Tradition

Many things made Key West High School unique, but some things never changed. Those things were traditions that were carried down from generation to generation, Conch to Conch, and class to class. Although times changed and people did too, students always had those lasting traditions that held them together. Traditions made Conchs unique and proud to be a part of something so meaningful. And so another year was added to the list; naming it "In Addition to Tradition".

Dedication

Our school was known for having students participate in all types of school events. The student body was one of the most dedicated and supportive groups around. At any given event, familiar faces wearing shades of red and gray were seen. Beyond school, students carried Conch Pride with them. From football games and pep rallies, to jobs and everyday activities, the Conchs had that one thing that brought them together. We called it "Dedication".

THOSE SUMMER DAYS

You might end up in China.

Summer offered a chance to let go and have a good time. It was the one break of the year when students did not have to worry about school work, except maybe those summer reading assignments, and the thought of starting school again, of course. It was a great time to study abroad, as some students did, or just stay at home and relax. Everyone seemed to end up with a great experience or adventure and could not wait to tell everyone upon return to school. Students spent time in the sun, near ocean waters, abroad, or with friends, making the break worthwhile.

SIDE BY SIDE

"Friendship Isn't a big thing, It's a million little things."

Friendships had an unbreakable bond that lasted forever. Throughout high school, best friends were challenged through thick and thin. Change was a big part of life when growing up and high school was a big part of that. No matter how their lives differed, they made the commitment to always stay best friends. Best friends not only shared secrets, but also a lifetime of memories.

A true friend was there when needed and always had your back. They were there to catch you when you fell. Having someone you could count on at all times made a huge difference in the lives of students.

A famous writer, Douglas Pagel, said, "A friend is one of the nicest things you can have, and one of the best things you can be".

Different styles for student drivers

Getting to and from school did not seem to be an issue for students. Many types of transportation were present on campus. From cars to trucks and buses, to mopeds and bikes, and even long boards, students had their own way of getting to school, even if it meant by means of walking.

There were a variety of different cars in the parking lot every day. You could see many different styles of cars in an assortment of colors, as well as colorful and artsy bicycles and mopeds.

It was said that a student's car reflects his or her personality and senior Danielle Helmke sums up that statement nicely; "My car is loud and different, just like me!"

Some underclassmen spent their first two years of high school looking up to the upperclassmen in their cars. They couldn't wait until the exciting day when they turned sixteen and could get their license. Transportation, as well as the thought of driving privileges, proved to be an interesting and exciting necessity in getting to and from school.

Aubrey Mulcahy (11)

"My car and I are kind of alike, short and sweet!"

Angela Swartzel (11)

Mopeds are a popular way of transportation around town due to the hot weather and busy streets. Many students drive mopeds to and from school everyday.

Labels or Love?

Fashion: One of the world's greatest forms of expression, included bright colors, accessories, and all of the latest trends.

Fashion allowed people's personalities to come to life. For some, clothes were just pieces of fabric, but to others they were a work of art or even a way of life.

Our school was full of original style that let the hallways transform into a runway. Students rocked the school in everything from sun dresses and jeans, to cheetah heels and tennis shoes. Fashion was more than just putting on clothes to wear, it was about letting one's true colors shine.

"Fashion is every girl's dream."

Simari Arias (10)

"Fashion is not something that exists in dresses only. Fashion is in the sky and in the street. Fashion has to do with ideas, the way we live, and what is happening."

KEEPING TRADITION

"Conch Pride: Don't Leave Home Without It!"

Traditions were many and held a high rank at school. Some of the traditions included uniforms that exhibited conch pride, while others were inspirational and motivational pre-game routines. Whether a tradition was passed down from generation to generation or a new one was put into place, it was evident at school events.

One of the well known traditions was having our mascot, the conch, printed on the yearbook. Another tradition was the Conchette's uniform that stood the test of time. They have been known for wearing their high-waisted white skirts, red leotards, sequined belts, and spotless white boots. They kept the tradition going this year. The swim team held another tradition. They showcased their artistic artwork before every meet by sketching different nick names and inspirational drawings on each others' bodies. It was their own way of pumping up before diving in for the big win.

Rivalry was another tradition on campus. From the homecoming floats to clash of the classes, school competitions kept the students interested and involved.

This year a new tradition emerged; the handing off of a spirit stick. The class that demonstrated the most spirit at the first pep rally got to claim the spirit stick. The senior class won the first spirit stick!

Traditions will continue and new ones will be put in place as the Conchs continue to display their pride and carry on the long standing traditions that define us as Conchs.

You call everyone Bubba or Cuzzi.

DO YOU KNOW YOU'RE A CONCH IF ...

Are you a true Conch?

While walking down the hallways, you saw class T-shirts in shades of red, black, gray, and white; all demonstrating the presence of conch pride. Then, when you got to the sports fields, you saw members of the Island cheering in the stands. The thought, "Wow, they must be Conchs!" might have popped into your head, but just what are some of the characteristics of being a Conch? Here are some examples...

You scream so loud at the pep rallies that you have no voice left for the game.

You know every person on every street.

You know your way out to Marvin Key blind folded.

You wear your class shirt every Friday.

You never miss a Friday night football game.

You wear flip-flops year round.

You're always late because you run on "Conch time".

You wear boots with skirts or shorts when it's cold.

You paint your body for every football game.

"You always think it's baseball season."

WORKING HARD

Students earn some extra cash

Growing up, students couldn't wait to get jobs. They dreamt of what their first job would be like. With the start of high school, many students took the first step towards adulthood by applying and getting hired for their first job.

