THE
1965
CONCH

Our school program, our whole educational system, is based on freedoms which we, as Americans, enjoy. The list is interminable. We have our fore-fathers to thank for our valuable freedoms. Several of these are being exercised in this book.

This school yearbook contains a complete record of the occasions which influenced our lives and which are memorable for all of us. The Conch staff was presented with the problem of preserving these memories in the 1965 CONCH; a problem which we attacked diligently. The following pages are the fruits of our best efforts and proof of our hard work. We feel that our goal of perfection and satisfaction has been reached.

With these thoughts in mind, we present to you the student body, the 1965 CONCH.

Nothing is so vital to the existence of a school system as the people who make it an institution of learning. None can say which group is more needed in maintaining such an institution. To the Administration is given the important task of carrying out the business and social dealings of our school. The faculty is the lifeline of education from the masters of learning to the students. And, of course, the student body is essential to the continuance of education and the traditions of Key West High.

OF DEVOTION*

Mr. Horace O'Bryant

Dr. H. C. Campbell

It is with gratitude and appreciation that we, the students of KWHS, thank Mr. Horace O'Bryant and Dr. Harold Campbell for a job well done. Each of these men has devoted years of his life to perfecting a school system that rates highly among Florida's scholastic institutions. They have given their time to the youth of Monroe County, developing more informed, better citizens.

Mr. O'Bryant retired in January from the Superintendency after 35 years with Monroe County Board of Public Instruction. His guidance, patient and soft-spoken, was sorely missed.

Dr. Campbell left the principal's office to replace Mr. O'Bryant as Superintendent of Schools. As principal of KWHS, we all came to share a respect for Dr. Campbell's ever present and helpful administration.

SUPERVISION OF COUNTY SCHOOLS

Every organization, no matter how independent or self-sufficient, must have a higher authority to which it can turn for help and advice. Monroe County Schools are such an organization and in times of question and problem they turn to the Monroe County Board of Public Instruction. This elected council of men and women is dedicated primarily to the supervision of schools. They make important decisions for us and keep our schools as smooth running organs of education. They provide the best possible facilities and instructors for the benefit of the high academic standards. Their main interest is in making each student the best citizen possible so that after graduation, he will take his proper place in society.

Our Principal, Mr. Archer

Dear Students,

I am extremely proud to accept the responsibility of directing the educational activities of such a fine institution as Key West High School, which has an outstanding record of accomplishments in academics, athletics, music and in the area of student government and citizenship.

The world offers a complicated yet opportune challenge to the youth of today. Your teachers and I are all striving to provide you with the best possible education so that you may adequately meet this challenge and compete in the adult world into which you will soon emerge. You must also do your part, for education is a two-way street. The years ahead hold an increased enrollment, a tougher curriculum, and many new concepts which must be incorporated into the learning process at our school.

With the help of the student body and faculty, we can continue to improve Key West High School's capacity for educating its students and develop one of the finest schools in the state.

Sincerely,

Glynn R Archer Jr

MANAGEMENT OF KEY WEST HIGH SCHOOL

BOYS AND GIRLS DEANS: Mrs. Rosemary Cabrera, M.A., Appalacian St. Teachers College; Mr. Armando Henriquez, M.A., Western Carolina College.

Great care must be taken in the management of a school, it's students, and it's faculty. That was the job of the Administration, the Deans, the Guidance Department, and the Attendance Office.

The people who were responsible for carrying out the duties of this part of school function gave willingly of their time and energies to helping the student body and the faculty.

The Guidance Department was a service to the whole student body with their helpful advice and kindly suggestions. Mrs. Mary Lewin and Mr. Vernon Conner offered vocational and college information, as well. Any student who had schedule problems was able to make fair arrangements with the help of these two. In addition to scholastic information, a student was able to discuss any personal problem he or she might have. We were grateful for the advice they were able to give us.

The Attendance Office had the monumental task of keeping the attendance record for each student. It was not easy to place each student at every hour of the day, but through patience, practice and efficiency, Mrs. Rosejane Hawxhurst did the job in worthy fashion.

The task of the Deans is certainly not the most pleasant in the schools, thought it is a most essential one. Mrs. Rosemary Cabrera and Mr. Armando Henriquez showed their dedication to the job by disciplining 1400 energetic students.

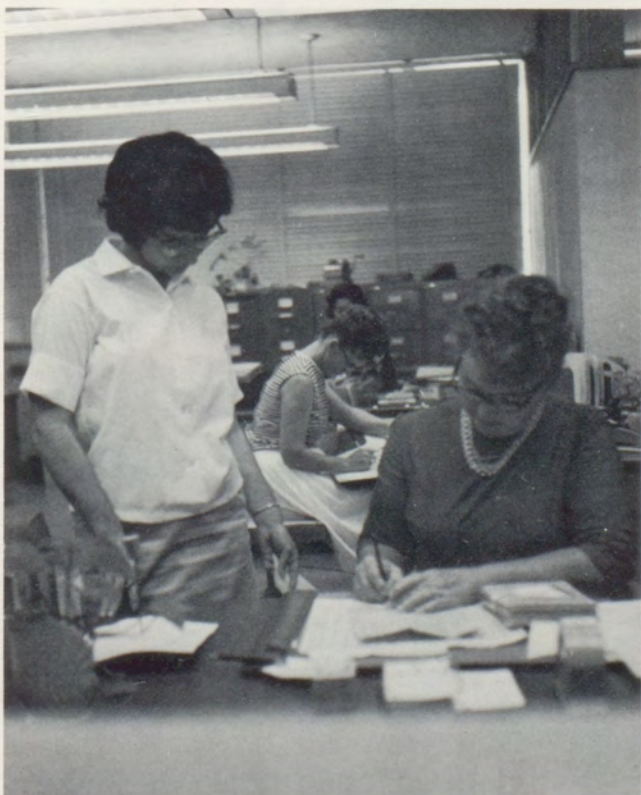

ATTENDANCE: Mrs. Rosejane Hawxhurst, M.Ed., Ind. State College.

