Reflections: A Matter of Pride

Reflections: Reflections of a year gone by, of times both happy and sad. Students reflect back on the year and take those experiences and bring them into the Real World. Students will always remember the school traditions that identified the student body as being unique and special, and at an unending legacy.

Outlined by the setting sun, students raise their arms high for the playing of the Alma Mater on the night of the Bonfire. Cheers of spirit echoed the air during the bonfire. The chanting of the classes competing to be #1 in spirit could be heard in all the surrounding neighborhoods. One thing is for sure that while the spirit for all the classes was great, the cheers for the Conchs as a whole was overwhelming.

Other Side of the Mirror

Tara Blatt shows off her classic and yet fashionable style in her DKNY shirt and khaki bootleg pants.

Having had to deal with great stress, students found many ways to let loose from school and have fun. Some students let their creative juices flow when it came to their fashions and accesories. Others expressed themselves ththrough trendy body piercing and tattooeing. Some took their stress relief to the extreme through death defying activities like skate and blade tricks and surfing dangerous waters. Yet still some found other ways to relax just through curling up with a good book or by hanging out with good friends. As each student anticipated the upcoming weekend they would sit and daydream about the other world that they would enter once free of school and responsibilities. "For me, the weekends are a whole other dimension. I practically live at the beach looking for some suitable surf," said senior Jesse Anderson. The times expressed on the following pages reflect the student lives as they stepped through the glass into another dimension. Here the memories will stay immortalized forever. Francesca Madeo Editor-In-Chief Senior Zach Bentley, an avid fisherman, spear fishes a large Hog-Snapper while out snorkeling one day. He loves the ocean and spends as much time as he can on the water.

Spirit Comes

Juniors, Jennifer McCrory, Riza Tabag, and Gretchen Wilmont show their class spirit during spirit week. Each class participated in spirit week by wearing their class colors.

The beat of the KWHS marching band adds spirit to the pep rallies, bonfire, and football games. The band practices many hours to prepare for each of these events.

Monica Munoz, Angela Rodriguez, Darren Hora, and Nicole Munoz talk about the upcoming school spirit events. They're all dressed in school colors for the pep rally scheduled for that day.

This group of cheerleaders, conchettas and football players all show their school spirit for the first pep rally. The color red reflects the spirit of the student body.

A crowd of KWHS students at the annual bonfire show their school spirit and support the football team.

The KWHS marching band helps raise the crowds' spirit at halftime.

The beat of the KWHS drumline is predominantly heard when the marching band plays. The drumline is the base of the band.

Christina Vargas, Amanda Gilmore, Lauren Meggs, and Maria Malgrat show their Senior class spirit with their red shirts and head bands.

From Within

Seniors, Joey Lopez and Trenton Greene guard the sacred Senior coffin from the sneaky Juniors.

As the flames rise, so does the Conch spirit. The bonfire helps students become spirited for the first home football game.

Even the clouds over Key West reflect Conch pride. This cloud looks very similar to KWH's unique mascot, the Fighting Conch.

The seniors realized that all the hardwork it took to make their coffin would pay off at the bonfire. The senior class took pride in their coffin and fought to keep it away from the juniors.

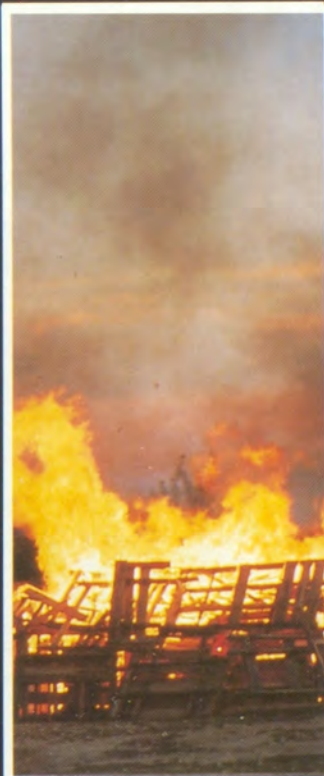

Seniors, Tyler Appleby, Erika Valdez, Trenton Green, Ryan Lewin, Francesca Madeo, and Jessica McGee take shelter from the rain. They were delivering the Senior coffin to the activity room when they were caught in a down pour.

Senior football player, Rozell Foster, breaks it down at the bonfire. Music was played after the bonfire celebration.

Senior, Christy Toledo tests out the newly made Senior coffin before it is painted. Comfortable Christy?

These guys show their KWH's pride by wearing their Conch baseball shirts.

Conch's Get Heated Up

The Bonfire concludes the long and exciting annual Coffin week. The Seniors were once again able to keep the coffin out of the underclassmen's hands. Once the coffin was tossed into the fire by the Seniors, everyone started getting FIRED up. The cheerleaders, conchettes, majorettes, and band members all took part in getting the football team pumped up for their first home game. The heat of the student body and the sparks of excitement are what keeps the Conch spirit burning all year.

Senior football players joust the coffin into the fire. The glow of the fire reflects the boldness of the Conch spirit.

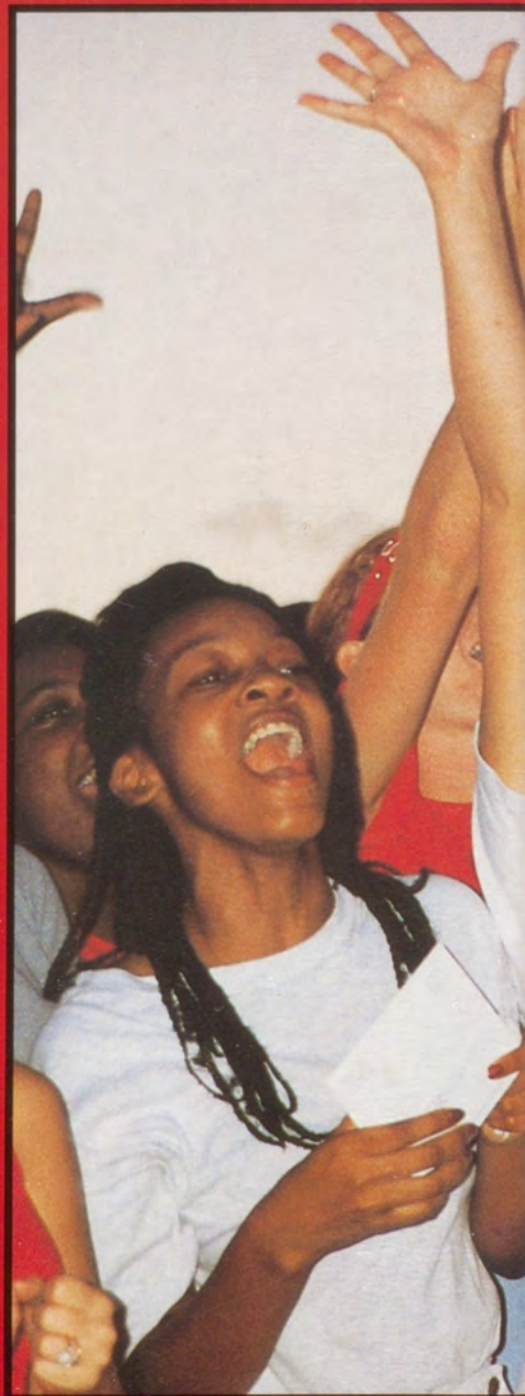

Members of the Senior class, Cashawn Peete, Erica Ross, Gina Dickens and Erica Valdez, cheer for their victory of Coffin week.

The fire may die out, but Conch spirit will always burn.

Senior, Zach Bentley makes the catch of the day. Careful Zach, those teeth look sharp.

Carefully maneuvering her boat, freshman, Tracy Anzalone, heads to Snipe's Point for a day of fun in the sun.

Junior, Michelle Leverone skims the water while hydroskiding in the Key Haven ski rink. Hydroskiding is a great way to spend time on the water.

Junior, Tiffany Anzalone took a guided kayaking tour through the back country of the Keys. Sounds like fun!

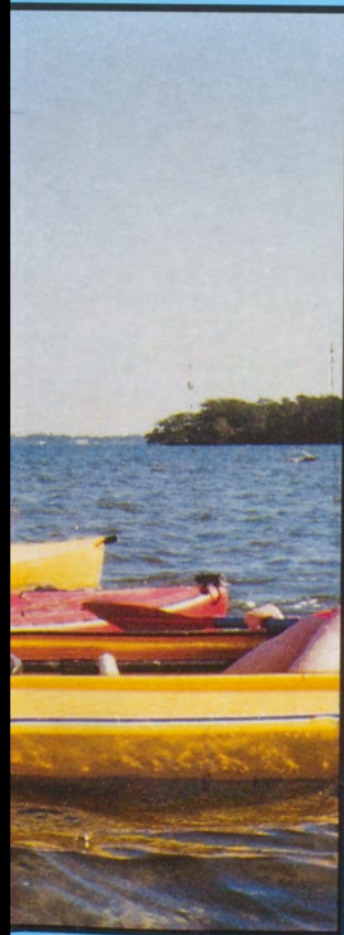

Senior, Jesse Anderson, catches some air wakeboarding in Key West waters. How does he do that?

While out on the open waters of the Keys, Senior, Alex Canalejo hooks a big one.

Wake up to Watersports

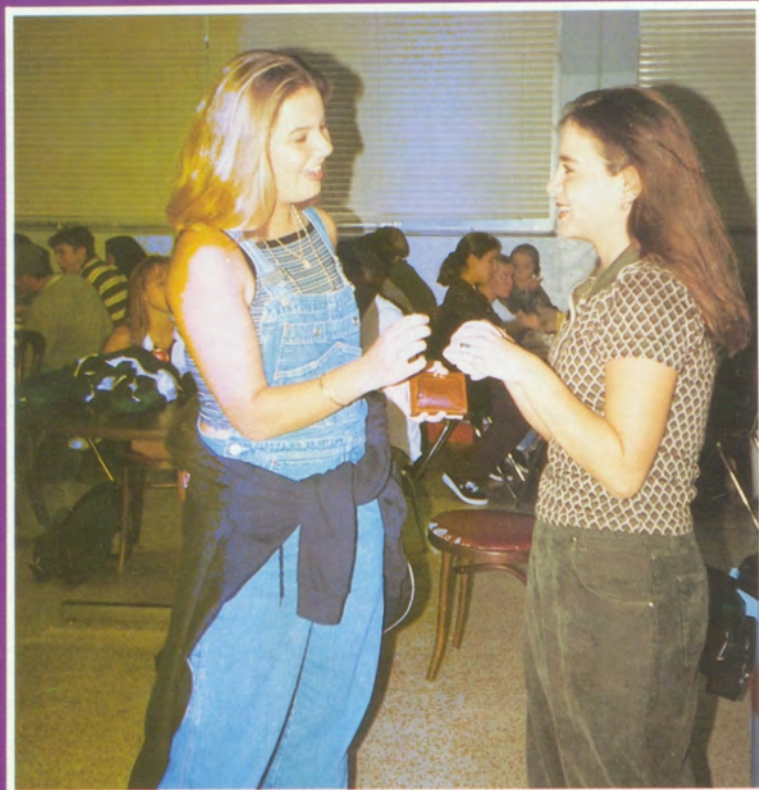

Being totally surrounded by water, it's pretty obvious that many of the students at KWHS spend their spare time on and around the water. Watersports are a great way to enjoy the beautiful waters of the Keys and spend time with friends. Whether sailing, hydrosiding, fishing, or going to Snipe's Point you can count on seeing students on the water every weekend.

Freshman, Sarah Thompson steers her sailboat through smooth waters. She learned how to sail at the Key West Sailing Club summer program.

From Head...

Sophomores, Halley Haack and Kristin Walterson are fashionably dressed in overalls and corduroy.

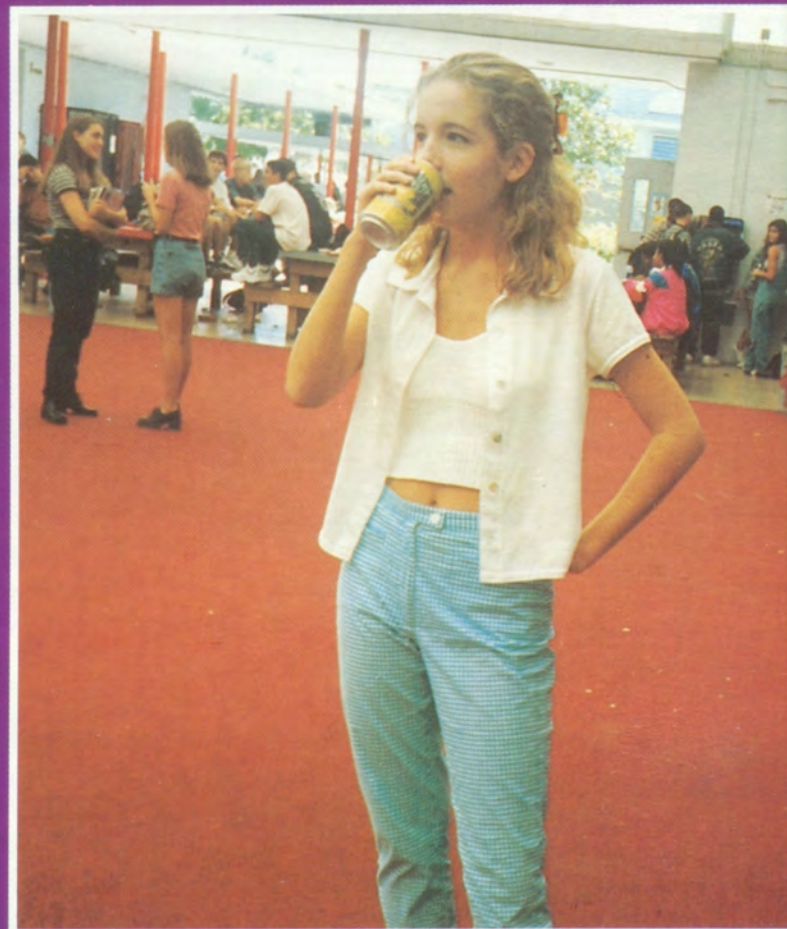

Junior, Rainy Scarborough is always dressed in the latest styles. This green dress is comfortable, stylish, and great for school.

To Toe

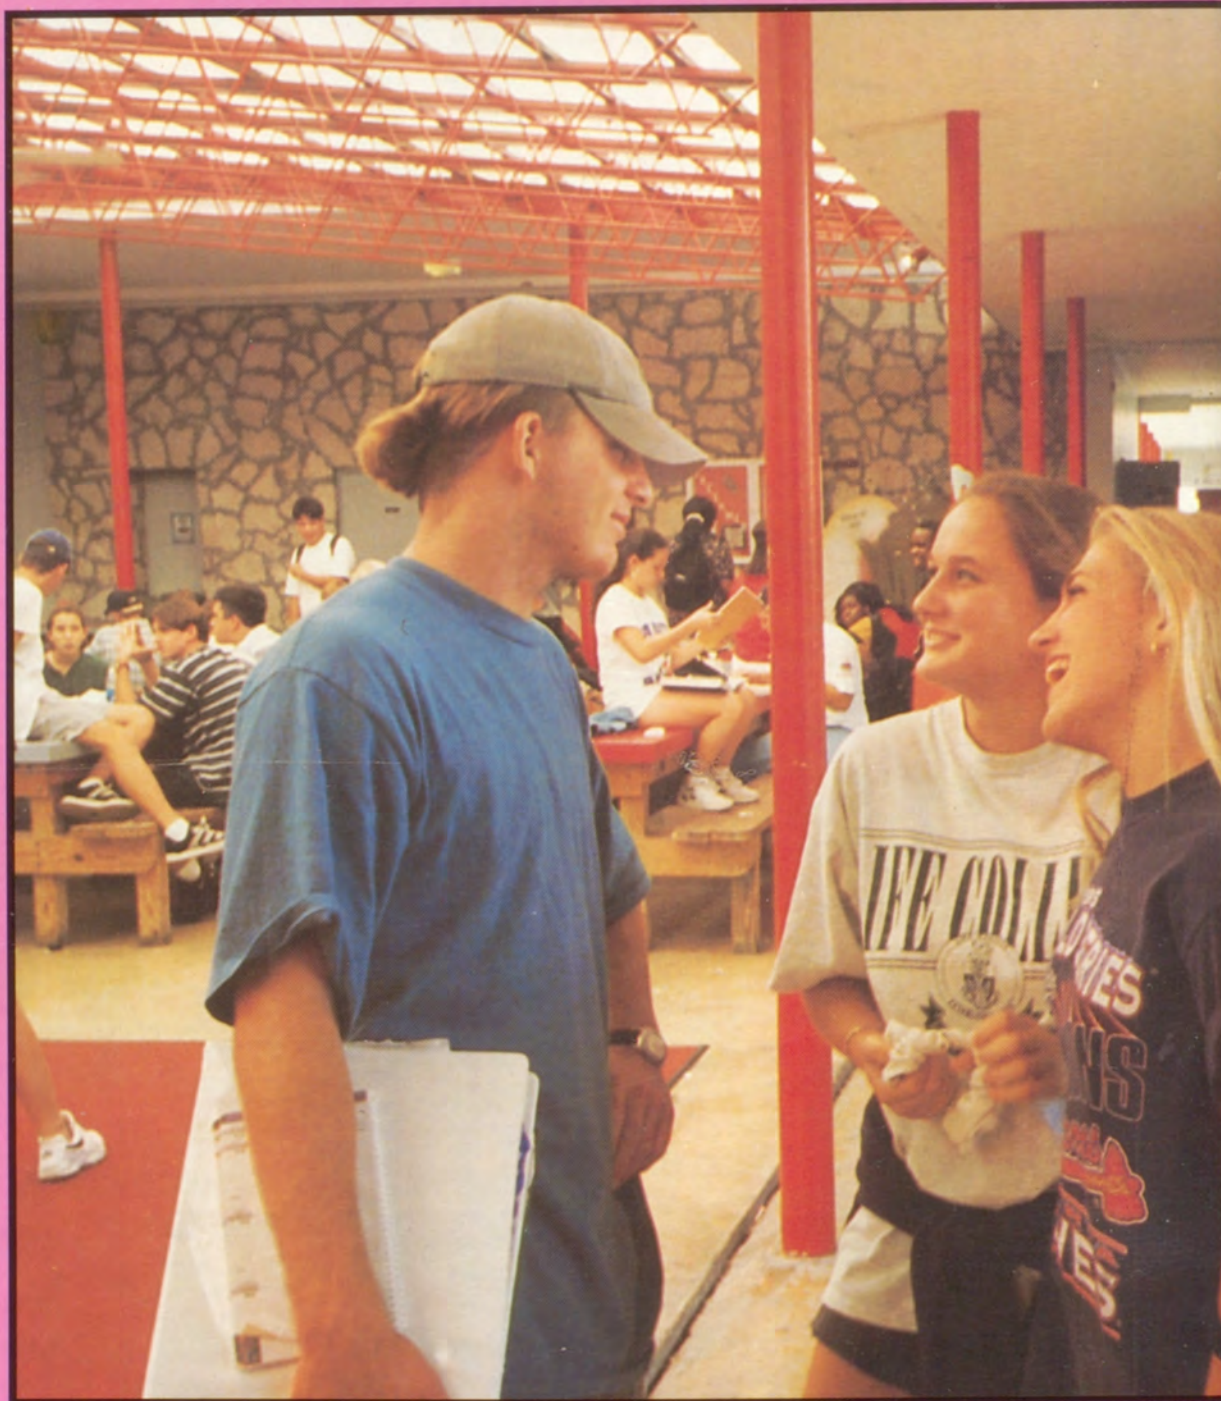

Seniors, Sherman Bendrauth and Levada Johnson talk about their weekend.