Some loved their jobs, while others came to the discovery that their job would not be a life-long career. Jobs became an integral part of students' lives. Students learned how to manage their time between their school-work, sports, clubs, and the workplace.

Students had jobs for different reasons. Some liked the extra cash they had in their pockets, some saved for college, and some simply enjoyed the experience that they could have for a lifetime. Students agreed that their job provided essential skills and experiences to guide them in future endeavors.

Pep rallies were a tradition that were carried through many Conch generations. They were a way for students to show their conch pride. The students got pumped up for the Friday night game or for the upcoming sports season.

The pep rallies consisted of hyped sports teams, excited cheerleaders, dancing Conchettes, the amazing band, and a rowdy crowd. Everyone anticipated the big event at the end of the day. The school came together and showed their true Conch Pride.

Pep rally participants went all out for the event, wearing their class colors from head to toe, cheering their teams on, as well as performing their hearts out. Gathering as an entire school helped get the teams gear up for their big games. It also let the teams know that their fans were behind them 100%. Let the games begin! Go Conch Go!

SIZZLIN' START OF THE SEASON

Friday Night Lights

Down, set, hike! A sea of crimson and grey could be seen throughout Tommy Roberts Memorial Stadium! Everyone was going wild cheering on the Conchs! Grandparents, parents, brothers, sisters, and friends packed the stadium to cheer on the first game. The football players were ready for anything that St. Cloud could bring, thanks to Offensive Coach, Coach Hughes and Defensive Coach, Coach Davis.

The Conchs not only had the support from their friends and family in the stands, but also from the Band, Color Guard, NJROTC, Junior Varsity and Varsity cheerleaders, Conchettes and Pep Squad. They all came together to cheer the Conchs to victory, even the KWFD came prepared with a fire-truck to sound at every touch down made by the Conchs!

Some special things were introduced at the game such as Alumni cheerleaders, and a half-time performance by Mr. Hernandez, the band director. These events gave the crowd even more reasons to cheer. In the end the night was a success for all, with an awesome half-time show, as well as a first victory of the season for the Conchs as they defeated St. Cloud.

SPIRIT WEEK

Togas, Double Vision and PJs everywhere

Each year, spirit week is a much anticipated time for students. The festivities took place the week of the homecoming football game. Students wore different attire, depending on the designated day. The first day of spirit week was Toga Day, which was for seniors. Seniors twisted, tugged, and pulled pieces of interesting and creative fabric to get the perfect toga.

Following seniors' Toga Day, you saw double on twin day! All classes had the opportunity to find a friend and dress alike for twin day. Friends everywhere searched the perfect outfits to wear for the spirited day.

The next day was Pajama Day, which allowed students to wear their pajamas (no excuses for being late to school). The week ended with Color Day, where each class wore their color for the Homecoming pep rally. The week shaped up to be both memorable and exciting!

Seniors dressed up as zombies for Michael Jackson's song "Thriller" and danced to Jackson hits. Phillip Young portrayed Michael Jackson perfectly by replicating signature dance moves. In the traditional homecoming parade, the junior class took the theme and turned that idea into a wonderland of creativity. They featured Dr. Seuss as their person who was gone but will never be forgotten. Their float consisted of bright colors, many famous Dr. Seuss characters, and a crew that was there every step of the way. The junior class spent endless nights and weekends to make their float the best it could be. In the end, the junior class took home third place and an experience that won't be forgotten.

Mr. Legs

Legs come in all shapes and sizes, and it was up to the high school students to determine which senior football player had the best legs. Members of Student Council created photos of faceless legs, and students voted by making monetary donations to their favorite set of legs. At the end of voting, the boy with the most money donated to his legs was crowned as "Mr. Legs", and Cale was given the title. He wore the crown in the homecoming parade where all the class floats performed.

Conch Floor Fever

The Homecoming no one will ever forget!

The Key West High Conchs were burnin' up the dance floor! Homecoming was the night where the students got all dressed up, took pictures, danced, and had a great time.

This was a homecoming that no one would ever forget. Many of the Conchs got down on the dance floor and showed off some signature dance moves. A good time was had by all who attended.

The ladies came in the gym looking like movie stars and the gentlemen looked dashing in their tuxedos and ties.

Throughout the night, camera flashes were seen as the moments were captured in pictures. The theme for homecoming, "Gone but not Forgotten" holds true as students will look back at the photographs and remember one of the most memorable nights in 2009.

Socialization

With every new year, seniors graduate and a new group of students is added to the family. Changing faces is a part of school life. At the beginning of the year, the student body either can't wait for picture day or dreads it. For seniors, picture day means the last time you'll have to sit in front of that camera for a "school picture". For freshmen, it's only the beginning. At the end of year, everyone can't wait to look back and see how much they've changed.

Principal

John Welsh was born and raised in New Jersey. After graduating from high school in his home state, he enlisted in the Army. He served for three years as a foot soldier, saw action in Vietnam north of Duc Pho, a small village north of Chu Lai. He left the Army at the age of 21 and decided he would return to school, pursuing higher education. He majored in Education at Trenton State College, which is now known as The College of New Jersey.

