2100 Flagler Avenue... Who would have thought a simple street address could draw such attention? It serves as a starting point to a path of bright futures and self discovery. Whether it be a professional football player or a wallstreet guru, your dreams begin within these walls, and in the community. From Friday night games, to winter performances, we are always successful at capturing others attention. It is with this respect we have gained over time, that we are, without a doubt, the Center of Attention.

Caught in

The summer may be over, but the fun is just beginning. During a long stressful school year, the holiday breaks and the weekends are just the right time to have fun. Living in "Paradise" allows us so many opportunities.

The Act

Whether it be attending a school function, or participating in a weekend activity, we always seem to find someone caught in the act.

Let's Get Rowdy!

Above: As President of Student Council, Jessica Geide is the crowd pleaser when it comes to getting everyone pumped up for the big game!

Even though it gets to about 95 degrees in the gym at pep rallies, the band always gets everyone jumping! Nothing holds them down.

"Slaughter the Spartans." The Homecoming game was a huge event. Britney Berman and Aarika Cates hold up the sign which is soon to be torn down by the almighty Conchs!

Below: Crush the Canes! The football team waits to be announced. They have look of anticipation for tonight's game. Go Conchs!

Right: As Katheryn McCord and Jessica Pope stick their stunts, they energize the crowd. Entertaining always comes first for the cheerleaders, especially at pep rallies.

Signs are always a must!
These juniors holler and jump when the class of 2005 is announced.
"Conchs, conchs, go, go, go!"

The Pep Squad knows how to get the crowd motivated! They move to the beat of their stomping sounds with rhythm and poise.

The class of 2004 patiently waits for the announcing of places at the Homecoming pep rally. They hope that the Wizard of Oz will take home the winner!

Talk about pep and energy. The varsity football players huddle up to get rowdy at the end of their introductions. Their unity is what keeps their spirit alive.

Meeting up at a local diner, Sally Becker, Leah Bacle, Megan Coe, April Miller, Rebecca Cobo, Ashley Scott, and Morgan Ford socialize and share a few root beer floats.

Right: This group of girls put a halt on their fun to take a quick group shot while at Marvin Key. Weekends are all about going out on the boat with friends.

Victoria Commander and Hannah Findlay enjoy a Friday night football game dressed as their favorite players.

Testing their nerves, this group of friends jump off the Sugarloaf Bridge at night.

Forget Me Not....

Taking a break... Jessica Pita gets on the flatbed stage and shows off her suspenders. These pants were used as part of a munchkin costume.

Tough luck. On the night of the homecoming parade, Jessica Geide's car breaks down, so her fellow classmates Evelyn Summer, Shannon Maribona, Matthew Baldwin, and Kimberly Vere assist her in arriving fashionably late.

It's Wednesday night bowling league. Erica Lopez, Aarika Cates, Jonathon Sirois and Kyle Cabrera are havin' the time of their lives playing around and being silly.

He's giving it all he's got. Cy Clever challenges Reinaldo Suarez to an arm wrestling match during lunch and Cy won.

Need a towel? Giovanna Maribona's friends ensure that she stays cool even after she gets out of the pool.

Now that's spirit! With curlers in her hair, Erica Henninger is able to cheer at the game and still have the perfect do for the homecoming dance.

Wake up sleepy. Antwon Williams takes a much needed nap on Mrs. Golightly's couch. He hadn't even started the work he was supposed to do in her garden.

Way Back When...

Best friends Robyn Srednicki and Yanae Barroso are in their picture day attire. Looking your best is what everyone strives for on school picture day.

Rugrats Janell Garcia and Jacqueline Smith try to escape from the play pen, oh but again!

These two babes, Nakayla Butler and DaMonica Rivas, strike it up with sassy style.

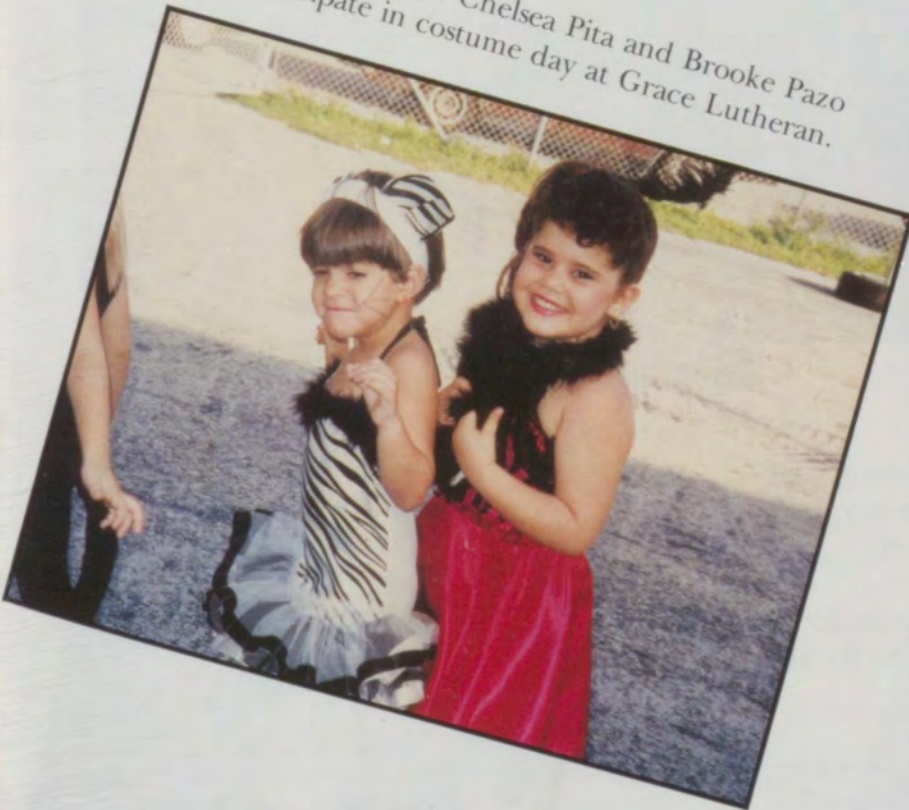

At age four, Morgan Ford happily waits for the rain! There is nothing to be afraid of if you are prepared.

Trick or Treat? Chelsea Pita and Brooke Pazo participate in costume day at Grace Lutheran.

Cousins Leah Bacle and Blake Barber enjoy some cake and ice cream.

Showing

"All that and more, KWHS class of 2004!" These spirited seniors are: inside conch is William Soto, back row; Naomi Medlin, Ashley Ryan, Brandi Schneider, Bayley Detwiler, Emily Cummins, Lauren Brewster, Jennifer Potter, Zachary Covan, Daniel Curtis, Katelyn Wise, Oakley Zeid, Jude Brogli, Jonathan McDonald, Analise Smith, Jessica Geide, Vanessa Cepero, Laurel Wilkes, Casey Walker, Heidi Taylor, Elizabeth Dowling, Christina Boza, Zoe Pischke, Naivis Valdez-Reyes, Maxwell Hooten, Jeffery Rohlmann, Blake Story, Alissa Thompson, Eric Brown, Eva Cross, Nicole Eisenschenk, Lawrence Moore, Jamie Fitton, Jonathan Sirois, Tony Tarracino, Gustavo Alfonso, Dawn Pearl-Mihalinec, center row; Racheal Roberts, Kimberly Vere, Emily Meyer, Leah Heinrich, Jessica Martinez, Shannon Maribona, Aarika Cates, Robert Killen, Feryn Burchett, Bonnie McInnis, Shaun McHugh, Alexa Sellers, Evelyn Summer, Jessica Pita, Jennifer Diaz, Chezare Rivas, Katie Smith, Laura Herrera, Michael Weber, Andrew Phillipps, Erica Lopez, Martha Rivero, Talia Fernandez, Summer Grazeette, Megan Oropeza, Natalie Hinchcliffe, Jeanette Hernandez, Kyle Cabrera, Amy Osbun-Rapp, Britney Berman, front row; Candida Rodriguez, Hannah Richards, Brittany Dobbs, Margret McAndrews, Antonio Para, Daniel Garcia, Alexandra Naranjo, Kunia Rodrigues, DaMonica Rivas, Brittiny Burgohy, Nakayla Butler, Destiny Rivas, Ashley James, Bonnie Britz, Julie Parker, and Matthew Baldwin.

Right: "Wow, look at that!" Daniel Curtis, Bayley Detwiler, Amy Osbun-Rapp, Zachary Covan, and Katelyn Wise watch in amazement as the walls of the new school building are put up.

Below Left: Returning to class after the homecoming speeches, Daniel Dell leads the pack. He knows just who he will vote for tomorrow.

Right: Just some cafeteria gossip. Senior Kimberly Howell and sister Valerie Howell get in on the gossip at lunch. For many, this is the time to catch up with friends in other classes.

Right: Double vision! Kristi Wilbourn and Coral Etshman have the twin concept down pat. From the blonde hair to the matching outfits, they are mirror images of each other.

Strutting Our Stuff

Left: They went shopping in each others closet. April Miller and Jason Phfal show their school spirit in the cafeteria.

