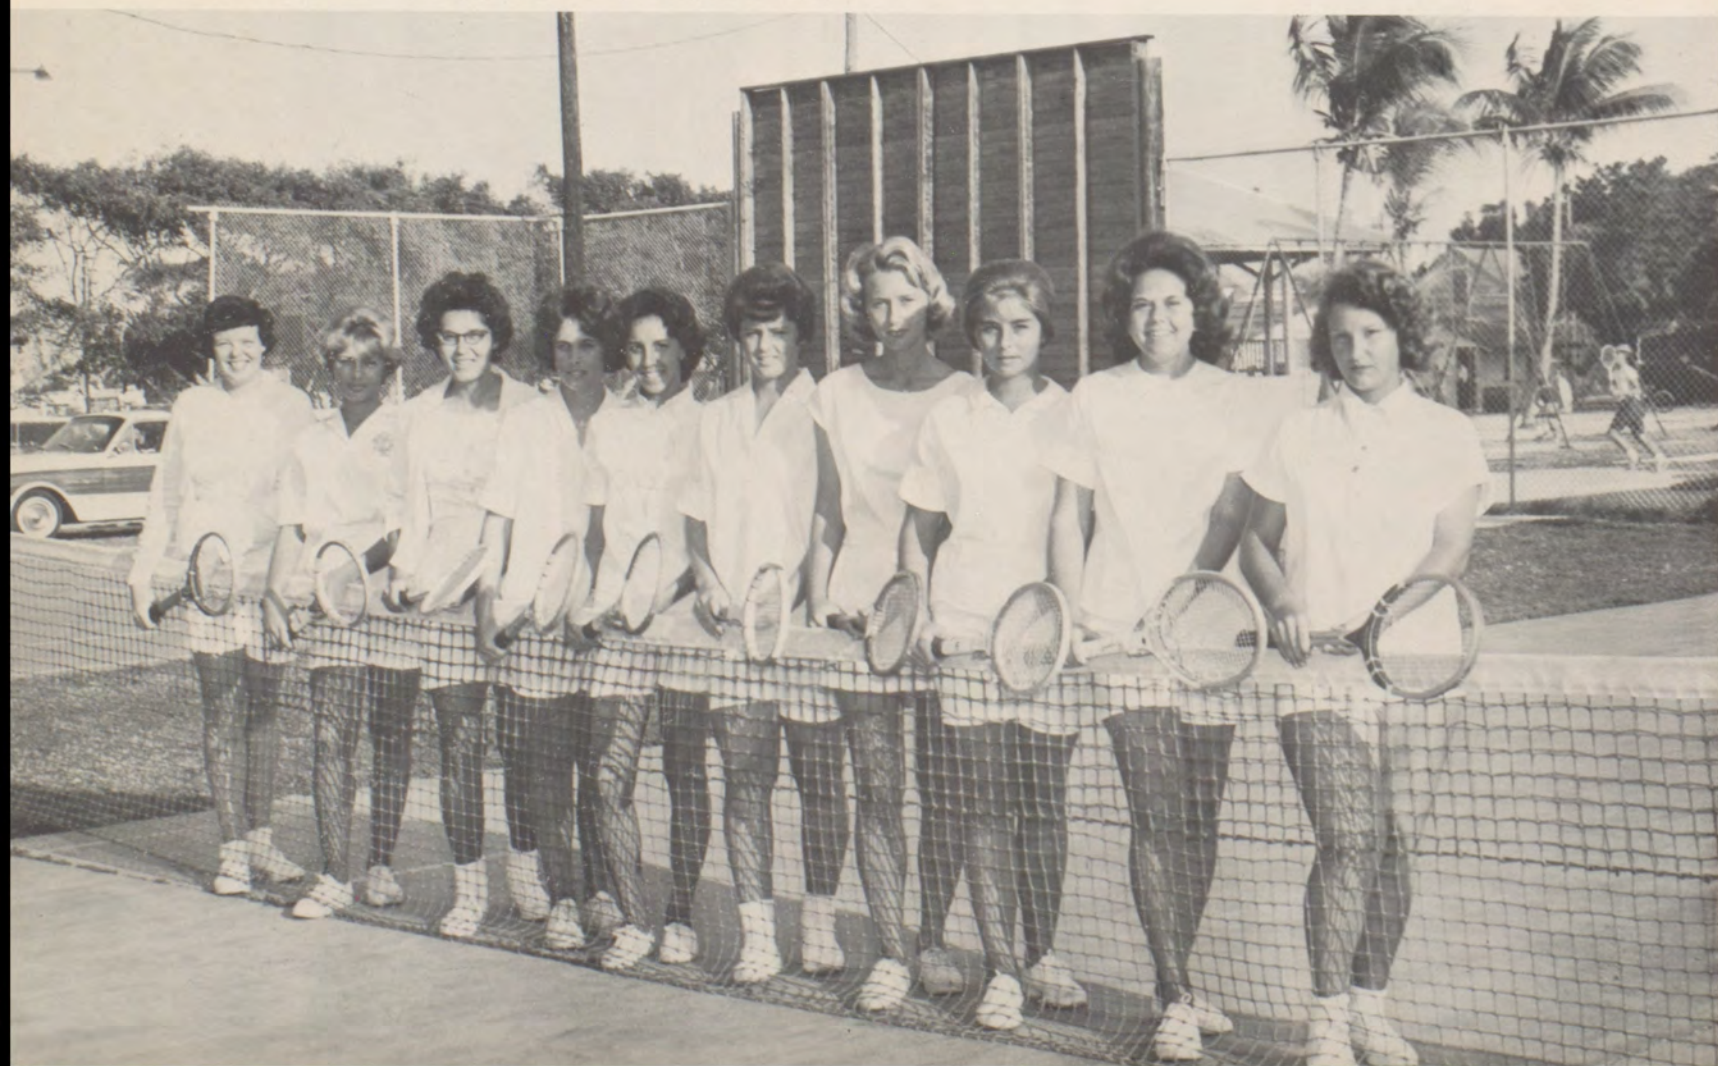

The girl's tennis team showed a very fierce competitive spirit in every match in which they played. Facing some of the best teams in the state is a very rough ordeal but the girls always gave their very best.