GUIDANCE: Mr. Vernon Conner, M. Ed., U. of Ill.; Mrs. Mary Lewin, B.S., Good Counsel College.

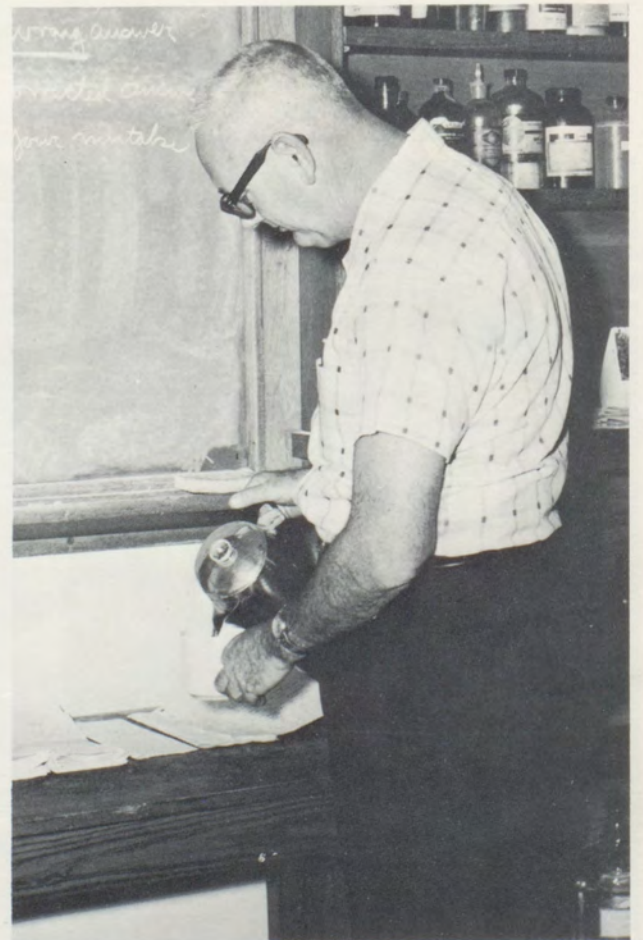

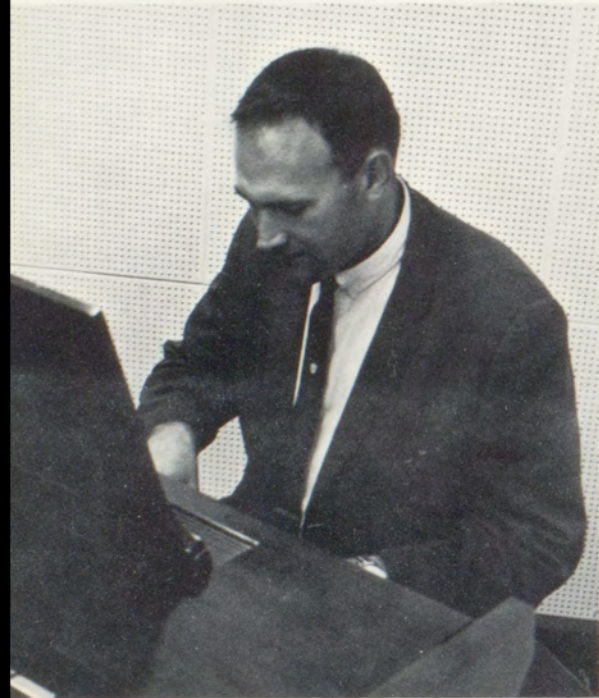

RIGHT TO LEFT: Mrs. Betty Moloney, Bookkeeper; Mrs. Carol Niles, Registrar; Mrs. Bobbie Jones, Secretary; Mrs. June Sanchez, Secretary.
SEATED: Mrs. Genevieve Carey, Secretary assists a teacher.

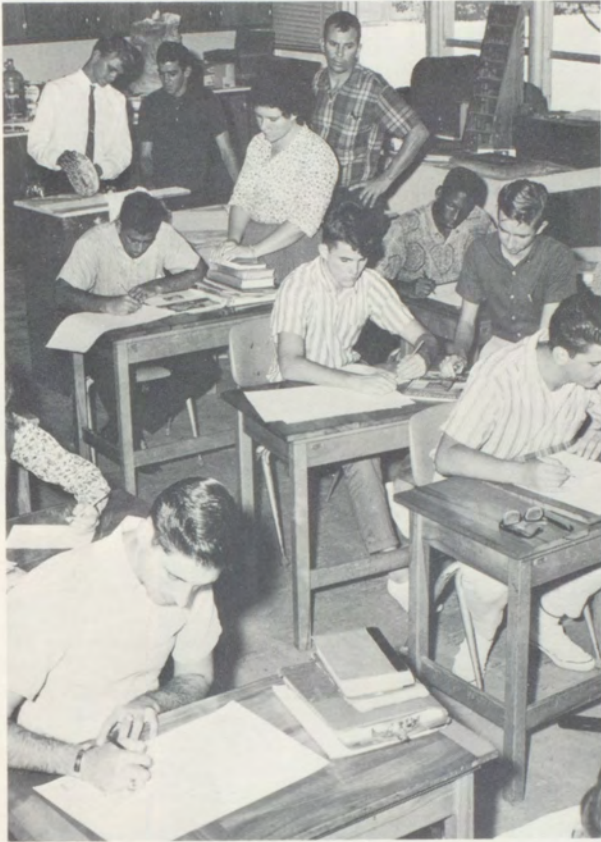

INVALUABLE SERVICE TO THE SCHOOL

To the office staff, the whole school must tip its hat. For, in the hands of these capable women lay all the responsibility of the keeping of records, books, and accounts that were so vital to the well-being of the school. But their work did not terminate at the completion of the bookwork. They had to serve as diplomats to anyone who came to our school and to students who came to them with various problems. Even after a hard day of work, the office staff found reserve energy to be pleasing and to have a smile for everyone with whom they came in contact. The ladies were an immense help to the entire administration because their records were always in the best possible order. Any information needed was easily found in their efficient records. They performed an invaluable and important service to the school welfare.