Junior, Lissete Cuervo helps fellow classmate, Inka Rodriguez with her things. Friends are always there to lend a hand.

Senior, David Zarate borrows money from his good friend, Randy Sterling. Friends are always there for each other when they leave their lunch money at home.

Conchs get Friendly

Angela Davila, Jeramy Stehly, and Ryan Burns watch the crowds of students walk by in the morning. Just sitting with friends and knowing they're nearby is comforting.

Seniors, Josh Bogart, Lauren Schultz, and Kimmy Eisenzimmer joke around at lunch. It's nice to have friends you can laugh with.

What is a Friend?

A special friend is someone who will always mean so much,

Someone who will always care and always keep in touch.

*A special friend is almost like a sister or brother,
For there are things that you can only tell to one another.*

*A special friend can help you through your hardest days,
Or brighten up the good times with their caring, thoughtful ways.*

*That's why of all the many joys that life could ever send,
There is no greater treasure than a very special friend!*

Senior, Margarita Olson lifeguards at the Navy B.O.Q. pool. She may acquire a good tan, but her main concern is the safety of the swimmers.

Senior, Tyler Appleby cleans up his mess after making a meal at T.G.I. Friday's. Working there helps him earn the extra money that all teenagers want.

Working Overtime

Stocking shelves in the sports department at Sears is just one of the many tasks that Junior, Micheal Malgrat must do at his job. Having a job helps him pay to gas up his truck.

Working long hours at Winn Dixie is how Senior, Bill Hicks earns his money.

Senior, Jacqui Conner not only gets a head start on her career choice but she makes some extra money too, by working at Island Dental.

Erica Vural, Senior, patiently writes down names for reservations at The Crab House, located in the Sheraton Suites.

Senior, April Gonzalez rings up an item while Junior, Janean Zapata assists her. Both girls work in the lingerie department at J.C. Penney's.

Lunch Time Regulars

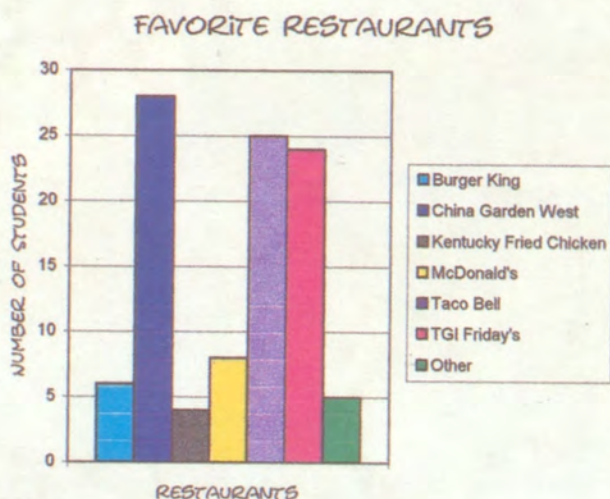

Juniors, Tony Ramos and Robert Owens grab a bite to eat from the cafeteria while looking for a place to sit in the crowded cafeteria.

Sophomores, Natasha Green, Kristen Walterson, Beau French, Ian Streeter, Ralph Garcia and Larry Davila spend their lunch time in the choir room. The risers make a good table. Right, guys?

Sophomores, Ami Emanuel and Russel Grabois joke around while chowing down on the patio. Students have many places around campus they can choose from to spend their lunch hour.

KWHS students spend their meal times at many different restaurants around Key West. Students were polled on their favorite restaurants.

Sophomores, Monique Green, Desantis Small, and Levere Watson find the cafeteria ideal for eating lunch and gossiping. Lunch time is a great opportunity to catch up with friends.

Seniors, Tamarah Salazar and Jennifer Perez sit down to lunch inside the cafeteria. Many students sit at the same table everyday during lunch time.

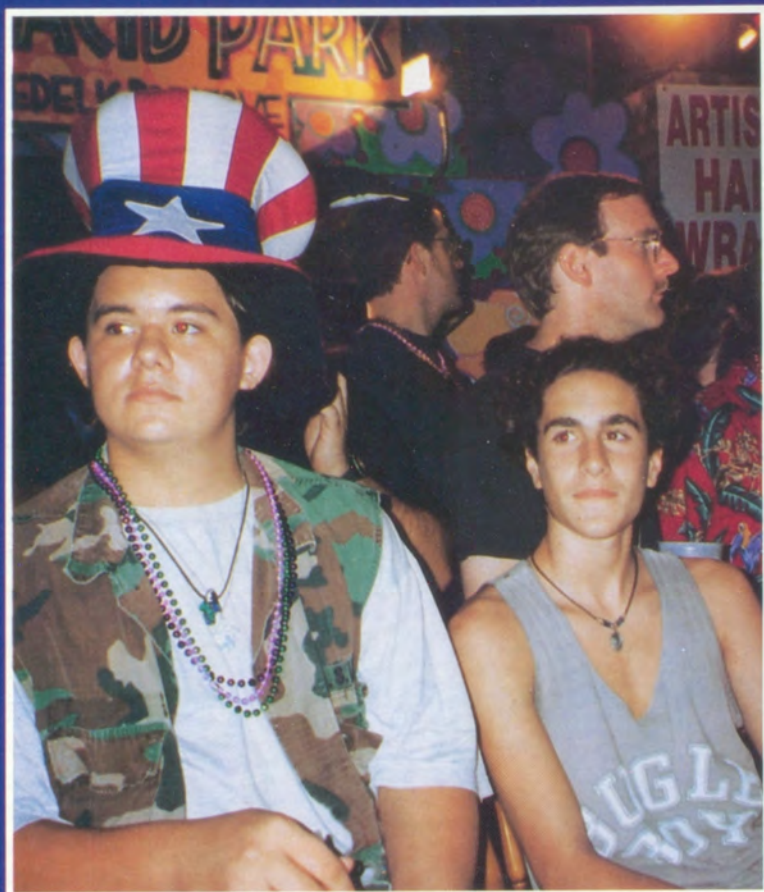

Christy Mattingly, Shannen O'Keefe, Lori Dixon, Gillian Knox, and Katie Billinger found a unique way to enjoy the great weather of Key West, by eating a picnic lunch in the grass between C-wing and D-wing.

Away from the rumble of the patio, this group of friends spends their lunch time chilling at the picnic tables.

Sophomores, Kenneth Clarke and Neil Cohen watch the Fantasy Fest parade pass by.

Junior, Inka Rodriguez is all flowered up for the Fantasy Fest street fair.

Senior, Francesca Madeo fixes her mask while patiently waiting for the annual Fantasy Fest parade. Being disguised makes Fantasy Fest surprisingly exciting.

Call of the Wild

Many KWHHS students participated in the different Fantasy Fest events. From the parade to Children's Day, student's could be found joining in the fun. The theme, Call of the Wild, was exciting and many student's found costumes to wear at the events. Fantasy Fest is a good way for student's to get involved with the community.

These two exchange students enjoy the Fantasy Fest Parade for the first time. Cute outfits girls.

Junior, Jackie Carson sells Fantasy Fest beads to tourists on Duval Street.

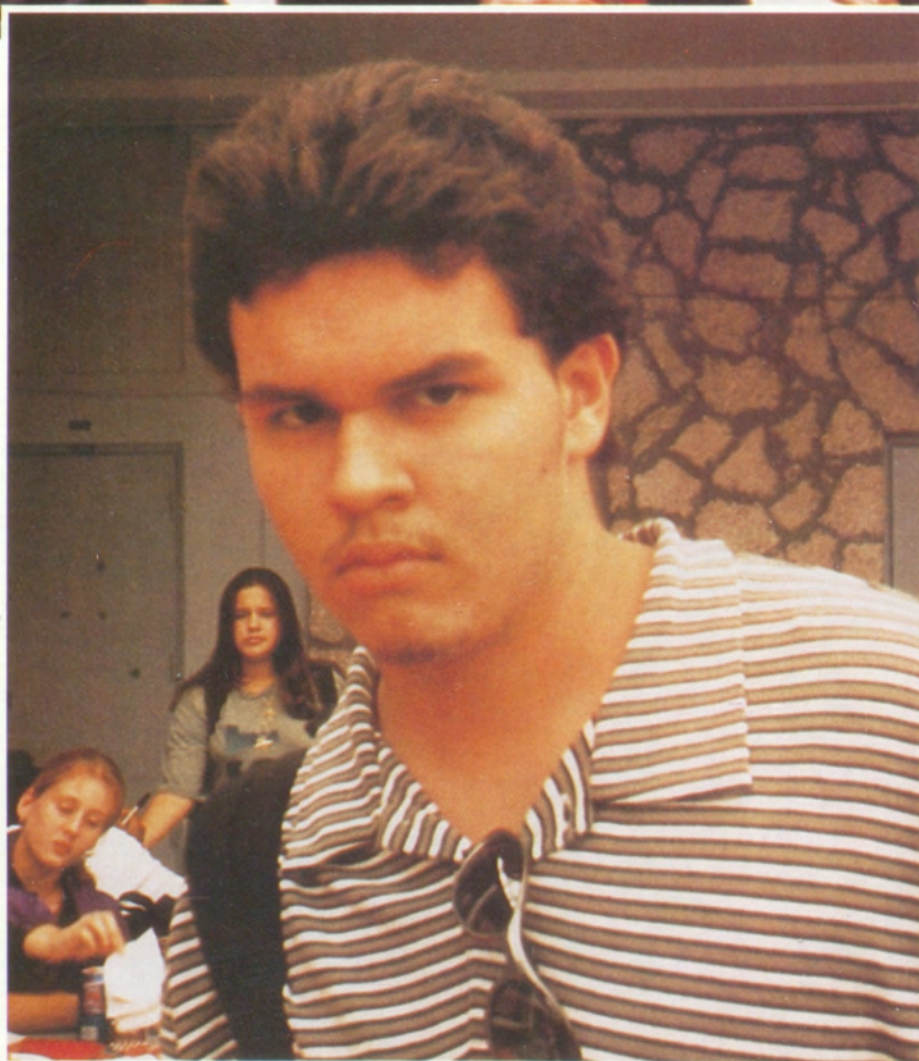

Sophomores, Ben Harrison and Angela Davila have a good time downtown during the Fantasy Fest parades. Many students went with their friends to enjoy the events.

Juniors, Erin Kelly, Paula Alvarez, and Nicole Reeb show their emotions by laughing with each other.

Freshmen, Ysla Bruggeman expresses her attitude toward the camera with a smirk.

Sophomore, Stephen Posey seems to be having a bad day by the look on his face.

Senior, Faith Williams looks angry for some unknown reason. What could it be?

Khalil Greene and Christian Twyman look bored and angry while sitting in the cafeteria.

Mirroring Spirit

Decked out in his flannel pj's, Senior, J.P. Gonzalez shows his school spirit by participating in Spirit Week.

Sophomores, Tommy Morales and Haley Haack show their Sophomore spirit on Class Color Day by dressing in the Sophomore color, gray.

Peter Batty, Sophomore, breaks out his tie for Dress-up Day, the third "theme" day of the week.

These tough twins, Sean "Muppet" Calleja and Brandon "Chupa" Charette may be dressed alike for Twin Day, but who has both the Brains and the Brawn in this duo?

Seniors, Latisha Peoples and Cashawn Peete sign Trenton Greene's toga on Senior Toga Day.

This group of friends decided to make Twin Day, Quintuplet Day. Cute Elmo shirts, guys! Many twins could be spotted around school that Tuesday.

This group of spirited Seniors, spell out their pride on Senior Toga Day.

Our Lady in White

The crowd waited in anticipation for the announcement of Homecoming Queen. Each nominee waited nervously for Mrs. Olsen to hopefully say their name. The moment finally arrived and suddenly the announcement was made: Erika Lisa Valdez was our 1996-1997 Homecoming Queen. Even from the stands you could see the excitement on her face. The crowd went wild as the Crimson Tide boys started singing "Lady in White". The anticipation was over and the girl's were escorted off the field.

This group of friends are waiting in line for pictures, but only some realized they were already being pictured.

Students waited in anticipation for the elevator that would take them to the Top of the LaConcha.

Refractions off the Water

Senior Josh Borgart gets some helpful hints from Mrs. Olson about colleges.

The environment around us shapes our personalities. It is because of our surroundings that we become who we are. From the diverse groups found in our school, will come our future leaders. Here, in our school, there are many different types of people and all of them have unique traits. Walking among our hallowed halls you can find all types of groups from skaters to preps to Bubbas to groups who claim they have no clique. Whether you fit in a group or not, one thing is obvious and that is that even within a clique there are many different types of personalities and people. "I float around from one group to another and don't have a specific clique. I like having that ability because it allows me to broaden my scope of friends," said Senior Jessica McGee.

The people here in our school will someday blossom into diplomats and politicians, doctors and lawyers, artists and actors, journalists and spiritual leaders. All of those people will find that the drive to move forward and succeed was based on their surroundings, their high school and environment. It is clear that we as students are simply reflections of the water, our life force. As the ripples of water grow and change so do our personalities. Inside ourselves the actions of our pasts will shine through and reflect on our futures.

Brian O'Connell and Sean Moralis like to hang out and talk with friends during the 15 minute break. It gives them time to relax before class.

Jacqui Conner and Patricia Jackson show their Class Spirit by working together on the Senior Coffin. Hiding the Senior Coffin from the Juniors is a tradition. This year the Seniors were successful.

Seniors, Class Of 1997, had a lot to think about as their High School years began to wrap up. Going to class was not as easy as it had been when they were Freshman. The cool and fun things arose. The Class of 1997 had a lot of spirit to go around. They always excelled in spirit competitions. "School spirit represents the spirit you have for your school," said Mercedes Juarez. Even though most Seniors picked on lower class students, Jennifer Schuetz notes, "The class of 2000 and on should live well your freshman year. It gets steadily harder after that." College life is approaching rapidly. The Class of 1997 had a lot to think about as their High School years came to an end until 2007 which is their 10 year Class Reunion.

Juniors

Shanna Powell and Shawna Bowden show their band spirit by putting on their berets then going into the drum room to have some band fun.

Juniors, Class of 1998, got set on their future: making up lost credits, getting their first chance at Advanced Placement courses. "A lot of Juniors were more into everyday school and getting ready for their future," said Jamie Carson, "but there was always Prom, Class Rings, and Junior/Senior field day to look forward to." Juniors were as strong as ever this past year. "We have been through a lot these past three years, but no matter what happens our spirit still shines through till the end," said Sherry Kennedy. Michelle Leverone adds that, "the Junior Class had the most spirit by far, and we are not afraid to stand up and show it." Keeping up with classes and all the Competition with the Senior Class, the Juniors had a tough year. If it was not Academic work, most Juniors had Club activities, or afternoon jobs to keep on top of too. "This past year the Junior Class has a lot of memories to carry on to their Senior year, and we will always live and remain known by our spirit," said Dawn Grooms.

AP Economics is one of the AP classes Juniors are able to take to get College credit for and not have to take it in College. Even though the class is difficult, the students enjoy the challenge brought to them. From the looks on their faces, Mr. Mc Kell must be telling them something interesting or the students are really lost.

Nick Whalen and Jesse Smith enjoy their lunch break by drinking Powerade which seems to be the drink of the year.

Toni Sitzler and Flynn McCaffrey stop for a moment to think about their next class. It is not always easy to go to class every day and remeber what to do, especially if you have an A/B block.

Juniors

Emily Jadowski, Melissa McCurlden, Laura Picklap, and Natalie Watson stop to pose in their beautiful costumes. Once a year the Junior Class has to dress up for American Author's Festival.

Amanda Blacklock and Leah Deseris stop to chat about their day. The 90's bring all kinds of unusual styles and self expression with it.

Brittany Knapp shows us her unusual clothing. The Disco era has returned. The skirt definitely makes the outfit.

Nicolette Alex-Sands and Leslie Skiver really have modeling talent when it comes to pictures. They really had a lot of spirit when it came to American Author,s Festival. Junior Class spirit really was strong.

Sophomores

Ashley Jones and Francesca Santiago have trouble eating during their break. Donuts are a hard thing to eat. The break in between first and second period is a necessary thing with the Block Scheduling.

Sophomores, Class of 1999, are not new and not forgotten. They realized that they had grown up. They were no longer the new comers, but they were, "still under the respected Class," said Leve Poole. With all the pressures coming from the upper classmen, Sophomores faced a new challenge this past year, Block Scheduling. "I like it," said Jamee Driver. "It's a lot esier to get good grades." Deana Valdez quoted, "It's o.k.; it's new; so I'm not sure if I like it." Last year, being Freshman, people did not think much of them. Now that they are Sophomores they have the advantages of being in a class above the new comers. The Sophomores were involved in a lot of school clubs and organizations. They were also involved in the Community. Many Sophomores had after school jobs, too, but they reallyed enjoy hanging out with their friends. Many students went to the movies or to the beach in their spare time. "I like to go out and party," said Devon Sarver. Each Class is unique in their own way, and this years Sophomore Class has shown this to be true.

Fred Sellers is not afraid to eat the Cafetria food. That day's lunch menu is not too bad. At least he eats a normal amount of food, for a guy at lunch anyways. The price is right; $1.75 is not bad for the price of a whole meal, even at Mc Donalds.

Freshman

Peter Mychalcewycz, Steven Welch, and Simon Lange enjoy their 10 minute break in between first and Second block. A real convenience to get a breather before sitting in another class.

Freshman Class of 2000 is the beginning of a new decade. They have jumped from the lake to the sea in less than two months. That was not an easy task. "It is a lot easier and you have a lot more sports to choose from. The only bad thing is the Block Scheduling, it can become a drag" said, Dianne Helihiy. The Class of 2000 adapted well to the Academic changes. Leana Lance replies, "I like how we only have four classes. KWHs is a lot easier than Sugarloaf. I really enjoy being with new people." Freshman come to a new horizon meeting new people, and trying new things. "I like to meet different people and the classes go by quickly. It's just a lot of fun!" said, Dara Arnold. The Freshman were very confident of their Class. "We like High School a lot better than Middle School because there is more individuality. The class of 2000 has a lot of potential" said, Lindsay Saltmarsh and Rebecca Travis. As they embarked on their first High School years, friends changed, and their future was just beginning. "I like it because there are so many new people to meet. My high school years have finally started" said, Bonnie Stump. Freshman have a lot of spirit, enthusiasm, and potential. "It took me a while to get used to it, but now I love it!" said, Kristin Story.

The Light of the Mind

Dante Marrone lets Amanda Gilmore conduct a radical style change on his hair: Platinum blond, in the Conch Hair Salon.

A great variety of courses were offered to the student body this year. The choices were endless. There was everything from Nail Tech and Cosmetology to Health Careers to AP subjects. As the school year began, there was a hectic craze that surrounded the school. It was the first year that the school switched from the normal six period day to the four by four block scheduling. "The first couple of weeks were very hectic.

Many students came wanting a schedule change even though they were told that after August 3, no schedule changes would be made, but eventually everything smoothed out," said Mrs. Tingley, Assistant Principal. With the new scheduling system some students felt that it made work loads in hard classes easier. Senior Kelly Cabanas said, "I really like the whole block scheduling idea. It gave me more free time to get my classwork done, which made me have less Ever wonder how all that soda money gets out? Each day, our bookkeeper, Mrs. Galloway slyly removes the dough.

