GOD BLESS US
WE DIDN'T NEED ANYONE TO DREAM US UP
WE CAME OUT OF A DREAM
TOO MARVELOUS FOR ANYONE'S SMALL HEAD
SO DON'T PUSH US AROUND
WE ARE KINGS OF THE KINGDOM OF US
THERE SHALL BE
NO TRESPASSING, NO HUNTING
NO EXPLOITATION, NO WAR
IN THIS LAND
GOD BLESS US
CHILDREN, ONE AND ALL.

*some of us live in big white houses,
some of us live in small.
some of our names are written on blackboards,
some are written on walls.
some of our daddies work in factories,
some of them stand in line.
some of our daddies buy us marbles,
some of them just buy wine.
but at night you can't tell sunday suits from tattered overalls.
then we're only children,
children, one and all.*

*some of us take our lunch in boxes,
some in paper sacks.
some of us kids join in the laughter,
some hear it at our backs.
some of our mothers sew fine linens,
some can't sew a stitch.
some of our mothers dress up poorly,
and some of them dress up rich, but at night you can't tell party dresses from hand-me-downs to small but then we're only children,
children, one and all.*

*some of us learn our lessons poorly, some of us learn them well.
some of us find an earthly heaven,
some of us live in hell.
some of us go right on a preachin, without making too much sense.
some of us hide behind a wall and
some behind a fence,
but at night you can't tell picket fences from bricks or towers tall
'cause then we're only children,
children, one and all.*

*some of us grow up tall and handsome,
some of us grow up plain.
some of us own the world in ransom,
some of us just our names.
some of our people die in misery,
some of them die in peace,
some of our people die for nothing but dying doesn't cease.
and at night you can't tell fancy coffins
from boxes in the hall,
'cause then we're only children,
children, one and all.
children, God bless us.*

"some of us join in the laughter"

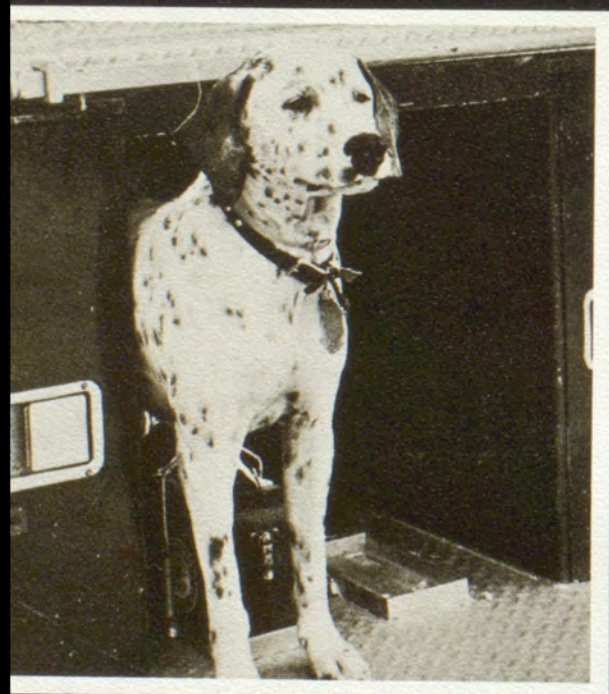

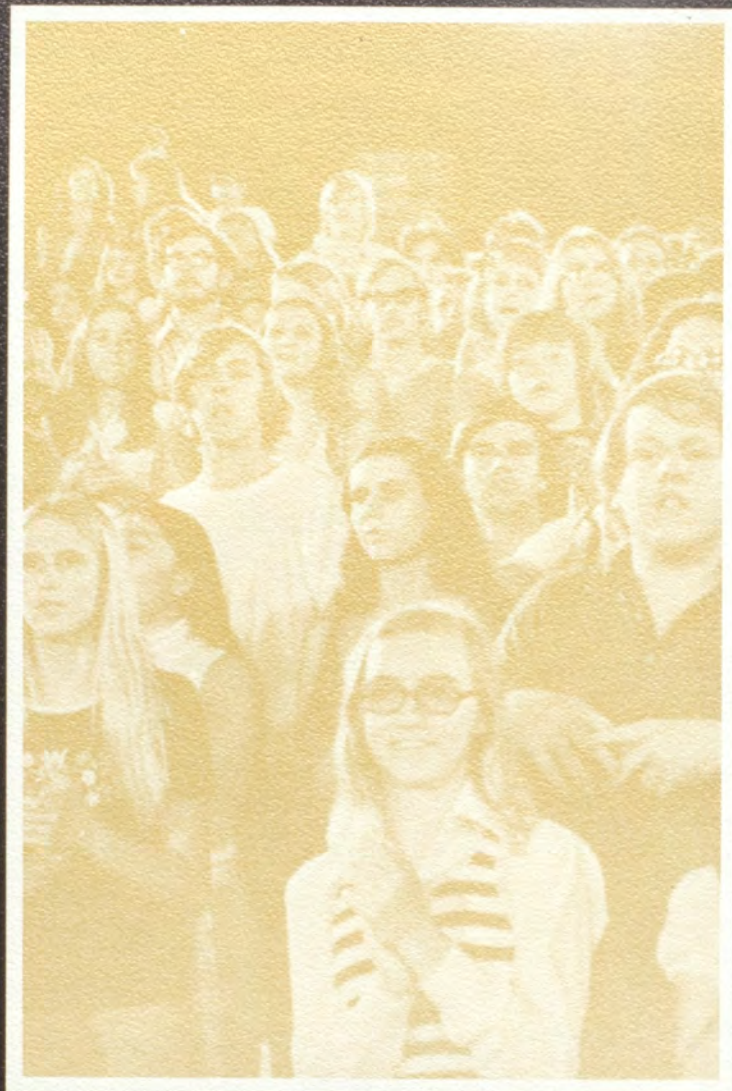

a beginning

the first weeks of school provide two events that start the year on a happy and exciting note—bonfire and jamboree.

both events set on appropriate stage for the football season that has arrived. in fact, the jamboree is a primer for football, so to speak. all local schools participate and show the community what talent and victory it might expect for that season.

as for bonfire, what would football season be without a bonfire? an afternoon is scheduled for bonfire and all students attend while the band plays, the students chant, and the fire gives us "high hopes".

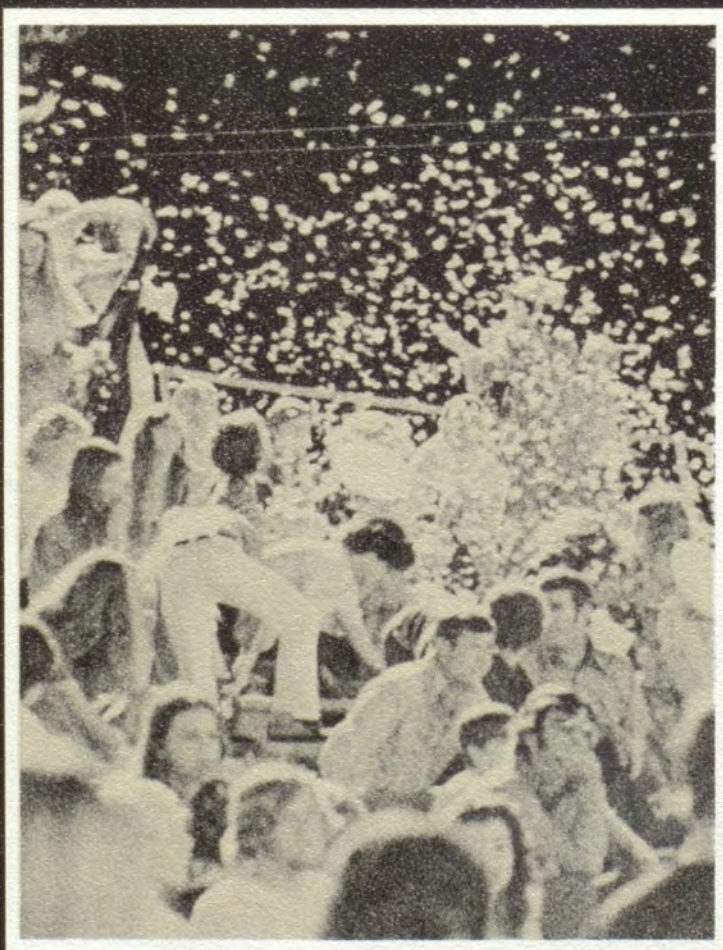

homecoming of '72

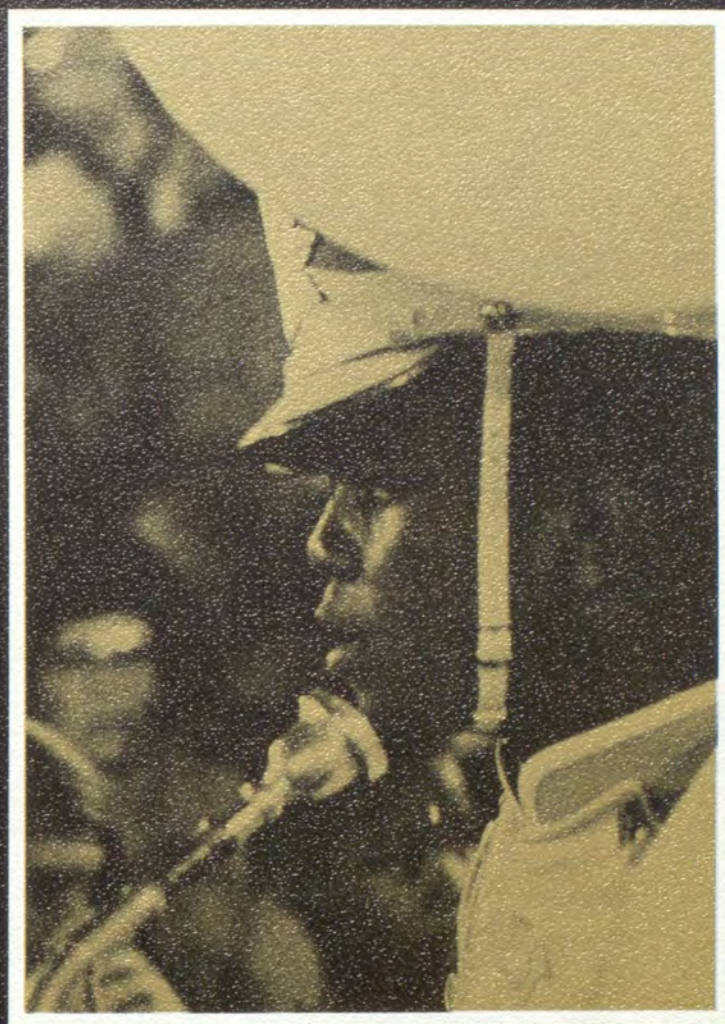

the advent of each school year brings with it the excited anticipation and the even more exciting arrival of a few occasions. So it was with the homecoming of '72.

during the week preceding that "big" night, the halls were decorated and several clubs worked spiritedly to present skits for the team and student body. the anticipation was growing greater.

with the arrival of friday evening, the team, students and alumni were disappointed. key west high school was defeated.

but homecoming was still a happy time for all, especially for our queen, valerie struve. valerie presided over the dance, which culminated the festivities of another successful homecoming.