FACULTY

EXPLORING THE ART WORLD

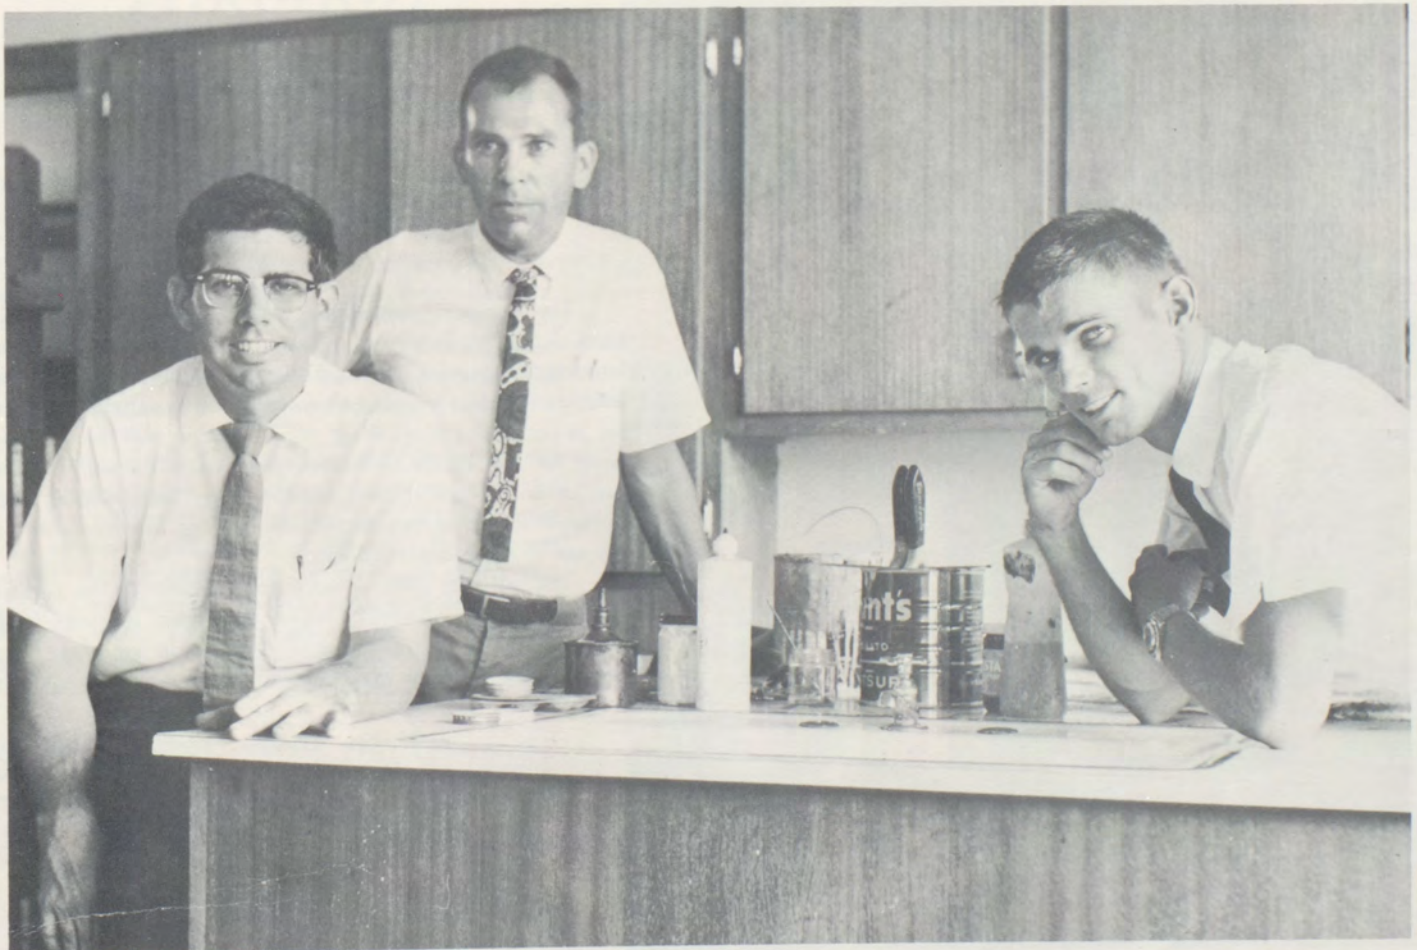

Close your mouth and color!

Creativity is one of the greatest talents in the world. It is the ability to build with the hands. Art is creativity and a gift with which few people are endowed.

A very important and useful subject to those talented few was the class in Arts and Crafts. The stimulating atmosphere of these classes was very conducive to expression of the individual through handcraft. For hundreds of years, man has been developing the basic skills that are now being studied by masters the world over. The sciences of sculpture, leather-craft, and ceramics were opened up to the students for study and experimentation in the Arts and Crafts Classes. All of the great cultures of the world have been developing for centuries and they offer a complete new field of exploration by the adventurous artist. In the field of woodcraft, a master of the hand skills is available to those with a dexterity of the hands.