Success is a goal we should all strive for. Setting his sights high, senior J. P. Gonzolas considers the ivy-league path and seeks guidance from our college adviser, Mrs. Callaja.

Mr. Valdez, never without a smile, shares a story with Mrs. Tingley. It is not often that we find Assistant Principal Anne Tingley indulging in free time.

Mrs. Olsen takes a moment from her many duties as principal to smile. It is the triumphant look of one who has led her school through its first year of block scheduling with flying colors.

Ms. Oaks presents Superintendent Walker a certificate as an Honorary Truancy Monitor. The administration concentrated much effort to keep students in school and off the streets and out of trouble. Also, the block scheduling this year allowed for much interesting classes and less motivation to hit the beaches.

Electives

Everyone needs to take a break now and then from the tedium of academic courses. Electives provide students with the opportunity to take other classes not part of the core curriculum. They come in various forms, from intellectual to creative, to hands on and more. It is a chance to express one's individuality and explore hidden talents.

For this reason, electives are also helpful for future occupations. High school is a time of discovery. The path you take now will often be similar to your activities after graduation. Electives help students to choose and mold this path or just have some fun before the next big test!

Electives are great because there is such a variety to choose from. They help me express my personality and also cool down from the stress of harder classes.

Dion Cavataio works in the school store, providing both a service to students and involving herself in the school.

Another freshman lost their head! Lauren Meggs practices her hair cutting techniques in cosmetology.

Wood shop is an important elective. It appeals to those students who like to use their hands and teaches them a skill which can provide an income.

Taking care of the future, Mellisa Cauthen and Sarah Ashe learn how to hold, help, and understand children, in child care.

Seniors Virginia Smith and Danielle Sellers show their leadership by coloring inside the lines! Leadership 101.

The staff is there to help the teachers and the students, but who helps them? Students collect the attendance.

Typing away on her computer, Yamili Gonzalez is delighted not to be in a classroom.

Team sports is a favorite among students. It provides time away from studies, exercise, and fun with friends!

In pajama day's laid back atmosphere, a group of students review a script for Mrs. Grimstead's class.

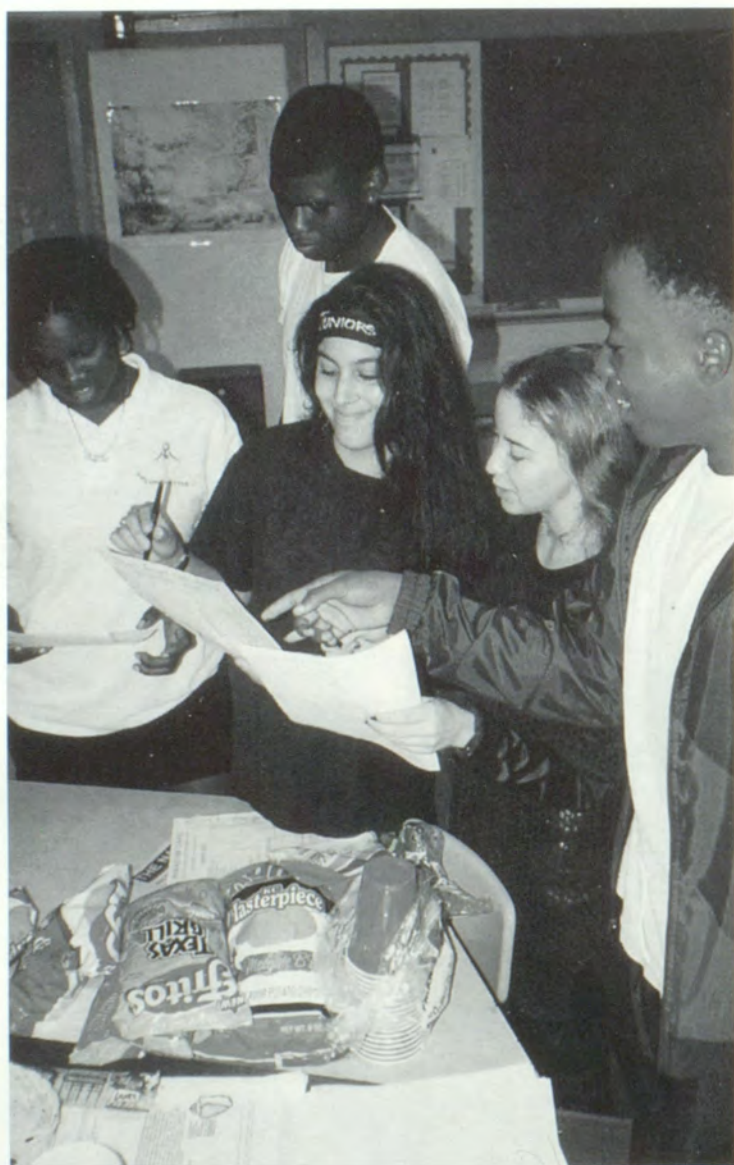

Benjamin Daniels, Mr. Conrad, Amber Macdonald, and Christian Maribona stare intently at the screen in TV productions class.

Math

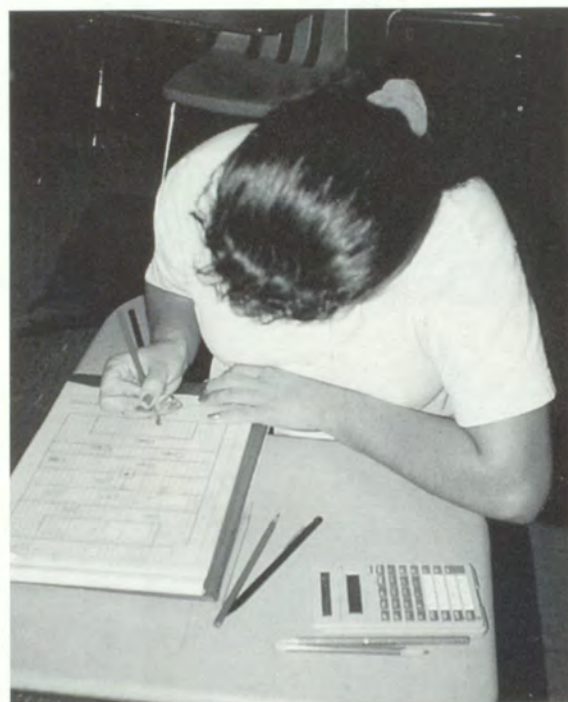

Math the most basic subject has spread its horizons. Not only did class time enlarge, but so did the material learned. Math is basic and straight forward, normally the easiest to catch on, but it can get tedious and boring. Teachers had to find interesting ways to show addition, multiplication and those difficult formulas.

Math is necessary skill in today's society. To keep up with the demand for more arithmetic knowlege, Students are given more opportunities to take these classes. This year, because of block scheduling, it was possible to earn two credits in the course of one school year. This is helpful for students who aim for early college admission or wish to open their schedule for more electives.

A few students look over their grades in amazement. It is not very often that an entire class makes an "A" on their math test. So, in honor of the occasion, their teacher threw a victory party.

After desperately using a calculator to figure out the answer to her geometry problem, Dayme Campus graphs a design in her notebook.

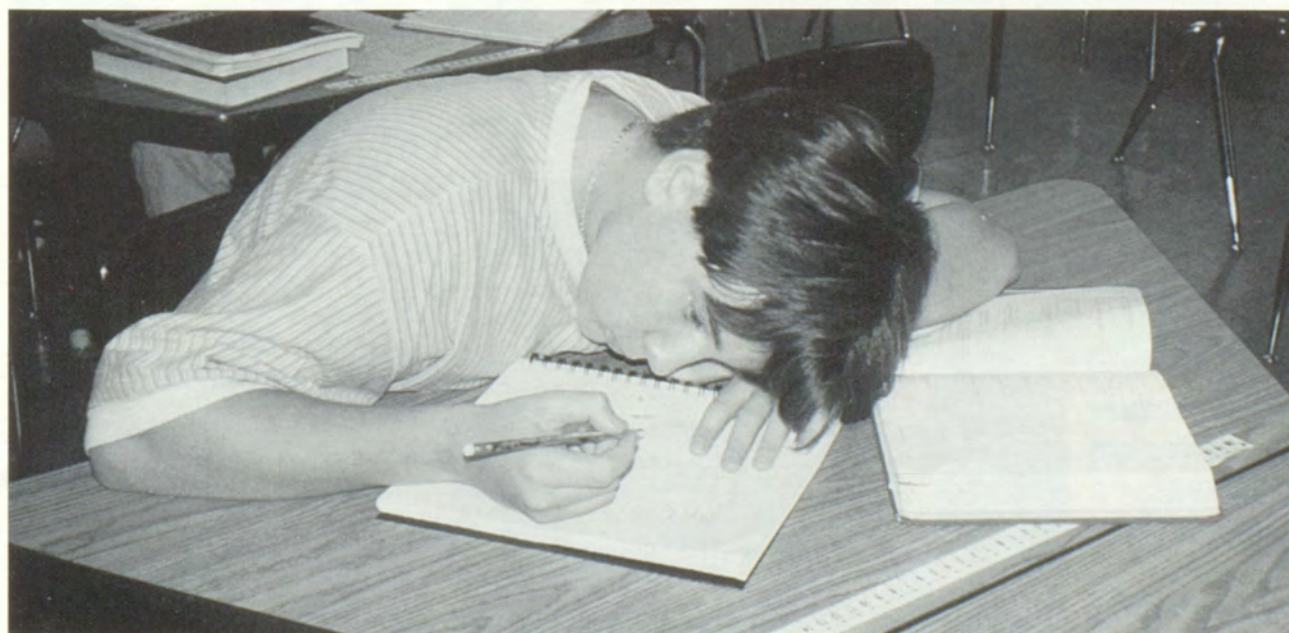

By having their closed math book sitting on the table during lunch, Nicole Ryan and Christy Toledo practice a new type of studying. If the book is there, maybe the information will travel to their brains through osmosis.

"I like math because it is an easy way to organize visual concepts onto paper. It's also the only class you are allowed to cheat in because you can use a calculator."
— Trenten Greene

After school is a good time for students to catch up on work they may need help with. Mrs. Nystrom guides Levana Cohen through some difficult Algebra II problems, checking for mistakes and clearing up any confusion.

Ryan Salazar wants to be sure he gets every detail correct as he works out his Algebra assignment. Putting your eyes closer to the paper can help make details clearer.

"Science is an important class because it teaches us about the world and why it works, and the experiments are really fun."

Robert Gallo

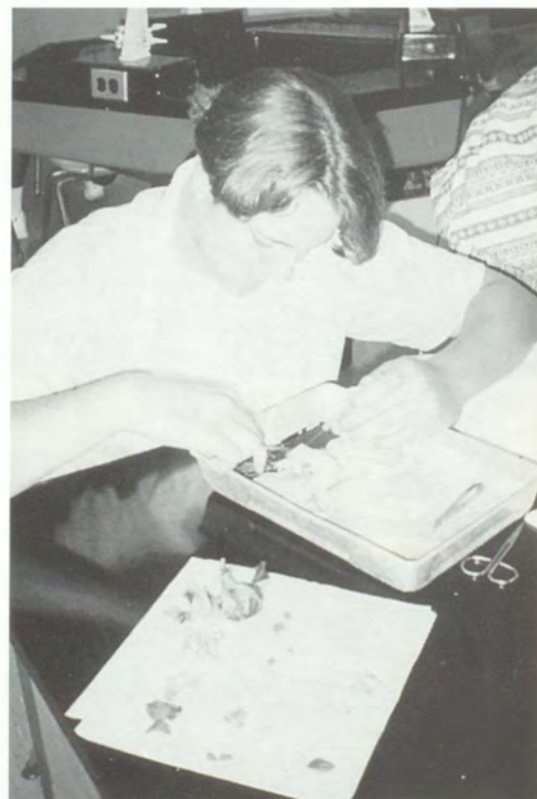

Toying with dangerous chemicals? Naughty, naughty! Erin Kelly, Sean Haggerty, and Steven Parker attempt to bend glass during a chemistry experiment with goggles and a smile.

The other side of hard work is the reward recieved. Yasarai Serrano discusses her grade in science class with Mrs. Fant.

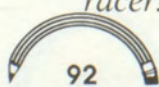

Daniel Farina dissects a frog in Mrs. C's biology class. Thanks for pointing out Kermit's internal organs to us, Daniel, really, yuck!

Teachers often use different techniques to help their students learn. Mrs. Renier's unique style of visual teaching captivates her students, gaining their undivided attention.

Marcela Morgan sends her "potato car" down the physics ramp in Mr. Mathy's class. Go speed racer! Go!

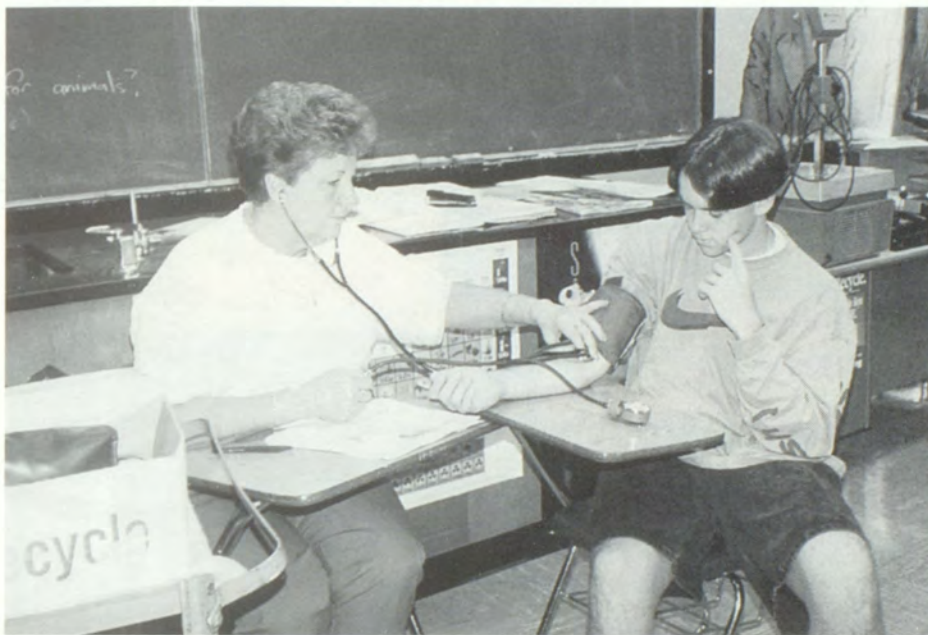

Science

For science, the new 4x4 schedule was a great improvement. There was much more time for hands on experience. Labs could be finished in 1 day instead of left out after night for the next day. That meant less rotting of the dissections.

With all this time on their hands some teachers even taught science outside of the classroom. That gave lots of hands on experience. Things like beach walks to collect & view life in the ocean were big forms of teaching. Students had a new lab practically every week.

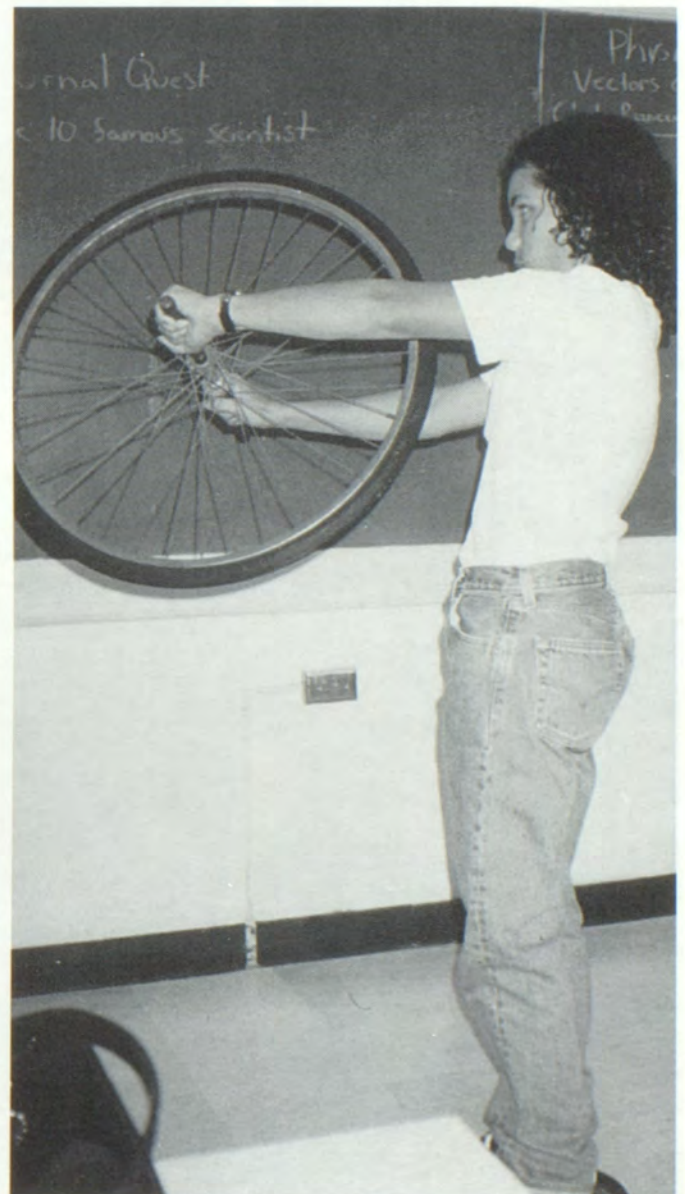

Ryan Mitchum is astounded by the amount of weight his toothpick bridge can hold before cracking in two. In Mr. Mathy's physics class, hands on experience is what it is all about.

During a demonstration in Mrs. Parker's class, Kevin Donahue thinks to himself, "I wonder if I have high blood pressure?"

Who says school can't be all fun and games! While propelling off the J-wing balcony, Jennifer Batty demonstrates that the laws of Newtonian physics can be really exciting.

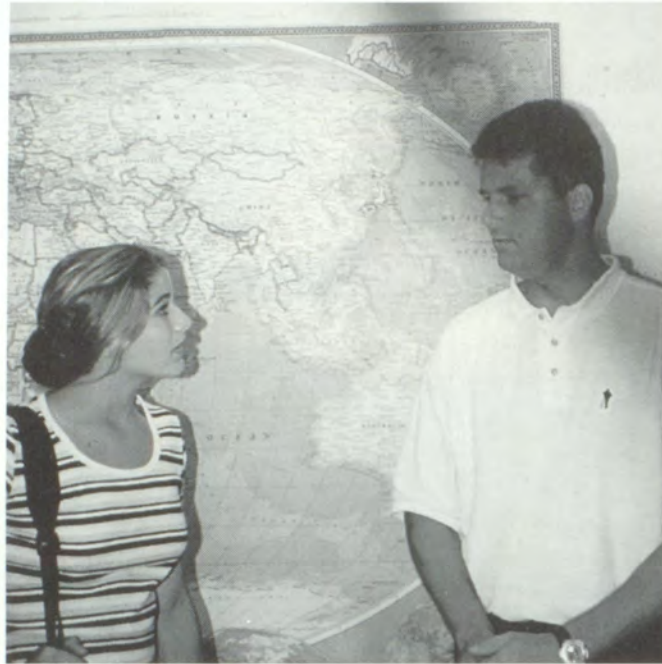

No, Allie Marino does not actually think that she is a bicycle. By acting as a human axis in her science class, she displays properties of rotation and revolution.