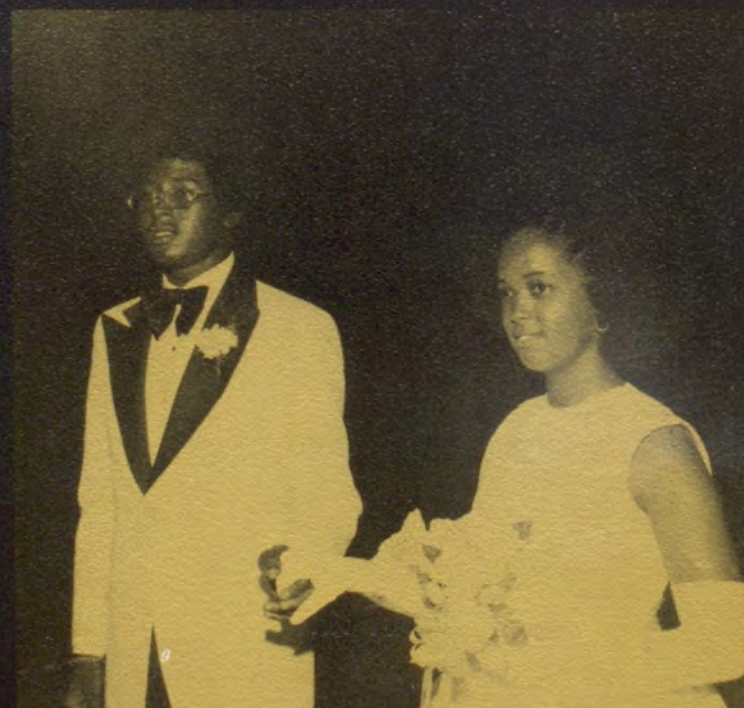

queen and court

these two pages are dedicated to the nicest aspect of homecoming—beauty valerie struve has made a stunning queen for a stunning court. pictured here reading down from left and then right, are ruby farrell, detra saunders, debbie broomhall, deborah wood, and millie weech.

some happenings

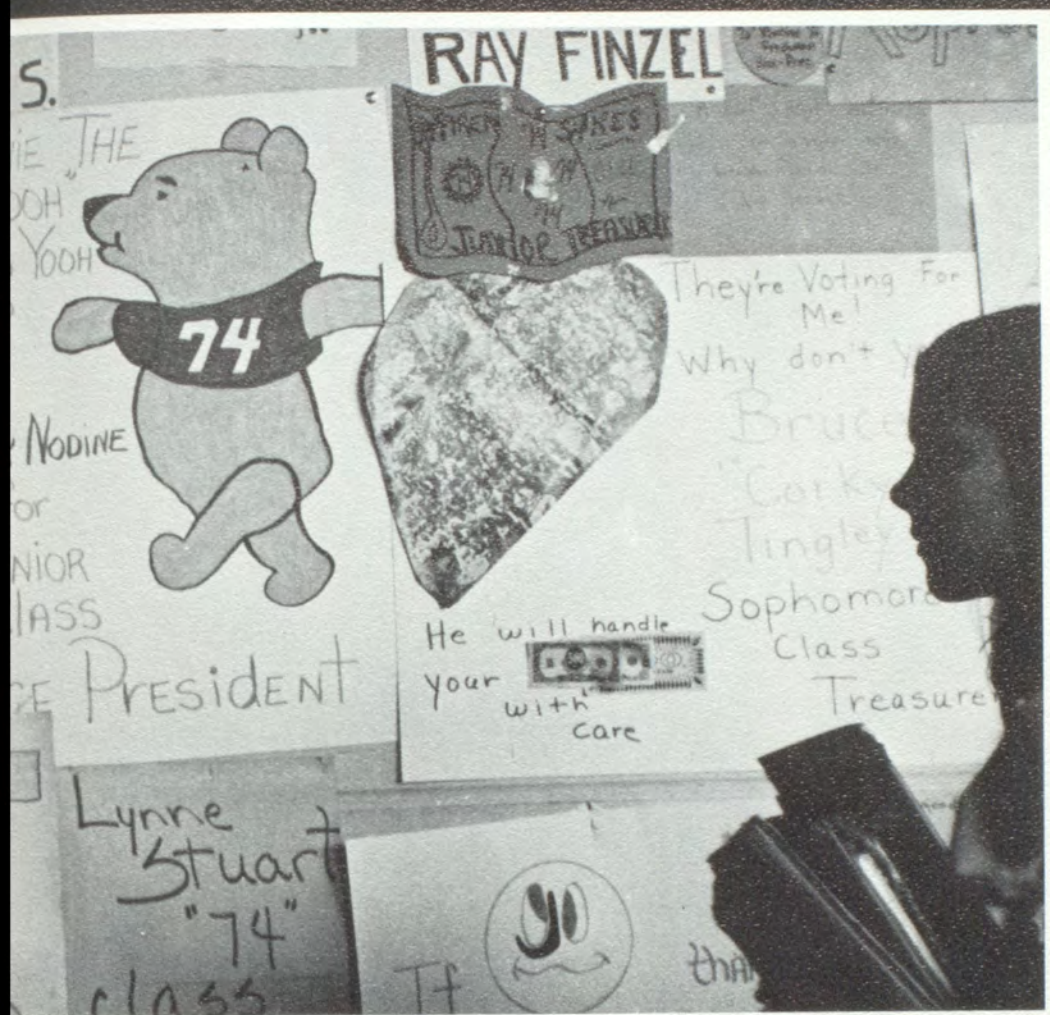

every year, the elections and initiations provide respite from straight academic work and at the same time provides a sense of unity and spirit.

while the elections are serious and involve many good students and their ideals, the initiations are usually frivolous and sometimes ignominious for those being initiated.

a few of the initiations our photographers caught this year were those of the keyettes and key club, who dished out "humble pie" to all their novices. even if it wasn't great fun for the victimized, it was great fun to observe the antics of the keyettes parade or the key club's chorus line.

initiations are of a more serious nature and involve many divated students who wish to lead and contribute. the photo on this page demonstrates the enthusiasm that many feel for the elections.

each year, girls from key west high and mary immaculate high are selected to take over the city offices for a day. the girls are appointed to such offices as mayor, city judge, fire and police chiefs, city commissioners and numerous other offices.

the girls have a chance to see, first hand, the problems and needs of their community. some of the activities experienced were riding through the city on firetrucks with sirens blaring, holding fire drills at their schools and arresting many of their friends.

the charges brought against the students range from running stop signs to assault and even playing with "ding-a-lings" in public.

court was held, verdicts passed and everyone was happy. all in all, it was a very nice day and the experience of a lifetime for all involved. and now, the juniors of today, anxiously await the time when they may participate in "girls day".

boys' and girls' state

last june, representatives from key west high school traveled to the state capitol at tallahassee to attend girls' state and boys' state. sponsored by the american legion, the respective conventions were held on the campus of florida state university. the program is quite beneficial to those who have a genuine interest in the structures and functions of our state and national governments.

the participants divide into political parties, and hold mock political conventions and elections, such as elections to state offices. nancy gwin was elected to serve as a justice of the supreme court.

mock legislative sessions are held in the state senate and house chambers. participants are honored by having the opportunity of meeting the governor and his cabinet, the justices of the supreme court of florida, and many state legislators. for those who hope to someday find themselves as part of our government, this is a most valuable learning experience.

foreign exchange

"i would like very much for my family to see the beauty of key west. strangely enough, they would feel quite at home with this beauty, since it is much like my own city in brazil.

my limited fluency in english was my only problem, and yet that even became an asset as many people helped me adjust to this language difference; these people are now close friends. so, you can see problems can often be good.

the family with whom i live are much like my own family and so, my homesickness has been minimal.

i find, in key west, more public schools than exist in brazil. most of the schools in brazil are catholic or private. i like the school here and i am also very grateful to the teachers and students for their patience with my language difficulty.