In 1974 Welsh came to Florida, living temporarily in Ft. Lauderdale and he took a job at the Florida Ocean Science Institute. At FOS, they helped juvenile offenders find a new path through Marine Sciences and hands on work, such as building salt water aquariums and learning to sail. The Institute directed them toward accomplishing their GED in a new, more positive environment. At the end of 1974, he moved to Key West and started as a Social Studies teacher at Glynn Archer, which was then a middle school. He served as the Assistant Principal at Key West High School for 15 years and held the same position at Sugarloaf for 3 years. In 2002, he took over as Principal of Key West High School and has remained here ever since.

Mr. Welsh is a proud father of two sons in their late 20's and early 30's. He is an avid runner and has run an astonishing 9 marathons including the ever-grueling Pike's Peak in Colorado. He enjoys the weather and environment as well as the outdoor lifestyle. When asked what he feels is the most rewarding part of being an educator in the Florida Keys, he will humbly tell anyone he loves to combine the recreational opportunities of the Keys with tangible education strategies for young people.

A photograph of two young women working on a large mural. The woman in the foreground is wearing a dark blue t-shirt with white text that reads "It's All About A-Team". She is crouching and painting a green area. The woman in the background is also crouching and painting a blue area. The mural features large, abstract shapes in green, blue, and pink. The word "Organizations" is written in large, bold, black letters across the bottom of the image.

Organizations

Clubs offer students endless opportunities to expand on their character. From community service oriented clubs to groups looking to travel abroad, the organizations provide a way for students to widen their horizons. Extra-curricular activities allow students to meet people with similar interests and come together to accomplish a common goal. Each new year comes new leaders that take the group to new heights and along with it comes new experiences, friendships, and memories that will last a life-time.

The Bio-diesel class was made up of a large, diverse group of students. The group worked diligently completing new and challenging goals. This year, the Bio-diesel class successfully installed a wind turbine.

Being such a unique class, students got to experience things students of the past would never have imagined. The class was a real learning experience and a chance to make the environment a much more eco-friendly place. Bio-diesel was not just a destination, it was a journey with challenges to overcome. Bio-diesel received a grant from the State Farm Youth Advisor for their success totaling $60,657.00. The students are our future in the quest for going green!

Working Towards A Green Earth

Salon Styles

it's just a hairflip away

The girls and guys of Cosmetology worked tirelessly during school and sometimes multiple hours after school to master their trade. They showed great skill and dedication. Most students had clients in and out throughout the day for a simple trim, or a cut and color, or maybe even a manicure. "Although this is my first year doing nails, I feel like I have learned enough to go out into the true business of nails" said freshman Bailey Sellers. Each day brought a new experience and the students never seemed to have a dull moment. "Each day is a different day in Cosmetology. I never get tired of it," said junior Karis Mobley. Both girls and guys enjoy the real world experience of their cosmetology class.

The Mu Alpha Theta members were required to complete four of six tests given throughout the year in order to remain active members of the club. Each student worked hard to improve their test scores every time they met. In addition to test taking, members were expected to participate in several fundraising opportunities that took place over the school year. Mr. Clearman has been the club's sponsor for the last four years and encouraged students to join the club and succeed in mathematics.

Mu Alpha Theta was the National High School Mathematics Honor Society with over 75,000 student members in more than 1,500 schools across the nation. The program provided a method for schools to recognize and encourage students who enjoy and excel in mathematics. The club rewarded outstanding extra-curricular achievement by offering special awards to participating students.

Mu Alpha Theta consisted of the top math students in the school. In order to participate in the club, a 3.0 GPA was required, as well as the successful completion of Algebra 2. Over the course of the year, students took six tests to showcase their mathematic abilities while increased the number of scholarships available to them and provided an extra motivation to graduate at the top of the class.

We all have projects of our own in our lives. For members of this club, their project was to protect. Not only protect, but promote the healthy development of the Earth at Key West High School and the surrounding community. The club encouraged participation and responsibility around the school and community to protect our fragile environment from further break down. The club members achieved high levels of community involvement and educated the student body, as well as the community about the importance of the R's (Reduce, Reuse, and Recycle). Positive attitudes and outlooks were maintained by club members. We all learned a little something about our home and planet from Project Protect.

Interact was a club that was linked to the Rotary Club. Students helped out in the community to raise money for non-profit organizations. Some of the services they participated in were: the beach clean up, distribution of Christmas trees at the M.A.R.C. House, Children's Day, and the Haunted House at Fort Zachary Taylor.

They were also responsible for putting on the Clash Of The Classes, an event of rivalry between the classes that students looked forward to. Interact was a rewarding club sponsored by Mrs. Stefanowicz and Ms. Murphy that taught the students the importance of giving to others.

The National Honor Society was a group of dedicated students who gave back to the community in many ways. Among the many students, there were the academically motivated members of the National Honor Society. NHS was a service based club in which the students spent hundreds of hours helping the community. Members maintained an unweighted grade point average of 3.5 to stay active in the club. "NHS allows me to partake in many experiences which make me a well-rounded person," says sophomore Caitlin Snider.

Television Productions

The group of students who were part of TV Pro had some of the greatest creative minds at school. They were provided with the best equipment, software, and resources to explore the world of Television Productions. TV Pro gave students hands-on experiences that prepared them for Television careers, whether that meant behind the scenes as a director, producer, or writer, or in front of the camera as a reporter or actor. The class also filmed and produced videos from many school events, which gave them practice with real projects and the ability to show their skills off to the rest of the school. The teacher, Mr. Smith, went above and beyond to provide students with production opportunities. They participated in a national media festival and traveled to various places across the country to compete against other students' works. This year they won many awards in the competition.