History

Who cares what menial event took place five-hundred years ago? Even if it were significant, what good does it do for the future? Plenty. That is why history is taught in every school, in every state.

There is a saying, "You learn from your mistakes." Well, history is about mistakes. It is about all the things people have done and why. Hopefully, by learning the origins of people's actions, we can avoid reliving the past.

There are many aspects of history, so there are many different courses taught ranging from Christopher Columbus to Bill Clinton. Even the most current events are in the past and can afford experience. One day, a present student may become famous, may even be put in the history books, and they'll be glad history is kept.

Keia Hughes contentedly colors a political cartoon in Mr. Wardlow's American history class.

What? Teaching A history class how to play cards! Adrian Emanuelson and friend compare life on the frontier to a game of poker.

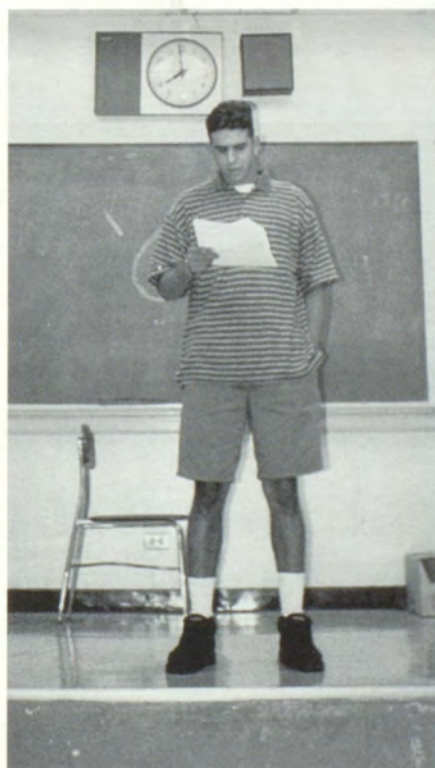

Just hangin' out, Regina Paternini and Anna Hyszcak take the time in their Contemporary history class for pretzels and the latest issue of NewsWeek.

Keynesian or monetary? Ask macro economics teacher Mr. McKell while his junior protoge contemplate beside him.

"Taking history has broadened my view of the world. By studying events of our past and their impacts on society, we are better prepared to make decisions concerning our future."
— Tracy Anzalone

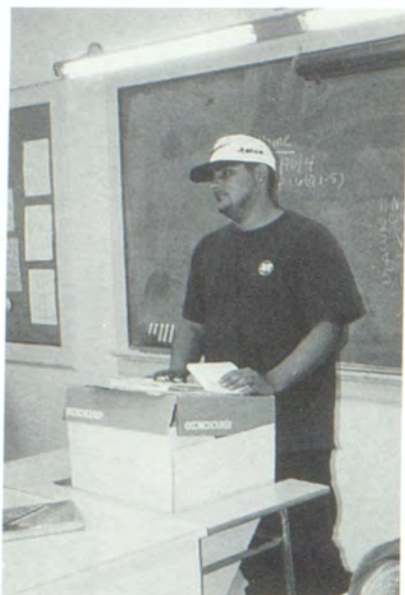

Micheal Balbeuna presents an oral report in his history class. Good job Micheal!

Senior Beth Childress appears baffles over the information Mr. Vanloon points out in history class. Charlie Bishop is shocked at the intriguing information.

Jacqueline Bojorge writes down the homework assignment for her history class.

Summer Rose Davis and Tim Gilkisen present "Guliver's Travel's" to their A.P. English class. Ms. McLean often uses visual aids to capture the class' participation and interest.

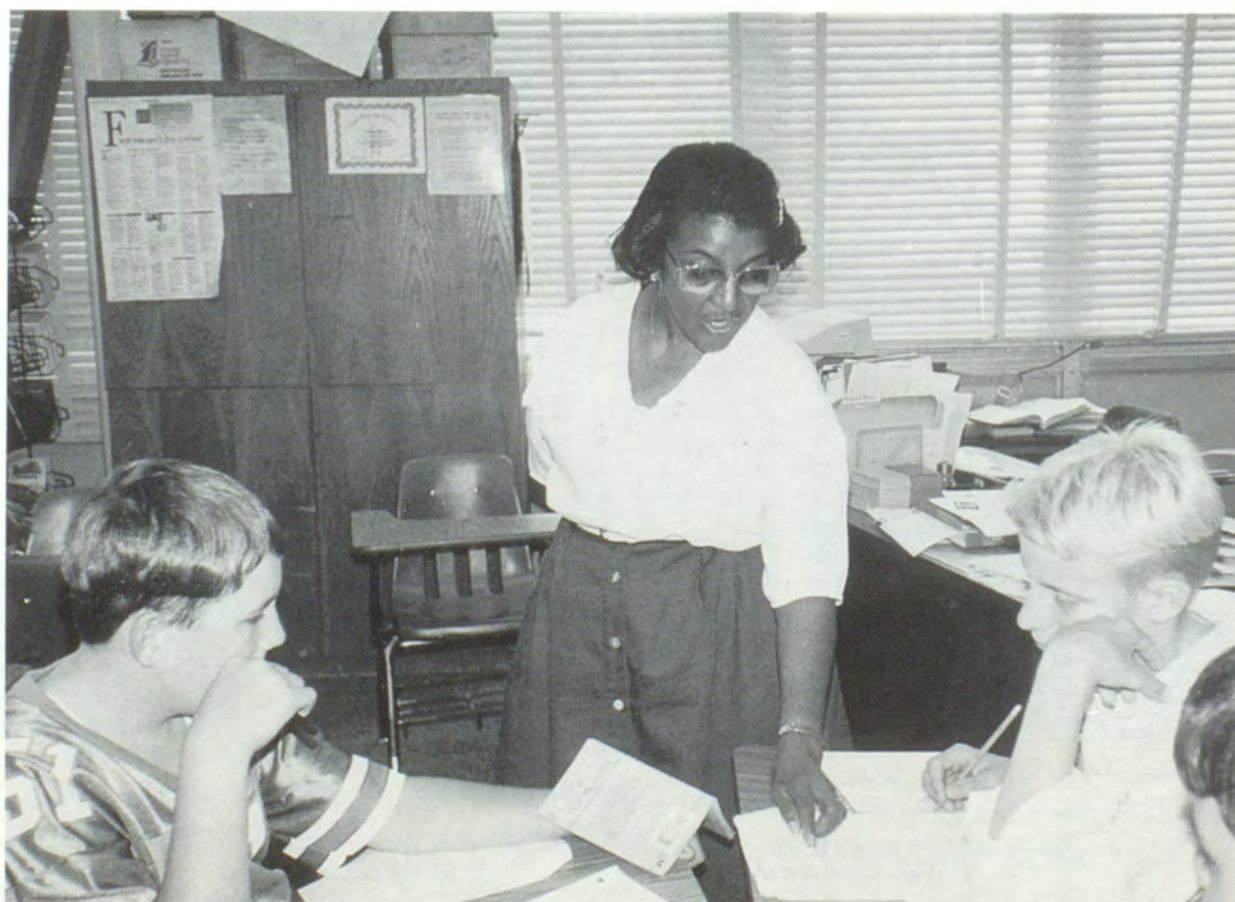

Ross McKee generously lectures Mrs. McLean's fourth block A.P. english class on the finer points of persuasive writting.

Alway the patient one, Ray Torres calmy waits for the students to quiet down before passing out their English test.

Inverted sentences and past participles? Mrs. Sommers explains a few of the harder concepts to her english class.

"I thought that taking an A.P. course would mean too much work, but now I am glad I made the effort. It has really helped to improve my writting and I get college credit."

— Even Haskel

English

Mrs. McLean's class, sitting in its traditional circle which marks the "socratic" method of learning, discusses the latest book they read.

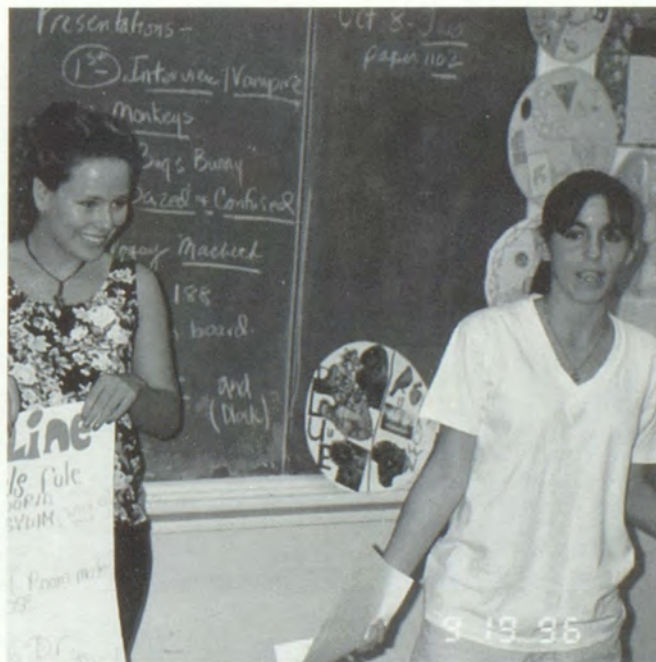

Mrs. Freer is so excited about her students grades on their latest test that she can barely hold back her joy while passing them out.

Classes really changed this year. With all the new things, it is amazing that there were any remnants of the past. With the new block schedule, there was much more time for each class, making less homework. This was very successfully in english classes because it is a class of expression, oral reports, and presentations were no longer cut short by the bell.

Four credits of english are required for high-school diplomas, so basically everyone had an opportunity to experience this subject in its newest form. Ranging from regular to advanced placement, there were many choices for students, practically guaranteeing a suitable class for everyone. Giving student more chances to expand their mind instead of the normal tedious busywork became popular and it really seemed to work.

Just For Seniors

Your senior year is your happiest year, but also your saddest. You can finally be free, live on your own. You get to make your own decisions, like what college to go to or what profession will mark your future. After graduation, from the small community of Key West, students disperse like seeds in the wind. They spread all across the United States, and sometimes further.

Our senior year of high school is the end of an era, yet the doors which close when the diploma is accepted are the keys to new opportunities and horizons. Seniors go from being at the top of the school to being back at the bottom, only to work to the top again, and hopefully staying there forever. The memories of Key West High School will always stay, and the reflections good times with friends never will be forgotten.

"What a drag!" exclaims Michail Balbuena. It's so hard to find just the right shade of lipstick that will last through All Hallows Eve.

Adam McConnell takes a break. After moving away, he has returned as a senior and must prepare to leave again for college.

Senior Josh Borgart a new face on the block, another day in paradise, while casually leaning against a Banyan tree on campus.

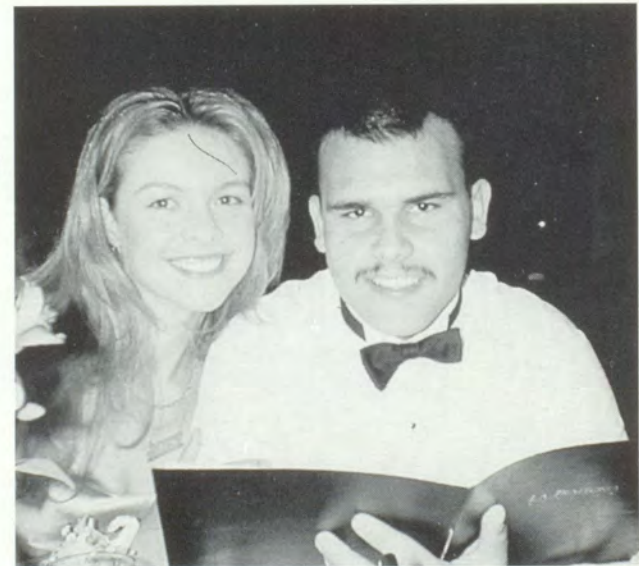

Jorge Lopez, AKA, Miss Kiki, puts on a slinky party dress for a night on the town. Look out boys!

Senior "J.P." Gonzalez is laughing at his own jokes again. He is coming up with ways to entertain us for the morning announcements.

Seniors Regina Patternitti and Joey Lopez are "Lost in a Dream" while trying to decide on an entree on homecoming night.

Sandra Gail DonMoyer, Jessup Casada, Josh Borgert and Sean M. stop working for a munit, when they see the camera, to pose.

Allie Marino and Matt Parke look a little shocked, but Allie shows off her teeth, smiling big and pretty. Still confused Matt?

Stacey Kelly thinks long and hard before buying her soda. She wants to make sure she gets the flavor that she likes best.

Jessica Carr smiles for the camera, but Paul Herman doesn't seem to know a picture is being taken. She has a reason to smile because it's her birthday.

Last minute preparations are taken before the senior float pulls off. A group of seniors worked long and hard to make this float the best. It had three scenes consisting of a castle and forest scene, graduation dreams, and a lovely underwater scene. Even though it did not receive first place in the homecoming parade it's the true number one in everyone's mind.

A group of rebel seniors, who broke away from the group, put the finishing touches on the "coffin" which they made. Projects like these are meant to keep the class together, working in unity towards the common goal - pride and spirit.

Doesn't little Richie Knowles look cute in his jamies! This senior struts his stuff during Spirit Week.

Oh, no! Where did it go? Christina Vargas is really concentrating on her task she got as a student aid.

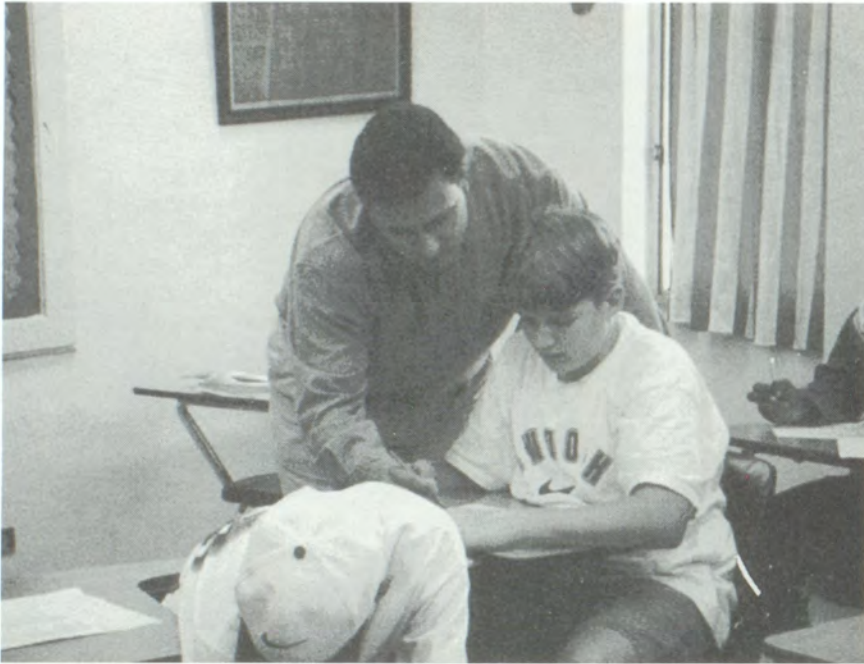

Nice glasses! Shop class lets senior Adam Korzen express his individuality by magically turning pieces of wood into works of art.

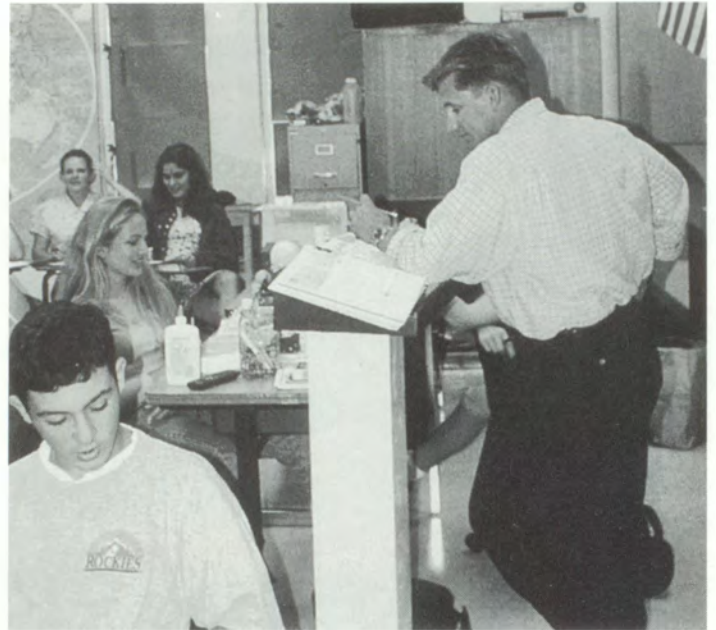

New Teachers/New Subjects

Besides getting a handful of teachers this year, KWHS got some new subjects that were taught by teachers that have been here. This added a new twist to some traditional subjects. Bringing a new style of teaching to spice up old classes, both students and teachers alike enjoyed the switch. Mrs. Edgington went from Mathematics to cooking, while Mr. Wardlow Made a less drastic jump from American history to social sciences, to name a few.

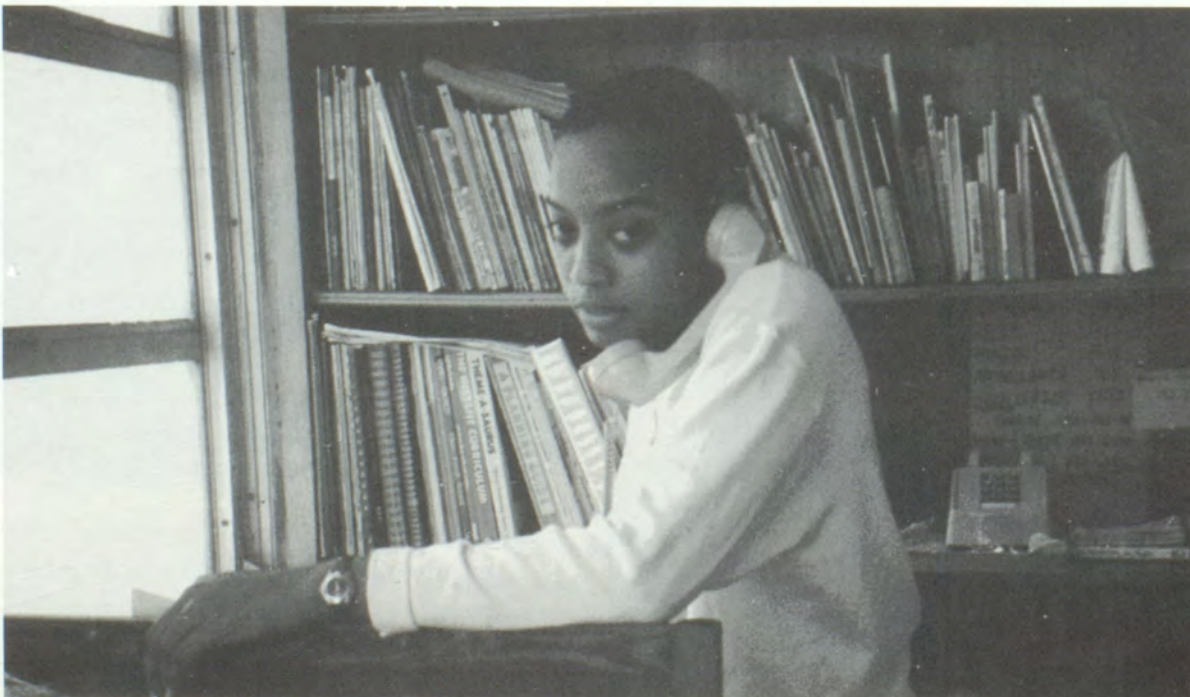

With new subjects, new teachers, and new scheduling, there was a lot "new" things happening. In with the new and out with the old was how things were worked this year. It all goes to show what can be accomplished through hard work and optimism and also that cliches don't always hold true. As you can see, old dogs can be taught new tricks!