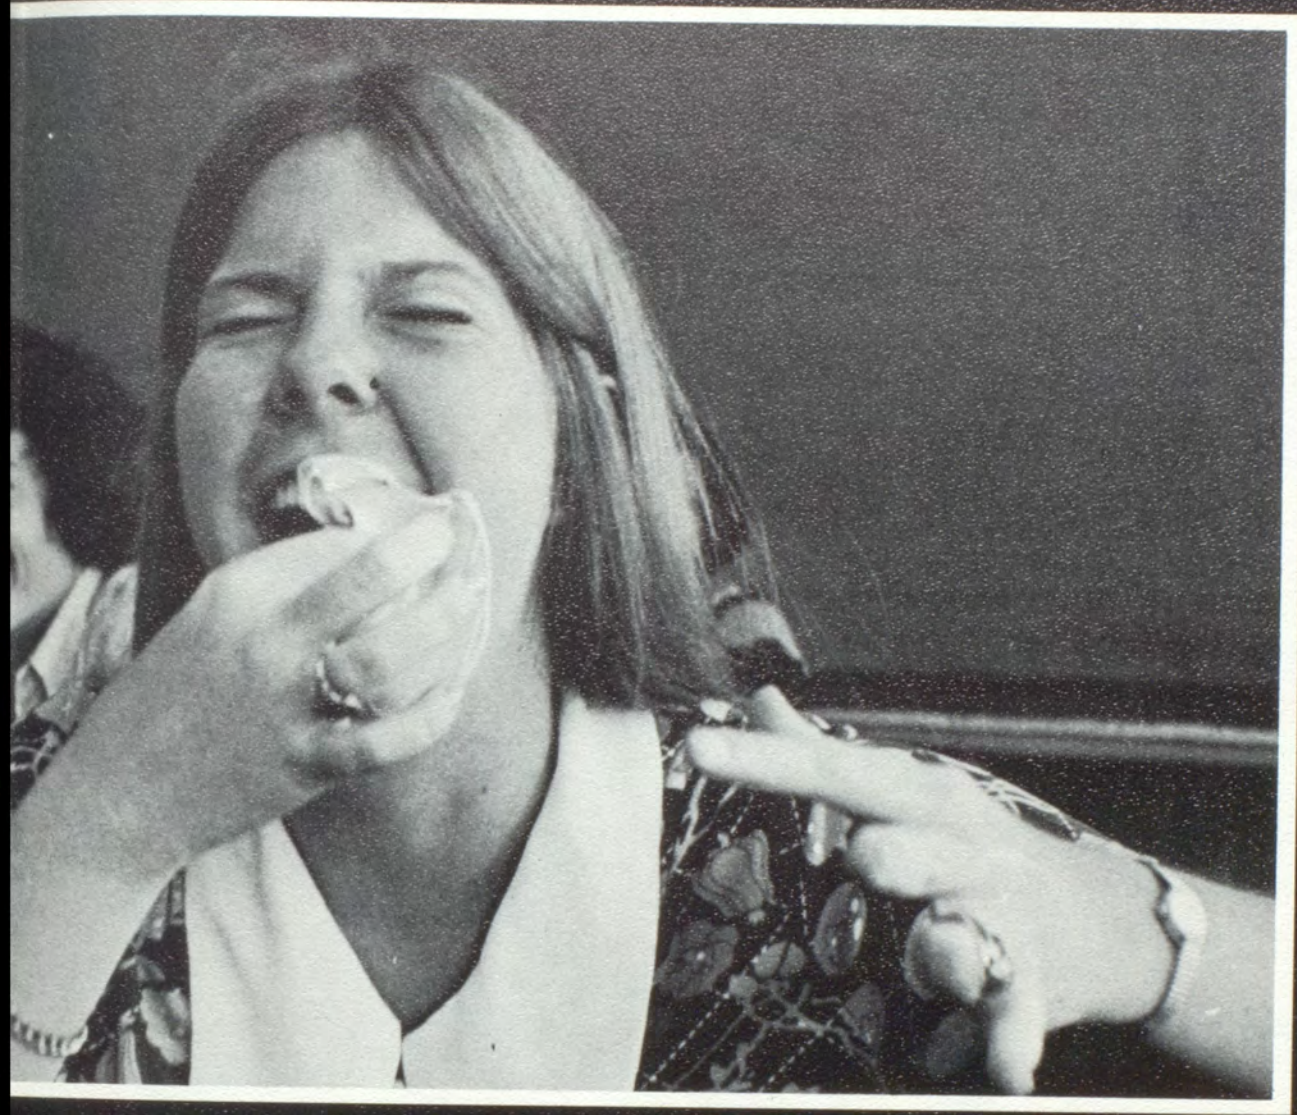

in retrospect, i know my stay here will be a wonderful and fond memory".

the administration

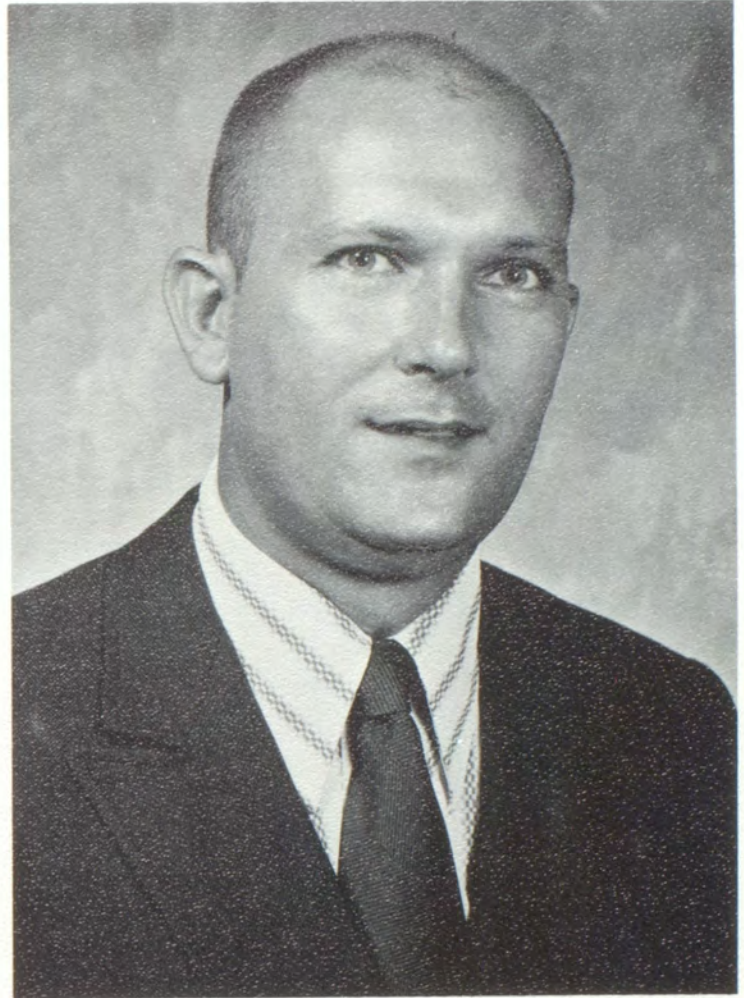

superintendent and the board

through the combined efforts of the superintendent of public instruction, mr. armando henricuez, the board of education, and the administration of our high school, the students are given the best in facilities, educational courses, and instruction possible. their main objective is to give the student as much of an opportunity as possible to enable him to take his place successfully in our democratic society.

thank-you

what should a leader be? no matter what criteria one chooses to supply an answer to that question, kerry highsmith will "measure-up".

mr. highsmith is new to the principalship at key west high school, but the fluidity and ease with which he has commanded the ship defy his newness.

unlike many administrators, mr. highsmith is not comparable to the wizard of oz when it comes to seeing him. he is always there to serve and listen. in meeting these two duties, our principal makes his staff, faculty, and students feel comfortable and students feel comfortable and understood.

the "status quo" which our principal maintains must feel thankless at times. so, for the record, we do appreciate you. some how, thank you doesn't seem enough.

... and mr. highsmith's company

without the assistance of the people pictured on this page, key west high school could not have the unity and teamwork it has.

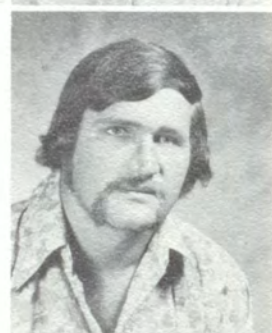

with mr. phillips and mr. shaw, our assistant principals, we maintain a happy medium in our curriculum planning and in meeting teachers' needs.

next comes mr. fabal whose efficiency and good nature makes adult education and student activities successful encounters. chief lisle, our security officer, along with bill trout, "jack of all trades", completes our successful formula for unity and teamwork.

"you've got a friend"