The Arts and Crafts classes were a service to the school with their many and varied displays in the showcases in their section of E-wing. In addition, the students in those classes were valuable in the making of props for the class plays. Under the direction of Mr. Wayne Hawhurst, Mr. Ciesinski, each student was given a well-rounded view of all phases of Art and Craft study.

They learn to earn.

BUSINESS TALENTS TAPPED

The Business department was here to help you. To the commercial student was offered an excellent course in the important business skills. Any student who partook of the information and training taught by the experienced and helpful teachers at Key West High School will be a valuable asset to any office. Whether your vocation will require the use of shorthand, typing, accounting, bookkeeping, or skill in the working of business machines, the basic talents can be tapped in the business course.

The business courses were not confined to the commercial students alone, however. Many academic students took advantage of the shorthand and typing courses also. They will be a valuable help in recording those lectures and themes at college.

Mr. Louis Adair, M.A., U. of Ala.

A PLACE IN THE BUSINESS WORLD

One of the fundamental tasks for a school is to prepare it's students for his future means of livelihood or vocation. For some students, this means college. For others, it means a job, a place in the ranks of a working society. Our school had a way of helping these students, a way of paving the path to vocational understanding. This was Diversified Cooperative Training, D.C.T.

Under the D.C.T. program, students were allowed to work at the job of their choice while going to school. Half of the day was devoted to school work and the continuation of their studies. After lunch, each went to his respective place of employment in one of the city's businesses.

The students who partook of D.C.T. were learning a trade while earning. They discovered their skills and talents while making a place for themselves in the modern business world.

PREVENTING TRAGEDY THROUGH EDUCATION

Every year, thousands of lives are lost on our nation's highways, lives lost through carelessness and ignorance. The terrible scenes of death and tragedy that have become a common part of the highway picture could, for the most part, have been averted. If these drivers had been well-versed in all phases of auto handling much of the suffering could have been prevented. This was the reason we had an excellent program of Driver's Education at the High School this year.

Under the capable leadership of Mr. David Fedor and Mr. James McKell, the classes were taught to be good citizens of the road. The first part of the course consisted of learning the rules of the road and correct procedures. At the completion of the book-study, students took their restricted license tests and began the actual road work. This was where the practical experience was learned. At the completion of the course, each student was to get his Operator's license on his own.

Now, although these students were licensed with the fundamental knowledge of the road, the valuable experience must be attained. Then they can join the ranks of the well-trained drivers in Florida.

These students are provided with safe driving education.

CULTIVATING ENGLISH ABILITIES

The main goal of the English department was to further the knowledge and understanding of the English language. To completely understand and use the facilities offered by the English department was to gain a valuable implement of success.

English is an important factor in the communication between our people and those of nations all over the world. Even here at home we need a thorough background in the language in which we speak to one another. That is why it is so important to have full command over the language we use, the English language.

To help us further our study of English, the English department went all-out this year. With films, lectures, records, library work, and discussions, we explored the many fields of our language. In the writing of many themes and papers, we became skilled in the phase of communication that deals with putting our ideals down on paper. These are skills that will be of value to us in later life. They will greatly enrich our lives by adding to them great works of poetry and prose.

Besides the standard courses in English, a fine journalism course was offered for those students who published the school newspaper, the Snapper. Some journalism students even gathered information for the local paper.

In no matter what field of endeavor a student puts his future, he will always be able to use the skills taught him in his English class.

LEARNING FROM PAST EXPERIENCE

In order to understand and face all of the problems present, and those that will face us in the future, we must have a thorough understanding of the past. It is said that history repeats itself. In order to profit from our past mistakes we must study the history of the world and be sure that we don't stumble into the same pitfalls.

The history course at KWHS offered a wide variety of subjects with which we could become acquainted. A minimum of two history courses for academic students, three for commercial students was mandatory. Government was a "have to" for all senior students.

American History students got thorough background of early American foundings, of the struggle to keep Democracy alive and of the American people. World History was a less-detailed study of the happenings and making of our present world situation.

In addition to World and American, a course in Civics students study about our life in the U.S., our governmental workings, and of the Communist world. They receive a good prelude into American Government.

EXPERIENCE IN HOMEMAKING

Home Economics develops valuable sewing talents.

A complete knowledge of the skills and practices of homemaking are an essential part of the training of every modern young girl. Sewing, cooking, meal planning, and child care are a part of this vital knowledge, and could be found in the home economics course taught at KWHS. The experiences gained in the modern, well-equipped rooms will be of infinite value to all who partook of their offerings. It was the main goal during the course of the year to prepare each girl in each class for her future role in the caring of her home and family. Care was taken to insure correct procedures in teaching proper home management.

In order to instill more complete understanding in the part of the participating student, the course of the year was divided into various sub-topics, to cover completely each phase of homemaking. According to the class and period, each section of the year was devoted to a different topic. Some of the subjects covered were basic sewing, cooking, child care and development, good grooming and personal development. With the help of the teachers and various home projects, the students ended the year with a much fuller knowledge of the workings of a happy home.

For those students wishing to continue their home economics education, Home Ec. II and III were offered. These provided a period for specialization in the field of their choice.

LEARNING TO BREAK THE LANGUAGE BARRIER

Languages are the key to good foreign relations all over the world. In order to live with our friends across the seas, we need a knowledge of their language. In this modern age of travel, communications, and science, every possible effort must be made to preserve peaceful relations with foreign countries, but our leaders who preserve this peace must have command of the language in question. A good start comes from high school language courses. The language courses offered at KWHS were a strong basis for a language career. The three languages offered here, Latin, French, and Spanish.