Above: Maxwell Hooten is all business when it comes to cutting out the Oz castle. The attention to details can make a big difference in the appearance of the float.

Above: Practice makes perfect. Alexa Sellers and Analise Smith give it one more quick run through at the fire station before they head off for the high school to start the parade. Glenda and Dorothy never looked better.

"Follow the yellow brick road... Follow the yellow brick road..." Daniel Garcia, Analise Smith, Jonathan McDonald, and Shaun McHugh show that there really is "no place like Key West."

Left: Building a backdrop is no quick task. Britney Berman uses a sponge brush to speed up the job. Even an injured leg can't slow down the senior class!

Below: "We're off to see the wizard!" These proud seniors are off to the stadium where the winning float will be announced.

Lights, cameras... Jamie Mattingly puts the finishing touches on the film reel for their float. This is just one of the props that let their "Hollywood Dreams" come alive.

Don't forget my lashes! Brooke Pazo gets help with her make-up right before the parade. She accurately portrayed Carmen Miranda for their skit.

Is the ladder stable enough for all three? Jason Pfahl, Brandon Druckemiller, and Joseph Stockton set up the back drop that will hold up the Hollywood Hills on the big night.

Morgan Ford spray paints the clapper while William Freeman keeps her cool. Float building is hard work, but somebody has to do it.

The junior class prepares for their skit in the homecoming parade. Everyone is getting last minute instructions before they round the corner for their performance.

Hollywood Stars

Morgan Ford assists Rebecca Cobo with the power drill. Teamwork is what makes building the float a great experience for all.

Time for pizza! Morgan Ford, William Freeman, Jamie Mattingly, Rebecca Cobo, and Mirta Valdez take a break from a hard day working on their float.

The juniors stand proud as they show off their own creation of a "Hollywood Dream" upon their homecoming float. Each star had a bit of wisdom to give on how to have spirit.

Jamie Mattingly and Brandon Druckemiller work together to keep the back drop stable while connecting the top section of the float.

What's going on? Members of the junior class look on as they wait for their turn in front of the judges.

Watch out for the flying candy! The sophomores throw candy out to the crowd during the parade.

Right before the parade starts, the sophomores get hyped up with music and dancing to help.

Looking good girls!
Natalie Sweeting and Shane Sangerman help decorate a shopping cart
as a prop for their theme.

The sophomores show their spirit as they ride down
Flagler Avenue.

Lauren Gonzalez helps to pick the perfect color to paint their backdrop.

Wow! The sophomores hard work pays off, as they claimed first place in this year's Homecoming parade.

Now what? After priming, Christina Kemp and Jessica Sims try to figure out what color to paint their backdrop.

Give me a K! The freshmen show off their Conch spirit during their skit.

Key West High all hail! Patricia Wise stands for the Alma Mater during their performance for the judges.

Patricia Wise and Victoria Commander get directions on what to do during the skit.

Let's get working. This group of girls each tackle different pieces of their float. There were lots of projects to be completed and not a lot of time.

Everybody ready? Mrs. Shana Yoest helps Lauren Talbott get her makeup done before they leave the fire station.

Nina Delgado, Victoria Phillips, Angelica Dominich, Ashley Henriquez, and Kendall Harden work on painting part of their backdrop.

Time to get started. Steven Monsalvatge works on the backdrop for the freshman float.

A little nervous, Megan Turso, Kristin Baumgarten, Monika Moreno, and Fallon Owen talk about the other floats before the parade starts.

After being announced second place, the freshmen show their school spirit by standing for the Alma Mater. They can be proud of their placement in the float contest.

A Night to Shine

Seniors, Emily Meyer, Kimberly Vere, and Hannah Richards party the night away at their last homecoming. Nothing is going to stop them from making it a memorable night.

Students swarm to the dance floor to spend a night of fun with friends. Every year you can count on a good crowd for the dance, with great music and fantastic memories.

This group of girls crowd onto the floor to enjoy some dancing. Even though the dance was crowded, it didn't stop these girls from having fun.

Joseph Schober laughs as his friend yells out to the crowd. They seem to be enjoying their time at the dance.

Emmaly Reeb and Bianca Peralta really show us what it's like to get down. It's always fun to get in at least one dance with close friends.

Hannah Richards finishes off her outfit by putting on her last accessory with the help of Emily Meyer. It's time to make their debut at the dance.

Be careful! Lauren Roberts gets ready to pin on Phillip Thomas's boutonniere.

Defending the Title

Whew! It looks like it doesn't smell good. Analise Smith takes one for the team as she vigorously chugs down this can.

Pass it to me! Erica Lopez quickly grabs the watermelon from one of her fellow seniors. The grease on the watermelon made this race difficult.

Anyone care for a piggy-back ride? Looks like Leah Heinrich and David Altvater are having fun as they race towards the finish line.

Kyle Cabrera watches in awe as Matthew Baldwin chugs down the salad dressing. It hard to get experience drinking blue cheese.

Hold on tight! Michael Burchett's having a blast as Alexa Sellers dashes across the field towards the mystery food table. They have no way of knowing what they will have to eat.

Left: That's the spirit! Candida Rodriguez demonstrates that there's nothing wrong with eating food with your hands.

Right: The senior class prepares to jump the fence at the winners are announced. They shared first place with the sophomores.

Above: The juniors show a team effort as they quickly pass off the watermelon to the next person in line.
Below: No cheating! Mr. Vinson keeps an eye on Samantha Smithwick as she completes her event.

Right: How 'bout that pickled egg? Malinet Borges doesn't seem to enjoy it much, but Clinton Storr is more worried about beating the other teams.

Did someone mention salad? Not quite... Monica McLaughlin looks like she's not enjoying this lettuce.

Right: Say cheese? In the middle of stuffing his face, Zachary Rogan still manages to strike a pose.

Breaking Through

Left: Picklelicious! Jamie Boan stands unknowing that he's about to eat a pickle as Francesca Cutie feeds it to him.

Right: Patrick Sampson slowly but surely consumes the carrot, scoring the extra points for the sophomore team.

Right: Gimme some more...salad dressing? Kaley Green looks like she's had about all the salad dressing she can take.

Left: The sophomore class takes a break on the field, but still show their unbeatable pride as they watch on.

How're them crackers tasting? Michael Fain appears to be enjoying each and every cracker that he gets.

Quick! Paul DePoo uses his quick hands to pass the watermelon between his legs to the next person in line.

C'mon, you can do it! Kevin Degraffenreid takes one for the team as he scarfs down a pickle.

Striving for More

New to the Game

Someone looks a little tired! Mr. Vinson checks in with Mason Marshall to see how he's doing.

Move it down the line! The freshmen rapidly move the watermelon down the row.

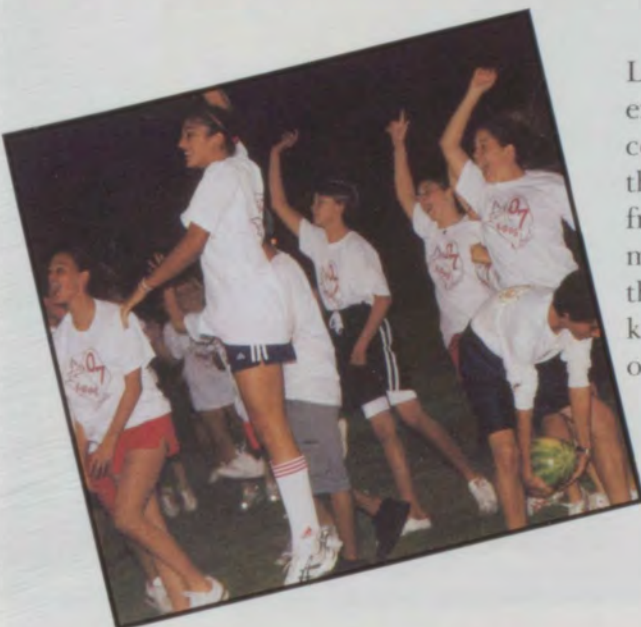

With encouragement from his partner Janessa Cavanzone, Ronell Brown makes it through his event.

Above: Go Katelyn, go! Katelyn Oropenza uses a method of quickness to eat the food and make a speedy finish.

Left: Rejoicing excitedly upon completion of the event, the freshmen make themselves known to the other teams.