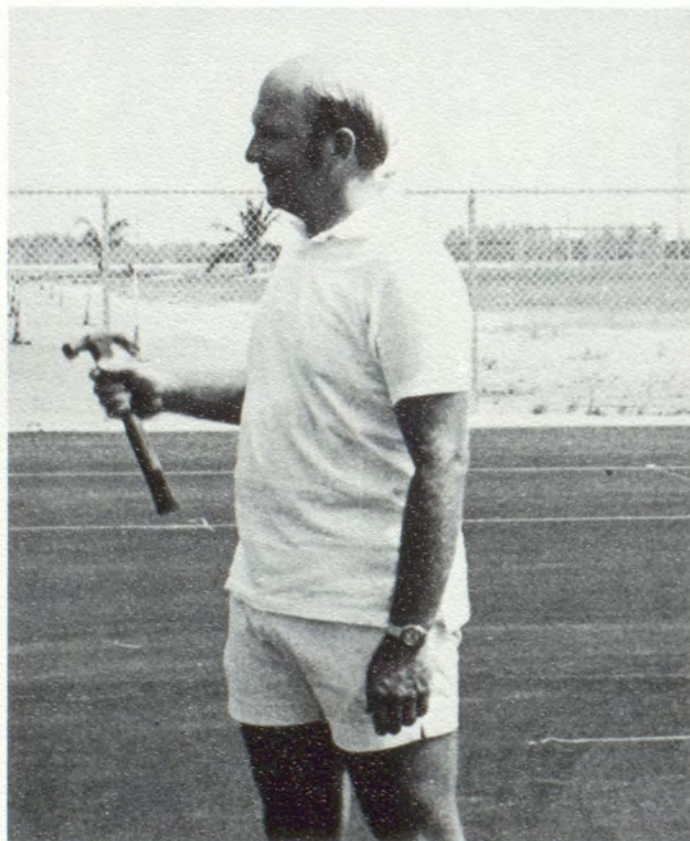

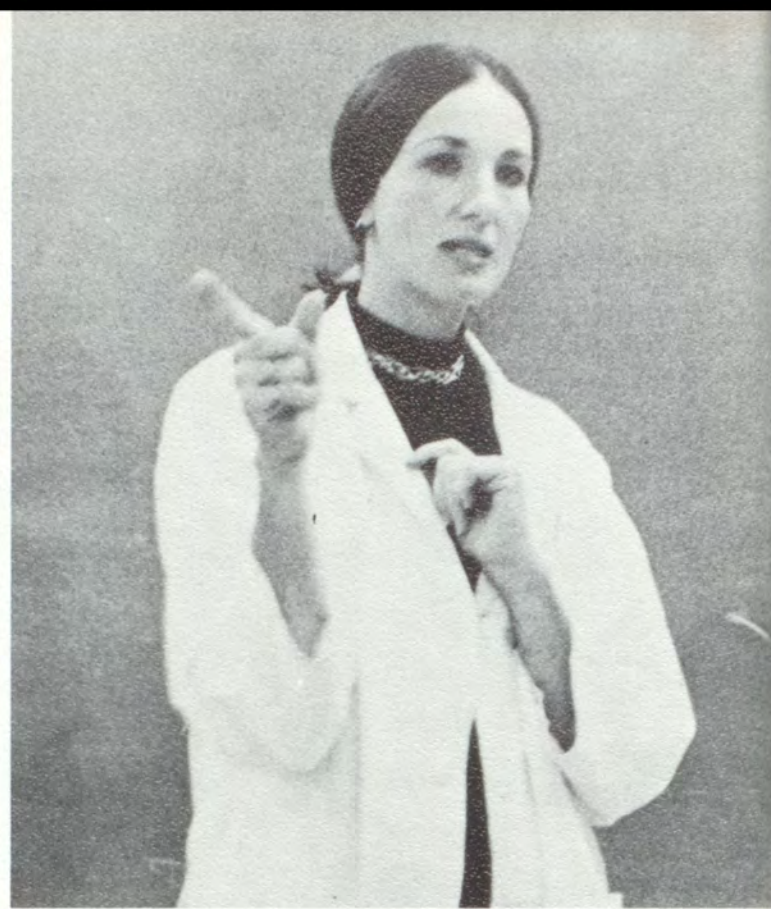

whether your problem is career or personal, the guidance people of our school are always ready to assist and cheer.

by taking advantage of the guidance program, each student will find his or her individual talents channeled properly into a field suited to his or her aptitude. it is the guidance departments' responsibility to meet the students' needs; these people have done just that and more. thank you, guidance.

FEDERAL

FOR TEACHERS
ONLY

it's true. yes, it's really true. that old adage, "a teacher affects eternity; he can never tell where his influence stops", is really true. the students of key west high school want our teachers to know we appreciate them, because we realize their significance and value.

since some members of the english department come in contact with every student at key west high school during their four years of academic study, it is initially important that we teach not only the academic skills but human relations as well.

we strive to make the complex subject of english not only relevant but interesting so that our students seek knowledge, and also to be fair in our relationships with students so that they become understanding, and, most importantly, to respect them as individuals so that they recognize and respect the individuality of others.

reading

the major goal of the reading program is to teach students to read so they can use reading as a tool for learning. in the reading classes the basic skills of reading are taught. such skills are:

1. word recognition. students learn about: complex words—radioisotope or officeholder; words that have to be attacked by structure—hyperthyroidism or suburbanization; or words attacked by syllabication—corollary or alliteration; and irregular words that require the use of a dictionary—ichneumon or gounod.

2. association of meaning with the printed word, by using context clues, function words (cause and effect, etc.), ways in which words shift in meaning, and classification of word meanings (paired qualities).

3. literal comprehension. students learn how to find the main ideas and details.

4. inferential comprehension or interpretation where the meaning that is gleaned is not written.

5. evaluation. students do critical reading and thinking.

6. assimilation, which allows students to transfer their learned reading skills and, thus, become more knowledgeable in their subject areas.

some students feel that a speed reading course is a panacea, but this is not so . . . there are not panaceas for learning how to read . . . but speed reading does help satisfy some students' ostensible motives.

to those who believe, as did plato, that the reader's capacity to learn is innate and cannot be changed, we who teach in the reading program reiterate that we are directing our activities to ensure maximum progress for all of our students within their capacity levels.

foreign languages provide a cultural link to our past, and increase our understanding of our world neighbors. Latin, a classical language, teaches students the cultural and historical importance of roman civilization. Spanish and French, the romance languages offered at key west high, are two of the five official languages of the united nations. using the audio-lingual method of instruction, the department offers four years of Spanish and three years of French, by which time a student will have developed good oral and written skills in the language.

though divided in housing, the library seeks to provide united service in furnishing supplementary materials for research and recreational use. open before and after school, the library can be used as students find time. assistance is provided by librarians, aides, and student workers. each unit has current periodicals, reference materials and books. suggestions are welcome for new titles to be added or innovations that will increase the usefulness of our libraries.

audio visual

audio visual is a program constructed to service the school with the proper media for the proper class. each student is trained to use this proper media in visual equipment, such as tape recorders, projectors, phonographs, etc., and to learn the skills of servicing and repair of this equipment.

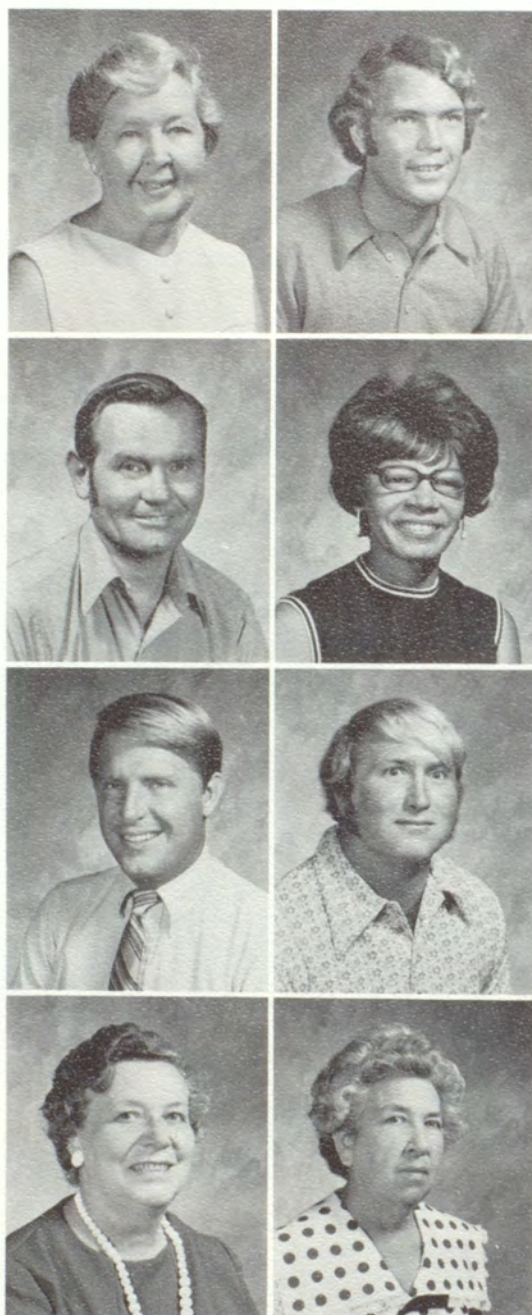

mr. yackso instructs in the use of audio visual materials.

business education

the business department has a double purpose in school. first, it gives the necessary vocational training which will provide efficient and competent office personnel.

secondly, the department provides incentive for those who desire advanced study in business education. we offer a large variety of courses which prepare students for specific positions in the community as well as offering them incentive to further their education by attending our local college or some other college of their choice.

vocational training is . . .

teaching today's skills to the craftsmen of tomorrow. here people work, they do not learn to do it; they do it. they get on-the-job training and in-school experience, plus the satisfaction of being able to know a vital skill.

drivers' education

most people believe that drivers' education is exclusively designed for learning to drive. they have the wrong assumption because drivers' training also teaches the fundamental devices of the automobile.

this course also covers everything necessary to be a sportsman-like driver. the students are given a thorough view of driving, through films, charts, statistics, and actual practice driving.

home economics

homemaking has one purpose: to train young people to live more effectively as family members today, and to prepare them for the establishment of good home and family living in the future.

one year of homemaking, taken at the ninth grade or above, is required of all girls graduating from accredited florida high schools. an additional year is required of all girls graduating from the general course in high school.

mathematics

teachers of mathematics must be certain that our courses provide psychological consistency, personal satisfaction, and valid mathematical experiences. our course offerings must be varied so that each student may explore in order to find those courses which best meet his future needs.

while we teach logical thinking, accuracy in computation, and confidence in mathematical ability we must include patriotism, integrity, honesty and all other basic values which are necessary in our society. we will teach these by precept and example, respecting students' ideas and attitudes, treating each one as our equal and striving to build a mutual understanding with those who pass through our classrooms. should students confide in us, we will consider this privileged information and treat it accordingly. we recognize that today's youth are daring and independent. they prefer to learn by personal discovery and experience rather than by quoted rules and dictated directions.

while teaching mathematics we will coordinate our efforts with all other disciplines to make tomorrow's adults adjusted and adequately educated citizens, who will keep the democratic way of life a growing and lasting heritage.

only one test tube in the experiment of education, our science department seeks to create a better understanding of ourselves and of the various relationships within our environment. from physical science to physics, it serves as a catalyst in our absorption of knowledge, whether it be the whys of a human respiratory system or the hows in the dissociation of water. the educators of this department are well-equipped both in machine and mind to broaden our comprehension of the makings of our bodies, our world, and our universe.

social studies

the philosophy of social studies is: to bring all students a body of knowledge about men and society, past and present; to conceptualize the cultural structure and behavior of people in many societies; to understand how man governs himself, and to learn how to participate in self-government; to help each student learn and use certain skills that provide a link between knowledge and behavior.

music

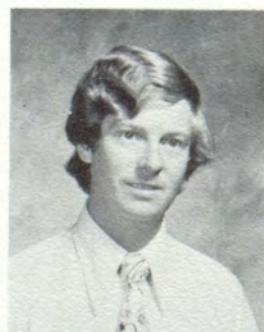

this year the motto of the key west high school band is "quality instead of quantity." throughout the state, the band is known for its small band quality and has earned the rating of superior at the district marching contest for fifteen consecutive years.

after marching season is over, the band then goes into the concert season. the band gives five free concerts beginning in january and ending in may. they also give the annual Christmas gift to the community along with concertttes and chorus.

physical education

in order to cope with every day life our bodies must be in excellent physical conditon. our instructors strived for this goal. with the world participating in more explorations than ever before, a person not only needs to be mentally fit but physically fit. the instructors at key west high taught us the basic fundamentals of indoor and outdoor sports such as volley ball, gymnastics, football, and track. the stronger our bodies are, the healthier we are. physical education not only gave us a chance to get our bodies in the best conditon but it gave us a chance to participate in sports with our friends. it helped give us a better attitude in everything we do.