A new teacher on a new campus, Mr. Vinson assists one of his students on the constitutional amendments.

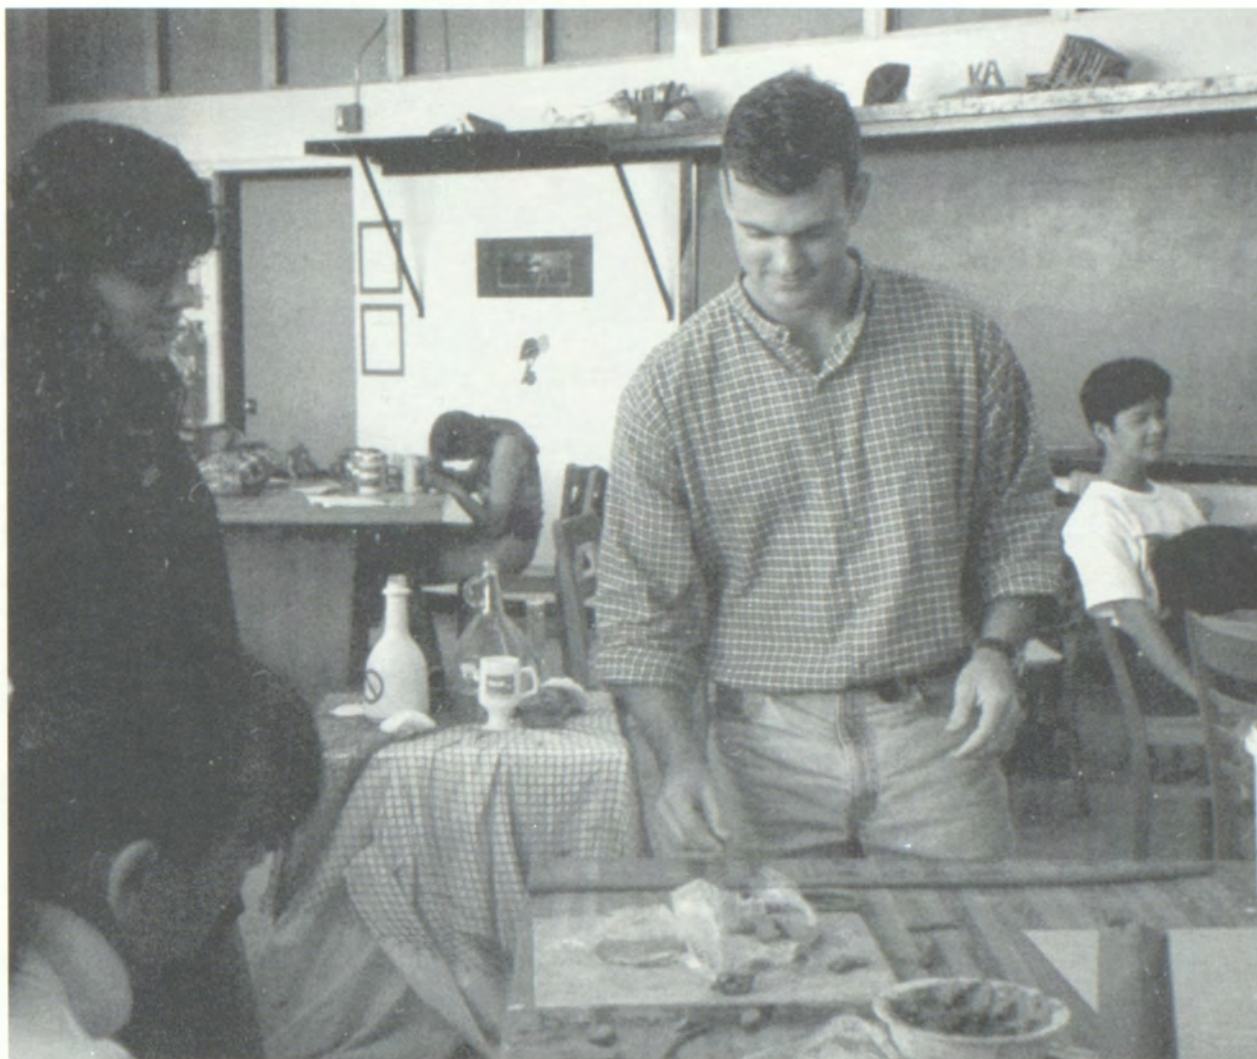

Mr. Wardlow is taking a whole new twist this year. He teaches history as well as a new introduction to social sciences. Here he discusses the principles of psychology with his class.

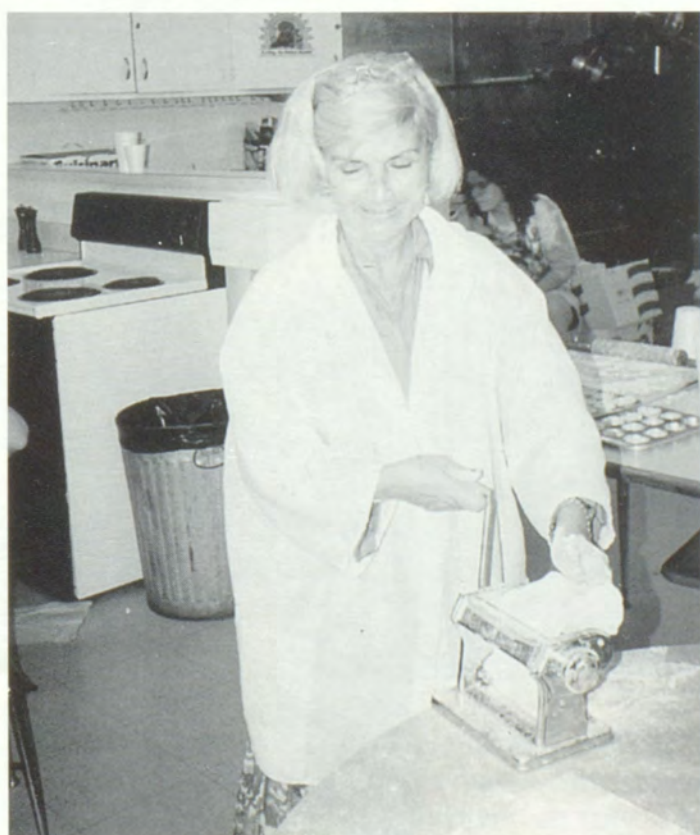

There, there, Ms. Ashe. The day will be over soon. Changing diapers and feeding children can be difficult in the day care center, especially for a new teacher.

"This high school is one of the most dynamic in the state. With its mixture of students and faculty it is a much more enjoyable environment than many teachers at other schools enjoy." - Joseph Mathy

Mr. Henderson, our new art teacher, suggests to some students a new technique in sculpting.

Being an old teacher with a new subject is difficult, but also an exciting career change. Just ask Mrs. Edgington, this year she is flattening dough in cooking class; last year she was solving math problems.

Mrs. Edwards and Mr. Donaldson discuss how proud they are about the number of students interested in attending college. Mrs. Arnold looks upon the crowd, smiling with pride.

Shakespeare's writting is powerful. When Juliet is given a sleep inducing potion, Mrs. Blanco's freshman english fall under the spell. Guess who was studying for that test!

Work, work, work. Tim even studies during American history. With extra-curricular activities, clubs, or after school jobs students often study whnenever they get a chance.

In the wee hours before the hustle and bustle of school, Jessica Cranney looks over her class notes.

Holy over-load, bat girl!

studies math and English at the same time and doesn't even "bat" an eyelash.

Alicia Fife, Jennifer King, and Gabriella Perman discuss layouts, which is about all the studying needed for the yearbook's dedicated staff.

Studying

The funny thing about learning is that it doesn't end when the bell rings after fourth block; it doesn't even end with a handshake and diploma. The give and take pendulum of knowledge continues through young and old, thick and thin, beginning and end. Yet humans only use 4% of their brains.

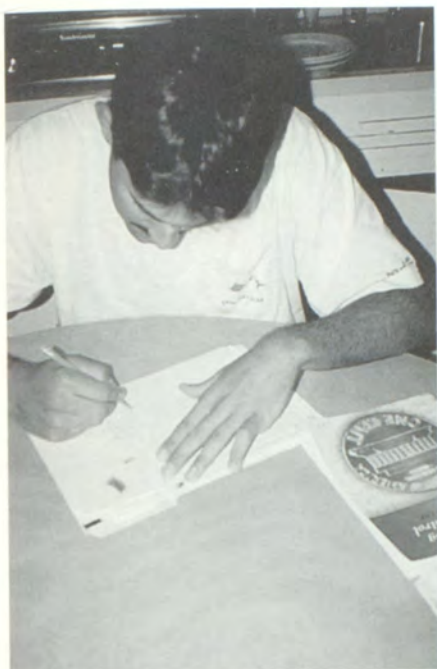

How can students absorb information, steadily, in order to pass all the quizzes and tests, complete each lab and type every paper? In a word, "study". Yes! That dreaded thing which everyone has in common five minute a day or five minutes before a test. But studying is not limited only to school. Some day, in some student's near future, while studying for a job they will reflect back on happy lunchroom cramming sessions and smile.

"Extracurricular activities take up a lot of my free time.

Sometimes I will study in the car on the way to school or during class."

- Jaime Carson

In cooking class, Alex Canalejo draws on his folder. Perhaps he will be a famous artist one day.

Some students study by discussing material with others. Jason Oaks talks candidly with a fellow classmate about a future test.

Practice makes perfect. Mislady Moralis finishes a sketch.

Anna Hysczak and Jason Lenard spend their spare time studying in the library. Hopefully Anna is keeping an eye out for Mrs. Tod, who does not allow food in the room.

Que pasta? No compression Espaniol? Mr. Boza checks Erin Kelly's homework during fourth block spanish class.

Mrs. Grimstead critiques a group of students on their performance in drama class.

Another Michaelangelo? Christie Matingly has chosen sculpting class to focus her creativity.

Humanities

Humanities were developed in order to balance out a student's academic career and provide a service. What kind of service? Well, language is communication; choir is music for the ears and entertainment for the soul; art is pleasing for the eyes of others and works great for presents.

Many of the core curriculum courses are designed to inform students, but do not necessarily provide them with a skill that would benefit others. For example, it is nice to know when the Magna Carta was formed or The Declaration of Independence written. However, you can't give that to your grandmother for Christmas.

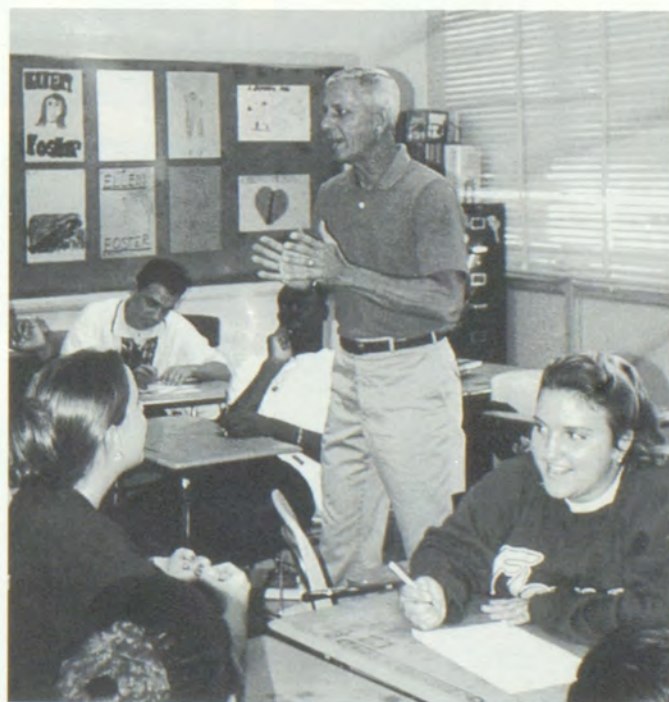

Conchettas provide entertainment for the community. Jennifer Torres, Michelle Leverone, and Brooke Donohue perform at Children's Day.

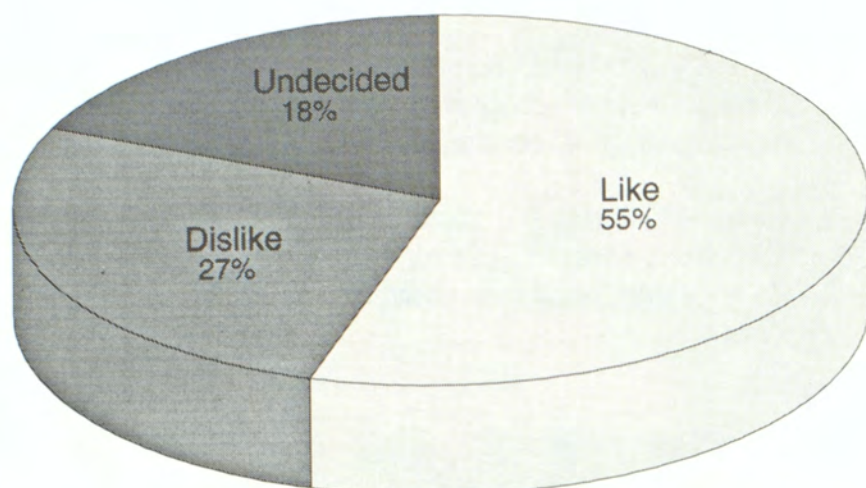

"Spanish class gives me the opportunity to express my feelings to our Spanish speaking school mates. 'Me gusta a nadar.'"
— Kimmy Eisenmier

Mr. Puig converses with Misleidy Morales, one of his more advanced students. One of the benefits of taking a foreign language, such as Spanish, is that the language lasts forever.

No! No! Never put a boring headline! Mr. Fant has a discussion with his journalism class about keeping up a reader's interest.

Students' View on the 4X4 Block Scheduling

"People say the new schedule reduces stress. I'm covering two days worth of work (110 minutes) in 85 minutes. I have more stress now, then ever!" — Sophomore, Jesse Brown

"It gives more time for other activities; it makes the days seem shorter. We don't have homework since we're in class so long." - Junior, Marisol Blanco

"Middle school was crowded; it was hard keeping up with the school work, but now with only four classes there's a lot less stress." - Freshman, Jaime Rowley

"4X4 scheduling is a change for the better and it has helped me in doing my classwork and homework. We have more time in class and it helps my homework because we have less classes so there's less homework." — Senior, Donte Marone

"Ooooh, You must have been a beautiful baby. . . " Haly Hack plays mummy to Eddie Williams during choir goof- off time provided by block scheduling.

"It's the greatest thing. We should do away with lunch so that we can go home early. Every school should have the 4X4 schedule." — Junior, Audra Saddler

Positive Feedback On The New 4X4 Block Schedule

"This mouse is retarded!" declares Regina Patternitti. Megan Graham cringes as she watches her spread delete. Thank Goodness for the block scheduling! It gives us more time to do other things, like make new spreads!

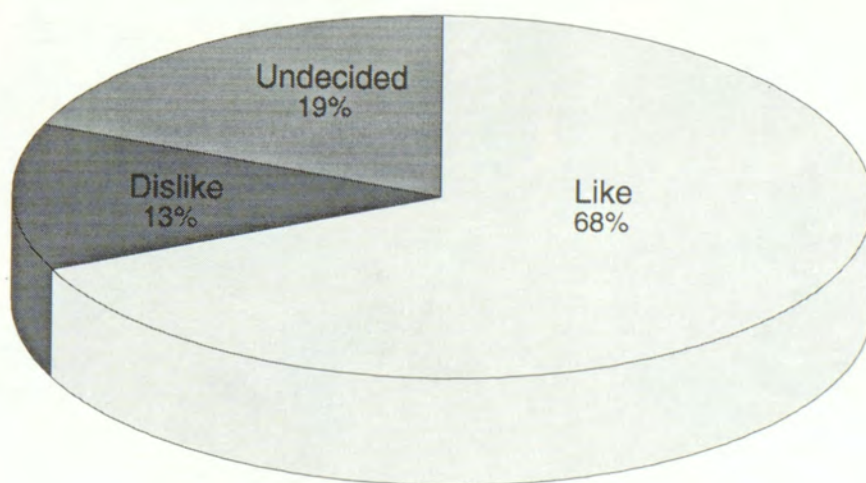

The 4x4 scheduling gives us time to explore the creative side of learning. Coach Wise's LMS class excercises the fun way.

"I love the 4X4 schedule. It's a wonderful idea! It finally gives teachers a chance to persue the depth in their cirruculum instead of width." — Teacher, Mr. Wardlow

Teachers' View on 4X4 Block Scheduling

Even though most teachers like the 4X4 Block Scheduling, they had many concerns for the students such as loss of time, loss of subject matter, short attention spans and the class work moving too fast. They also had some suggestions and felt that there were things that needed to be worked out. Mr. Puig said, "The K/W classes are the worst thing that have happened to this high school since I've been here. Give me a class the first half and a new class the second half, not a class that alternates through the whole year."

Special Events

The class of '98 dresses up to celebrate American Author's Festival. For juniors, this is a passage of rights and is required for all. "Lookin' good guys."

Michael Lagonas, having some laughs with Beth Childress, while wasting time in the library. During American Authors Festival, Ms. Hodgdon got her classes to meet in the library to show off their costumes.

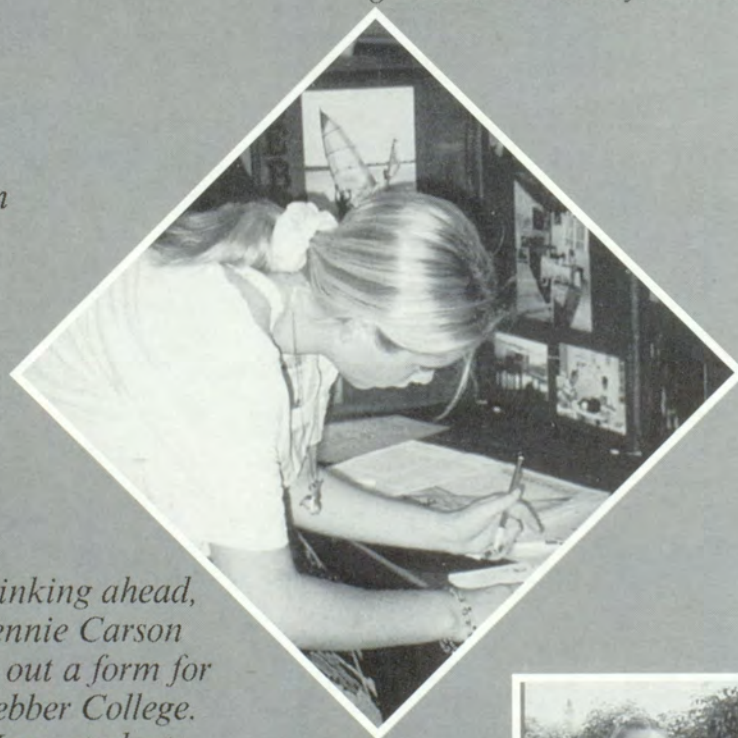

Ms. Todd, Mr. Donaldson, and Mr. Fletcher, judges for the American Authors' Day costume contest, listen intently to a student giving a presentation. The winner of the contest must not only have a good costume, but a clear understanding of the character it portrays.