The glories of past centuries are revealed in Latin class.

TRAINING IN MODERN MATH

Mr. Simpson picks on a Sophomore again!!

In the modern day, mathematics has gone far beyond adding, subtracting, multiplying, and dividing. Much farther. In order to learn the advanced math, it is essential for us to know the basic concepts of modern mathematics.

A great many of the new sciences and industries deal almost entirely with complicated figures, numbers and equations. One of the most important prerequisites in entering one of these new fields is a complete and vast understanding in all phases of modern math. To those who qualify, a rich and rewarding career is opened.

The math department here at Key West High School is constantly changing to offer each student the most modern, up-to-date mathematical training that was possible to receive. The instructors of the Math Department were always striving to increase their knowledge and skill in presentation by attending classes that were helpful in their various fields. They were qualified in helping any student with all of their math problems.

The mathematics course offered at Key West High School was one of the best offered anywhere. The academic student filled his requirements with Algebra I or II, Geometry, Trigonometry, or Advanced Math. The general student took General Math I or II and the commercial student took Business Math I or II. Either course in either curriculum required a great deal of work and mental effort but the result will be rewarding in later life.

Any student wishing to take a higher math found an excellent foundation at Key West High.

THE SOUND OF MUSIC

Since time immemorial, music has given man one of the greatest comforts of life. Music has led man to dizzy heights of joy and fame and to the deepest depths of despair with it's rhythmic versatility. Music is one of the few great talents men can enjoy. All these and many more are the wonderful thing called music.

We were very fortunate this year to have a wonderful band and chorus. The band, under Mr. William Higgins, was always ready with anything from a snappy march to the melodious strains of a classical masterpiece. The band led us on during the sports season and then enchanted adult audiences in their concert series. Our band worked very hard this year and we should all be proud of their prize-winning achievements.

Mr. Thomas Whitley directed the chorus again this year and, as in past years, did an excellent job of training them into a beautiful group. They performed for various groups during the year and attended contests also. "Uncle Tom" is well-known and beloved for both his good humor and his "Sing-along" assemblies.

Mr. Higgins and the band cheer on the Conchs.

Physical coordination builds mental stability.

MENTAL HEALTH THROUGH PHYSICAL FITNESS

Physical health is the key to mental health. If we, as students are to do our best possible work in school, our health must be in top shape. Although other factors are important as body builders, exercise is the finest health factor of which we can partake. A new program complying with national standards was recently adopted at KWHHS. The department worked toward a goal of high standards for the students. An ever-growing supply of equipment coupled with a dedicated staff of physical education teachers helped maintain these standards. A complete program of physical education included such activities as basketball, volleyball, baseball, tennis, and indoor gymnastics. While developing healthy bodies P.E. also encouraged good sportsmanship and allowed a safe means of releasing tension and pent up energy. Learning to play as well as learning to work is a part of our education.

LEARNING FROM EXPERIMENTATION

Delving into the unknown is one of the most exciting and promising occupations of the modern generation. Our whole lives, our ideas and energies are all based upon scientific concepts that have slowly been worked from the clutches of Mother Nature's tightly closed hands. We are constantly surrounded, day after day, by new scientific problems and discoveries. Man will probably never uncover all of the secrets which this life holds but we can work on it as hard and as long as possible. It takes training to gain knowledge and a small part of this essential training could be had by the students of KWHS as a part of their high school education. The courses offered to the science-minded students were: General Science, Physical Science, Biology, Chemistry, Physics, and Space Science. General and Physical Science dealt with a broad coverage of science, while Biology, Physics, and Chemistry were more specialized. Space Science was a new course this year for the students who didn't wish to take a regular physics course.

These courses were not easy ones to complete nor were they always pleasant but in the end they were very rewarding and we all learned much from their lessons.

Space Science today . . . The moon tomorrow.

COMMON INTERESTS

The PTA is the intermediary organization between the school and home. Parents and teachers, by associating with this group, can understand and help to interpret to each other the shared interests and concerns for the children.

The theme of the programs during this year was "Quality Education—For Family Living." Included in this were such beneficiary programs as "Teen-Code for Parents," "Citizens Today—Voters Soon," and "From Eighth Grade to Freshmen".

MAINTENANCE AND SUSTENANCE

We will all agree that two of the mainstays in school life were the custodians and the cafeteria staff. To these people we owe the maintenance of our school and the maintenance of our energies.

It was the job of the custodians to keep our school looking it's best, both inside the building and outside. They were the nightly ghosts who, after school hours, came to "magically" clean and care for our beautiful school. During the daytime hours, they could be seen about the school grounds, cutting, trimming, and otherwise keeping the grounds in top shape. Under the careful directions of Mr. Louis Alfaro, the staff did an excellent job of caring for us and our school.

It was the job of the cafeteria staff to keep an entire school fed at lunch time. A monstrous job this is, to feed a hoard of hungry students and faculty, but these ladies were tireless and friendly throughout the whole year. They did an excellent job in providing the student body with healthful, nutritious food at all times.