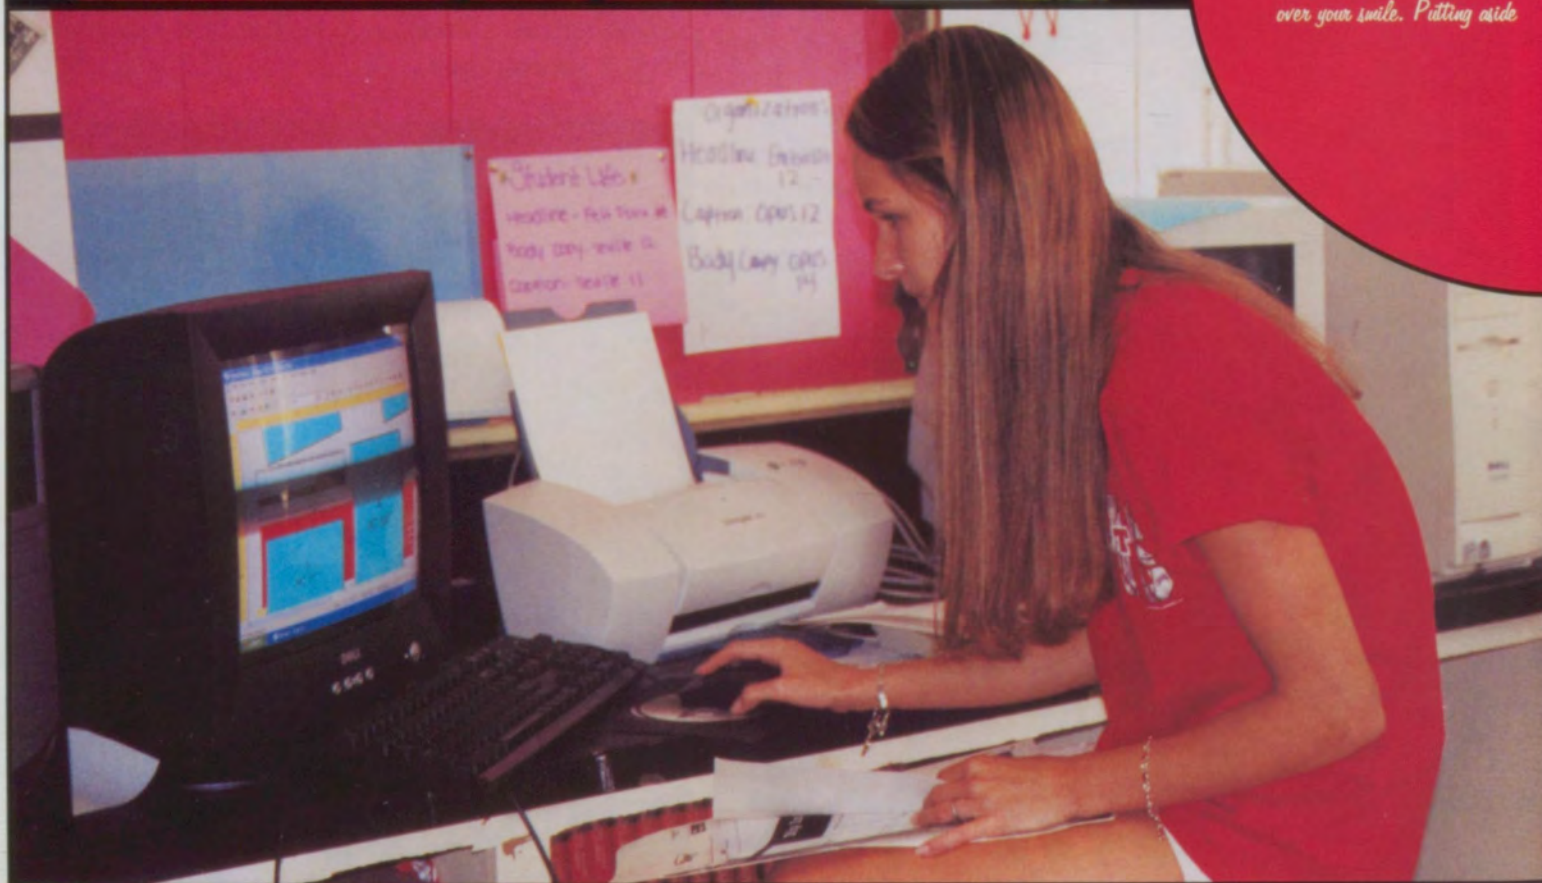

These three girls look like they've had just about all they can take of eating this "salad". Katherine Diaz seems to be inviting someone else to help them.

Noticing

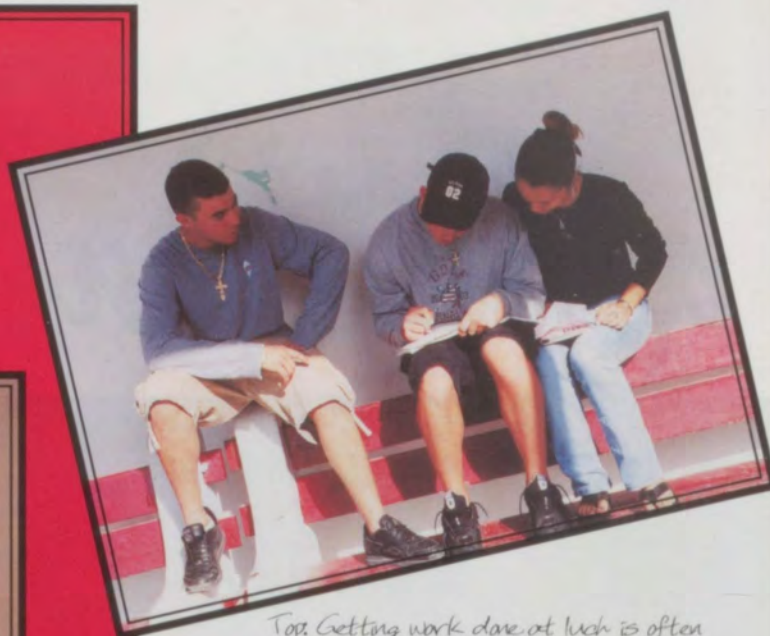

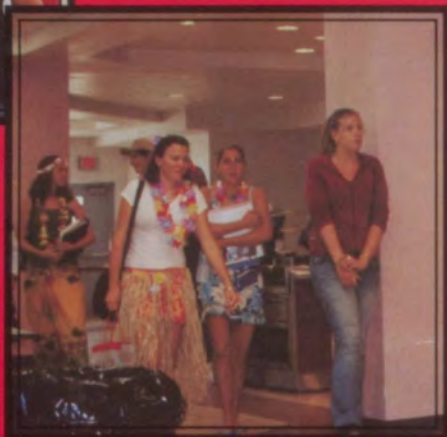

The academic department this year is very different. There are many new teachers and new things around campus; a new building that everyone has to adjust to, with all the high technological devices. The teachers are working tremendously hard to make sure this year will be a year to remember. Grading papers all night, working on weekends, making up tests, organizing events, etc. There is so much to be done. Whether it is from your "core classes" to your electives, this year you will definitely notice a pattern.

Top: Getting work done at lunch is often a familiar picture. Richard Diaz, Steven Atwood and Erica Lopez sit on the benches and work on homework. Bottom: In between class Ashley Johnson goes to her locker to get her books for the next class.

For the Academics section we decided to do things a little differently this year. We interviewed eight seniors and got their view of things. From their favorite teachers to advice they leave to the underclassmen, we received many different insights about our school. Most of these seniors are well known around the school yet some are not, therefore, you will get a better understanding of them. Some play sports and others are known for their academic achievements. In the next eight pages you will get better acquainted with Eric Brown, Patrycja Rachnawska, DaMonica Rivas, Steven Atwood, Brittney Burgohay, Rachel Miles, Gary Hersey, and Ashley Ryan.

Steven Atwood's favorite teacher through out his four year's has been Coach McNelly because he learned the most in his class. His most challenging class was Algebra 2 with Mrs. Webster. "My favorite year at this school was my freshman year because i didn't do anything, and the sport i enjoy the most is golf."
Steven loves golf because the coaches are very supportive, and they have a great team. When Steven graduates, he plans to attend Florida State University.

Ashley Ryan's favorite year at Key West High School was her freshman year because it was so exciting and new. Her most challenging subject is this year's algebra 2 honors. Ashley's favorite teacher is Mr. Kremer because he makes learning so much fun! She has been a part of the cheerleading squad for all four years that she has been here. She was also involved in executive board. After graduating she plans to stay in Key West and attend FKCC for a year and then move on to UCF. When she leaves Key West High she thinks the things she will miss most are the people and being a part of the cheerleading squad.

"The best advice I can give someone, is to participate in as much activities as possible," says senior Patrycja Rochnawska. In high school, Patrycja's report card consisted of mainly A's and B's, and she took many honors classes, including English, Math, Science, AP Literature, and AP Government. In addition, she is a member of the HOPE Club, Student Council, BETA, Interact, and Senior Executive Board. "I was also on the Golf Team and Hot Tamales Dance Team last year," says Patrycja. She says that her favorite class is AP Government because it bonds with politics and the society. Her least favorite subject on the other hand is math. "I am more of a creative person than a math person. Plus no one likes math."

Mr. Martin

Mrs. Maxwell

Mr. McAnelly

Mrs. McPherson

Throughout her four years at Key West High School, Brittiny Burgahy says that the thing she will miss the most is pep rallies, Friday night football games, exciting basketball games and cheerleading competitions. She has enjoyed her senior year the most simply because she values alot more things than she use to. So far her year has been full of stress, expense and excitement. She said that Mr. Fant's class is the most challenging because "I do the most work." Her favorite teacher hands down is Mr. Michoud because "he relates one on one when it comes to mathematics." While at the high school she has enjoyed cheerleading the most because it has been her life. Brittiny hopes to attend the University of South Florida for their good nursing school. A word of advice for underclassmen is to "Live it up!"