"Woe is me!" Gretchen Wilmontis dressed as the tortured soul, Hester Prynne, from The Scarlett Letter.

It is a rare moment when the ages can come together. For American Author's Festival, baseball great Jennifer Lucas, and Eighteenth Century heroin Cassandra Morales, gather in the library to chat.

Thinking ahead, Jennie Carson fills out a form for Webber College. Many students take advantage of this night.

I'm ready for my close-up Mr. Deville! Junior Hibiscus Knight is dressed as a woodland sprite from Shakespeare's "A Mid Summer Night's Dream".

"I think the American Author's Day Festival is an excellent idea. It gives the students a chance to take a real interest in the publications of today." — Ashley Brown

You've got the right idea! Margarita Olson talks candidly to a representative about college. Expenses, housing, and school organizations are among a few of the things seniors worry about as they plan which college they will attend after graduation. College Night helps students to get more information on perspective areas or to decide between colleges they are debating on. College Night also helps juniors, sophomores, and freshmen who are already considering their future. This night is one of the big events that occurs every year.

Brandon Cherett and Robbie Barros wait to present their character's and costumes.

Inka Rodriguez uses her thrifty skills to turn an old Conchette uniform into a brilliant American Author's Festival costume. The judges appreciate her creativity and listen with interest to the rest of her presentation.

Cherokee Indian, Jennie Norris poses for a picture before going up for an interview. Chow Down! Heather Perez coaxes an army official into a piece of pie.

Beth is caught filling out an application for mail-in information about Florida Southern College. She looks a little startled because she was interrupted by the camera.

The Help of a Smile

Amy Godfrey, band member, proudly plays her trumpet during the halftime show.

The list of clubs was endless and the amount of student involvement was extreme. Out of 1300 students approximately 500 students were involved in clubs. Diverse clubs and organizations (?) were offered for all types such as Cheerleading and Chess, Police explorers and Z Club. Each club had different objectives. While fundraising for Homecoming and Prom were the main focus of the Executive Boards and Student Council, Interact and Z Club were concerned with community service and helping out their environment. Organizations such as Choir and Band were offered more for personal enjoyment than Mu Alpha Theta and Honor Society. All of the clubs did contain a universal theme which was to teach students about their

Attitude Makes It Happen

Cross Country captain Jessica Carr paces herself through a two mile race against twelve other teams during the District meet.

Whether dribbling towards the goal or racing for a touch down, it is not the immediate moment that determines a team's victory. To get a team to winning status takes a great deal of dedication from both the players and the coaches. "Soccer requires so much time, we're out there practically seven days a week, so we need complete dedication from the players. If players start missing practice, they no longer advance with the team and start to drag us down. Therefore we require our team to put soccer first," Senior tessie Stafford Captain of the girl's soccer team.

Running back Captain Rozell Foster sprints away from the Belen Wolverines in hopes of raising the Conchs score during the Homecoming game.

While day after day of practice may seem to get tedious, but is imperative to a successful team. Some teams try to break the monotony of it all by alternating their practice activities. "On the cRoss Country team we spend three days a week doing long distance running and two days weightlifting and doing wind sprints.

Volleyball Captain Kelly Cabanas practices her serve before the game. Although they tried their best, they ended the season with more losses than wins.

A teams success is reflected through the hardwork and determination the team exhibits throughout a season.

Mirror of Determination

The Fighting Conchs were back again for another exciting season filled with its share of both wins and losses. The Conchs started the season looking promising by winning their first two games. They crushed Barbara Goldman, with a final score 35-0. They went on to defeat Chaminade 47-7. They weren't expected to be superior this season considering they had to adapt to both a new head coach, Fred Dennen, as well as many new team members. Coach Dennen's main goal for this season was to have the best possible season; it takes hard work and motivation. Motivation, that according to Coach Dennen, "Comes from personal goals as an individual. It's instinctive to want to improve to be the best." Coach Dennen had to resign, for health reasons, and Ex-Principal, Bobby Menendez finished the season as Head Coach. Although the Conch's played well, there were some disappointments.

Demont Johnson evades a tackler in the Belen game. Demont is free to head down field, and he has two blockers moving up rapidly to help him. This is the Homecoming Game, so the crowd is roaring in support.

Rozell Foster breaks down field for a long run. Once Rozell gets through the line it's hard to catch him. The Wolverines found this out.

Mark Schlessna is conditioning during summer camp. Coach Freeman motivates his players to get into top condition.

Coaches Miller and James work the offensive receivers out preparing them for the next game. Here they are working on their blocking. With the Conch's offense a receiver has to block as well as go out for passes.

The Conchs gather for a motivational talk after a hard practice. Football requires tremendous desire, so Coaches use these talks to strengthen.

The team joins in a victory celebration as they leave the field. Alvin Brown and Bill Hicks seem especially happy about the win.

Josh Borgert and David Hampton lead the team off the field. Their smiles show that the Conch's won another. Josh must have worked hard and is eager to cool off before he hits the showers. Steve Mira, Alpha Tyler, and Charlie Bishop follow behind. They look exhausted. Most of the Conchs played offense and defense, which is tiring.

Rozell Foster and Troy Lyons fix on an unlucky Wolverine. As soon as he catches that pass, if he is so misfortunate, they will stop him cold. The Conch cornerbacks wrecked havoc on many a receiver this year. Interceptions were common at each game.

Though most J.V. teams are supposed to be a learning experience, this year's team wasted no time getting down to business. One of the coaches stated, "This is, without a doubt, one of the best J.V. teams to represent KWHS."

Under the leadership of Coach Mike Blatt, the Conchs went on to be undefeated. Coach Blatt is extremely proud of the achievements made by the team. Freshman, Rex Cross stated, "We are competitors on the defensive side of the ball. We have a great team and a great attitude. Because of that we remained undefeated." The season was filled with exciting games. In one of our most dominating games, the Conchs crushed Belen with a final score of 42-0.

With all of the talent on this year's J.V. team, next year's varsity should have a promising season to look forward to.

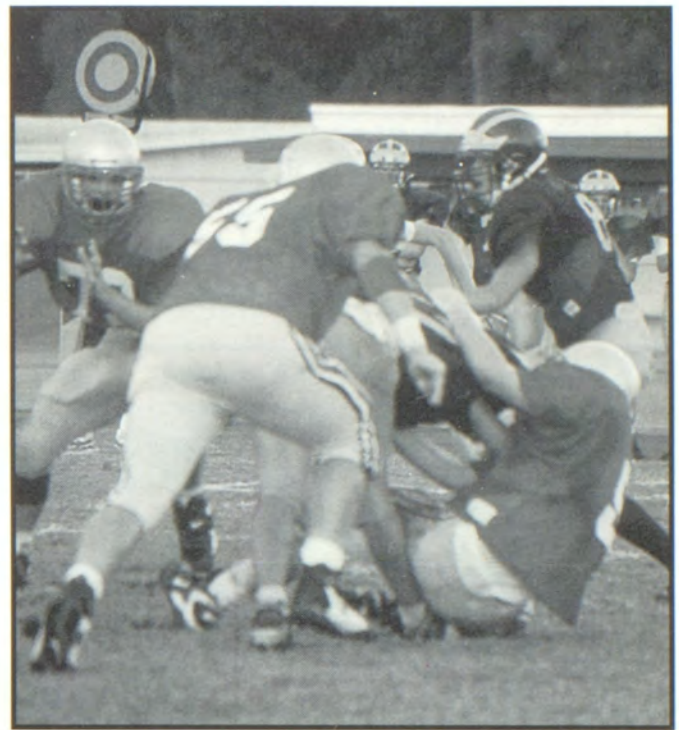

Jose Salgado and Ricky Coleman viciously take down a member of the Belen Wolverines, contributing to their 42-0 victory. The J.V. was undefeated this year, and this is just one example why. The coaches spent a lot of time working on defensive fundamentals, especially tackling.

Hugh Morgan is looking for a receiver. The Belen defensive player is trying to sack him, but Hugh says "It will never happen." As you can see, Hugh takes his game seriously. BOOM!!

The J.V. football team anxiously runs onto the field during pre-game to be greeted by the excited fans. That is what is so good about playing at home. You don't have to enjoy your win alone.

James Welch rushes in on the tackle but Thomas Cooke is already there. The Belen players look like they would rather be somewhere else. Toot! Toot! Watch out for the train!

Kevin Donahue and James Welch tackle a Belen Wolverine as Jose Salgado rushes in. One! Two! Three! He's down for the count. Another one bites the dust.

Swimming

Image of Motivation

A little stronger, and a lot more experienced, the swim team returned this year to endure another season of fun. As most girls on the team will tell you, although it's hard work, they all enjoy participating in this sport. A sport that, according to the coach, Ms. Thomas, "is set aside from other sports because it uses every part of your body, making it the hardest sport."

To be a member of this team it takes dedication, commitment, good health, a positive attitude, and a desire to be the best. You also must have the motivation and endurance to propel your body through the water at the fastest possible speed.

Cross Country

Projecting Forward

Coach Robert Price was extremely pleased with the new girl's Cross Country team this year. Even though it was the first year for the program the Conch's placed well in all of their meets, winning their only tri-meet, and paced 4th in the Region. According to Coach Price, "the girl's just seemed to record personal bests meet after meet." The team was made up of girl's from all grade levels, foreign ex-

To run Cross Country, and do what is necessary to prepare for meets, you really have to love running. Or maybe we are blessed with a number of nature lovers! Whatever the case, we are proud of the team for their first successful year.

Tiffany Burton "Cross Country isn't so much a team sport; it's more individual work. However we are very supportive of each other."

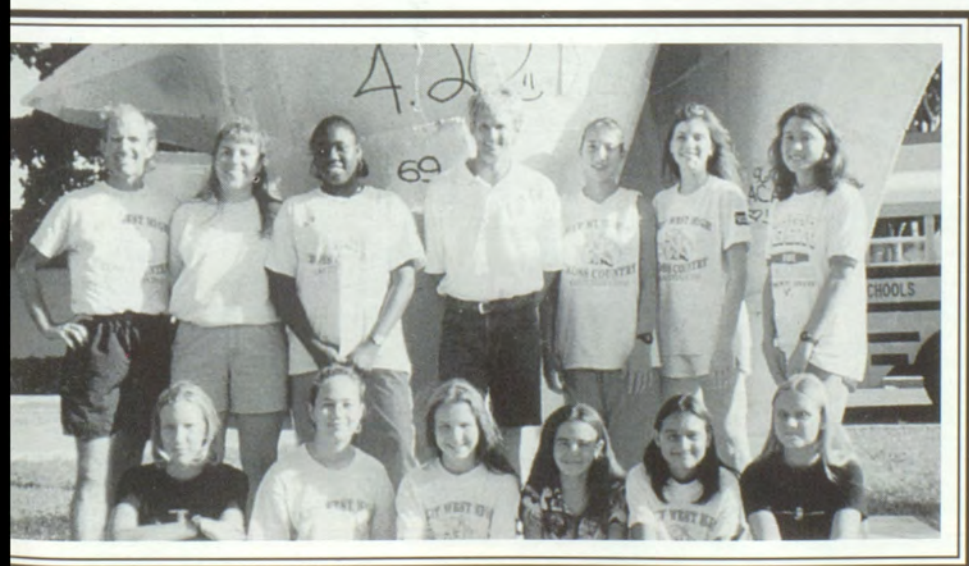

Zuzana Tomankova finds herself in a good position as she competes in a Cross Country Meet. Every position counts in the total team score. Even though this is her first year here, and even in this country, Zuzana has quickly become part of the Conch Pride tradition.

Jennifer McWhorter decided to make her freshmen year memorable by becoming a part of the first ever cross country team. Cross Country running takes a lot of stamina and concentration; however, finishing well or recording your personal best makes it all worthwhile.

leyball team's achievement. To prepare for districts Coach Butler claimed, "We concentrated on improving everybody's skills." The team took new fundamentals, day by day, and Coach Butler knew as the year progressed the team and each girl individually would keep getting better.

Jenny Costarino "This is a building year so I'm not going to expect anything more than improvement."

The Lady Conchs are waiting to see if Belen will block this shot. If the Belen girls do, the Conch's are ready to play the next one.

Regina Paterniti practices hitting (spiking) the ball in preparation for the next game. Regina, a Senior, played two years on the Conch Volleyball team. The competition in our District is tough, and the Conch's have not established themselves as the power. However, with all of the young players this year, maybe next year will be the year.

Jamee Driver goes up for a block. Can't let the other team score. It certainly was not a lack of effort or determination that defeated the Lady Conch's this year. The consensus was that they just need more time as a team working with their new coach.

With only two returning teammates this season the JV Volleyball team knew this season would be spent on growing, learning, and rebuilding the strategies of volleyball. Coach Kim Butler stated, "right now JV is a growing year and we're mainly concentrating on teaching them skills and playing as a team."

Each girl is expected to give 100% at all practices and games. Though this JV squad would like to have been victorious this season. Many realized that the season would also include some defeats. However, their goal was to learn from their experiences.

"The year started off hard. Only two hours of practice a day wasn't enough time to get in all the fundamentals needed to teach these young girls" according to Coach Kim Butler.

Since this was Coach Butler's first year as the volleyball coach at KWHS, and most of the team was new, there are great expectations for next year's team. Many of the games were close enough that, with a little more experience, they could be victories next year.

Joyce, Robin, Jennie, Latrice, Patricia, Leah, Coach Butler, Grace, Melissa, and Shakti celebrate after a victory. It sure feels good to win. It would have really been nice if this could have been a regular routine.

Shakti Assouline bumps the ball to her nearest team member in hopes of scoring. Working together as a team is one of the primary goals of J. V. If the coach can achieve that early then there is time to work on the finer techniques.

Patricia Chidester runs laps around the gym in order to warm-up for the next match. Any athlete knows that a good warm-up is essential.

The Junior Varsity Conchs prepare to start a match with Gulliver Prep. They seem ready to win. If not, the experience is what is important as they build for the future. These J. V. players intend to be the Varsity next year and to show their winning ways.

Robin Finigan serves the ball as other team members anxiously await their opponents next move. Maybe she'll serve an ace then the next move will be to hi-five.

JP Gonzalez "You have to be able to keep your mind in the game and be able to make quick decisions."

Rob Vasbinder "I enjoy the challenge of playing against another team, because it gives me the chance to play rough. The team as a whole is a young squad, but talent and time should make them better."

"Soccer is a growing sport with lots of potential for any athlete who puts forth the effort and dedication," according to Jose Gonzalez, Boy's Varsity Soccer Coach. Effort and dedication is just what this year's team gave. In the first game of the season, they dominated St. Brenden High School with a final score of 9-3.

Plenty of stamina and hand-eye coordination are characteristics needed in a good soccer player. However, you must also have the ability to work well with others, which is the key factor in having a successful team. The majority of the strength on this year's team was in the offense.

As far as what was expected out of the team this season, Coach Gonzalez simply wanted to do better than last year and possibly go further in Districts.

Pawel Krzemien charges the ball, as Jesse Anderson, backs him up in a game with Gulliver Prep.

According to Tim Conrad, the KWHHS Girl's Varsity Soccer coach, there are five qualities needed in being a good soccer player. "You need to run like a gazelle, have the smarts of Paul Herman, determination of Jay Mathey, energy of Dave VanLoon, and the physical stature of Dave Perkins." This year's team, both active and energetic, expected a great outcome at Districts. Coach Conrad said, "I think we have a good chance to knock Gulliver out of Districts and then move on to regionals."

With the talent possessed by these girls, it's no wonder that with each game, Coach Conrad became more and more impressed with the team's performance. At each game, the girls gave it their all and worked for improvement. When Coach Conrad was asked what he expected as the year progressed, he summed it all up in one word "victory".

Jackie Carson practices moving the ball down the field. Practice makes perfect, Jackie, and apparently it payed off this season.

The goal was missed, but the lady Conchs are prepared to attack the ball again as soon as the goalie puts it in play.

Keesha Moore and Diane Herlihy are preparing to take the ball back. This type of aggressive action made the Conchs winners.

Jenny Costarino is doing a throw in. It takes acrobatic ability to do one of the famous Costarino flip throws.

A group of Junior Varsity Soccer Players join Varsity players to pose and horse around. For some reason there was no J.V. group picture so this will have to do as a replacement. Sorry.

In the words of JV Boy's Soccer Coach, Tom Thiesan, "Soccer is the sport that smart people play. Check out their GPA's!" However, it takes more than just book smarts to be a prosperous member of the team. The five key things emphasized by Coach Thiesan were being a hardworker, having speed, endurance, showing teamwork, and being willing to practice off season.

His personal expectation of the team this season was to win approximately 50% of the games. The strongest aspects of the team were ball control and defensive speed. However, the boys had a pretty rough season and only celebrated one victory which was against Coral Shores High School, the final score 1-0.

With a little more knowledge and a lot more practice the boys returning to JV Soccer next year should develop to an all around better team.

From last year's first winning season, the KWHS JV Girl's Soccer team was left with 3 Juniors, 17 Sophomores, and picked up 9 Freshmen. This year's team was filled with experienced players and those who were working hard to gain experience. All the girls possessed skill, confidence, and an understanding of the game. It was these skills that helped the girls win the first game of the season against Marathon High School, beating them 2-0. There were many other victories this year, but winning the first game is significant to the outlook of the entire season.

With a big squad of 29 girls, the team came out on top, winning three games and losing two. To be successful and have a great team, the team itself needed to have a winning attitude, and they did. The team has had some tough times this year. For example, they suffered hard losses with Miami High and Homestead, but they never got discouraged. The Lady Conch's Junior Varsity basketball team has had a very productive season. By keeping the communication lines open between players and Coach Michelle Lopez, they have shown us what basketball is all about. Teamwork, dedication and persistence. The j.v. squad has pulled through and defied the odds by winning games against our rivals, Chaminade Madonna, Gulliver Prep.

and Msgr. Edward Pace. "To see some improvement by the end of the season and for them to do and play their best are my only goals for this year's season," says Coach M. Lopez. I think it's safe to say that the junior varsity Lady Conch's basketball team has fulfilled the goals of their coach and have given K.W.H.S. something to be proud of.

Before each game the J.V. girls huddle together for inspiration and encouragement from Coach Lopez and fellow teammates

Tamika Taylor uses team work to pass the ball to her fellow teammate, Keiawanna Hughes.

Larazia Brown gets a little free-throw practice in before the game.

Joyce Ho steals the ball from her rival in order to take it to the hoop.

Shamika Leland easily keeps the basketball out of the reach of her opponent.

This was a rebuilding year. Maybe they'll be better next year.

The innovative skills of the Key West High School golf team by far surpassed their own expectations. True they were no "Tin Cup", but these guys brought a new light to the game, just like "Happy Gilmore". This team was just what golf needed and they were definitely up to par. After losing a lot of seniors last year, this year became the rebuilding stage. According to some of the players, the freshmen were doing better than they expected, although they are hoping the experience will pay off more next year. The team was also hoping to go to districts. Thanks to the Key West Golf Club, the guys were able to practice everyday on the golf course just off US 1. The opportunity to use this recently remodeled course really improved their game.

James Bogoeff gets ready to Tee Off. A good drive will reduce the pressure on the putting green.

Erik Lemon steadies for a long put. This is the place where victories are won.

Erik Lemon stops to pose while pulling his cart to the next hole.

Ryan Bishop practices his putting outside of the clubhouse. He knows that this is one the most important parts of the game.

Practicing your put is essential if you want to finish at the top. James Bogoeff demonstrates his form.