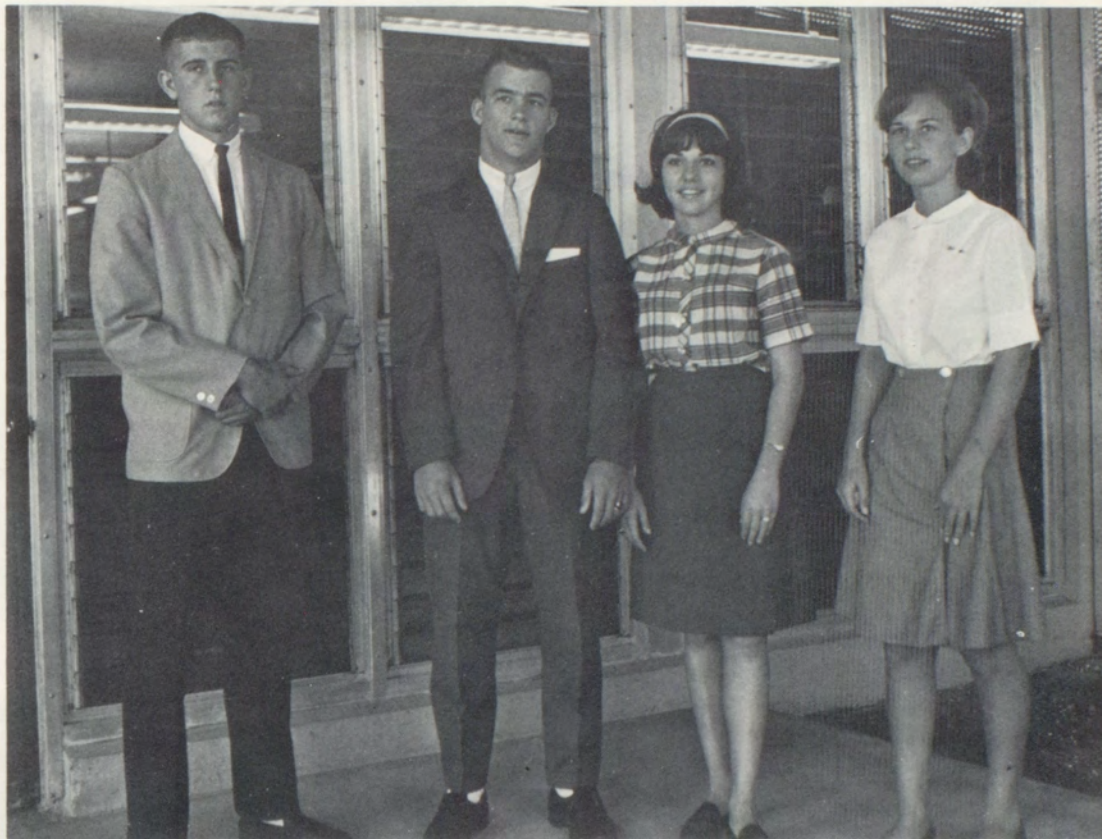

We can be proud of both of these staffs who made our stay at Key West High School this year a very enjoyable one.

AN END, YET A BEGINNING

Graduation night ended four wonderful years for the Class of 1965. As the last strains of "Pomp and Circumstance" died in our ears, we Seniors bade farewell to the hallowed halls of Key West High School where we gave so much of ourselves to complete these four years. It was not easy for us; battling maths, sciences and histories as we did was no simple matter. But in the end, our academic knowledge carried us through, and we were proud to take our rightful places among the ranks of graduating Seniors in the Class of '65.

Through out the years we have not only studied hard but we have also worked hard in the extra-curricular activities offered us. The Senior class play, "Fair Exchange" brought down the house, both adults and students. The laughter and fun we shared on Conch Day, Field Day and the All-Night Affair will echo through the years.

As each Senior looked out over the horizon of the future, he found that graduation night was not only an end but it was also a great beginning. Equipped with the training we received in high school, we will travel to the ends of that horizon with only the best possible results. Twelve years of work and preparation went into our educations, but at last we were free to make our own ways in the precarious world of adulthood.

UNDERCLASSMEN

THE JUNIOR CLASS

Authority was a new thing for the Junior Class this year, but they proved to the entire student body that they could handle their new leadership with pride and maturity. The Juniors got into the swing of things early in the year with concessions and class projects. The class play, "The Perfect Idiot" was a smashing success and proved again the ability of the Junior Class. With the wonderful support of their sponsors, the Juniors made great gains from the paper back book stores and the Junior-Senior Prom. This year's Junior leaders were: President, Charles Salas; Vice-President, Louie La Torre; Secretary, Pam Gonzaga, and Treasurer, Linda Wright.

SOPHOMORES 65

This year was an eventful and successful one for the Sophomore class. The first event was the election of the officers, Steven Price, President; Violet Hernandez, Vice-President; Sherry Styron, Secretary; Gaye Ciesinski, Treasurer. An executive board, whose function was to supply workers for Sophomore Class projects and to provide representation of the Sophomore homerooms, was elected. This group was active throughout the year.

GOLDEN YEARS AHEAD

For the Freshmen this year was a beginning. They came to our school with high hopes and a golden four years shining in the future. Although it was their first year at KWHS, they soon got into the swing of school life with projects, sales and enthusiastic class participation.

The Freshmen were very proud to be a part of school life. They elected capable officers, Steve Blackford, President; Cydall Dallmeyer, Vice-President; Jeanneatte Rosarski, Treasurer; Rosie Peters, Secretary; who worked for their betterment. The class was the largest but worked as a team to be one of the best ever.

EXTRA CURRICULAR

One of the hubs in the great wheel of our school system is our extra-curricular activities; sports, clubs, honors and various other features. All work and no play makes K.W.H.S. students dull, but with a program such as we have, it is impossible to be anything but exciting.