The students in NJROTC prepared every day for a future defending and serving the United States in one of the five branches of the military. Under the leadership of Senior Chief Morgante they learned how to wear the uniform with pride, how to march, and how to become disciplined individuals inside and outside the classroom. They may one day find themselves abroad and the skills they've learned will serve them well. NJROTC offered great field trips for the students, whether it was watching the F-18 fighter jets maneuver skillfully in the blue abyss or learning how to safely shoot a firearm. NJROTC field trips are hardly a bore. The students often took part in school events showing of their polished technique of twirling their rifles. On important days in our country's history, the Reserve Officers were there, raising our nation's banner.

Pep Squad!

Let's get Loud

The Pep Squad has been around for generations and each year they get better and better and grow in numbers. The Pep Squad was a group of girls with tons of Conch Pride and enough spirit to fill the gym.

The girls performed at pep rallies and cheered the sports' teams on. They were known for getting the crowd going!

When you watched them cheer at Friday night football games, they showed an enormous amount of school spirit which was very contagious. The pep squad also demonstrated dedication to sports.

They were LOUD and PROUD and you could hear them cheering from across the field.

The Keys Kids had another great season with the play "The Laramie Project" and the musical "Guys and Dolls". Plenty of familiar young actors and actresses were involved, as well as some talented newcomers.

"The Laramie Project" was a staged-reading of the original play. Based on interviews taken from the investigation of the murder of Matthew Shepard, "Laramie" was a change from the often colorful musicals in the past. It required the cast to be a lot more serious and meaningful because of the subject. This one-night only play was also special because it took place on the same day as World AIDS Day.

"Guys & Dolls" on the other hand, was a musical that had everything from action and adventure, to comedy and romance. "Guys & Dolls" was a story about Nathan Detroit, Sky Masterson, and a couple of gamblers trying to make a living and having their lives changed in the process by Sarah Brown and her Mission.

Both plays were entertaining to the Key West community. Director Cameron Murray worked very hard to make sure the audience was amused, and he did a great job.

Let's Cook Up Some Fun!

Culinary Program

Katrin Kivilo

In today's society, there is a growing need for food service professionals. In the Keys alone, there are many jobs due to the tourism industry. The Key West High School Culinary Program allowed students to begin training for a career in the restaurant industry while in high school, increasing their possibilities of succeeding in their future careers. Many students participated in the culinary program.

Mrs. Bell poses with two of her students, senior Rusty Kane and Sophomore Christian Baker, after stating, "My favorite part about the program is my connection with my students." This is Mrs. Bell's ninth year teaching the culinary class and has enjoyed every minute of it. Mrs. Bell hopes that the class will advance her students' careers and give them a head start.

Not only is the culinary program an opportunity to give students the chance to develop food preparation skills, it also teaches them the importance of applying informational facts learned from books to improve their overall contribution in class, at home, and in their future careers. In the pictures above, students demonstrate the cooking process from gathering information from the books and using proper sanitization techniques, to working in the kitchen preparing dishes.

Throughout the year the Construction team dedicated their hard work to helping others. Instructed by Anthony Davis, the team spent their time learning about the construction industry, as well as tool safety. They also participated in several projects that worked with the Florida Learning Service and Habitat for Humanity, a volunteer organization that helps build houses for people in need. A project the team focused on was the Habitat Houses in Big Coppitt. They made a trip to the houses to contribute to the building project.

Assisting the students was Niels Hubbel who represented Habitat for Humanity and he instructed the team on how they could help.

The Construction crew also committed their time to building a skateboard rack for the school's front office. This was one of the team's major projects this year that was created entirely on their own. After seeing all the skateboards cluttering the office, the team felt that many would benefit from the rack. After all the hard work, the rack was a success. It has been useful for students and they are grateful for the contribution. The team has done a great job all year learning and creating projects to help out others.

VIPS

The VIPs are singing machines! According to junior, Jack Lockwood, the funnest part of being a VIP is singing the 12 Days of Christmas that is performed annually at the holiday concert. They can sing all day long, and it is pleasing to the ears. The boys went to Orlando in December and performed at Disney World. At the start of the new year, they competed in a couple of competitions. All of their hard work and effort paid off as they were rated a superior choir. The VIPs had amazing concerts with the help of Mr. Carter. "VIPs is a really fun group because we get to sing all types of music and Mr. Carter makes sure that whatever we do, we do the best we can," says senior, Ricky Hatch.

Select Choir was the next step after Freshman Choir. The choir was designed for the upperclassmen who had the desire to sing. Some lucky freshmen, could try out to be a part of Select Choir. When one tried out, one had to know how to read music and have the ability to sing in tone. "It's very difficult, but with positive thinking you can get through it," said Arielle Goldberg.

Select Choir performed songs that were funny and sometimes serious.

"My favorite song so far in Select Choir is 'In Remembrance, it's a really pretty song,'" said Erica Gil. Freshman, Alice Palay said, "It's fun because it's more competitive and it brings out the best when it's expected. Sophomore Taylor Allen said, "I learned how to read music and how to use my tone correctly." Select Choir is a great group to belong to if you love to sing and study music.

Usually, incoming freshmen try to get their Fine Arts credit out of the way their first year, and Freshman Choir fits the bill. When one starts Freshman Choir, one learned to sing music which was challenging, but the freshmen did it with pizzazz. They practiced hard to impress. Not only did they sing well, but one could hear them clearly from the back of the auditorium. Freshman Choir definitely showed what talent they had and gave it their all.