files, checks, books and balances—all these comprise the world of mrs. delores martinez and the office staff. it is due to the hard work and loyalty of these women that the system of key west high school runs efficiently.

besides the assigned duties of these ladies, they are frequently deluged with requests for personal favors—from everyone!

we'd like to take this opportunity to thank these women for the ready smile and the kindness they are always ready to show.

student council

student council is a very important part of the functioning of a high school. it is the only way students can get things brought before the administration in a favorable light. our student council here at this school seems to have a declining reputation and is the target of much apathy from both students and teachers. but, no matter what people say about us, we are in there doing our darndest and if anything gets done, or a new idea becomes a happening, student council either started it or is behind it pushing as hard as we can.

national honor society

national honor society stands for and represents four qualities. the qualities of character, leadership, scholarship and service are cultivated through the work of the club in the community and the school, and through the emphasis on scholastic achievement. in our world today, too many people who possess the ability to help mankind have sacrificed talent and scholastic ability for popularity. through the national honor society, we try to encourage these qualities by bringing together those people who have a common foundation. the leaders of tomorrow will come from today's youth as we try to grow leaders.

keyettes is one of the most popular clubs in the high school stressing service and leadership which provide numerous projects for the benefit of our school as well as the community. among the many activities for our school, we show our conch football spirit by decorating goal posts. we also keep the trophies shining so that the whole student body can be proud of them. to earn money, keyettes work homecoming concessions. we also sponsor the annual sweetheart dance, along with our brother club, the key club. in serving our community we give christmas gifts to underprivileged children, a dog-cat food drive for our local humane society, etc. applications are open to sophomore, junior and senior girls maintaining at least a "c" average.

interact

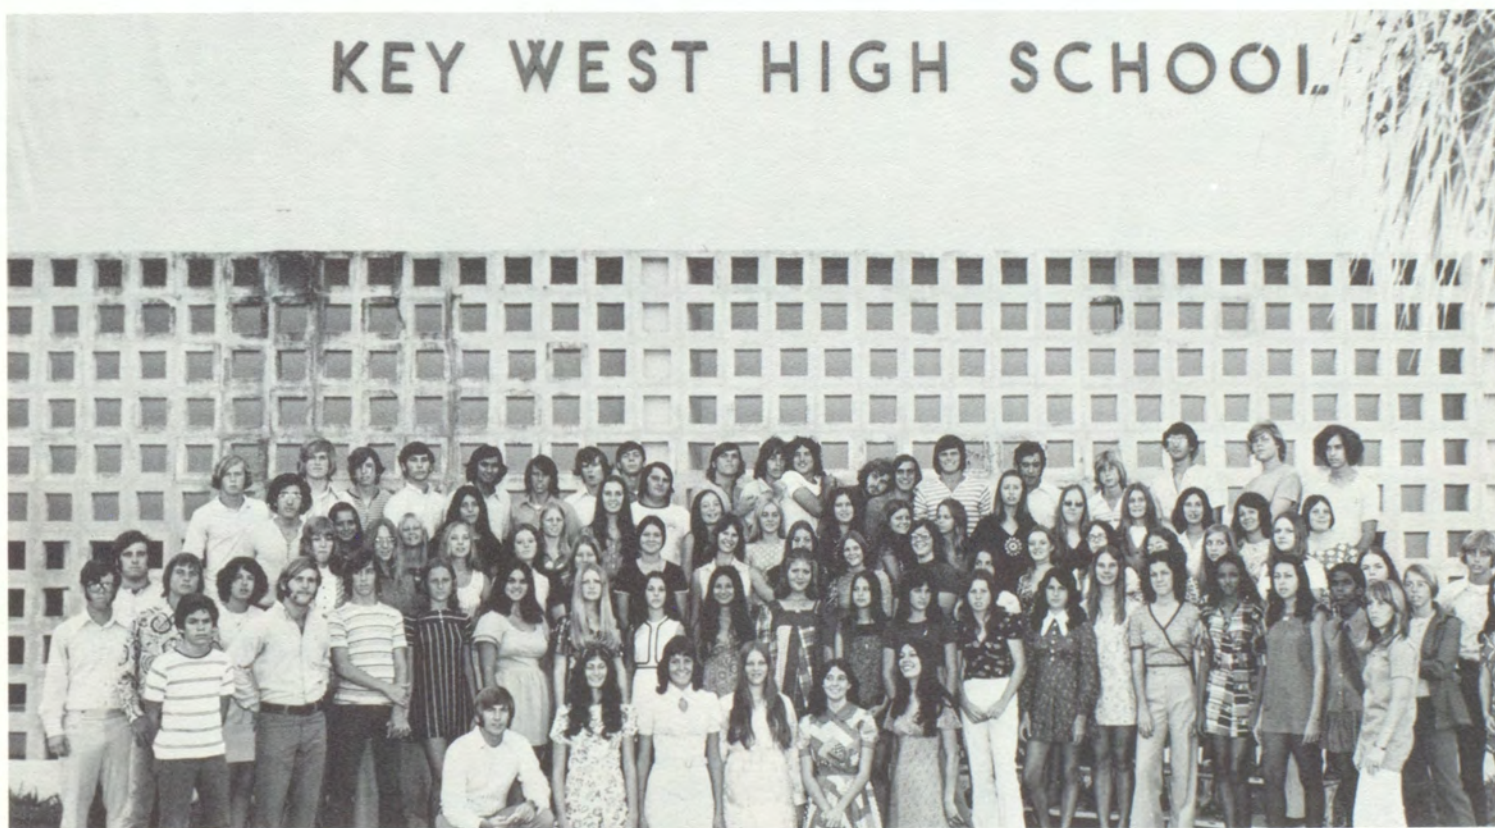

the interact club of k.w.h.s. is a service club to the school and the community. the club has, since its founding four years ago, built a reputation for being active. members are proud of this record for helping others who are less fortunate than themselves and for striving to bring school spirit back to k.w.h.s.

members of interact have found that they grow personally as the year progresses and that they become close friends. as each year closes, members look back with a feeling of accomplishment. interact's projects are many, but two stand out from the rest. the walk for "marc" and the adoption of an american indian child. each year members strive to better previous years, thus making interact a front runner on the school scene.

d.c.t. is a club that not only works in the afternoon, but studies one hour either second or third period and also fourth period. at twelve go to various jobs to learn skills that they will use in the future. d.c.t. is full of inventions and lots of fun. mr. bogue has done a fine job this year.

math—science club

inspired by integrated curriculum changes in education, the mathematics club and science club joined hands to create a key west high school first.

under the able direction of their new sponsors, the club got its first project well off the ground this year. you may remember the high flying sign on the balloons at the inter-act football sign contest which took first prize.

as was to be expected, the business of the change with its new constitution, new officers, took up most of the first half of the year but plans for the second half include movies and speakers.

ecology club

the ecology club was organized to "keep up with the times". with the dangerous advent of the many kinds of pollution, the club makes it their aim to work, as a club, to alleviate many local ecological problems.

besides the individual endeavors of the club, its members also strive to involve all students and the community in the battle against the dangers to our land and air.

relevance and consciousness are two key words for the club; relevance in regard to very real ecological threats and in developing a consciousness in all people of how precious our environment is.

future homemakers of america

the membership requirements of f.h.a. are that girls must have had, or be enrolled, in a home economics class. there are no restrictions for boys. all are welcome.

f.h.a. gets involved in various projects to raise money, such as bake sales, car washes and helping the community. there are also christmas treats for old folks, parties for the club, teachers, and parents.

future teachers of america

the members of f.t.a. must carry a 2.5 average for the last year and must maintain this while a member. members must be sponsored by two teachers and one member of the club. they are selected according to their academic achievements and good character. they must also be in the tenth, eleventh, or twelfth grade. f.t.a. handles the teacher of the month and teacher of the year awards. it is also a service club which offers teacher assistance and tutoring.

junior classical league

the junior classical league, locally referred to as the latin club, attempts to foster interest in the classics—language, literature, and civilization. the k.w.h.s. chapter of the jcl participates in many of the activities of the school, but, in addition, sponsors its own unique activities, including such gala events as a yearly slave auction, an annual latin week, a roman banquet (orgy?), and whatever other frolics jcl can devise to discover anything new in everything old.

modern language club

the modern language club is composed of students taking the romance languages, spanish and french, at key west high school. modern language club members wish to enrich their knowledge of these romance languages by studying further the culture and customs of the target countries. one event planned for this year will be caroling with the latin club. carols will be sung in english, latin, french, and spanish. other events planned are bake sales, and a possible field trip.

at the lanes

the key west high school intramural bowling team meets every wednesday, forming eight teams with three members. the competitions is serious, but combined with "good times." each bowler, all members of the american bowling congress, join with their teammates to win league prizes and trophies, which are awarded at the club party, at the culmination of the bowling season.

with the advent of the bobby fischer phenomenon, chess knew an almost startling revival. because of this revitali-

aqua-conchs

this synchronized swim club originated last spring, 1971. the group of girls presented the first key west high school swim show consisting of four synchronized swim numbers to music, plus diving, comic diving, modern dance routines, jazz routines and a conchette number.

the aqua-conchs were organized as an authentic club this year. their main objective is to perform in an annual swim show presented every spring.

the qualifications for an aqua-conch is being able to swim most strokes well and have a primary drive to practice routines and stunts so they are perfect.