CLUBS

NEW CLUB ORGANIZED

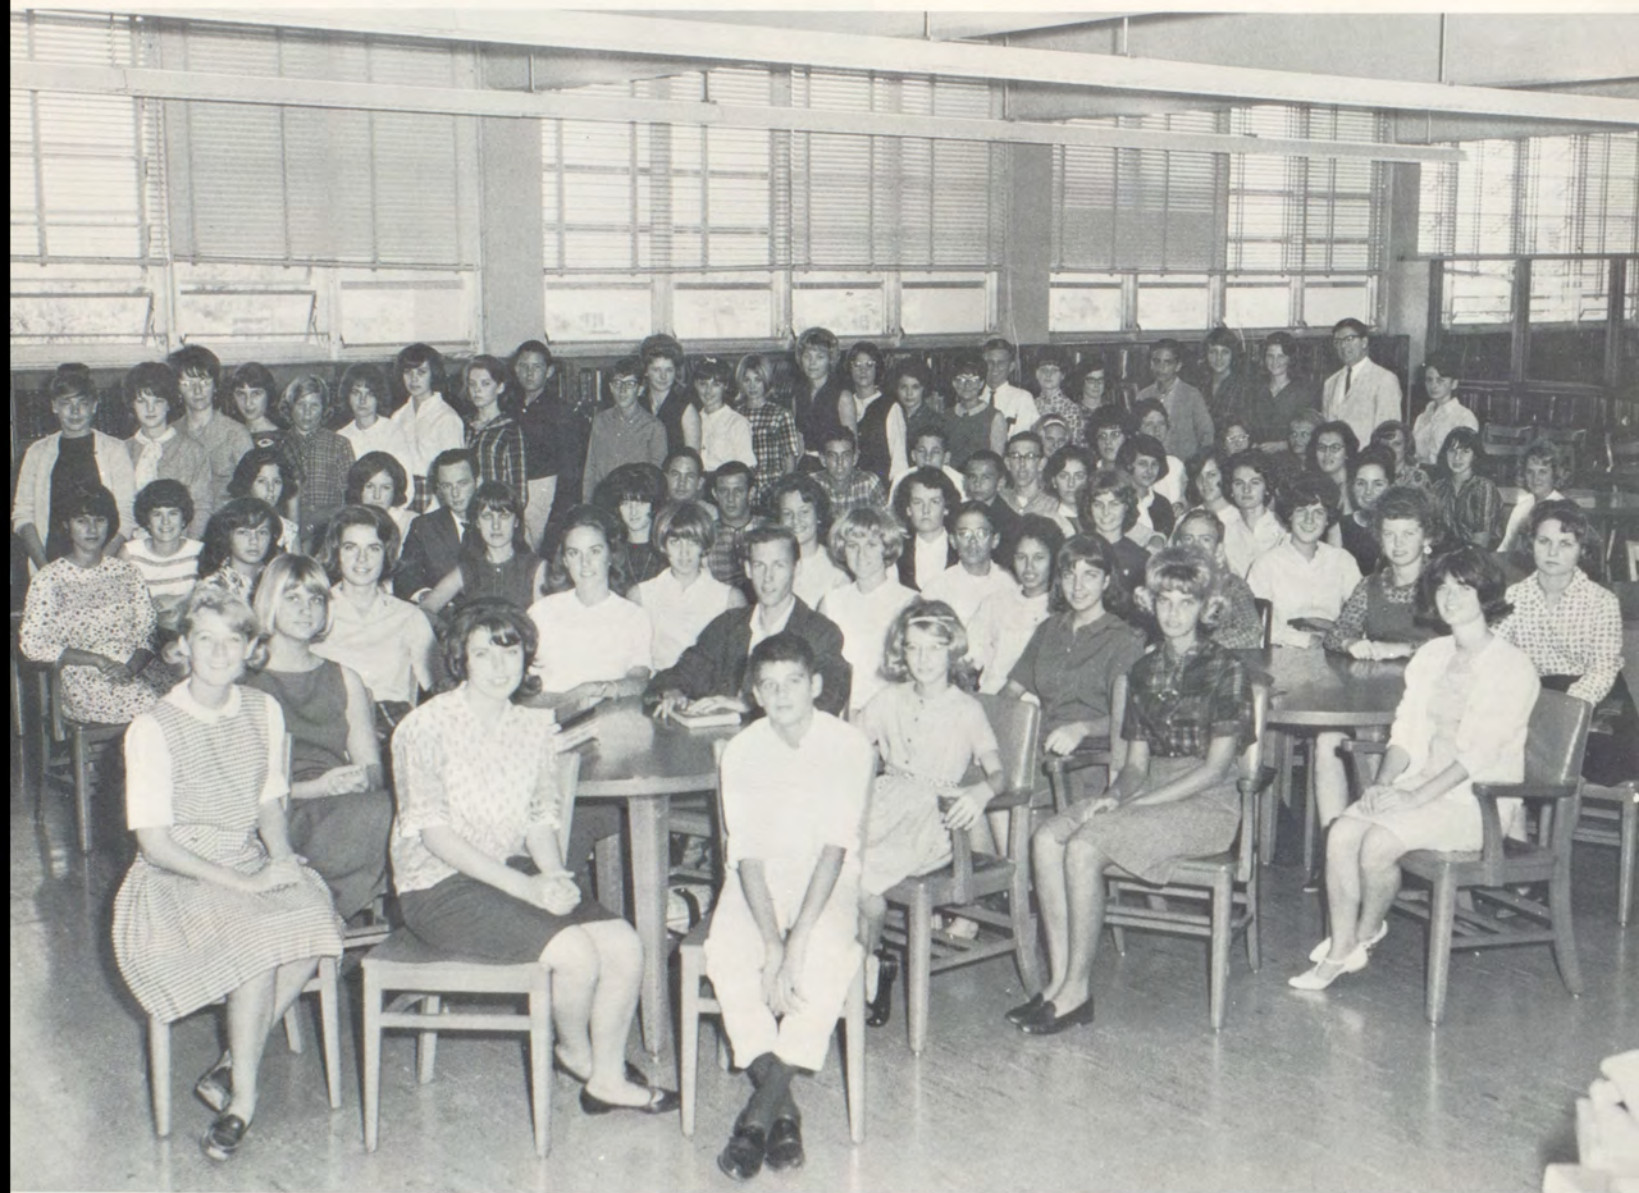

A new addition to the clubs this year was the Pep Club. Starting rather late this past year the club has not had a very long period in operation. Striving to encourage our players on the sports field, the Pep Club has added more life to the audience participation at sports events.