Helping Damarica Rivas get on track was Mrs. Santana.

She enjoyed High School the most when she was a sophomore because she wasn't a totally new student but she was not totally experienced. Damarica's least favorite subject was Algebra II with Mrs. Webster because she did not understand the concepts that were being taught. Damarica said she enjoyed being a couchette because, "I made a lot of friends and it gave me something to do after school." She plans on attending Florida A & M University next year. Her advice to the underclassmen is, "Enjoy high school, and be involved with as much as you can."

"I love basketball, it's more than a sport it's a lifetime" says senior Eric Braun. His most memorable moment was going to state his sophomore year. Eric's favorite teacher is Mrs. Oakes because she keeps it real and never judges anyone. His most memorable year is his Senior year because he can not wait to get out of here. He plans on going to a four year college on an athletic scholarship. In three words he describes himself as social, tall and athletic.

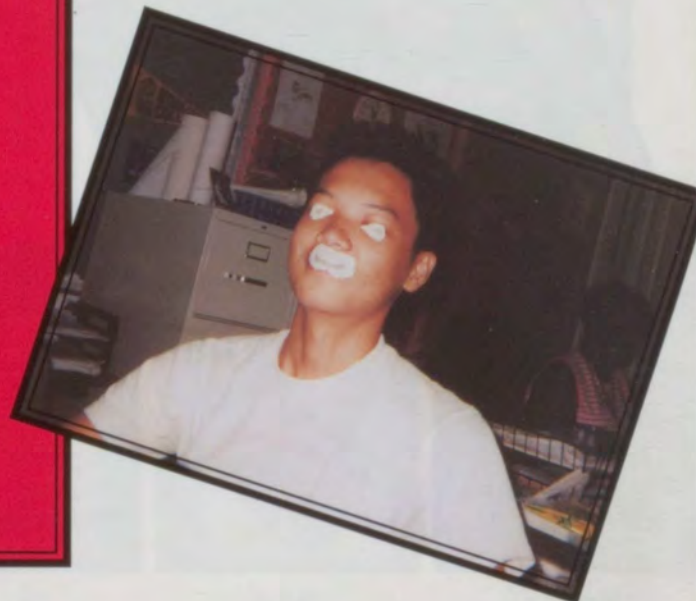

Foreign Affair

For those of you who know Rachel Miles know that she is very bright, and for those that do not know her will become better acquainted with her. Rachel has to be in a wheelchair everyday and says that sometimes it's frustrating but it can be a positive inspiration for other people. She does not get to go to many classes that she would like too because they are not wheelchair accessible. Rachel says that she is lucky because she does not get made fun of, but people who do not know her treat her like she is below them. Also the people that do not understand her and know that she is just like them, especially when she is in normal classes and people see that she can do the same work as them. Rachel says that she just wants to be treated like everyone else. She just has a few more difficulties. She views herself as an advocate for other people. Rachel says, "You might have to pay close attention to what I say but I can get my point across."

Centered on

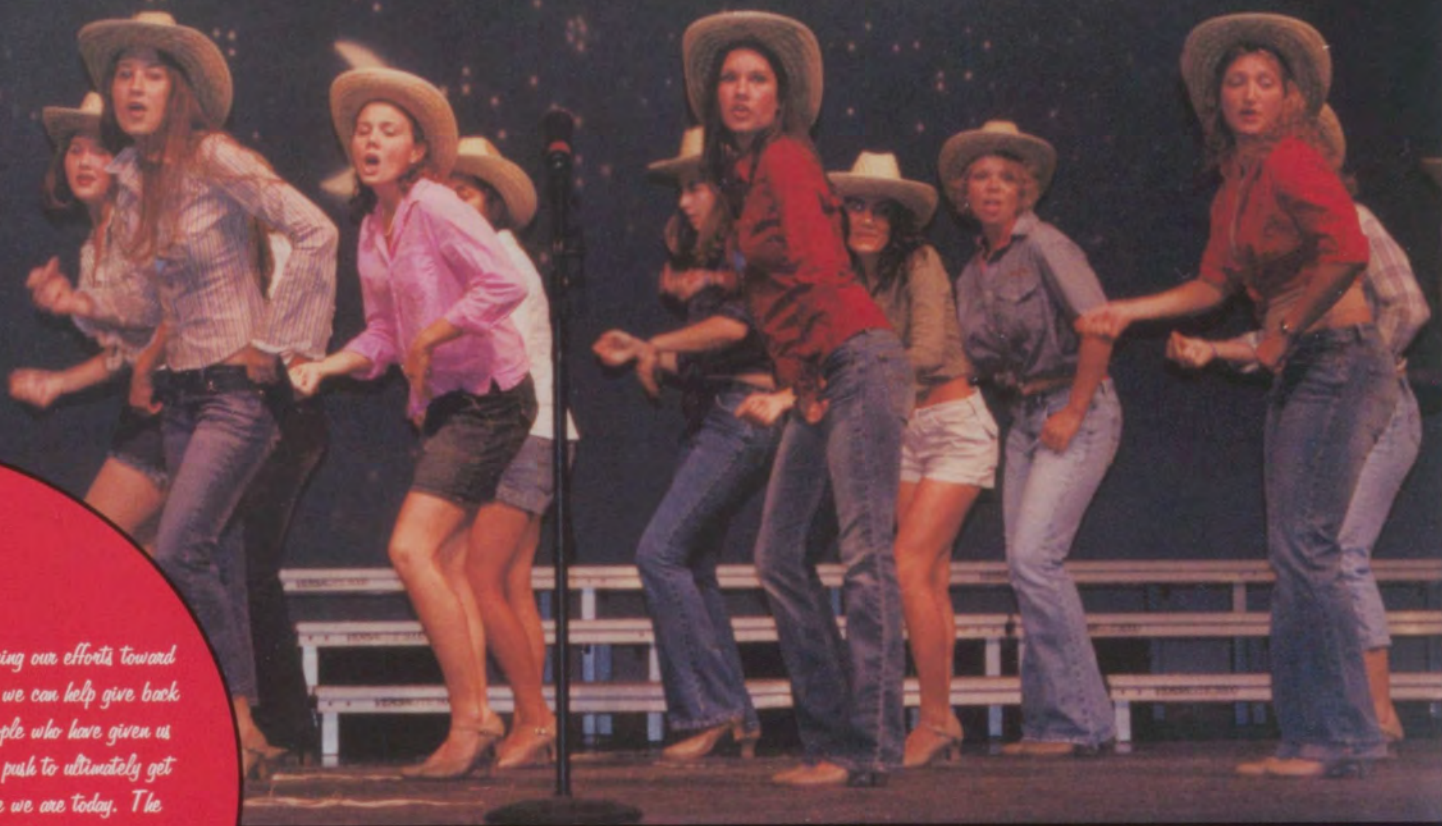

Countless hours of time, effort, and dedication are put into extracurricular clubs and activities. Although these commitments make our schedules busier and require extra work, we do them because our community deserves the very best.

Community

By centering our efforts toward community we can help give back to the people who have given us the extra push to ultimately get us where we are today. The knowledge keeps us going, showing that a true coach is centered on community.

Student Leaders

Almost Out the Door

With three trying and memorable years behind them, the Senior Executive Board is almost out the door and out into the world. However, no matter how busy their schedule, there is always time to support their class. "The class of 2004 has always had a lot of school spirit and our executive board works hard to keep our class pride up. This year we hope to give a great prom and make our classmates proud like we did for last year's luau," said Erica Lopez. Various fundraisers are held throughout the year in order to raise the money needed to meet these goals.

Shannon Maribona serves as director for the senior float during the Homecoming Parade. His job was to keep the action moving.

Left: "I'm finished! I'm finished!" Alexa Sellers hurriedly shows the judge that her crackers are gone. The clash of the classes is a perfect example of the senior class showing their pride.

Before the excitement gets started, Samantha Smithwick and Jocelyn Paz have a last minute discussion.

This year's Junior Executive Board has been working hard on many events. "Building our float this year was a great experience, we got to work together as a class, and we had alot of fun." said Secretary Dana Brown. They will be planning their junior/senior Luau and looking forward to junior/senior field day!

As their second year of high school rolls around, the class of 2006 starts the year out with a bang. With their sea of grey shirts swarming the hallways, the sophomores proudly sported "ain't nothin' 'soph' about us." "We wanted to make a statement this year," says vice president Kaley Green. "I think we not only showed everyone we weren't soft, but maybe they have a little toughening up to do."

It's all about class pride! Paul DePoo sports his class shirt that he helped design, which his classmates all wear proudly.

The class works together in everything to get the job done. This teamwork is demonstrated in their efforts during Clash of the Classes.

I can't get my shoe on! Kendal Harden gets a little assistance during the Clash of the Classes sneaker race.