Photographs are a means of capturing special events and moments. These moments will live forever through the memories created in the yearbook. The yearbook staff worked hard all year to put together a book of meaningful memories. Each day the class worked hard using their creativity to come up with pages to make that possible.

Members of the yearbook staff attended nearly every school event to capture those special moments. There were many student involved activities and the staff wanted to recognize and remember all of them. The most important thing to the staff members was making the yearbook the best it could possibly be.

The Snapper was the official school newspaper. It was an elective course that students could take, especially those interested in journalism careers. Students that were involved and personable sought to become active members of the staff.

The student writers covered issues that were both school and city wide. Be it controversial or a fun topic, the Snapper had it all. There were many articles where students were involved in polls and student opinions. The Snapper featured school issues and displayed articles featuring student, teacher, and administrative concerns.

The staff of the newspaper worked diligently around the clock to ensure that the paper was informative, entertaining, and visually stimulating. Students looked forward to reading each new edition of The Snapper.

Leaders of the Pack!

What a busy season the girls had. From back to back home games, making treats to pump up their football players, and keeping the halls full of spirit, they haven't had a dull moment. The role of being a cheerleader was tough, it's wasn't just putting on an outfit and jumping around, it was about striving for excellence, being dedicated, and setting an example.

made this year, but the young ladies stuck it out. They showed their passion for cheerleading at every football game, pep rally, basketball game, and many other events.

"School can be hectic at times, but cheerleading is where I can let go. Our team is so close and it's easy to be ourselves which makes us like a family," said Ashley Phelps.

A lot of new changes were

With basketball and football games, the cheerleading squad kept busy. The team practiced every day after school and even on weekends if they needed it. Despite the fact that it was hard to adapt to a new school year and a new cheerleading squad, the team stayed together and worked as a group to be in sync. Event hough the practices seemed endless, they kept on trying. Before the season ended the team practially became a family.

"As the year went on, we all got to know each other and we became a lot closer" said, sophomore, Caroline Talbott (10). This squad of cheerleaders were very serious and worked hard. They were always trying to stay on top of their game and made sure they were ready when they needed to cheer. No matter what happened, they always pulled it together and found a way to make the crowd roar with excitement!

125 CONCHETTAS

Kickin' Kuties

THE WONDERFUL CONCHETTAS

"Kick It!" is what the Conchettas said right before they performed to get pumped up for their dance routine.

The Conchette girls believed in having spirit and a lasting sisterhood. Their dances reflected these morals. They didn't just dance, they also high kicked and performed contemporary, hip-hop dance moves while building friendships. They performed at football games, pep rallies and even in parades.

If you wanted to be a Conchette, it was more than just trying out and hoping that you were going to make it. You had to be dedicated, have a positive attitude and friendly disposition with the other girls, and spirit to go out there and perform your best all of the time! This year, many new girls found that they fit the criteria and made the group, so much, that the group doubled in size.

As they would say before and after ending performances and practices, "Kick it on 3. Kick it on 3. 1, 2, 3, KICK IT!"

The Art Club and National Art Honor Society worked together to beautify our community. This year, the clubs painted countless murals in Key West as well participated in several Chalk-a-thons where artists drew with sidewalk chalk for hours benefiting charity. They also had fundraisers like selling out of the ordinary things and having art shows to earn money for supplies. They met every other week to discuss new adventures and ideas. Many types of artists participated in the clubs. From painters, to photographers, to drawers and ceramics, everyone came together to put life into Key West's streets with a little bit of art.

The wakeboard club was a new club at school run by Mrs. Shannon Perkins. They were a group of students who either enjoyed wakeboarding or wanted to learn how to wakeboard. Even though Key West High School students were surrounded by water on the beautiful island, the Wakeboarding club went on trips to Orlando where they mastered skills and techniques and got ample time to practice. The club gave them a chance to learn something new, build on a current passion, and interact with fellow classmates who enjoyed the water as much as they did.

The French club was a group of dedicated students who devoted their time out of school hours to learn more about France and its culture. Madame Palay, the sponsor of French club, made sure to have at least two guest speakers every month to inform students about Europe.

Each year the club goes on a trip around Europe to put everything they have learned to good use. To raise money for the trips and events, they had many fundraisers after school. They often made homemade crepes in the front of the school which sold for two dollars. mmmm Bon Appetit

SOULFUL STUDENTS

Jazz Band had a wonderful selection of young and talented musicians that all wanted to challenge themselves further. Only the best members of the bands could be approved to join. The Jazz Band was an important part of the music program for many years because they brought 'funk' to every concert they played and never disappointed the audience. In order to maintain this level of musicianship, they practiced every day and had numerous performances throughout the year. "I feel that daily Jazz Band practices help us feel true Jazz music," said Brandon Rodriguez (10). The Jazz Band's music spoke to the audiences in many ways by using specific techniques essential to most Jazz pieces. From here on out, the Jazz Band can only get bigger and better.

The Guitar Ensemble was created for students that decided to further their learning of the guitar by joining the Advanced Guitar class. Directed by Mr. Truhan, Guitar practiced tuning, chord theory, and scale theory almost every day. "Truhan has us more focused on reading and theory this year, rather than just jammin' all period," said Adam Diaz (10). Advanced Guitar students learned how to read music at a more accelerated rate than the Beginning Guitar students in order to boost their musical capability and manifestation. Not only did the young musicians play songs as a whole at concerts, but many pieces were written for and performed as quartets, trios, and duets. This new way of playing allowed players to express themselves in ways they couldn't with the entire group. "It really exemplifies the importance of knowing your piece and practicing," said Drake Eckard (11).