STUDENT'S REPRESENTATION

The Student Council serves as a bridge between the students and the faculty. It helps students and faculty members to know and understand each other better. Its aim is to keep the school at its very best at all times.

The members are elected representatives and alternates from all the homerooms. This type of representation in the school government sets a realistic background for the students in preparation for their adult life.

Student Council projects help to serve the school and increase school spirit. These projects include: checking class elections, sponsoring the Homecoming festivities, managing assemblies, and operating the school supply store.

Miss Jane Adair, Homecoming Queen 1964.

HOMEcoming

The annual is proud to present Miss Jane Adair, Homecoming Queen of 1964. Her activities have been numerous throughout her high school years. To list only a few: National Honor Society, Chorus, Church Choir, Cheerleader, Spanish Club, and Tri-M. With these many talents and experiences, we feel that her successes will be many.

"I can't find that line in the book!"

"Sorry, but I could only afford one."

"FAIR EXCHANGE"

"Well, Apple-eyed Agnes came up with the brilliant idea that we should exchange our senior male honor student with the Ohio's senior male student. Their Spring Prom is being held the same night as ours, and their male honor student is to be the escort of our senior miss honor student and vice versa. It's all too tout de suite for words."

The above is but a slide of the suspense comedy which the Senior Class of 1965 presented in December. The hard-working Seniors aided by Mrs. Almond, director, presented a long-remembered play. Many thanks are worthy of the cast and those people behind the scenes who helped to make the play such a success.

THE PERFECT IDIOT

"Our ever faithful on the job make-up crew."

"O.K. Try another sneeze and we'll see if it sticks this time."

The Junior play this year was "The Perfect Idiot," a farce in three acts. Play tryouts were held in early January and after decisions, decisions, decisions, the cast was chosen. It was presented to the public on February 4th and 5th. The play was directed by Mr. Marvin Lowery with some hilarious "hints" and staging tactics from Mr. Klip Smith.

"The Perfect Idiot" was about the great confusion that results when Dan Tennyson, a self-centered young genius, finds the perfect scheme for helping Center High's star athlete, Aloysius (Puff) Witomski, remain eligible to play sports. In return for this favor, Dan wants to be made the most popular boy in school. But the plan backfires when a series of incidents, including romance, "hypnotism gone haywire," jumping rabbits, parsnips, and a screaming maid combine matters in a most hilarious way.

GOVERNMENTAL EXPERIENCE

A major responsibility in the lives of every student is the understanding of state and local governments. Only by learning about our democratic system can we participate in its ultimate goal of supremacy.

This year students at KWHS had an opportunity to study the functions of Florida's government in Tallahassee. These students were guests for a week in our state capital and in that week visited many places of public interest and saw important governmental institutions. Through observations the students at Girls' and Boys' State developed a fuller understanding of the working of four governments.

Preparation for life after school is one of the main goals of school learning. In order to aid juniors and seniors with their immense decisions, the Guidance department arranged for College and Career Day. On this day, representatives from colleges, the professions, the armed services, and various other occupations talked to groups of students in regard to their field. It was an invaluable service to all students involved and helped a great deal with many career choices.

SCIENCE FAIR

This year's science fair was a great success. The projects that were contributed have grown better and better over the consecutive years and this year's classes went all out to display their talents. Students from each branch of the science department; Biology, Chemistry, Physics, Space Science, Physical, and General Science constructed projects pertaining to their own subject. The projects were a valuable asset to all the students as they looked at them through the day.

Winners of this year's Science Fair were: Physics, Emilou Moore's display of how plants grow to music; Chemistry, William Allen's with a display on explosives; Biology, project on the Hybridization of Crotons, Darryl Marzych; and Patrick Casey won the overall award with a display on the resistance of materials.

SHOWS AND SALES FOR A GOOD CAUSE ... CHARITY

Beta members sold lollipops.

This was good for a first place in the Tri-M Talent Show.

The Student Council contributed with a hootenanny.

SHARP, SMART, AND SNAPPY

The Key West High School Marching Band is composed of a select group of very talented musical students. The past year has been filled with many hard activities of which the half-time shows proved to be the best.

The Conch Band was also headed by a rank of six lovely Majorettes with many snappy routines.

To top the show, the new drum major, Albert Soler, lead the Conch Band through its numerous shows. Unfortunately, he was unavailable for a picture.

A High Step and a High Note.

FIVE IDEAL DAYS

During the week of February 15-19, the Key West High School under the supervision of the student council held betterment week. The word Ideal was chosen to describe the student body during betterment week.

Each of the five letters stood for one day of the week. Monday was I for Intelligence day. The second day was dress-up day and at its close there were many un-stiff collars and tired feet. Wednesday was Etiquette day and lollipops were rewarded for special politeness. The fourth day was Action day in which school colors were displayed. The week closed with Friday which was Litterless day. There was an extra-special effort to clean up the campus.

"Tomorrow we'll be back to our old selves again."

ADVERTISEMENTS

An important part of our national and community democracy is the system of free enterprise; the right to own and operate a business. The following are distinguished businesses in Key West who have taken advantage of their liberties. These merchants have contributed much to making possible the 1965 CONCH.