Even though it is the class of 2007's first year, they have made some major strides. Second place in the homecoming parade is now easy task. Be careful, these freshmen have a lot to offer. The Freshmen Executive Board has put in a great deal of effort into making their first year at Key West High School a memorable one.

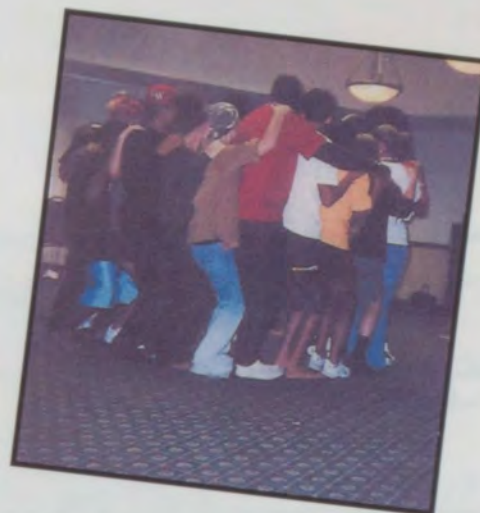

New Year, New Faces

Lean on Me

Natural Helpers is a club that is new to Key West High School. Sponsored by Mr. Murphy, this club is selected by students from surveys which convey who they trust. The students selected are taken on a weekend trip to Hawks Cay resort where they learn several strategies that they can use to help a friend in need.

This group gathers together in a huddle of encouragement to get them excited for their next activity.

Maxin and Relaxin! This group takes a break from all the hard work they have put in the workshops, and take it easy in the hot tub. What a tough trip.

Dana Brown and Erica Stokes work on an exercise which teaches you to trust the person your friends with.

Nap Time? This group works on a workshop which focuses on listening. Students dedicate their time for the weekend to learn tools that will help students who need a friend.

Organizing Our Time

1) What organizations did you participate in this year?

2) Did you hold any offices?

3) Who was your favorite sponsor?

4) What was your most memorable club experience?

5) What type of activities did your club participate in?

6) When and where did your clubs meet?

7) How many hours a week did you devote to clubs?

8) What community service events did you contribute to?

9) Are there any organizations you want to join next year that you aren't previously in?

10) How have you benefited from club membership?

Interact is the youth extension to Rotary. They are groups set on community service. They participate in many money making events that are charitable in the community. "I just love Interact. It helps me connect with our community. I feel that from my experiences with Interact I will achieve greatness in our great community", said Shannon Maribona. Interact helps out with many local activities as well as national activities. They participate in Children's day at the Park, giving away turkeys for Thanksgiving, and ringing the bell to collect money for the needy during the Holidays.

Club members give away free turkeys to those who can't afford them hoping to give them a Happy Thanksgiving.

Developing a yearbook is no simple task and the staff is always occupied writing body copies and captions, designing layouts and taking pictures in order to better the final production of our book. A major addition this year is an all color yearbook. "With the yearbook consisting of all color, we hope that the books will be more appealing for everyone and will make all the pictures and events more memorable."; Tara Walterson. By producing a quality yearbook, staff members can leave feeling that they have left a mark.

Nice moves!!! The band breaks it down for the audience during half-time. With each practice they improve their dancing skills.

At band practice, the band marches and grooves to the beat of the drums while learning the dance for "Hey Piccuco."

At half-time during the Conchs game, Lauren Roberts, Scarlet Basler, and Carleigh Kruzik play the mallets.

Marching band is composed of students from all grade levels. It takes dedication to participate in this band. These students have to practice everyday in class, practice at home and attend a two week camp before every school year. Great job!

Frank Bellido de Luna and Daniel Victorez stand aside to show off their drumming skills. They are preparing for their upcoming game on Friday.

We've Got Rhythm...

Steelin' the Crowd

Different from the usual form of band, this small but strong group of drummers and guitarists dig deep into the true reggae and tropical feel of Key West. With hard work and well shown talent, steel drum band can definitely help carry the band towards perfection.

Katie Smith plays enthusiastically making sure she's keeping in time with the music. No need to worry, she looks good.

Right: Jamiel Allen plays the trumpet during sixth period. He is preparing for the next band concert.

Jeffrey Kovach and Dennis Swartzentruber play the trombone with much effort. These trombone players are the backbone to the band.

Jazz Band is a musical group which really loves to jam. They perform at many concerts and other events in Key West. This group plays a wide variety of jazz music and they seem to always please the crowd. With each practice, they evolve and become an even more spectacular sight, expanding their style with rock, swing, and a little salsa as well.

Full of spirit, the Pep Squad is keeping it alive by moving to the beat of the band and cheering on the football team.

Conch Pride

Kickin' It Up

For over 50 years Conchettes has been a community oriented organization centered on self discipline, citizenship, tradition and pride. Although best known for their kickline performances at varsity football games, the Conchettes also participate in various parades, community activities and school events throughout the year. "I am very proud to be captain of such a talented and passionate group. We have high standards but the girls work hard and are dedicated to doing their best. Everyone has really pulled together to strengthen and rebuild our group and it has shown in our performance," said Captain Amy Osbun-Rapp. This December the officers will also be dancing at the Capital One Bowl, a honor earned during summer camp in Gainesville. With their outstanding drive and dedication, the Conchettes are well on their way to fulfilling their goals and making the community proud.

Audreana Ansell, Aja Jones-McCloud, Cicorra Cervantes and Angela Perez show the audience what it means to dance from the heart. Their upbeat performance to "Bonanza" is only one of the Conchette's many dances that captivates and hold the audience's attention.

Left: Is it time to perform yet? The Conchettes listen to some last minute instructions from director Liz Wooten before entering onto the field. These hearts served as a prop to their homecoming dance, "Groovy Kind of Love."

Right: Matthew Baldwin and Vanessa Cepero partner up to show that they've "Got Rhythm."

The concert choir is composed of over sixty talented juniors and seniors. Putting on four concerts throughout the year, the group sings everything from Broadway classics to popular show tunes and traditional medleys. Many individuals find friendships with other members who share their love of music. "I have met most of my friends and made most of my memories in choir. Being mistress of ceremonies this year has been an honor and has truly enhanced my senior year. I am so glad that I entered choir and stayed in it all four years." said Zoe Pischke

Cheering for Victory

A Loud Start

Even though junior varsity activities do not get a lot of attention, they work hard. The junior varsity cheerleading squad can be seen throughout the community at different events, such as Picnic in the Park and Children's Day. Many of the girls also compete with the high school competition team and put in extra hours doing something they love to do.

Challenging Their Minds

Upon passing Mrs. McLean's room at 8:15 in the morning, students would most likely see the dedicated Academic Challenge Team perfecting their skills. This intelligent group of students regularly practice questions in the areas of mathematics, science, social studies and language. In January, the team competed against Coral Shores and Marathon winning first place and a chance to travel to Orlando to compete in nationals.

This year's cross country team is made up of eight girls who work hard each and every day for countless hours. Their determination and dedication to improving their own personal time is shown at every meet. They practice after school, many times in the weight room or jogging down Flagler Avenue or Smather's beach. All their hard work is sure to pay off throughout the rest of the season.

With words of encouragement shouted from the stands, Katie Smith sends a powerful serve over the net.

Right: Anxiously awaiting the serve, Diana Jones gets set to pass the ball to one of her teammates.

With five seniors leading the way, goals have been set for the future. "Six of our girls attended volleyball camp during the summer at the University of Florida," says Captain Whitney Eden, "Everything has just seemed to fall together." With each winning match, the progressive achievement of becoming state champions isn't as far away as it seems. Pushing one another to tough out injuries and push away doubts, the Lady Conchs still show that their key element of success is teamwork.

Whitney Eden jumps and attempts to block the opposing team's dink.

Right: "K-Dubb!" The Lady Conchs are pumped up and ready to go out onto the court.

Servin' Spikes

This year is a new start for the team. With almost all new players, it will be a building year. "I've learned teamwork and how to cooperate with other people," says Brett Estenoz. However, mixed in with beginners, are a few players with previous volleyball experience. These players help the rest of the team with their skills and general understanding of the game. "I try to help others," says Brittany Carey. With a good mix of new and experienced players, the team as a whole is looking forward to a successful season.

Jumping as high as she can, Allison Baker rolls the ball over her opponent's block.

Once again, Cole Rains uses his amazing techniques to potentially hit a hole in one. Looks Good!