This is a young team and the experience they have had last year and this year has given them new experiences. - Z. Surber

I think we did really good this year, and overall it was a good experience for the team. We also got along well together. - Michael Ferrin

The 1997 Boys Tennis Team believed that they had an excellent season this year and a great showing at Districts.

Coach Pam Moore stated "I predicted the season would go real well. We had good, young players who had a lot of depth and knew a lot about the game. The boys are really dedicated and some of them play all year round so that comes in handy."

Since the Tennis Team always goes to Districts, they felt that they would do really well this year.

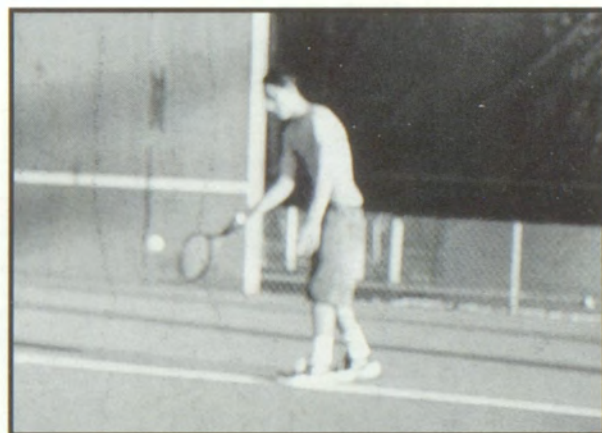

When Coach Moore was asked if she set any goals the team should accomplish she quoted, "we just had to take one match at a time and I knew we would have a winning season."

Michael Ferrin takes his first serve. The power is on this one. If it clears the net, watch out !

Darrow McKnight is preparing to return a good shot from his opponent.

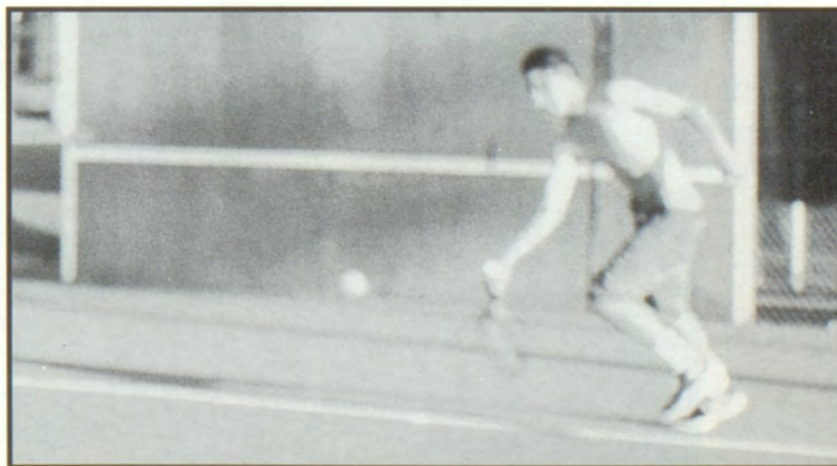

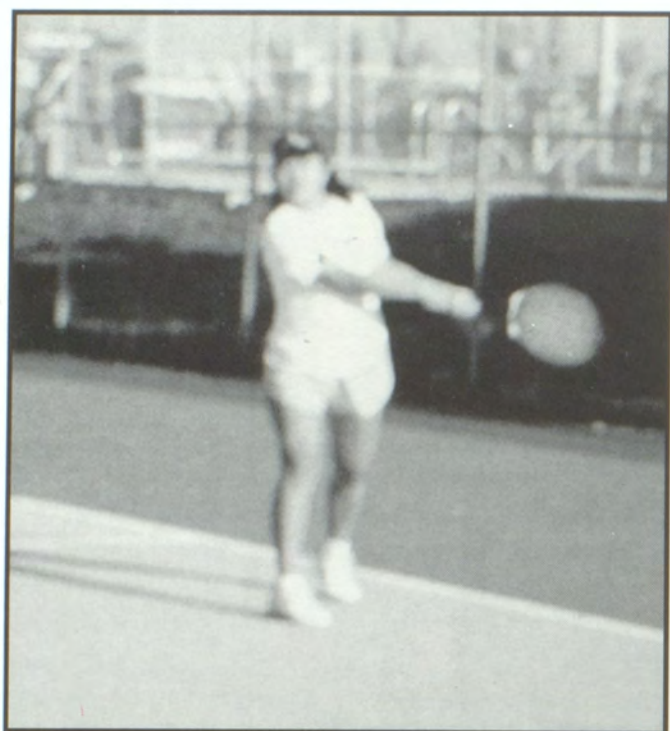

Max Hetler returns a low shot. Practice makes perfect, Max.

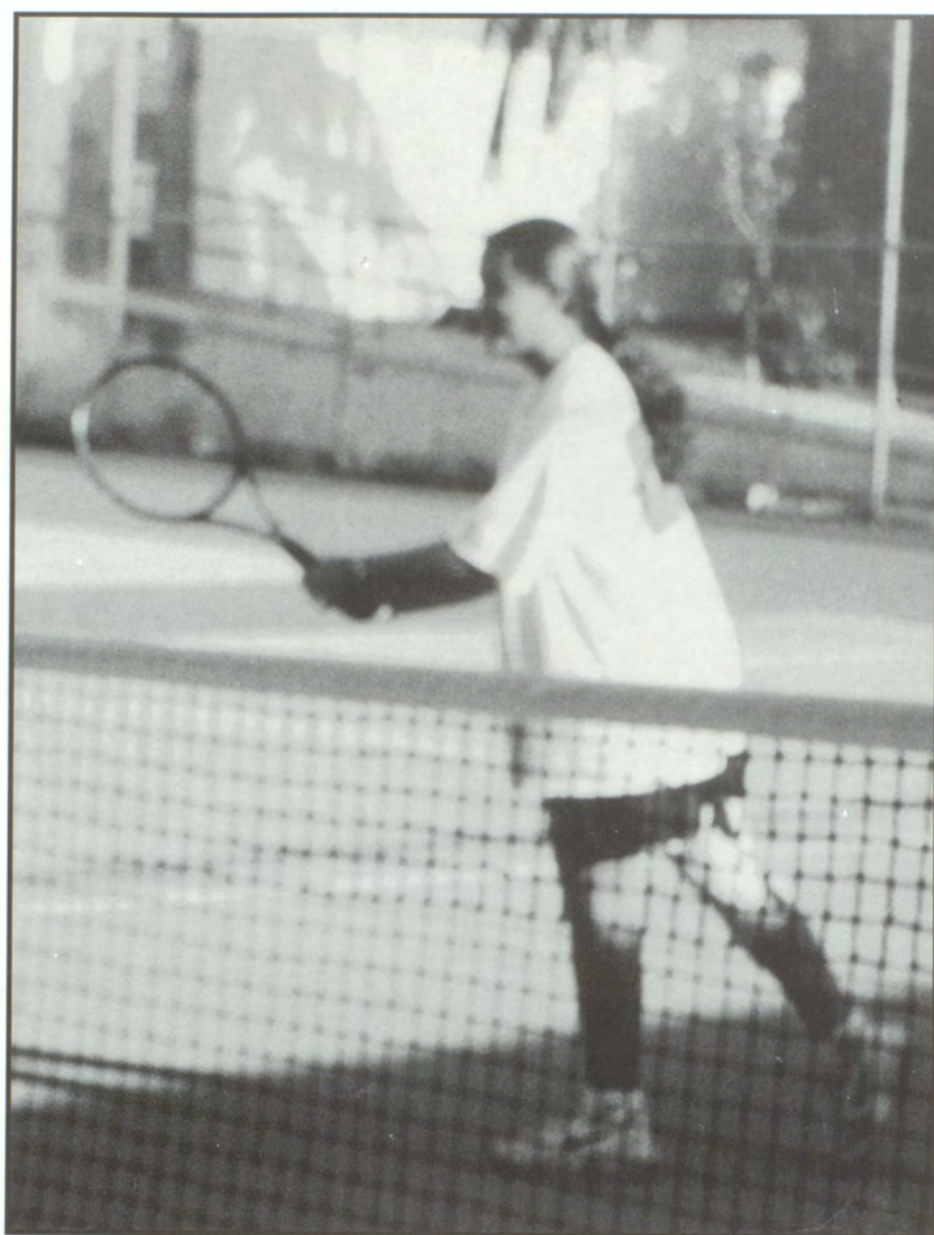

Z. Surber returns from the backcourt. It looks like he put some power behind that shot.

Max Hetler picks a low one up. You have to be prepared to return it from anywhere on the court.

Yashmin Rai gets ready to fire a backhand at her opponent. Fore !
Oops, wrong sport.

Tiffany Anzalone anxiously awaits to return a serve. Using both hands will put more power on the ball when it hits the net.

Amanda Harris stretches to reach this low outside shot. Do you think that she'll end up on her face?

Tracey Anzalone stretches to serve this high soaring space-ball.

Lori Dixon serves up an ace - maybe!

Amanda Harris is preparing to hit a backhand. She is re-enforcing her backhand by using both hands. That should give her more speed and control.

We are giving 100% to the tennis team. We are progressing, and I expect we'll go far as a team. - Katie Hampton

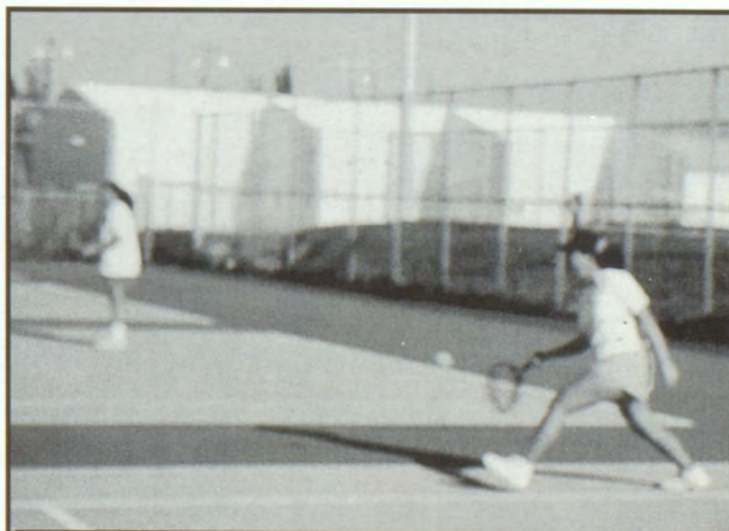

The girl's team should do real well this year. We have some strong players and good depth. - Lori Dixon Tracy Anzalone serves a nice one. She is prepared to get position on her opponent. Hard work makes a winner.

Yashmin Rai and Tracey Anzalone are playing energetic games. Yashmin prepares to return a low outside ball, while Tracy waits for her opponents serve.

Girl's Track

Burning Up the Track

The 1997 Conch Girl's Track Team was ready for excellence. It had a balance of sprinters, distance runners, and field event athletes, and a depth of athletes not enjoyed by previous year's teams. Coach Huhn remarked, "This team has so much talent and potential that it's really exciting."

The Girl's Track Team has always had difficulty scheduling meets at home even though Key West has an outstanding track facility. It is hoped that next year, if there is a Boy's Team that more teams will be willing to come here. However, no matter where they have had to travel, they have always made a good impression and won their share.

With past girl's track athletes receiving scholarships, the program is building and looks to continue to be strong. This year's captains were: Jessica Carr, Kelly Cabanas, Olgine Brevil, Tiffany Burton, Angela Davila, and Jenny Costarino.

Keesha Moore in a record breaking 200m performance. Grace Oatman is close behind in a one-two finish. Keesha competed in the 200m, 400m, 4x400m relay, high jump, and long jump. Grace competed in the 100m, 200m, 4x100m relay, and high jump.

Jessica Carr paces one of the laps of the 3200m run. Jessica was the lead distance runner this year competing in both the 1600m and the 3200m races.

Jessica Craney prepares to hand the baton off at the end of her leg on the 4x400m relay. Jessica also ran on the 4x100m relay.

Jenny Costarino qualifies for Florida Relays, in Gainesville, with this jump during the Carrolton meet. Jenny competed in the high jump, pole vault, 4x100m relay, 4x400m relay and 100HH.

Jamie Carson clears the opening height, on the pole vault, easily and went on to take second place.

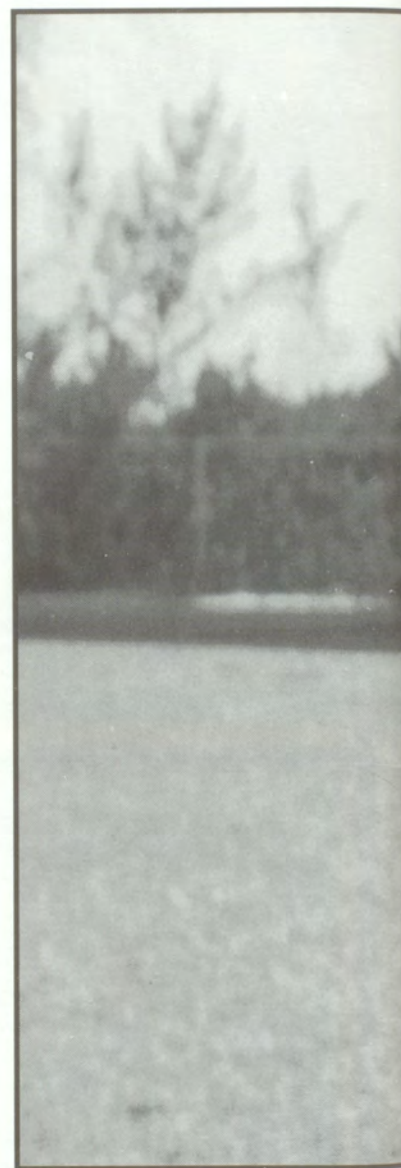

Jennifer Lucas finishes up in good shape in the triple jump. She took third in the Carrollton meet. Nice jump Jennifer!

Zuzana Tomankova runs a lap on a 4x800m relay at the Carrollton meet. Zuzana was an outstanding distance runner this year, competing in the 1600m and the 3200m, as well as relays at special meets.

The 1997 Key West High School Varsity Baseball Team exemplified leadership, strength, and determination. With seven veteran players and five underclassmen, Coach Ralph Henriquez had no doubt that they would go as far as last year.

Coach Henriquez stated, "I'm pretty pleased with the way the season started off, the underclassmen played good defense."

Varsity started off the season ranked 7th in the nation. Playing over 25 games this baseball season, the community was proud with the effort and dedication the baseball team has shown to keep the tradition of winning alive.

For this year's Varsity Girl's Fastpitch Team most of the season was spent rebuilding after losing key players and head coaches. The new Head Coach was Steve Vincent, who claimed that he was both surprised and anxious when asked to take the job.

Coach Vincent stated, "We are a young and energetic team, and we're working very hard at having a successful season." Coach Tiffany Preston was a member of the first KWHS softball team, and she is grateful that she can give something back to the fastpitch program.

Everyone affiliated with Lady Conch's softball team had a positive attitude and an open mind. There were a number of strong and experienced players on the team, which led to the victories they claimed.

Tara Blatt, the lone senior, went out swinging - getting her share of hits to cap of her last year playing for the Lady Conchs.

A group of players clear the field preparing to go to bat. The J.V. team did well this year preparing for the future to keep the tradition alive.

One, two, three strikes you're out seemed to be the song the 1997 J. V. Baseball Team sang throughout the season. With the inexperience of a young team already against them from the beginning, the J. V. players shined through showing the discipline and dedication needed to give us a great season.

The J. V. squad consisted of eight sophomores and seven freshmen. With the strong pitching of Brian O'Connell, Tommy Lambeth, and John Paul Castro, the J. V. squad excelled this baseball season.

A new edition was added this year in baseball. A freshman team consisting of Ralph Alfonso, Ryan Baker, Juan Hernandez, Pipo Hernandez, Daniel Hersey, Daniel Rodriguez, Damian Varela, and Freshmen players on the J. V. squad. They played a total of seven games.

Leandre Washington prepares to bat. Here's hoping he'll hit one out of the ball park.

Taking on two new coaches and a half new team, this year's JV Girl's Softball Team had a lot of adjustments to make. Coaches Vincent and VanLoon are not only new to the team, but to Key West High School. Although their initial goal was to be undefeated, they soon realized their aspirations were far out of reach.

Even though the Lady Conchs have suffered past losses of as many as 15 points, they still have high spirits. The girls all felt that in spite of their losses, they all tried their best and that's all anyone can ask of them. They felt a great sense of family among the team and the coaches. It was that sense that got them through the season, and provided the hope that will carry them both on and off the field.

Most of the season was spent building a strong team to pass on to next year's varsity. That meant many hard practices and a lot of work. Throughout they proved that "when the going gets tough, the tough get going."

Coach VanLoon sends a defensive signal to his team. One of Gulliver's players has scored and he is hoping to prevent another.

Tiffany Taylor picks up a bunt to throw the runner out at first.

Lindsey sends a pitch to the plate while the infield prepares themselves in case the batter hits it.

Last Will and Testament

I, TRINA L. ALBURY hereby bequeath my cap and gown and a spelling dictionary, my senior seat to Brandi. To the KWHS Color Guard all of our great times. I'm going to miss you. Remember you are SUPERIOR!!! Ivonne an ice chest. Thanks for all the talks, you're a great friend. I leave the gossip line all of our late night talks. Gary I leave P.P.L. Brad yes you are BATMAN! Adriana a Mexican jumping bean. Tiff watch out for buger. Julio don't worry so much. Jacqui the privilege to knock Peter out. To everyone else I leave you the school system.

I, Matilde Alvarez, hereby bequeath the following: My senior seat I leave to Janean "Eugina" Zapata. I could never have found a better friend anywhere else. I thank you for the good times and hope that you will carry them on next year when you take my place. "Let's end this year with the pachanga - Great idea!" - Whatever guy! My cap and gown I leave to my cousin Yamili Gonzales. This is the big "We've had our big ups and downs!" Hope you'll help Janean carry all the memories. We'll make many more in the new apartment you instigator! Thanx for the memories girls!

I, Jesse Anderson, being of questionable mind and body, hereby bequeath the following: To my friend Jessica I leave my guitar and blue's song, and a trip to Paris. To Buddy I leave my boat and speargun, lots of big hoggies, and permanent shotgun. Daunte Macaroni and Troy, I leave you the surf at South Beach and my surfboards. To Keesha I bestow to you a stalker, and by the way, "I'm not sorry." To JoJo I leave a belt.

Summer Rose, I leave you with #100, the French way. To Kelly I leave a surfing lesson and my address in France. To Krispy, I leave my SAT scores. To Kathy I leave lots of laughs and a discount at my shops. To Mr. Mathy's class, I leave a walk in the door. To those crazy cats I forgot to mention, stay cool, take it easy and don't work too hard. To everyone else, I'll see you in Costa Rica.

I, Lissette Andino, being of sound mind and body wish to leave my senior seat, cap and gown to my sister, Julixa. To all my friends the good memories that we've shared. To Idalmes Alfonso my best friend, I leave all my love and respect. To my love Augustine R. I leave all my love inside of me, Always and Forever. Last but not least I wish to leave my mom, my best friend, all the love, support, and guidance I was given throughout the years. Beat wishes to all. GOD BLESS.

I Tyler Appleby Hereby bequeath to all the underclassmen whatever they want. They can fight over it. To all the seniors I leave luck for the future.