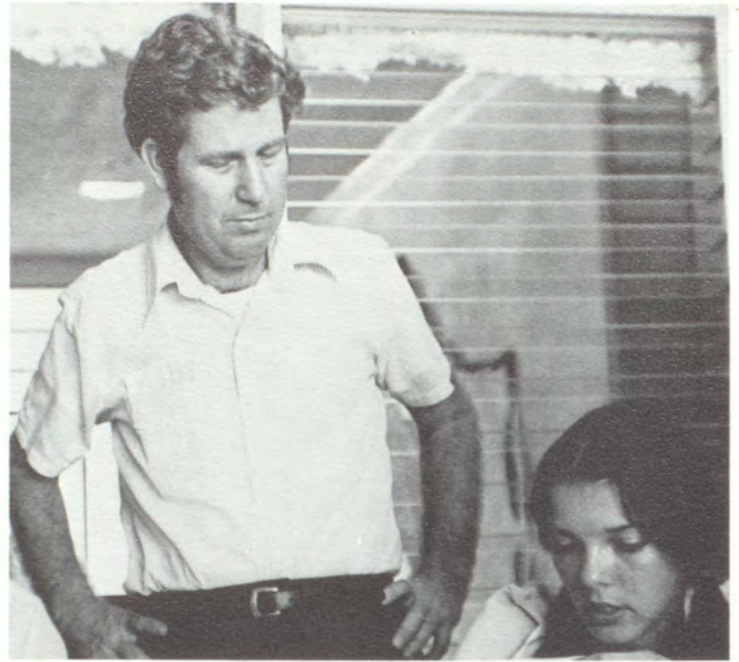

annual staff

the yearbook staff is composed of a small group of students with a big job. it is the duty of the staff to produce a book that community and school will find pleasing, both as reading material and as a memory book.

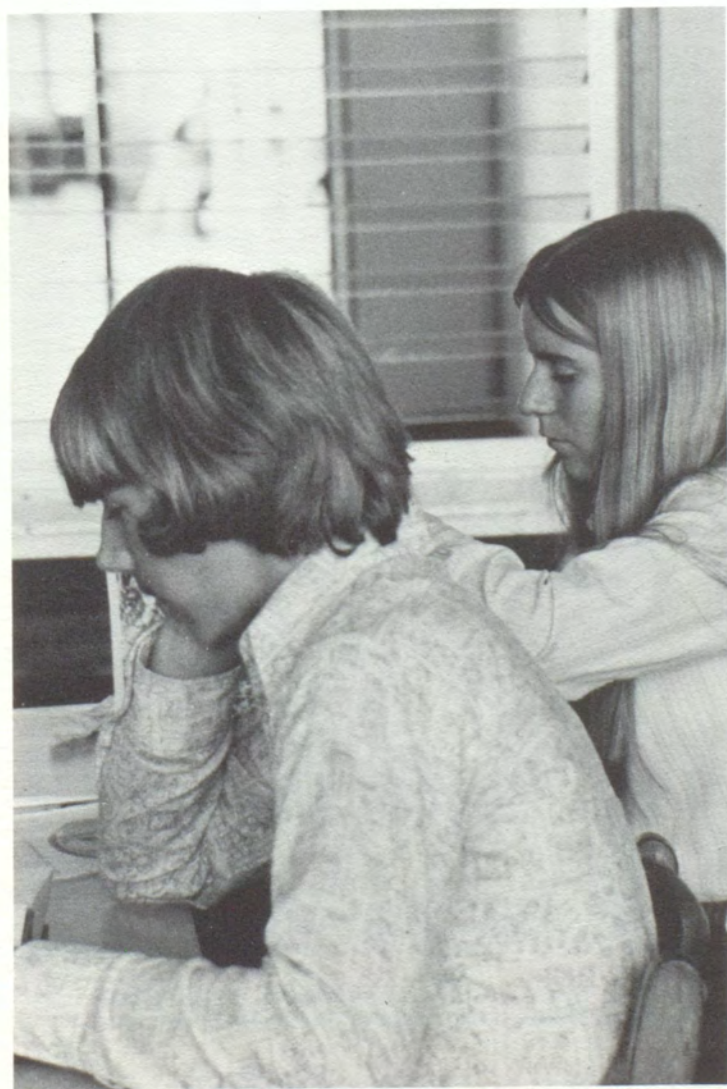

besides all this, each student attempts to be creative in his or her area of editing; they try to achieve an artistic composition for each page while they work within the limits of how much can be done with any given page.

the staff learns the regulations of publication while they are artistically creating.

for this effort, the reward is well worth it with the arrival of the new "conch."

snapper

the snapper staff consists of twenty-seven students dedicated to keeping key west high informed about the latest news and school events. the eight page monthly newspaper is the result of many class hours and much hard work by the snapper reporters.

this year's snapper staff was led by editor-in-chief, jean duguid, and sponsored by mrs. brenda stevens, news editor; manuel gonzaga, feature editor, matt sherman and sports editor, denise mclaughlin. all worked together with the other staff members in producing a successful paper. business aspects of this year's snapper were handled by randy brooks, business manager and robert hall, advertising manager.

the choral department has three performing groups: concert chorus, girls' ensemble and mixed chorus. instruction includes musicianship and sight-reading, vocal techniques, tone and choral blend, and musical styles from the renaissance to rock.

the choral groups participate in combined concerts with the band at christmas and in february, concerts for local service organizations, such as rotary, kiwanis and lion's clubs, spring concert, district festival evaluation, and they give a musical in the spring.

district festival evaluation offers the opportunity for soloists, ensembles and the choruses to perform for a rating by a panel of judges from the florida vocal association. the choral department also sponsors the appearances of visiting choral groups from high schools, colleges and universities.

drum major; valerie struve

one outstanding feature of the key west high school's marching band are the majorettes, who added much luster to all half-time shows. along with the majorettes was valerie struve, a centerpiece during half-time shows, because she is the first female drum major in the history of our school. her sparkle and talent on the football field certainly made half-time shows complete.

conchettes

the key west high school conchettes were organized in the late 50's. the group performs various types of dances including the famous line routine for half-time entertainment during football season. in the spring, the conchettes present a variety show called "conchette capers". the group has traveled to washington, d.c. for the cherry blossom festival and performed in the orange bowl.

the group gives young girls the opportunity to exercise physically, gain many lasting friendships, and also provide entertainment for the community.

to be a conchette, a girl must maintain a "c" average, have good character, and be willing to devote many long hours of rehearsal.

"we have planted the seed but now it must be watered and allowed to grow." the varsity cheerleaders are usually described as the vivacious girls who try out each may, hoping to be selected as one of a chosen few to cheer for and support the basketball, football, baseball, tennis, and track teams. but we feel like we're more than just this. we try just a little harder every day to make our school the most spirited one around. people may laugh because we're cheering at a pep rally without a band, minus three cheerleaders, and absolutely no vocal support from the crowd, but we're always out there doing our best to try and plant a new seed next to a rapidly dying one. we just hope that our efforts will water this seedling and that it will sprout and grow to height never before conceivable and never again to die.

it is not only the varsity cheerleaders that contribute such a great deal to school enthusiasm; two other squads fulfill their duties in creating spirit. these are the junior varsity squad and freshman squad.

besides performing with the varsity cheerleaders at convocations and pep rallies, these girls faithfully cheer their respective teams at all home and away games.

each girl competently and with contagious enthusiasm supports our athletic program and help to give the conchs their "high hopes."

conchs 72: "the crowd pleasers"

in 1960, i was given the opportunity to coach at k.w.h.s. it has been a great experience and one i'll never forget. i do feel that we as conchs have accomplished some of our goals. the football players at k.w.h.s. have battled the biggest and best schools in florida, and possibly the country. however, i feel that under my leadership the football team never reached the degree of excellence that i was striving for and for this i am truly sorry.

however, in 1973 k.w.h.s. will have a new coach. coach dave matherson is going to need all the support from the student body and the community that he can get. i wish him a long and successful career; and in the years to come, i want coach matherson to know that there will be at least one person in key west who will share deep down inside all the thrills of victory, but who will also share the agony of his defeats.

the 1972-1973 football season started off well but due to injuries ran into a little trouble late in the season as the conchs ended with 4-5-1 record. even though the '73 team didn't do as well as expected, it still marked the end of my and many other seniors' football careers at key west high.