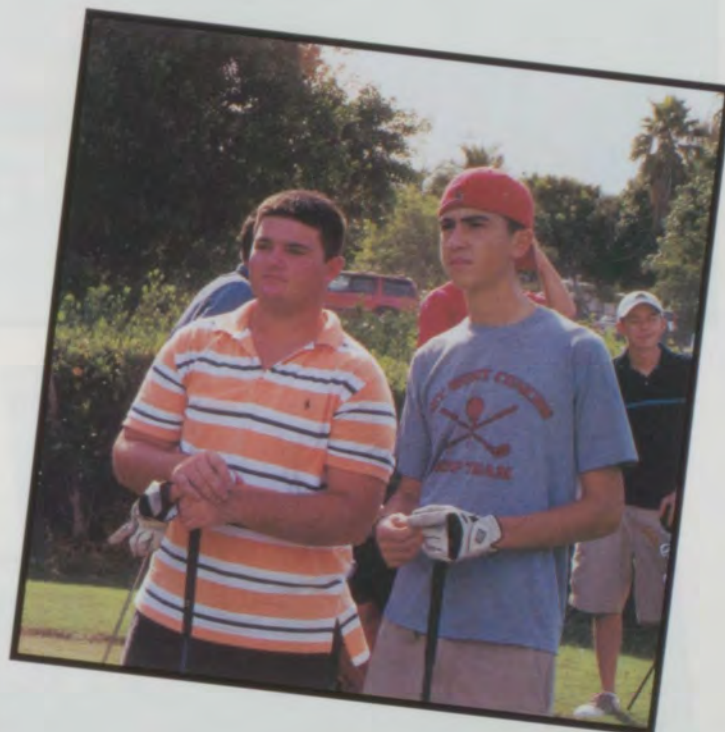

Our golf team is composed of hard working students practicing non-stop to improve their swing and aim. Without a doubt, this team definitely holds the most dedicated and talented team members. Golf takes a lot of time and effort, and the players definitely know what it's like to work hard to win every game. "Everyone was looking forward to this season and as we expected, it was a good year," said Daniel Silcox.

Although the team lost many seniors last year, they haven't lost their winning spirit. "We lost 9 seniors. We have different leadership and personalities, but our key players, Matthew Tielkemeier, Olexandr Yanovych, Jesse Kehoe, are all returning," says Coach Clifford. Playing year-round has also kept the team focused. "We have a club team, year-round, even during the summer," says Clifford. Hopefully, these factors will combine to give the Conchs another winning season.

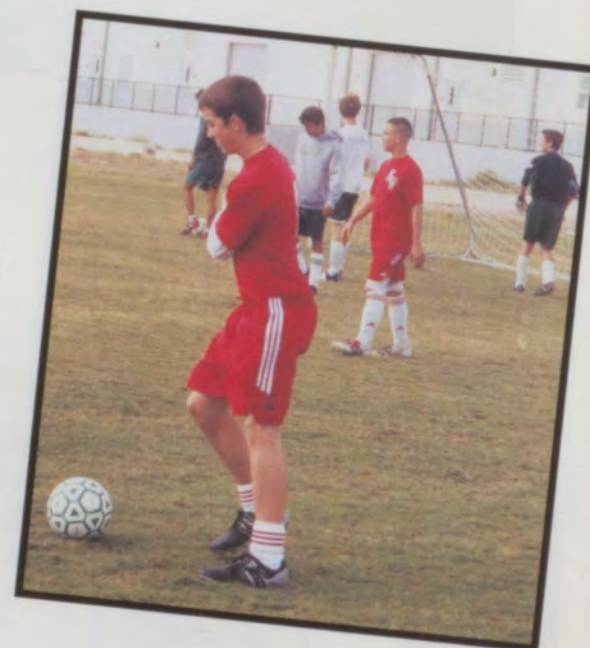

The Boys Junior Varsity team has had a great opening season. "The freshmen on the team this year have a lot of potential," says Michael Labrada. Working closely with each player, Coach Clifford and various members on the team help the newcomers improve their soccer skills. With a little hard work and plenty of teamwork shown by the boys, the goals they have set for themselves will be attained in no time at all.

Keeping up the team morale, Carlos Valdez cheers on the Lady Conchs from the sidelines.

Goal Oriented

Watch out! The girls are ready to rumble. Through vigorous and grueling practices, the Lady Conchs are prepared for an awesome season. "Our motto is 'Reloaded'," says Captain Jamie Kloza, "We're at the point in the program where we are expected to dominate our district. However, with a new team and fierce competition ahead, we have had to work harder than ever.

We're ready for a tough season and another district title." "This is the most talented team I have ever coached," says Coach Paul, "Even though it is a young team, we are reloaded with a close knit group of girls that really know how to play. I am expecting big things. This team is not only ready to take on our district, they're ready to make a run for the State Championship."

Above: Using her speed, Kristen Kelly beats her opponents and takes the ball to their half of the field.

Right: Jamie Kloza stops the Gulliver player by getting physical. There is no way to get past a tough, strong defense.

Heading Their Game

Left: Keeping careful watch over the game, Coach Hunter Boyle and the girls make sure the play is carried out correctly.

Above: Victoria Phillips rapidly dribbles the ball down the field to score a goal for the Lady Conchs.

Heading the ball with perfect precision, Marguerite Madrigal puts the play into action.

This season the Lady Conchs are implementing a new strategy, practicing side by side and helping one another. The team is full of fresh new faces this year and they're packed with the determination to succeed on and off the field. Being a part of a team means depending on one another. "It's really awesome to know that we're all growing closer as a team and we're all putting forth a team effort in every game," says Jessica Potter. With their strong spirit and determination, the Lady Conchs are sure to go far this season.

Right: Making a team effort, Karolina Nowak and Marguerite Madrigal try their best to take the ball from the opposing team.

The Conchs are off to a great season under the supervision of Coach Butler. Tough and rigorous practices build the character for each player on and off the court. Each game, the Conchs show their will and determination to succeed and progress to the next level. "Our main goal is to make that long trip back to Lakeland," says Eric Brown. On and off the court, you can catch the guys at the top of their game.

Above: With the pressure on, utter concentration is needed to put the Conchs ahead as Cheslon Mingo takes his time making the foul shot for the Conchs.

New faces and new challenges await the boys this year as they head into this season with high spirits. With hopes of overcoming last year's record, the Conchs' two main objectives are successful practices and teamwork in order to achieve high standards. All of their efforts are focused on making it to regionals at the end of the season. With the help of the coaches as well as each other, the team as a whole are sure to see a great outcome.

"I'm open!" Ryan McCoy snatches the ball just in time to escape the opposing team.

Left: "Time out!" The coaches call the boys to the sidelines to go over the next play.

Bouncing Back

This season, the Lady Conchs are taking a new approach to their game; it's not about whether you win or lose, but about whether or not they're playing good basketball. In order to accomplish this, the girls are putting their heart and soul into each rigorous practice, as well as on the court. "This season, we're focused on staying together as a team and working together as a team," says Martha Rivero. With this in mind, the Lady Conchs are sure to have an unforgettable season ahead of them.

Left: Taking aim, Caitlin Holubar steadies herself as she prepares to attempt a free throw.

Right: Both teams anxiously await as Kimisha Deroche shoots a foul shot, which could put the Conchs ahead on the score board.

Above: Quick hands! Kiara James has to make a quick choice, either pass the ball or shoot it before her opponents steal away the ball.

Right: "Dee-fense! Dee-fense!" The Lady Conchs prepare to stop the Raiders if they attempt to score a few more points.

Calling the Shots

Left: Helping a team member in need, Carol Quirindongo jumps into action to retrieve the ball.

Above: "Over here!" Finding an open spot on the court, Tianna McIntosh sets the play on its way.

Left: Double teaming their opponents, Flicia Brown and Cassandra Petrilli manage to block the ongoing play.

Above: Sticking together, the Lady Conchs constantly prove that the key to a successful team is teamwork. Get 'em, girls!

Looking out onto the court as she is chased by two defenders, Carol Quirindongo tries to find a fellow teammate to pass the ball.

Under the supervision of Coach Robinson, the Lady Conchs are looking forward to a great season this year. With fresh new faces on the team and loaded with attitude to win, they have set very high goals for themselves. Practicing tough and testing their physical endurance, they reach the optimum level of athleticism. "We're looking forward to district playoffs and hopefully regionals," says Coach Robinson. With a mind set for winning, their talents are sure to show out on the court.

Right: Giving it all she's got, Carol Quirindongo goes for the crucial extra points as she tosses a free throw.

Left: Making sure her opponent doesn't have a chance at the ball, Arquedia Bousquet is a leg ahead in the play.

Right: After an exhausting match, Ian Lauritzen is pronounced the winner by the referee.

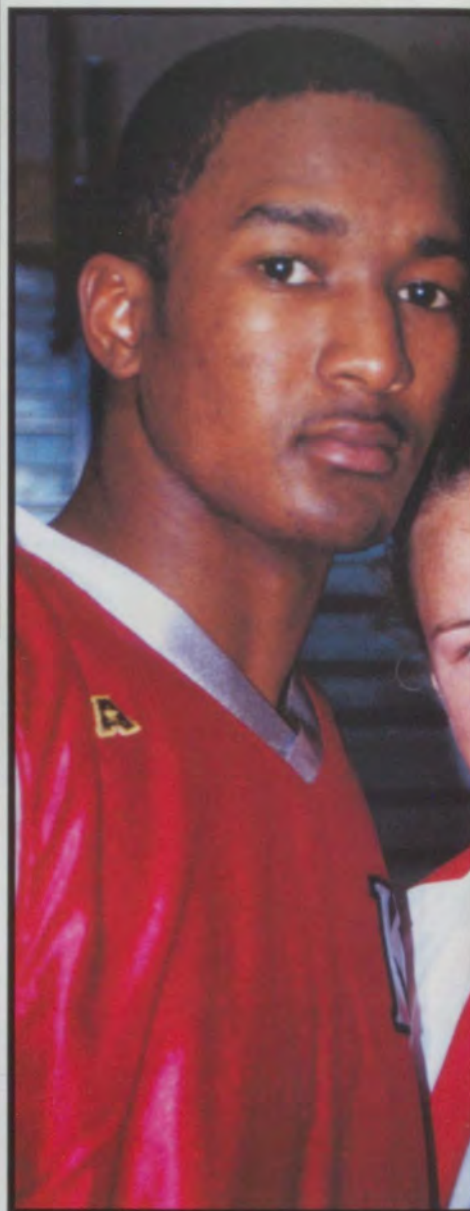

Right: Down for the count, Lavon Gunn makes it look so easy to overcome the opposing wrestler.