I, Liz Arasim, leave my senior seat and cap and gown to Vanessa Suarez. I also leave her "fun" and a big smile. To Jaime D. I leave Beaches, the racoons, and everything pink. To Ronni M. I leave a great ride home from Marathon and one last trip to the soda machine. To Holly B. I leave an ID card and good times with other peoples guys. To Kristie B. I leave Nair and a tan butt. To Kalyn W. Puppy Chow and Charlie Babbit. To Skye B. Winn Dixie and a clean room. To Gina D. peanut butter and jelly and my brother's boxers. To Erica R. Boogerman. And finally to Dion C. I leave the Grateful Dead concert, Friday's at "the booger" and a friendship that I'm sorry had to end like this.

I Aaron Arnold hereby bequeath the following to the fellas: All the chillin' times since Day 1 and a new set of lungs and liver (lord knows we need them). To Martin L. I leave practice in quarters. Ivan T. gets my cap and gown and also a G.B. hit. To Jason L., I leave my senior seat and Wompio. I leave to Cary P. all the def rhymes we made up. To Dante M. a razor to keep the horse stubble off that face, many times in R.R.'s and a low rider bike. Rishi G., I pass my excellent skills to cut school and get away with it. Last but not least I leave Shane a hole, any hole (lord knows he'd take it), and a muzzle to quit talking that B.S.

I, Michael Balbuena, leave my senior seat to my sis N' law Aileen and my cap and gown to whoever wants it. George, my FP and many crazy nights; Randy, a ride on a TS and a new Hydroslide; David, my bowling skills and a night at Time-Out; Zach, some Camels and Let 'Em Run; Danny, a new switchblade and new red leather; Stevie a night in the Pines and the Lexus; JR, I leave my leftovers, to the rest of my boys, I leave you all w/ Tony from Shoney's and Snoop Dog. To the Girls thanks 4 the memories Makeveli signing out.

I Kristie Bareika, leave my crazy behavior and willingness to party to my sis Kerry Bareika. I leave S.B.-L.W.-G.R.-I.C.-my free spirit. V.S. many more fun filled adventures to Miami. A.F. Cop Aster. It Takes A Village . . .

Olympia Newton at age 1 smiles brightly for the camera.

It is not just the students and parents that support a highschool, it is the whole community. every club, organization, sports team, and performing group asks the community for help each year and receive it.

How would the sports teams support themselves if the business' did not buy sponsor pictures from them every season. Where would all the highschool clubs be if they did not hold fundraising like Children's day or sell candy and Christmas wreaths each year? They could not exist. Without our community we are nothing. Every group would be struggling to get by and find a way to buy new uniforms and equipment.

Even the yearbook is supported by the community. Without the business' that buy ads in our yearbook, it would cost students between $70 and $80 per yearbook. As it is now students can buy a yearbook for $50, a full $20 below actual cost.

Tiffany Mofield at age 2 hugs her little puppy to her while at the park.

Francesca madeo at age two gets fed up with her birthday hat and tries to take it off.

Our community is our support and therefore a reflection of our success. "It is really great that our community supports the school, it creates a close feeling between students and the town," said Amber Zapffel.

Congratulations to the Class of 1997!

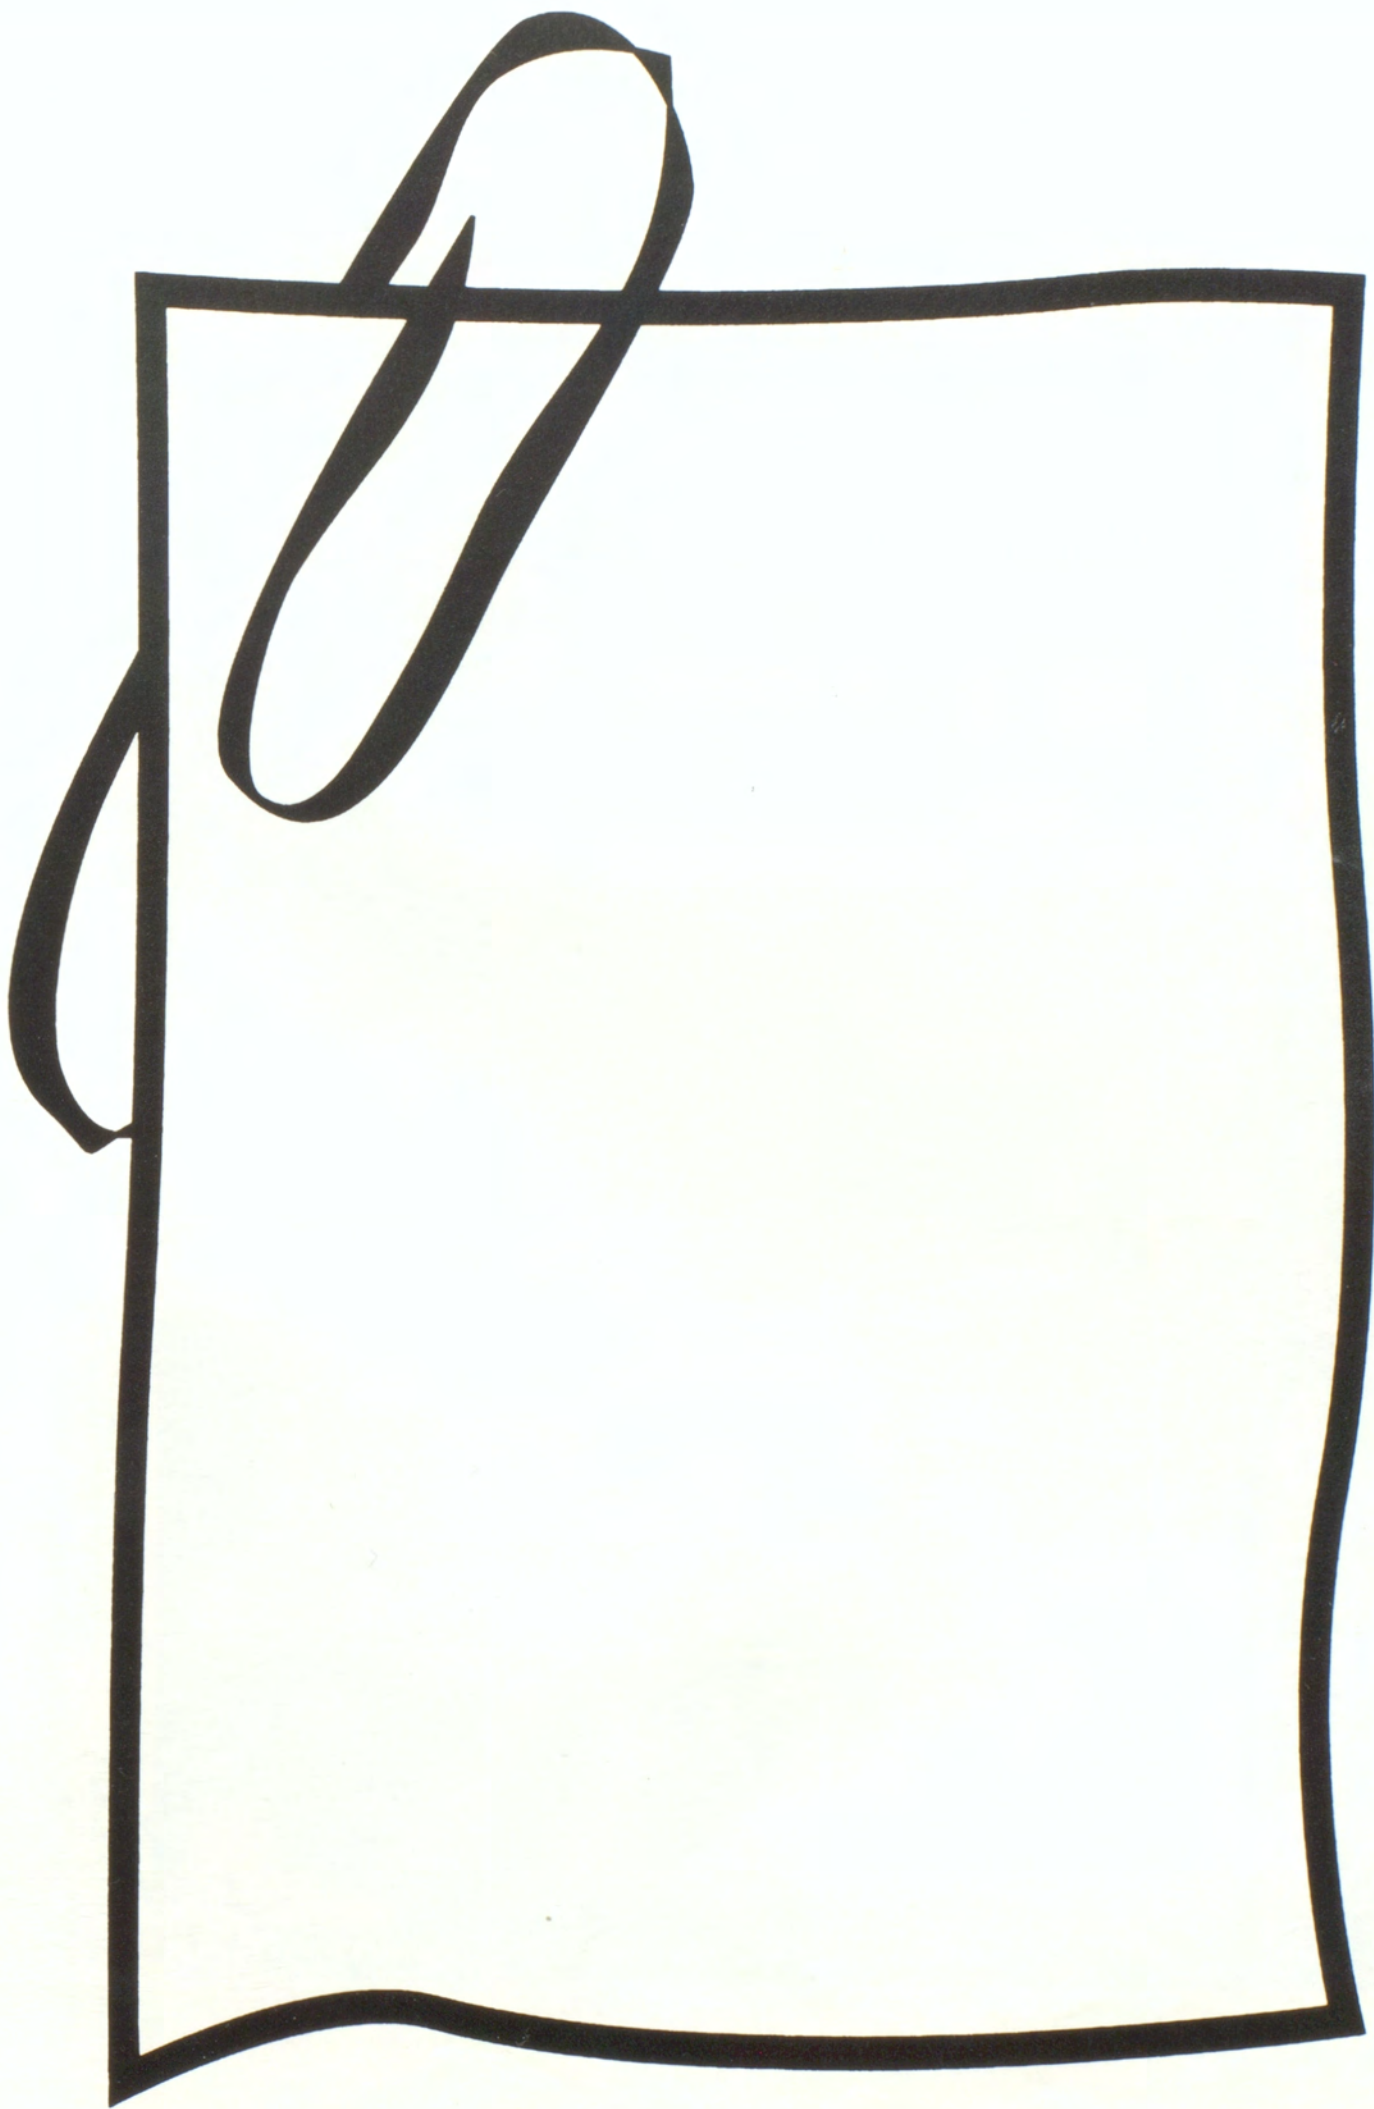

The 1996-97 Yearbook Staff would like to thank, once again, Dr. Ralph Huhn for coming to our rescue. Without him we would never meet our deadlines. Many Saturdays were spent eating complementary Dunkin Donuts and working hard to complete this book. So, what we're trying to say is that, we would just like to thank him for his help and guidance in the production of this wonderful yearbook!

Thanks Dr. Huhn!

When Taste Matters.™

You always come out a winner when Heavenly Ham is in the starting line-up. Begin with a platter of mouth-watering cold cuts, straight from our honey and spice glazed ham and savory smoked turkey. Next bring in potato salad, pasta salad and cole slaw. Then baffle 'em with an array of freshly baked breads and cookies. It's no contest. When taste matters, Heavenly Ham is a winner.

TO JESSICA

I used to believe
There would be no time
When I could claim
A moment as mine

The demands remained constant
From daybreak to end
Of total dependence
Time couldn't transcend

Yet now as I watch
I truly believe
That our moments grow thin
Before soon you will leave

So suddenly, desperately
I wish only to grasp
Those moments
I so longed quickly to pass

And so once again
A reflection of time
As you race ahead

WE LOVE YOU,

Tara Love,

Whatever happened to that cute little Tom-boy with the flying pigtails, skinned knees, dirty face and those missing front teeth?

She grew into that wonderful compassionate person that we are proud to say is our daughter.

You have exceeded your own expectations, because the word "impossible" is not in your vocabulary.

Don't be afraid to dream - all you have to do is reach.

Never forget how much you are loved,

Dad, Mom, Shane & Chance

Tara Love

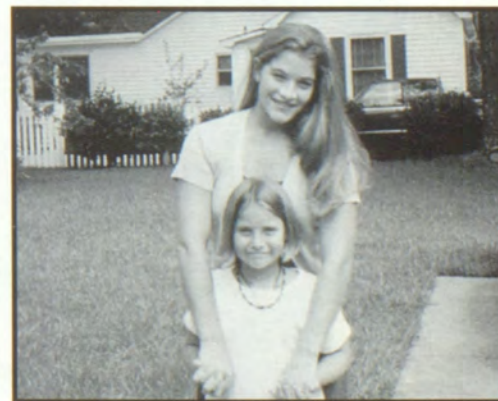

Tara Love,

You cannot imagine what a joy and delight you have been to our family. There are very few who are as beautiful on the inside as they are on the out. We hope your future is as bright as your smile.

All our love,

"Bubbles" and your Tallahassee relatives

"There are people in your life that you have unspoken connections to- even though there's not a word for it. People you've known forever, know you like others can't. They've seen you change- they let you change."

Sarah May Doran

*You know a dream like a river
Ever changing as it flows
And a dreamer just a vessel
That must follow where it goes
Trying to learn from what's behind you
And never knowing what's in store
Makes each day a constant battle
Just to stay between the shores*

*And I will sail my vessel
Til the river runs dry
Like a bird upon the wind
These waters are my sky
I'll never reach my destination
If I never try
So I will sail my vessel
Til the river runs dry*

*Too many times we stand aside
And let the waters slip away
Til what we put off 'til tomorrow
Has now become today
So don't you sit upon the shoreline
And say you're satisfied
Choose to chance the rapids
And dare to dance the tide*

Sarah,

There is not one way to accomplish a task, or live a life.

There is not one name for happiness, contentment, or caring.

We have heard it said, and we have read,

If there were only one door, there would be only one key, to life.

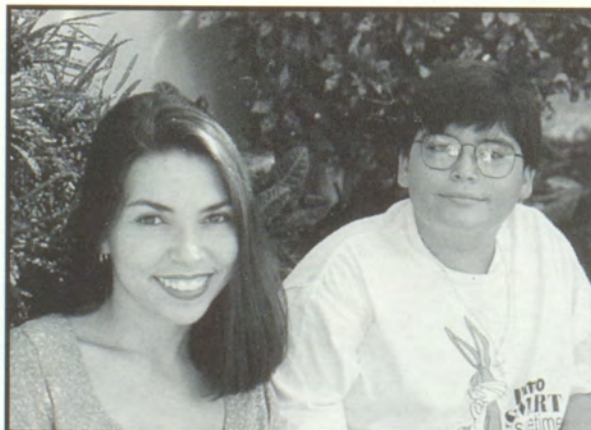

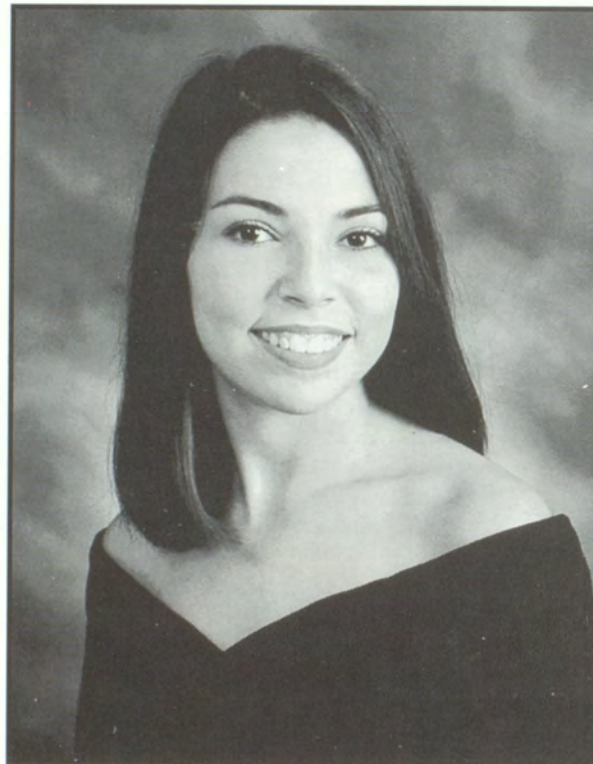

Sarah, you have made Mom and I very proud, not because of your accomplishments, but because of you and the love you show for others.

P.S. Remember what a splinter in one's posterior can bring about.

Reflections of the Future

Reflections of a year gone
by. As we step forth and journey into the world, the lessons learned and experienced during our school days will shape our futures. High school is the foundation from which our lives will be built upon. It is the good and the bad memories that stay with us and mold our personalities.
Throughout our lives our high school times will decide our actions, change our perspectives. Our unique environment, supportive community, and spirited school will stay with us always influencing our everyday lives. With pride, joy, and maybe some regret, we shall reflect on these days and know that they have made us the people we are.

As students walk down the hallway, the indomitable Conch pride follows them.
Wherever they end up in life, the spirit of the school will follow them there.

Colophon

Reflections, Conch 1997 was produced by the Key West High School Yearbook staff at 2100 Flagler Ave. in Key West, Florida. Production was headed by Dr. Ralph Huinn. The book is 9 X 12 inches with a press run of 650 books. The book contains 352 pages on 80 pound enamel paper. Reflections 1997 was published by the Taylor Publishing Company of Dallas, Texas, represented by Ken Thorberry of Fort Lauderdale, Florida. The artist who created the cover was Claudia Romero, a freshman at Key West High. The cover was Smythe sewn, rounded and backed, and printed on four color lithocote material covered with plastic lamination. The yearbook would like to extend a special thank-you to Claudia Romero, the art teacher Matt Henderson, and the entire faculty staff and student body at Key West High School.