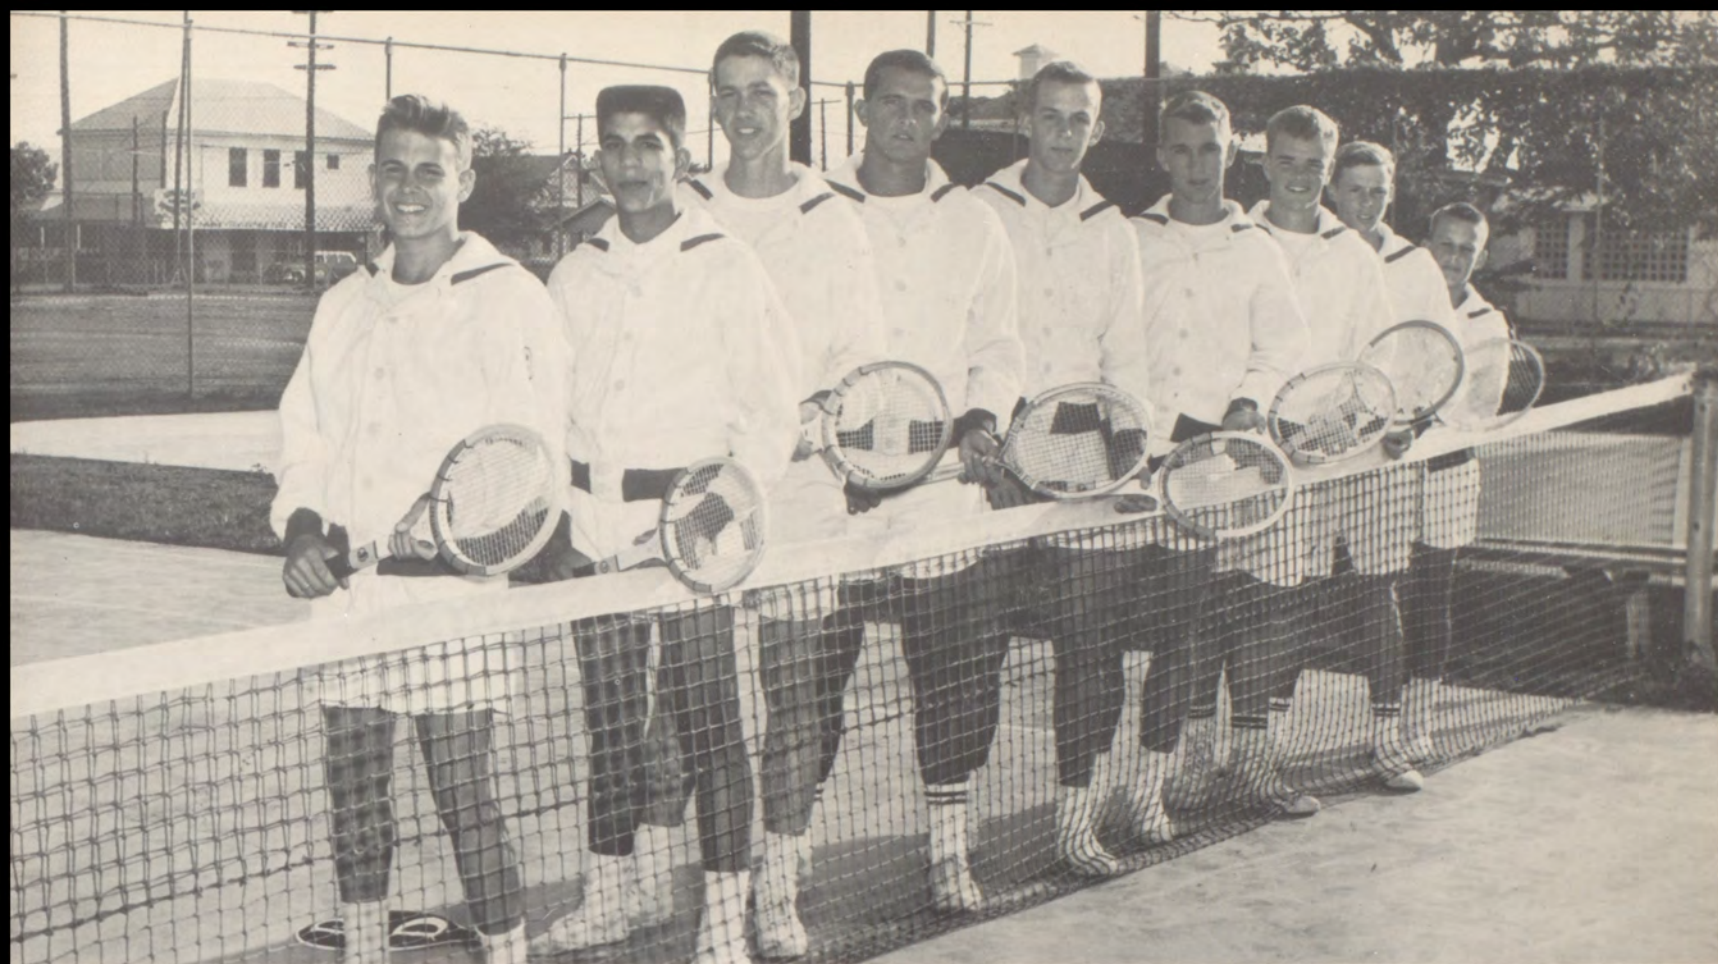

With a team composed completely of underclass women they learned much which will help them in the following years of competition at KWHS.

Miss Rainer really pushed the girls to do their utmost and deserved much credit for all of their wins.

Competitive Spirit Plus

This year's Conch tennis team played a "hard" type of game against many tough opponents. Although not always coming out on top they always gave a good account of themselves.

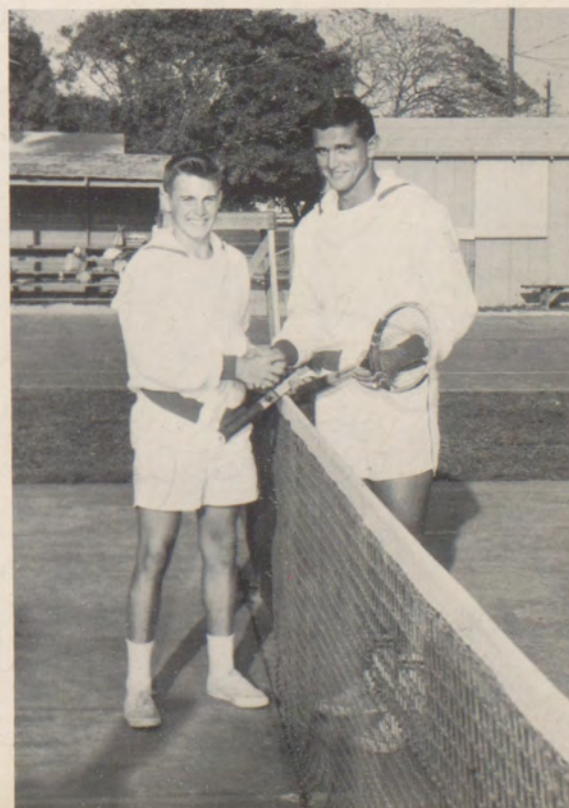

This was a very young team with only three Seniors who would not return the next year. They learned much from their competition and prepared to make life rough on teams the following year.

Much of the credit for developing these boys must be given to Coach Harry Butcher and Assistant Coach Skipper Albury who worked long and hard teaching this young crew the ropes.

The End Is Only The Beginning

"There is a time in every man's education when he arrives at the conviction that envy is ignorance; that imitation is suicide; that he must take himself for better, for worse." — Emerson

Pride and Participation—where one can find better words for symbolizing the Senior Class of 63? The accomplishments of this year's Seniors will be remembered when the print on these pages is dim with age.