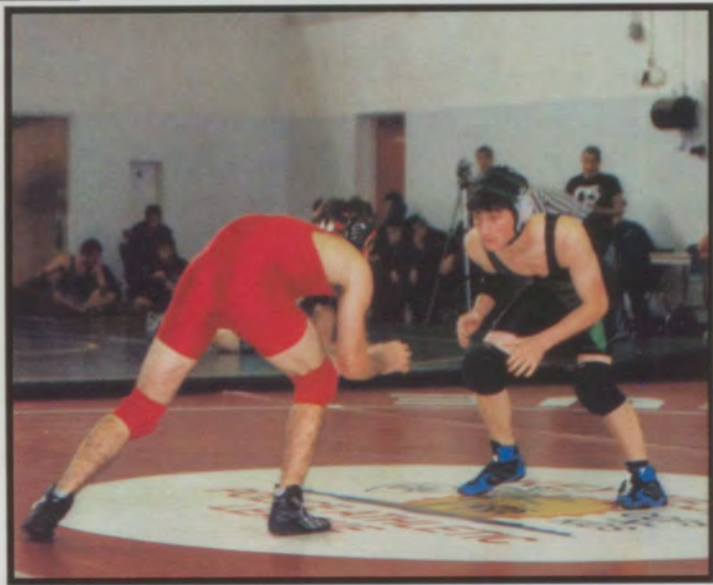

Overcoming many changes this year, the wrestling team has managed to pull together and show what teamwork is really about. Grueling practices and hard workouts not only test the wrestlers physically, but mentally as well. However, all the hard work and efforts contribute to the excellent performances displayed by each member out on the mat.

Reaching high, Jenna Rose McCall powers the ball over the net. Serving is one of the most crucial aspects of the game.

This year, the team has a new outlook on the game. "It's been a completely different experience. We've been trying new drills in practice," said senior Coral Etshman. This change could be contributed to the new head coach, Donnie Golightly. Golightly was recently moved up from assistant coach to head coach. Although this year could be considered a transitional period, the team has enough experienced players to keep things on track. "This year's team consists mostly of seniors who have played all four years which will help us this season," says Etshman. Hopefully, new directions and experienced players will combine for a winning season.

Right: Practice, Practice, Practice! Blake Barber throws a curve ball

Great play! Keith Jines runs in with a big smile on his face after making the last out of the inning.

Can you think of a word to describe the Varsity Baseball team? One word that comes to mind is Dedication. Practicing nights, weekends, long and hard is what proves to work for this team. Being one of the most awaited seasons people young and old fill the stands to anxiously await the first game of the season.

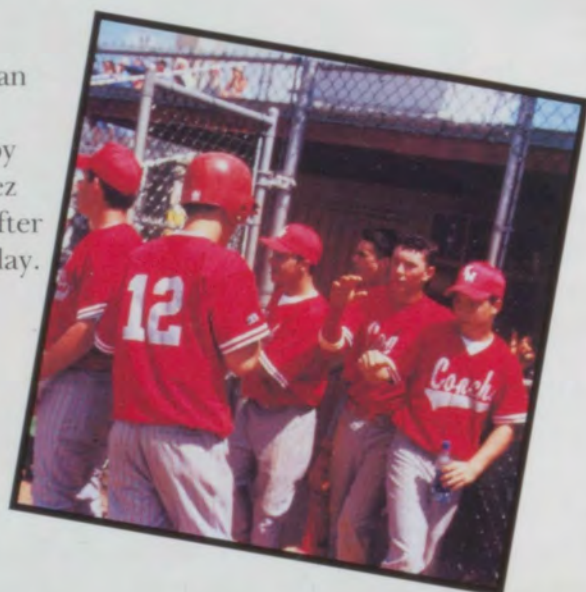

Getting ready to be the best ever these boys don't ever stop practicing. With the same ideas for a season of success, Coach Menendez gives a few pointers.

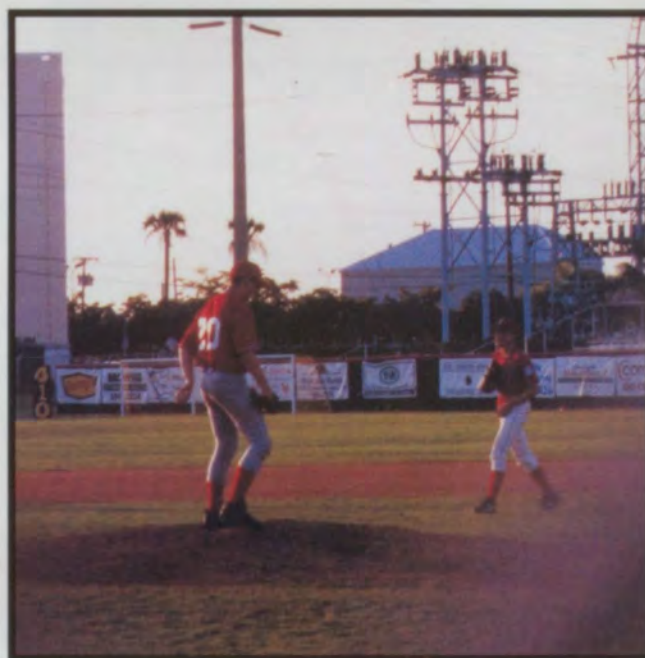

Above: Three up three down! Kyle Malone walks off the field smiling after making the last out of the inning.

Way to go! Roman Orofino is congratulated by Andrew Mendez and Jesus Valle after making a great play.

Below: As he waits for the call, pitcher Kenneth Waite gets ready to perfect his pitching skills.

This year the junior varsity team will be playing numerous games against teams with various levels of difficulty. "I think our toughest game will be against Pace. They have always been our rival," says Christopher Vazquez. As the team gets ready for the upcoming season they are striving to bring out the best in each individual player. "It's hard on us because of what little time we get on the field, so we just take that as a challenge to work harder and prepare for the upcoming games," says Matthew Roberts. The junior varsity team is ready for any challenge that comes their way this season.

It may be hot out here, but not too hot for Andrew Mendez and Matthew Roberts to make the winning runs.

LARRY HARRIS

Ready for action! Santi Arencibia walks onto the field ready to defend the Conchs.

Above: Is it hot out here or what! Steven Monsalvatge and Kenneth Waite watch the remainder of the game hoping to learn a few helpful plays.

Out of the Park

With a lot of the senior girls returning to the team and new members moving up from the junior varsity, the team as a whole are looking forward to an optimistic season. "I have a really good feeling about this year's team," says pitcher Ashley James, "We are going to dominate." Clearly, each team member knows they hold the potential to go all the way to regionals. With a strong combination of drilling practices and plenty of teamwork, the challenges faced by the girls can easily be overcome.

Right: With an ear to ear grin, Sophia Ratcliffe makes her way towards third base.

Right: Sharing the task at hand, Kaley Green and Danica Doctoche gather all of the balls from the batting cage to get set for another round.

The Lady Conchs are ready to roll as their upcoming season begins. "There are many new faces this year on the team and we are preparing them for the varsity level of play," says Coach Preston. At each practice, the girls go over many different drills and strategies that get them ready to step up to that next level. Along with the coaches, the returning players hope to see the great potential of the newcomers displayed in their performances, whether it's during a daily practice drill or on the field itself.

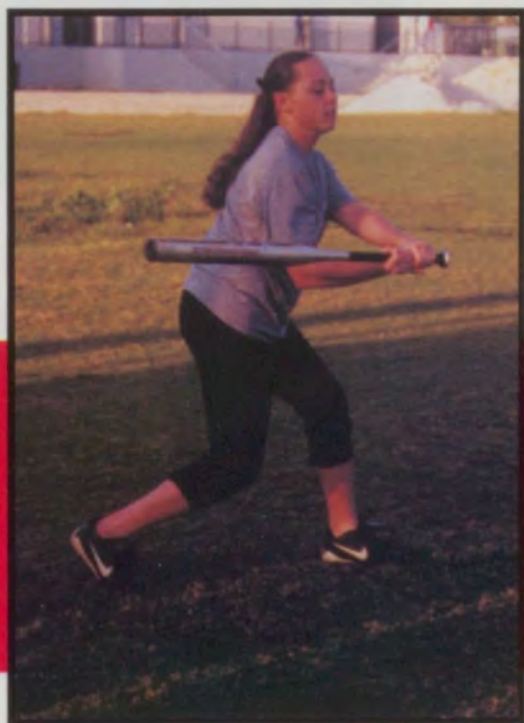

Left: "It's all in a day's work!" Coach James rides up and down the field, assisting the girls with whatever they may need.