The Color Guard was an important part of half-time shows during football games. They worked hard all season long to look their best on the field every Friday night. Their coach, Michael Fairbrother, put in much effort and countless hours not only to create the routines, but to help the team perfect them. The Color Guard not only performed with the band at half-time, but also at the band concerts, parades, and competitions. Color Guard also participated in Band Camp over the summer to help build endurance and stamina. The Color Guard was an essential part of the band because they added flair and verve to the performance visually. Their unique and intricate shows made many great events look even greater.

The Steel Drum Ensemble was made up of a diverse group of students that all shared a unique appreciation for music. Known as the more non-chalant group of the bands, Steel Band grew to include the study of music theory as well as learning how to play their instruments. "I like how Mr. Truhan has added music theory to Steel Band because I don't just get to play music, but I also understand what it means," said Luba Scepko (10) after practicing on her pans. They played multiple genres of music during the year, but mostly focused their energy on traditional Soca pieces. Steel Band met challenges with the introduction of new students with great triumph and success.

The Marching Conchs continued to please the crowd as they played their Motown show in celebration of the 50th anniversary of Motown Records. With the introduction of Mr. Hernandez as Band Director, the young musicians experienced a transition in guidance and discipline. "He had a different approach to teaching music that was more focused on an overall picture, rather than specific notes or rhythms," said Jamie Kessler (11).

Unheralded to most students and teachers, it took a lot of time and effort to perform as well as they did at all the concerts, parades, football games, and competitions. Like any organization, band was more than what it appeared to be. "Band taught me life lessons and gave me memories I will never forget," said Sophomore Dora DeMaria (10).

Competition

Season after season, students spent countless hours to work toward being number one. The determination that the sports teams at Key West High School possessed drove the rest of the students in the school to come out and support their fellow Conchs. Students, parents, coaches and teammates all cheered on the Conchs at home and away games throughout the year. From Friday night football and games in the Fall, to baseball games in the spring, the competition was what pushed us to the next level.

The Key West High School Baseball Team was known for their 12 State Titles, and they were definitely proud of it. They were a team they had a great bond which helped them get ahead of their opponents. Their love for the game drove them to meet their fullest potential. They showed their hard work and leadership by giving much time to being on the field.

They practiced year round and tried to give 100 percent all of the time without a complaint. Their skills and love for the game showed in their practices and in their performances as a team. Their dedication was seen through thier sportsmanship, when they took lessons learned as a team, not as one player.

JV Baseball

Headin' home!

Baseball has always been a tradition at Key West High School. This year, the JV team kept the tradition alive. With many incoming freshmen, the team was thought to be young and inexperienced, but once again, the boys stepped up to the plate with confidence. Young, they may be, but there was talent all over the field. Sophomore catcher, Tyler Cottar says, "It's pretty cool to see the team grow as one. We were a little rusty at first, but once the season started, the team really kicked into gear."

Although the boys had a limited number of games for the season, they still managed to dedicate themselves to hours of practice. "Dedication is really what its all about," says sophomore Garrett Pita, "Dedication is what makes baseball, baseball."

"I've been playing baseball my whole life, but this year was definitely the best."

Jesus Castillo (9)

'Round the bases to victory!

With only a limited number of home games, this year's Lady Conchs Softball team was on the road for most of their season. Being on the road so much allowed the team to become more of a family. Senior Lauren Wells says, "I feel that all these away games gives our team a chance to form a chemistry, and when a team has good chemistry, their playing just improves as a whole". With only 3 seniors this season, the Lady Conchs had quite a young team. Although young, there was big talent on that field. Coach Steve Wells says "This season was a stepping stone for the seasons to come, the next few years we are going to really shine."

"Softball is played more mentally; if your head's in the right state of mind, your game will be great."

The Lady Conchs JV program had a limited number of games this season, but that didn't stop them from putting in hours and hours of practice throughout their season. Their undefeated record proved that. Even though their games were few, the love for playing the game of softball remained strong. Sophomore Alecia Archer says, "I have been playing softball ever since I can remember, and each year it just keeps getting better and better." The girls' love for the game came out when they played on the field. Every play, hit, and strike out had heart behind it, from every player. With so much talent from such young girls, there was promising hope for the upcoming season.

Cheerleading at the competitive level

Competition Cheerleading was extremely competitive. The squad took the sport of cheerleading to the next level.

By adding stunts, gymnastics, pyramids and lifts to cheers, they ended up with a routine which competed with the best squads in competitions.

The practices were intense and precision was key to performing well in front of the judges. The squad performed with elite talent.

A Decade Of... CONCH WRESTLING!!!

Takin' Down The Opponent!!!

2009-2010 marked the tenth season of wrestling at Key West High School. A fact that was really cool about the team was that Coach Chaz Jimenez was a part of that very first season in 1999-2000. In fact, he was the first member of the team to make it to states where he was a finalist. The team has come a long way since then. It started with 15 members and grew into the team it is today with 26 members.

I bet you didn't realize that being a wrestler isn't as simple as throwing each other around and seeing who can pin their opponent first. Wrestling took a lot of physical strength as well as remarkable endurance. The team weight trained daily all through the school year to achieve this. They also had to be dedicated to optimal nutrition and proper diet to maintain the ideal weight for their weight class. All of these things made our wrestlers an amazing group of dedicated athletes. This year 8 members of the team made it to States, that was the most to ever qualify. The team took first place in districts and placed second in regionals, which was only the second time in the history of the team.