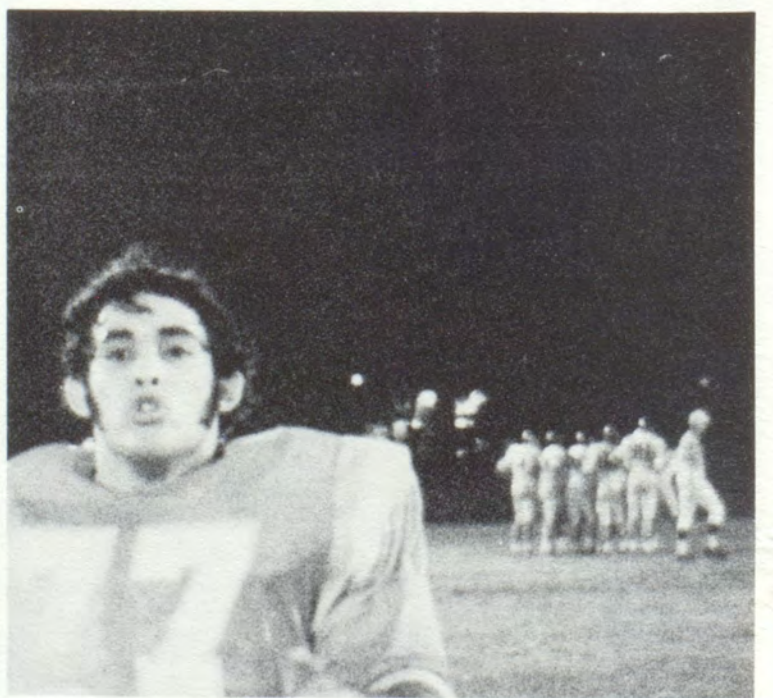

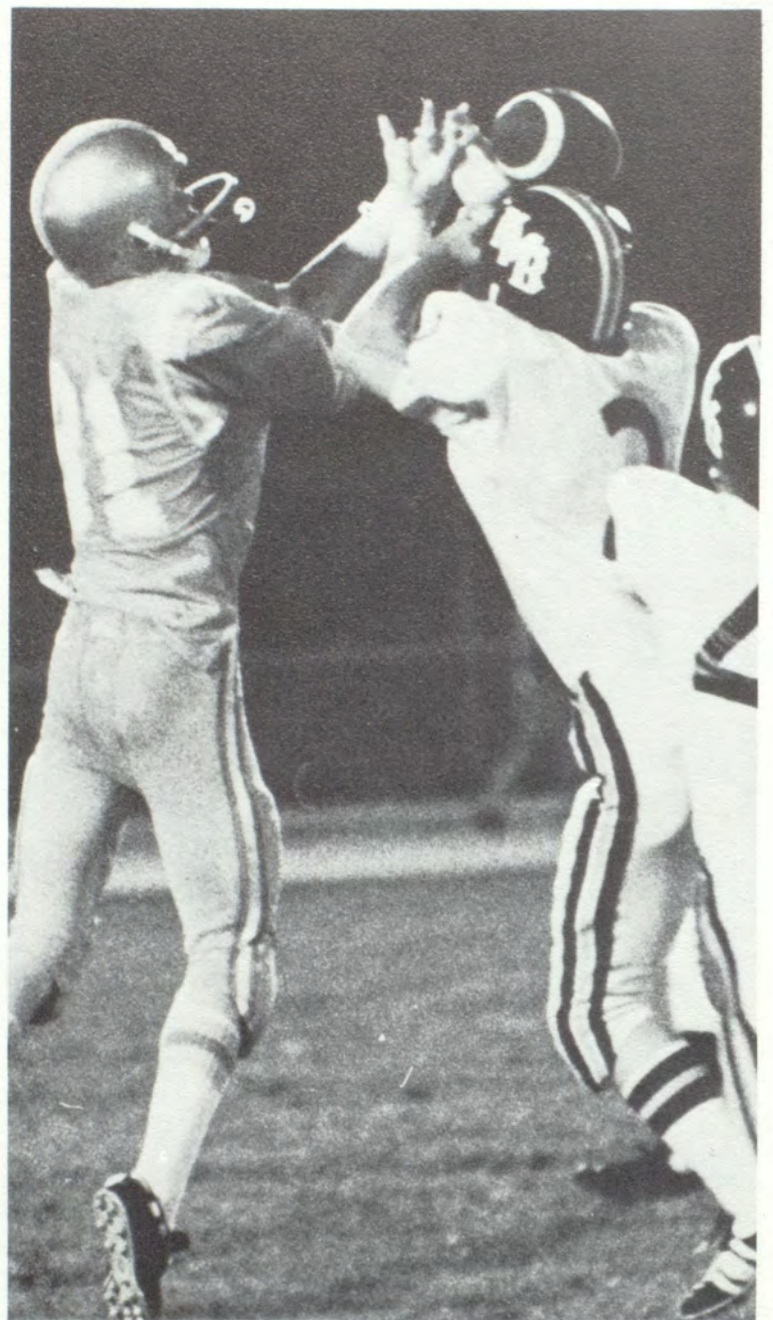

i cannot explain in just a few words what these four years of football have taught me. it has not only taught me the sport but it has also taught me discipline, how to think in certain situations, and has given me friends which i will have the remainder of my life.

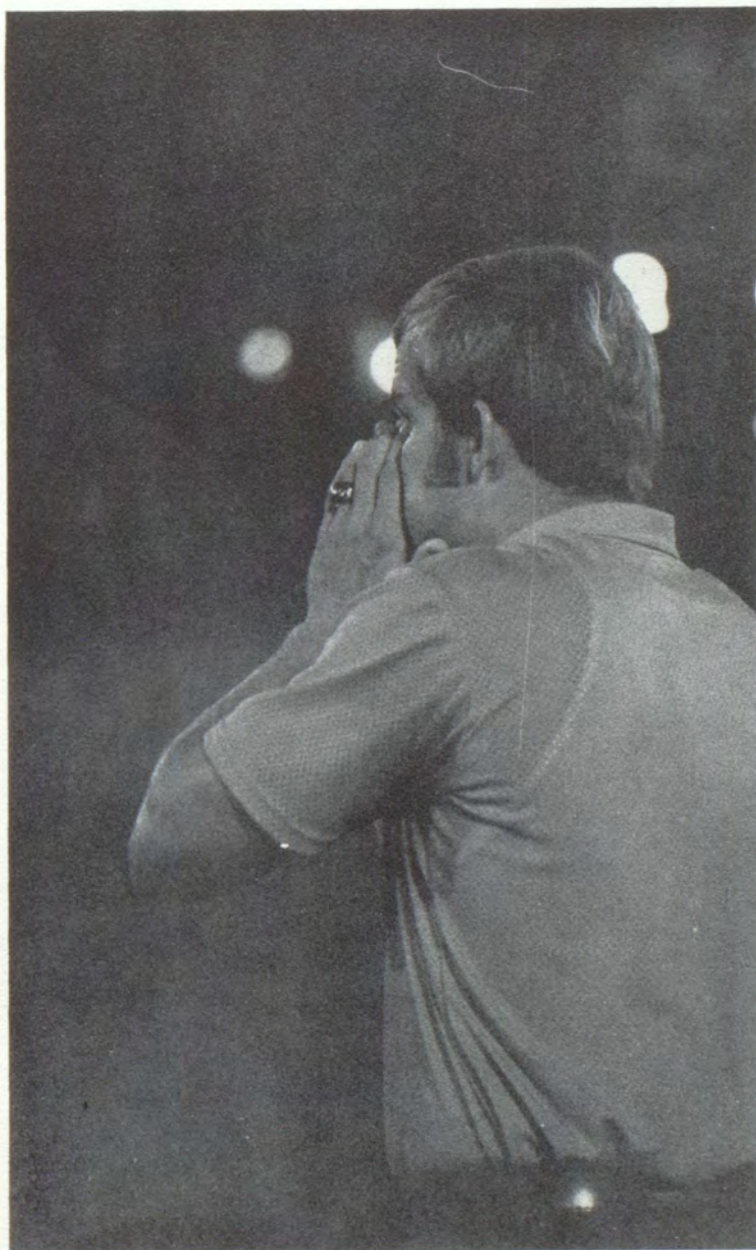

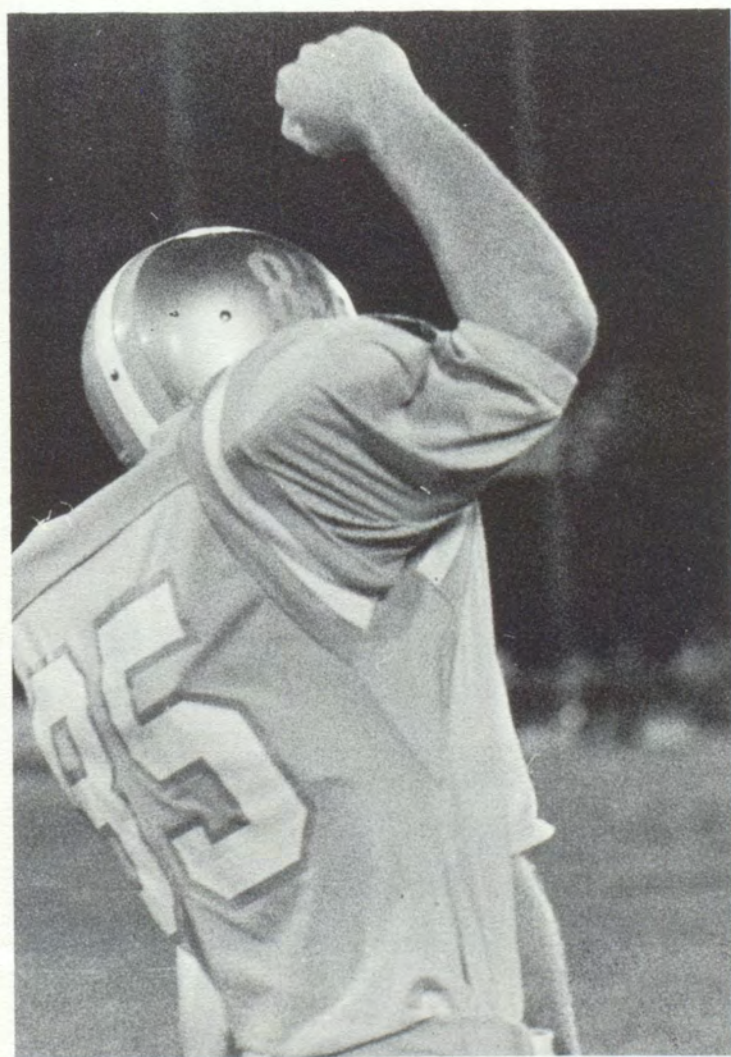

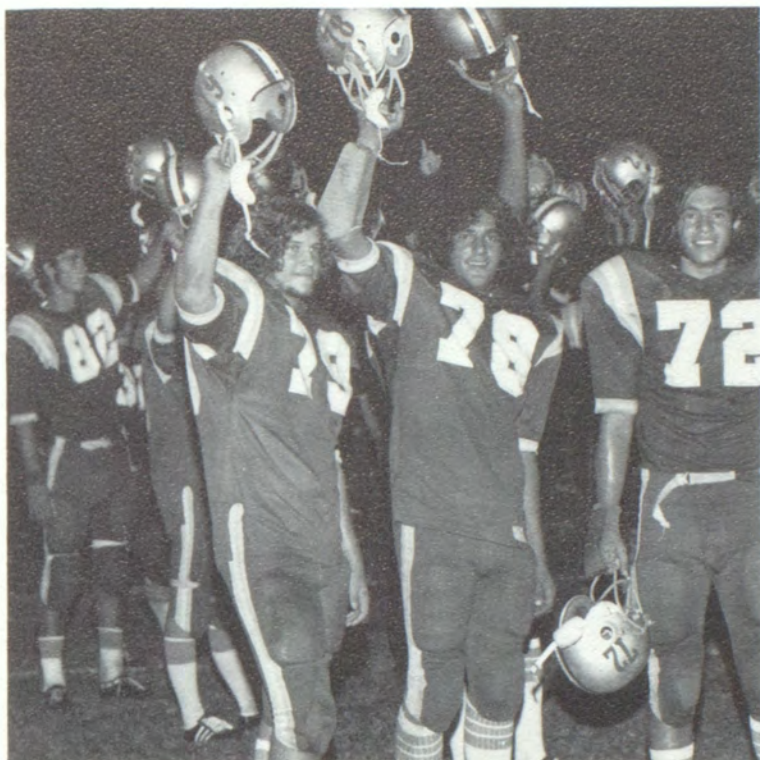

football just doesn't give you a game to play every friday night, it gives you a way of life 5 months out of the year. you just can't go out on the night of the game and play, you have to live football seven days a week throughout the season and this is how you get your friends that will last you a lifetime. with players like jerry smith, paul fraga, mike rodriguez, jeff capas and david rogowski with whom you get to live with throughout this time and in return learn to love them. for the coaches joe russo, bob menendez, jerry hughes, tom roberts, and mike wing, i will be forever grateful for helping me not only in football but also for preparing me for life. so, i leave football with no regrets about not winning a championship, for i feel that i have won my championship by being with these people for my four years.