Right: "Time!" It's time to move down the field as the junior varsity players switch with the varsity to take over the diamond.

Below: Although Patricia Wise is considered to be catcher for the junior varsity team, she's always there to lend a hand to her fellow teammates on the varsity team, such as Sophia Ratcliffe. This also prepares her for a higher level of athleticism needed.

During practice, Brittney Taylor demonstrates how to swing level by throwing her hands out in front of her to achieve a perfect swing.

Right: Taking a long stride Daniel Garcia times himself while taking a lap around the track. He runs to build muscle stamana.

At the crack of a gunshot up into the blue skies, the runners shoot off from their marks, running to victory. Many of the track members can feel the excitement every time they hit the asphalt. This year's track and field team are ready to perform at the optimum level, due to the hard work and dedication of true high school athletes."Even though i can't be out there I wish the team the best and I know that they will go far. " says senior Robert Killen. That's true love for the sport.

"I'm going to beat you!" is all Kandya Adams is thinking while she is racing neck and neck with her competition.

Left: Wrap em' up! Senior Whitney Eden is getting her fingers taped before she competes in a meet.

The Key West Girls Track Team consists of 37 girls, all who undergo strenuous training 5 days a week and occasionally on the weekends if they don't have a meet. Sophomore Sele Gordon says "I enjoy being in track because it keeps me in shape and gives me something afterschool."

Ready, Set, Go! Sele Gordon as she gets ready to breeze past opponents.

Right: "Go! Go! Go!" is all Emily Meyer hears when she grabs the baton from her teammate.

Below: 1-2 Jump! Hannah Richards sets the pole as she prepares to clear the bar.

Right: Warm Up time! Natalie Harper is warming up before track practice. It is important not to get injuries from running cold.

Two Steps Ahead!

Standing out

Over the past four years, our class has formed an everlasting bond. Together we have celebrated great triumphs and grieved great losses. Looking back, we remember everyone's special qualities and certain distinctions that have

Hannah - 18 years of feelings can't possibly be summed up into one paragraph, so I'd like to share the two most common thoughts of you that have repeatedly popped into my head over the years. First, I'll always treasure the memory of holding you, caressing your bald, little 3-month-old head, as it rested on my shoulder, while I tried to keep you pacified as we waited in the laundry mat (for your laundry, I might add). Second, I now know how much my mother loves me, because I love you that much, too!! Hannah, this isn't the first time you've made me proud, nor will it be the last. I only wish your dad were here for this moment, but he is in your spirit, as well as part of the blood that flows through you. Don't ever stop dreaming or believing. I love you, Boog! Mom

Most of you probably never thought you would see a senior ad from Stuart, the one who was always doing anything he could to downsize school spirit, but I tell you now if you had truly known me you would have seen another side that I hope to share with you now.

Four years have passed by and while it was happening it felt like the years dragged on forever. Looking back it makes you wonder how we did so much in so little time. We have had different experiences through those years. Mine were riddled with triumphs and downfalls like so many others. I never felt very comfortable at Key West High. I was the "anti-social kind" never really knowing any of the faces I passed in the halls. After four years, I realized I was somewhat of a celebrity. Apparently, the majority of my class and the ones directly before and after mine knew who I was at one level or another. I did things some would call funny, crazy, and there are those who would say it was for attention. Some of you called me friend or foe, others hated me, some loved me, and I loved them, those who would call me a clown, a fool, a troublemaker, and even an idiot. However, in the end whether you hated me, befriended me, or didn't take time to know me, I will always have the last laugh because you all knew who I was. I often heard my name uttered from the lips of people I had never seen before. I may not have known you, but I had a great time entertaining you. No matter where you are in life now as you read this you are on a never ending track to your destiny and every time I think back to my high school career, I will take pleasure in remembering I touched all of your lives. Do you hear me laughing? I'll never get over our times together. It will always amuse me that I have influenced you. Just in you remembering me as another face means that I accomplished my goal, you all knew who I was. Don't think of this as a sadistic laugh. I hope you're laughing with me when you think back to our days at Key West High and all of the times we had whether good or bad. I leave you now with the hopes that this letter finds you in good health, good fortune, and a few words that have always helped me through life: Love each other. Be good to one another. Question everything.

Son
I always said, as you'd go out to play
"Please don't slam the door" but of course, you would slam it anyway.
You couldn't help yourself you were a little boy, you were made to slam doors, bounce balls, climb trees.

And then one day you grew and I was so surprised- you were a man, hair combed, shoes tied.
The door you close now
gently, with such ease
I asked myself, "what happened to the boy God gave to me?"

I didn't understand it then but now I can- all of this must happen for God to make a man.
And even though you're a grown man now you'll always be my little boy and Son, I am so proud.

To our little girl,
For 17 years, you have been the light of our eyes. When you were little, you wouldn't let go, now that you are growing up, we find it is us, not you, that doesn't want to let go. The past few years may not have been the easiest for us, but they certainly have been a learning experience. We hope that your senior year at KWHS was everything you wanted it to be. Lauren, as you go to college, please remember we will always be here for you and above all else, we love you dearly, with all our hearts. Good luck, you'll always be our precious little girl.

Kristie Marie

Dearest Kristie,
 These past eighteen years, watching you grow, have been the highlight of our lives! I can only hope you experience what you have given us. Your future is in your hands now! You can achieve anything you put your mind to! Stay the course! Have fun! Happiness starts from within! Be happy in whatever you choose to do and keep music in your life! The road ahead is bound to be bumpy with many detours and dead-end side roads. Look for the good in everyone who crosses your path. The pursuit of a worthy goal is the definition of success! Not achieving it! Keep smiling, it's good for the heart!
 We love you,
 Mom & Dad

To our baby girl,
The day you came into our lives the world became a brighter place. You have taught us so much. Your caring is endless and your smile brightens even the gloomiest days. We wish you the world as you shoot for the stars.
All our love,
Mom and Dad

P.S. Grandma Faye says, "From a beautiful baby to a beautiful young lady. We wish you happiness and success."
Great Grandma says, "You are a beautiful young lady, and I am so proud of you."

Dawn

To my dear Dawn,
Always remember you are greatly loved by me and all of us, and by God supremely. Give your life to prayer and search God's word for guidance and wisdom and he will keep you in perfect peace every step of your way. Thank you for the love you freely share with me. Watching the way you have blessed others is a beautiful beginning of a wonderful life God has set you on to fulfill. All my love and prayer are with you as he keeps us both in his hands.

My Dearest Jess, It seems only yesterday I watched you, my little girl, step into a big yellow bus. I watched you leave for school the very first time, my heart was broke and I cried. Now it is twelve very short years later and I am crying again for now I am watching a young woman who will very soon be stepping out into this big open world ready to challenge life for the first time. Life is made up of many first times. The first time you ride a bike, you fall in love, the first time you see your baby's face and the first time you realize your little girl has become a young woman of whom you can be extremely proud. I love you so much Jessica and wish for you a life of many exciting first times. Seize them all and enjoy your future.
I love you always, Mom

Through every bake sale, fundraiser, or car wash, the backbone to our fundings have always been traced back to the businesses of Key West. From well-known agencies to private businesses, all are willing to show their support and provide donations to help our school. We would like to take this opportunity to express our thanks for every club, team, or individual you have taken the generous time to sponsor. With donations and support, local businesses have always taken part in our traditions over the years.

on Support

Our eternal gratitude for centering in your support on our school as a whole will always remain constant.

The final bell rings and the last notes of pomp and circumstance are heard. Even as silence drifts through the hallway, the community is still interested in our achievements. The newspapers are out and everyone has harped on how great this year has been. Athletics, arts, and academics are the Center of focus for the school and for our community. Thoughts turn toward a summer of camps, workshops, and fun-filled activities. Even though the doors have closed, people are still paying Attention.

Dealing with Key West High School, our community, friends and family play major roles in making us the people we are today. From sponsoring players and holding car washes, to attending concerts and donating prizes, the community of Key West always has a way of showing their true support for our school. Family and friends never fail when it comes to giving their all to make sure we accomplish our goals; devoting their time, helping us through obstacles and overall, just being there to assure us that we are important and that we have the support to follow our dreams. When it comes to devoting endless hours to the production of "The Conch," there is one person who makes it possible. The yearbook would not exist without the support and guidance from adviser Ms. Dina Kinnune. Between balancing her time with her academic courses and organizing the annual yearbook trip, to being patient and open with all ideas, she has been the one whom we all depend on to help make the yearbook complete. So Ms. Kinnune, with all you have done to help us create a lifelong memory, we dedicate this book to you.