How do you feel about your first year of wrestling?

"I think that it has been a great year and a life changing sport to be involved in!"

Austin Cerkleski (10)

Do you think you've improved your wrestling skills since last year?

"I've improved a lot. From not even making Varsity, to being one match away from states."

Get Down, Get Tough, GET ROUGH! Knock em down, roll around...

The football team started off the season strong with four consecutive wins.

This was not seen in over 30 years. With the help of all the teammates, the varsity football team and all the fans believed they would play undefeated!

Though the team did suffer some losses, they didn't let that dampen their spirits. The team had players out on injuries, but that wasn't enough to stop the fighting Conchs. They kept their heads held high and kept going with the flow.

With hard work and dedication, the team played like champions. Conch Pride is what kept the mighty Conchs strong and tall against any opponent they faced. Team-work, a strong coach, dedicated players, and the wonderful support of the conch fans is what football is truly all about.

Score 6 More!

Scoring touchdowns one by one!

It took hard work, dedication and commitment to be a JV Football player. The team practiced every day of the week. Their practices consisted of going over plays, catching and throwing, and running and tackling drills. The players had to be willing to put forth 100% effort in order to be the best the best they could be. They had much responsibility on their hands to represent the school in a positive light. They were proud of who they were and their accomplishments.

JV's practices helped the team succeed. Not only were the players happy when they won, but the fans that supported the team and the companies and anyone who sponsored the team were also happy. Each year the team progressed. Every practice improved the team's self esteem and they were more pumped up when it came down to game time! To be part of the Junior Varsity Football team you had to dedicated and be in it to win it!

GONE IN A FLASH DO THEY EVER RUN OUT OF ENERGY?

Some of the most dedicated runners in Key West were found on the Cross Country team. With seemingly endless practices, these guys knew firsthand how much it took to be physically fit enough to run as long as they did. They also knew that they had to be mentally fit as well. They had to know when to speed up or slow down in order to run as long as possible, what type of shoes to wear for the many different terrains, and what pace fit best to get the most success out of the run. Their success was all worth it to them because they got back what they put in. Coach Terrence White was there to push the boys to their full potential and to remind them that winning truly isn't everything. The lessons learned by these young men through running, can echo for generations.

Red & Gray running all day !

All it takes ... is all you've got

With half a mile to go, the runners began to question whether or not they would be able to make it to the finish line. The hardest part of cross country was staying focused and making sure they had the endurance to keep going. The girls had to train for the meets over summer and everyday before or after school. They put their all into every step they took.

"For cross country you really have to push yourself because its such a far run. Its tons of fun and I love it!" said Sophmore Marlee Gil (10).

Even though the races for this year ended faster than anyone had expected, the girls did a fantastic job and look forward to next year's miles.

Bump it, Serve it, Hit it, ACE!

The Lady Conchs Volleyball team dominated the court. They bumped, set, and spiked the ball to victory throughout the season. When faced with challenges they met them with tenacity, team work, and unity. The girls weren't just teammates, they were a tight knit group that shared a common goal, that was to win and be the best they could be. They helped each other out by being supportive of each other. They showed much promising talent on the court which meant they would be bigger and better the following season.

No matter if they won, lost, or tied, they always had a smile on their faces. The team showed the love of the game, dedication, commitment, and hard work and it was evident when they played.

The Junior Volleyball team brought much enthusiasm and heart to the net. They played hard and made sure they were always on their game. Every home game they would have people in the stands cheering them on. Their Coach, Mrs. Filbrandt, made sure the girls held their heads up, had a positive outlook, and played their best. While they played hard, they also had fun. The team made sure to root for each other and realized that it took the team to win. They were a great role model for all future Junior Varsity Volleyball teams as they did well both on on off the court.

The Key West High School golf team is at it again!

The golf team rose to the occasion. With many of their returning members, they came together as a team. Each year the golf team seemed to become more and more popular. With 17 members the team had quite a successful season. The players' work ethic lead the team to placing 2nd in the district finals. Not only did the team have success on the green, their chemistry grew. The golf team kept strong with every swing, putt, and stroke.

The swim team showed more dedication than ever. The team grew in size, broke more records, and had more practices than any other year. They never gave up and many team members made it to regional's.

"My most memorable moments on the swim team would have to be the away trips because you become closer with your teammates, and develop that swim-team family," said Brandon Cyr (11).

Throughout the season, one phrase that they often heard and lived by was: "When your arms are tired, stroke harder! When your legs are tired, kick faster! And when your lungs burn, DON'T BREATHE!"

Going for the Goal! Ready to Win!

This year the boys soccer team showed their determination and their desire to make it far in the season.

"My past years in soccer have been great, but this year has definitely showed me what my teammates are capable of, and I am very proud," said Trevoi Gordon.

The team had morning and afternoon practices everyday. They worked on strategies and tough drills daily in order to make their team the strongest it could be. The boys soccer team this year had eight seniors who had been playing together since freshman year. This season they had high hopes of winning states, and got extremely close. The team became more than just players on a field... they became a family.

girls SOCCER goes the distance

Throughout Years KWHS Varsity Soccer team made a name for itself, and this year was no different. The team was filled with many younger players and had a shaky start at the beginning of the season, but, as the season went on, the players' skill levels improved and their bonds formed which lead them to their 5th straight district title. Sophomore Rachel Quad says, "Through the season, we became stronger and better and we learned to really work together as a team and as a family." Coach Paul made sure the team got along and spent time together to build a stronger team. The girls practiced every day after school and every weekend. They put all their heart into soccer, and the work paid off. The Girls Varsity Soccer team showed great dedication and the team will be even better next year. The team has high hopes for next season, and with all the out of season training Coach Paul has planned, they are sure to go the distance.