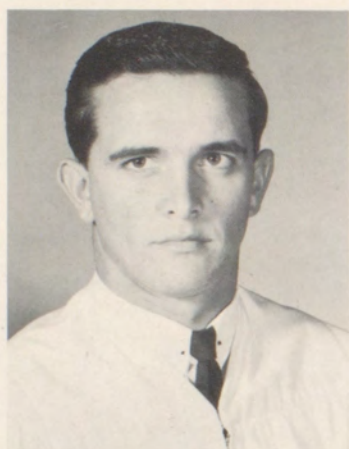

Good leadership is evident in everything undertaken by the Seniors. Pride in school and class provided the stimulus which enabled the Seniors to lead in magazine sales, produce a successful Senior Play — "Time Out For Ginger," and sell Christmas cards. The Seniors, recognizing a need for efficient class officers, gave their votes of confidence to: Bobby Menendez, president; Sergio Sanchez, vice-president; Elaine Burchell, secretary; and Lisa Weymouth, treasurer. With their guidance, the Senior class was led through exciting months and many fond memories.

"Nothing great was ever achieved without enthusiasm." Could Emerson have been thinking of the Class of 63 when he penned this phrase? Second semester found the Seniors enthusiastically looking forward to the many events which they would soon undertake.

Field Day, Conch Day, the Junior-Senior Prom, Senior All-Night Affair — the treasured memories of an outstanding class will be remembered by all who knew the Seniors of 63.

Seniors worked as they played. Scholastic achievements added to the honors reaped by our fast-moving class.

Graduation — the day every Senior looks forward to, but never really wishes to see, will be remembered by every member of our class. More important, the Class of 63 will be remembered in the years to come as the Class who left its mark in the pages of KWHs history—Pride, Participation, Leadership, Scholarship, and Enthusiasm—the Senior Class of 1963.

Junior Class Proves To Be Outstanding

This year the Junior Class has proved to be outstanding in every way. Working for the Key West High School Association for three years they have effected many changes.

Among the projects this year was that of selling stationary which had an etching of Key West High at the top. The class also presented a hilarious comedy called "O Men, Amen."

The Juniors also contributed greatly to the charity drive, proving they could bear their load despite all other responsibilities.

Officers of the Junior Class this year were: Sammy Biow, president; Janese Salas, vice-president; Charlene Cooper, secretary; and Annette Sykes, treasurer.

Beginning The Upward Climb

Four hundred and fifty freshmen began their first year in senior high school, August 28. They became accustomed to high school life very quickly through the both friendly and cheerful atmosphere created by the students and faculty of Key West High School.

The Freshmen have proven themselves worthy in their endeavors to maintain the standards of Key West High School. The class of 1966, industrious and self reliant has followed the good examples set for them by the upperclassmen.

Dearest Bie Bay:

Hi! You handsome lovable cuddly sweet thing, you? I know in the past we've had our little "frictions" as we like to call them, but we both know that we love each other, and that those things don't count. We've shared so many wonderful experiences this year. If I hadn't met you, I'd know where I'd be now.

Life around the N.S. is fun.

They say with you I can't go wrong.

With you, I can't go wrong. I love you so much, Bie.

I really mean that, Babe.

There's no one in this world

I want more than you.

I think that's been proved time and time again. I'm gonna miss you, honey.

Much more than you can ever imagine.

I know it. I can wait, so can you.

Just keep thinking that what you're doing is for our life together.

Remember that there's someone down here on this

Is. - forever.

inland that loves you and needs you, and is

FAITHFULLY waiting for you. I'll always love you, Bie.

Please stay mine? I want that little hand just as much as you do, too, but let's wait a year. We have our whole life together after that.

I've been a wonderful year for me, honey, but it wouldn't have been that way if you hadn't been there to share it. You're the greatest guy in the world (you're finally convinced of me of that.)

(H.A.H.A.)

We might have our little spats

and the road may get a little rocky, but I like you said if we stay

close to God, we'll stay close to one another. I love you, Bie, and I depend on you more and more every day.

I'm planning my whole life around you, and you're planning yours

FAITHFULLY waiting for you. I'll always love you, Bie.

Please stay mine? I want that little hand just as much as you do, too, but let's wait a year. We have our whole life together after that.

Love,

So
Bill,
my Bus driver,
always remember
all the fun we had in the last couple of years. Always bees of your mother's personality.
Best of luck with Buckey
now and in the future.
Was Connie "64".

I come from a land in the sun-bright deep,
Where golden gardens glow,
Where the winds of the north, becalmed in sleep,
Their conch shells never blow. . . .
Moore

To Bill,
A very nice
guy with a real personality.
May you find

Remember
