We are to the many friends of Geo. H. Corry, who went to New York for Medical aid, that the operation has been successfully performed, and we will soon have Mr. Curry with us again completely recovered.

We are pleased to see our friend

L. G. Thorp in our city again.

T. has been spending several days at his old home in New York, and returns to the land of his adoption, fully satisfied that there is no place like the placid Caloosahatchie.

Everyone who had a spare "quarter" enjoyed a dish of fresh Matlacha oysters last Friday at Mr. Zair's restaurant on Front street. They were the first that have been in our market this season, and when served in Mrs. Zair's excellent style, furnish a feast for the veriest epicure.

The Mozart circle, a club composed of the best musical talent of our young men, gave a free entertainment on Thursday evening of last week. Selections from "Norma" were well rendered; but when Capt. Corcoran sang "I am the hic—Cap'n of the hic—Pinafore." All conceded that for volume and compass, his voice could not be equalled.

By the last New York steamer we noticed the arrival of a lady journalist, who, as we understand, has come to this city for the purpose of writing a book on this island for one of the papers with which she is connected, we wish her every success in her undertaking, and hope that when she leaves us she may carry with her some pleasant recollections of her sojourn amongst us.

By last mail boat, news was received here that Galveston and New Orleans had raised the quarantine, thereby giving free entrance to ships from all parts of the world; but that the great COMMERCIAL EXPOSITION of the South, Cedar Keys, had extended the quarantine to December next; as sanitary condition of that city allow of no communication with other place. This is no Fitzpatrick's noble act on the part of the city, who have sacrificed themselves and the port, rather than allow infection to be carried to other ports through communication with them.

I have this week received large additions to my stock, and would call special attention to the elegant variety of goods suitable for wedding presents.

A. SARIOL.

—We publish to-day a communication from Dr. Otto concerning an article which appeared in last week's issue of the Democrat, entitled "Yellow fever and the Barracks." Our statement that "there were about as many deaths among the eight people in the barracks, as there were in the rest of the city," was based on the number of cases of yellow fever actually reported as such. If our physicians report yellow fever as pernicious fever, as is claimed by our correspondent, then we are not to blame for "misleading our readers," but rather to be excused for having been "misled" by the doctors themselves.

—An hour can be profitably spent in inspecting the extensive establishment of A.

Sariol. During the past two weeks his stock has been entirely replenished and comprises almost anything that may be called for. His fancy good department is specially attractive.

CHAS. CURRY,
Treasurer.

Key West Fla. Nov. 16th. 1880.

Married.

On Wednesday evening last, at St. Paul's Episcopal Church, by Rev. J. B. Biaz, Mr.

Wm. H. Williams to Miss Nellie B. Lowe, daughter of Mr. S. S. Lowe.

As was anticipated this proved to be the most brilliant and enjoyable occasion that it has been our pleasure to witness for many years. Everything seemed to conform to the anticipations and hopes of all interested. The weather was fine, and the moon, shining like day, seemed to have put on her best that she might rival the beauty of the happy bride. At precisely 8 o'clock the band party, composed of Messrs Annie Lowe, Ella Curry, Florida Curry, Em-mau Lowe, Stella Lowe, Louisa Curry, Cornelia Pierce, Messrs Chas. R. Pierce, M.

S. Moran, Robert O. Curry, William Solar, Wm. H. Lowe, George L. Harrison, and J. Kemp, arrived at the church.

At 8:15 the bride, accompanied by Mr. A. J. Kemp as the bride's father, and the bride's attendants, entered the church, and all eyes were directed towards them, especially the bride.

Her uplifted head, smiling lips and expressive eyes proved the happiness of which she was dreaming. The groom also attracted his share of notices, and the critics acknowledged him to be the handsomest gentleman of the party. The bride's dress was of a rich white satin, artistically made, well adapted for the display of her natural charms, and seemed to belong exclusively to the one figure which it adorned. The ceremony being concluded the happy couple returned to the residence of the bride's father, to receive the congratulations of the many invited friends and relatives, which lasted for an hour and a quarter.

The following day about forty guests partook of a beautiful dinner, during which many appropriate toasts were offered. The party then withdrew to the parlor where they were entertained until half past ten by vocal and instrumental music, speeches, etc., with their best wishes to the felicious pair the guests then departed, all declaring the hours there spent to be the most pleasant in their remembrance.

Among the many beautiful and valuable presents received by the bride was a piano from the groom, a china tea set from Mrs.

Williams, mother of the groom, a handsome bible from Mrs. Babcock and a silver card receiver from Mr. Wang Sang.

Green Cove to Have a Paper.

We had the pleasure of a visit yesterday from Mr. J. B. Mathews, late of Iowa, but now a resident of Green Cove Spring, Fla. Mr. Mathews informs us that he will begin about December 1st the publication in that village of a four-column eight-page weekly paper, size 22x32, to be known by the name of "Our Spring."

He begins with a local subscription list of 400 copies. We wish the new enterprise abundant success, and hope "Our Spring" may prove a wellspring of happiness to its proprietors.

A Card

FERNANDINA, Fla., October 29

To the Editor of the Sun and Press:

Having published in your paper of the 26th inst. a letter from this city signed "An Honest Voter," and every candid person will unhesitatingly pronounce a slander of the vilest kind, I beg leave to denounce, through the same channel, the writer of said letter as a cowardly liar and scoundrel, who has added to falsehood and defamation the infamy of forgery, as Mr. Howell, whose name accompanies this article, disclaims any participation in this nefarious business. Mr. Howell denounces the writer of the letter, over his signature, accompanying "An Honest Voter's" article, a base forgery, and that he has no knowledge, directly or indirectly, of the name of this person who is so cowardly as to be afraid to let his name be known.

Very Respectfully,

W. NAYLOR THOMPSON.

Riotous Proceedings.

Through Republican sources we are informed that United States Commissioner J. P. Vornum was shot at just as the train started from Greenville station, in Madison county.

The ball crashed through the hard wood coach, carrying the brass lifting attachment with it and struck Mr.

Vornum in the back. Its force was, however, so far spent that it did not inflict a serious wound. This was a most dastardly act and should draw the most severe punishment upon the perpetrator, if he be discovered.

The telephone says: "At Madison the night after the election the Democratic campaign flag was hauled down from its staff, torn in pieces, foully besmeared and left on the doorstep of a Northern resident.

Deputy United States Marshal, James I. Banks was taken, from his hotel at Monticello Monday night by a party of unknown men, conveyed in a private carriage to Thomasville, Ga., and ordered to take the train for Jacksonville, which Mr. Banks did."

—The Florida Union.

The Quincy "Herald," in an article on the election in that county says:

Every precaution was taken to prevent any colored man from voting for good government, and for a time the cause looked almost hopeless, but by degrees some of our influential men penetrated their dense and serious ranks and some of the most sensible and considerate colored men yielded to the force of reason, and before the polls closed numbers of them had done credit and honor to their race by expounding the cause of their country, civility and constitutional government. More colored men voted with the white men than ever did before, and they were able to follow the dictates of their own judgment. We are rejoiced to know that a break has been made in their ranks, not only because it secured to the Democratic party a triumphant victory in this country,