The Boys Varsity basketball team ended the year on a good note, winning 11 out of 22 games. The team worked diligently on their practice drills, as well as workouts, to get in the best shape possible so they could be on top of their game. Their hearts and souls, in addition to their dedication, paid off greatly this season. It not only took them to the second round of districts, but also to their first playoff win in 5 years.

Working together so much as a team formed a very strong bond amongst the players, and they considered themselves one, taking each mistake and the consequence as a team, which made them come back playing even harder. They were true team players.

The Junior Varsity boys basketball team made many accomplishments throughout the year. They improved a lot as the coaches prepared them for Varsity level play. The team consisted of talented freshman and sophomore boys wanting to excel. They had a successful season which made their coach and school proud. They practiced every day at optimum levels to become the best they could be. They also brought in some laughter at times to lighten things up. The players wanted to work hard so they can to make it to the varsity level. Practices included running the court, going over drills, shooting baskets, and defending strategies. They went above and beyond to ensure that the team had a successful season.

Are you glad you joined the team?

"Yes, it was fun, but serious."

SHOOT FOR THE STARS

Varsity Girls Dribble their way to the TOP!

The Lady Conchs Varsity Basketball team's main focus was not winning, but teamwork, and dedication to each other. They not only played for themselves, but for each other. The only thought in their head was to improve their skills so could move forward throughout the year. They fought hard to show everyone the talent they truly possessed.

Not only did the girls do that, but they also proved that they deserved their spot as a Varsity team member. They all contributed many skills to the team and a true love for the game that can't be found in many places. They pushed their limits and did what they needed to do to get the job done. With high hopes for the season, they were driven to win!

"Always work harder than yor opponent."

Chelsie Storr (12)

The J.V. Girls Basketball team had a great turnout with a variety of talent in every one of them. The talented group of girls showed their dedication on and off the court, by trying their hardest at games, and putting in extra hours at practice to make sure they were their very best. Although the team is considered a J.V team, they played at a varsity level. They were a very skilled team. "This team is very tough and professional, but we know how to have fun at the same time. We love the game." - Alea Rahming

Stayin' inside those lines was what the Boys Tennis team did best! When you said tennis, you thought it was just hitting a ball back and forth over a net, but to any die hard tennis player, it was much more intense than that. The team was very dedicated to the sport and this was proved by how hard they worked at the sport and how often they practiced. The team was a serious one, but at the same time they kept it fun! They joked and played around on the side lines while also encouraged and supported their teammates. The boys tennis team came a long way this year and will continue to improve and do their best!

What's your favorite swing?

"Forehand, because it's the most natural stroke."

Koon Hoi Justin Poon (10)

What's your most memorable match?

"This year I was 0-5 against Pace and was getting frustrated with myself. But I pulled it together and put everything on the line. I won the next 8 games to win the match."

Dedication, honor, and team work, these are just a few words that described the girls tennis team. They started the year with the intentions of being the best they could be. They worked together as a team and supported each other through every match. They've learned new strategies and have made new memories. This season, the girls definitely gave their opponents a run for their money.

Tennis Tips

- If you find that you are having trouble with a stroke or technique, try softening your grip and muscles and don't worry about hitting the ball perfect at first until you have the technique down.
- Realize that there are no mistakes, only feedback.
- Do your best to have no expectations.
- Keep your eye on the ball.
- Keep moving.

What's your most memorable match?
 "My most memorable match was my first one this year. It was my first time playing #1 on the team. It was on a whole different level than any of my matches last year and it was a really good learning experience!"

Alicia Garcia (11)

What's your favorite part about tennis?

Celebration

Most people could agree that the most exciting year for a high school student was their senior year. Our school said goodbye to the class of 2010 and wished them luck in all of their future endeavors. Although this could have been a sad time for many, it was important to look back on your years at Key West High School and see how it helped shape you into the person you wanted to be. For the rest of your life, you will carry a part of Key West High with you wherever you go. All the hard work paid off and now is the time to celebrate. Congratulations to the class of 2010!

"Go confidently in the direction of your dreams. Live the life you have imagined."-Henry David Thoreau

Tyler,

We are proud beyond words of what you have accomplished while never losing sight of what was most important to you. Whatever path you choose to follow know that you always have our unconditional love and support. Thank you for inspiring us to do our best and for teaching us what it truly means to "do what you love, and love what you do."

We love you,

JAMEL

Jamel, when you were born you were the most beautiful baby we could have ever wished for. There was so much hope and so many expectations we had for you. You have exceeded all expectations. You have always been unique, believing in yourself. Continue to do that in everything you do. We have no doubt that you will succeed. We wish you all the luck, and never stop being you. You are a blessing. We love you.

I always knew that every obstacle that put you behind, you could overcome. I always said, in your personality since childhood, you are an independent character, strong and dedicated. Today when you wake up with the victory of another chapter in your life closed, I can not but feel proud to see crystallized in yourself what I have always sensed. I have no doubt that you will continue to escalate in the future and always with the promise of our love, understanding and support. Even though your record is valid and correct, above all, you have the will and blessing of who loves you most, "God" - Love Mom and Dad