you see, football, all sports, are not just games, they also help you in life.

the conchs 1972 junior varsity football season had it's "ups and downs". the team was made up of ninth and tenth graders with little experience, but a lot of heart. as the season progressed, so did the team in every aspect of football. with a slow start against miami beach and a strong seasons' finish against hialeah, the team showed great improvement and also showed a great deal of will power.

the seasons' record ended two wins and four losses but this didn't affect the time and effort the young men put into the game. the coaches and players are looking forward to the coming 1973 season and its many challenges and victories to come.

conchs 72: the crowd exciters

the basketball program at key west high school has three teams: the varsity, the junior varsity and the freshmen. key west high school is a class aaa school and is a member of the greater miami athletic conference which is primarily composed of schools with a larger enrollment than key west high school.

during the past several seasons, key west high school has earned the reputation for producing outstanding basketball teams. this year's team is continuing the tradition. with a season record of 28 wins and 4 losses and a sixth place state ranking. the coaches are considered one of the top teams in the state. our teams exhibit style which blends pattern basketball with the fast break. the schedule this year was comprised of twenty-two season games and two christmas tournaments, one of which was our annual island city holiday tournament.

basketball is a great game. it takes a lot of ability to play the game, such as ability for quickness and being able to make the right decisions at the right time. but most of all, it takes a cool head and lots of sportsmanship.

most people think that the game of basketball is just running, jumping, shooting and dribbling, but these people are wrong. i felt the same way, also, but i felt different when i was a sophomore and sat on the bench. then, i knew what basketball really meant, because i had to work my way up to play this very active sport.

tennis and those with a talent for this sport went too long unrecognized as a major sport and as major sportsmen.

but, in the last few years, tennis has come "into its own." key west high school has assisted in bringing a popularity to tennis as coach mckell and coach perez and their boy's and girl's tennis teams made fine showings in all their matches.

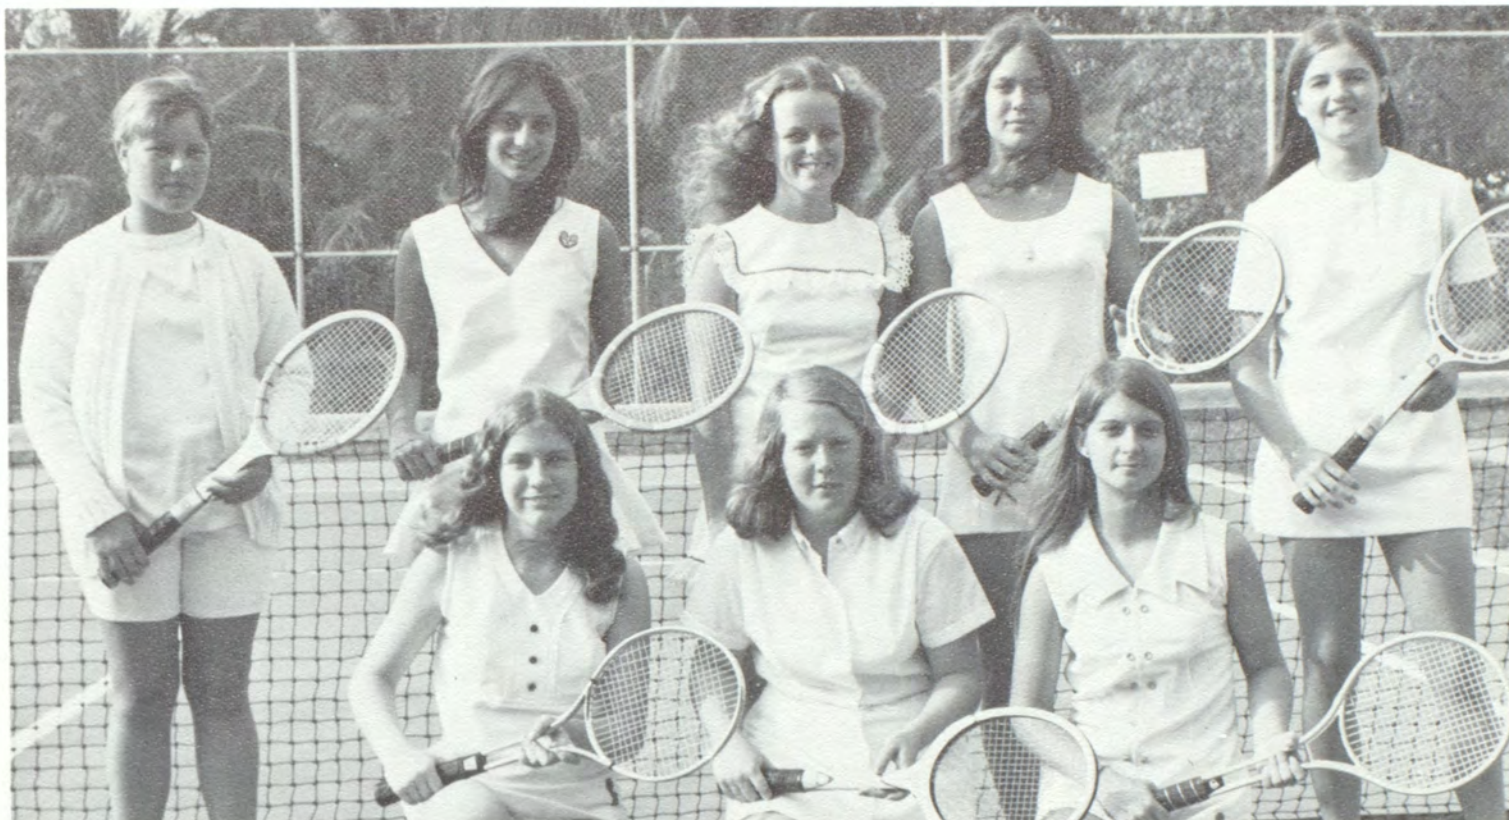

tennis is a sport which gives each player a sense of competition as well as a sense of the aesthetics which should be recognized in all sports.

k.w.h.s. is proud of their tennis teams and wish future tennis teams success and popularity.

the track and field team at k.w.h.s. is class aaa and is a member of the greater miami athletic conference, which is composed of schools with a larger enrollment. for the past few years at k.w.h.s. has earned the reputation of producing outstanding athletes in such events as the 100 yard dash, the long jump, the hurdles (high and low), the high jump, pole vaulting, the 440 dash.

even though track and field is considered the "baby sport" at k.w.h.s., it requires a combination of most of the skills needed in other sports. the members of the track and field team work very hard and need the support of the student body, faculty, and the community in order to be successful.

the people who are connected with the baseball program at key west high school are very proud of its winning tradition and achievements since the first conch baseball team won a state championship in the mid-fifties. since then, no less than five conch teams have carried the big state trophy back to this island—more than any other school in the state of florida. the last state title was won in 1969 under the leadership of coach otto tufenkjian, the present conch coach. last year's team finished 18 and 8 and were runners-ups for the state title.

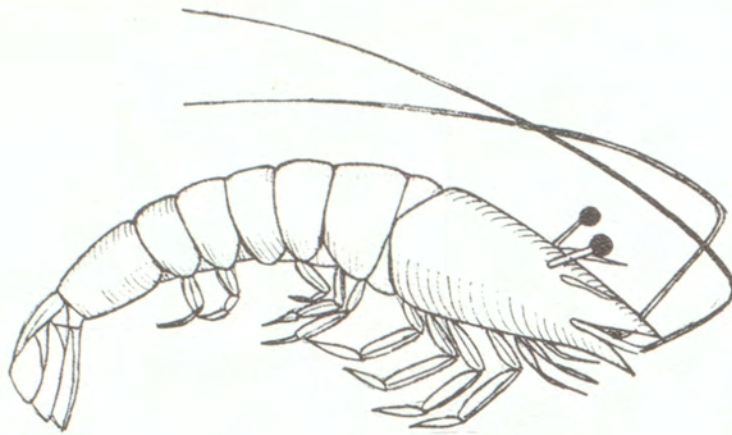

the junior varsity program, under the direction of coach pedro fraga, is composed mainly of 9th and 10th graders. the jv program is considered a very important part of the total program. at this level, future varsity players are developed and gain the necessary experience to carry on our winning tradition.

we hope kwhs and its student body are as proud of its ball club as we are.

 you!!!

Mr O'Berry,
 My feelings about
 you can not be put

Mr O'Berry,
 You're been a great teacher. I've really enjoyed your class. Even though I'm not great in sight-reading (let's learn something I believe it or not)

It's really been fun this year in show. Keep happy &
I hope you get more good next year than you did this year. Good luck.

Mr. Berry '0,

What can I say to you except Thanks. I really don't know how you put up with me, Cathy & Lynn but some how you did. Next year Hill's Ensemble will make it to State just wait and see!! The year of '73-'74 will be full of surprises. Starting and with me behaving myself. (Now that you have it in writing you can believe it.!!?) Well I'll see you next year if I make it through the summer because I am going to have to get into a lot of trouble this summer so I won't have any desire for it next year. Keep Cool, Keep Happy, but most of all Keep You.

Love,
Debbie

to Mr. Barry O.
you are a real
fine teacher and music teacher. Even though the times we have gotten into trouble, you were still under standing and did all that was possible. I hope we have a concert chorus that was as good as this year's.
Although we could of stood for more improvement Bill's ensemble will make a lot more. or at least I hope so. I know I will try harder this year to come. Over the summer I'll come back with my aight reading, so I'll come summer will be relaxing for you and Mrs. Barry because when school starts you will have to put up with us again. well I hope. God bless you and Mrs.
may God will be with you always.
for all you've done.
Love me,
