DEDICATION

The Class of '50 dedicates this Annual to you, Mrs. Stark, in deep appreciation for your many contributions toward helping make our High School years an experience to be long remembered. Your untiring efforts, guidance, cooperation, and good fellowship, in many of our undertakings both scholastic and social have been as a beacon leading to our success.

SENIORS

CLASS HISTORY

There was a great turmoil in the Day School for the Denizens of the Deep. A new school of Junior Denizens had just arrived and his Royal Highness, King Horace O'Bryant, leader and ruler of Fishlandia, had just instructed them in the rules and regulations of the school.

Two wardens, Four-Fin Wellons and Tall-Tail Stark, were assigned to keep the group in order. During the first year, progress was slow and the case was believed hopeless, but by the end of the year the Junior Denizens were on their way to becoming Senior-Denizens.

To celebrate the end of the year, a ball was given in the Conch Room of the Murky Seas Lodge, and it was found to be the beginning of the many successes they were to encounter.

And so began the second year of schooling; the group became Nearly-Senior Denizens, one more step up to the goal. During the second year, nothing of importance occurred as the Nearly-Senior Denizens had really settled down to business.

Again Tall-Tail Stark was assigned to keep order but as they were really tearing up the bottom of the sea, two different ones were also assigned, Scarlet-Scales Gardner, and Sand-Flopper Sands.

When the third year rolled in with a Tidal Wave, the Nearly-Senior Denizens became Almost-Senior Denizens. Progress was being made! Once again, Tall-Tail Stark was our warden, but another new one also joined the forces, Cat-Fish Katey Lowe.

They were now getting down to business, and the group was being organized. It was during this year that the Almost-Senior Denizens brought the Sea Walls down on the School House with their "Fish-Tale Minstrel", which was attended by all the blue blooded Denizens of the Seven Seas.

As his Majesty, King O'Bryant had abdicated, a new ruler, Fred Goldsmith, His Royal Majesty of the Deep, had led us through this year.

There was one day which dawned bleak and desolate in that third year: "Conch Day!!!" The Conch had been stolen from the Senior-Denizens by two of the Almost-Senior Denizens girls, Razor-Back Romanguera and Fly-Fin Fields. The Senior-Denizens raged and the Almost-Senior Denizens laughed until the day the Conch Flag was raised, and an attack was made on the Almost-Senior Denizens in their sign-in rooms. A fight ensued, and it was never known who won, but finally the Senior-Denizens left for Bloody Eel Beach where they spent the rest of the day recovering from their wounds received in combat.

Although the day was never forgotten, it slowly stepped into obscurity, and the Senior-Denizens were given a ball in their honor by the Almost-Senior Denizens. For once in the school history a most extraordinary theme was used; an underwater one. This was the last important event in the third year.

Finally with earthquakes, tidal-waves and underwater Atom-Bombs, the great year rolled in....they were Senior-Denizens!!!! Again our ruler had abdicated, and his successor was our present king, His Royal Majesty, Exalted Ruler of Fishlandia, and the neighboring lands of Concher-ville, Sharkivia, and Turtleoona, Ed Schweitzer.

The school has been in a muddy flurry ever since, with the preparation for graduation and the recording of the activities in the annual, the CONCH.

Then came another fin in the caps of our successes, the Senior-Denizens Frolic Show, "Color Capers". This time not only the blue-bloods, but also the pink-bloods attended and praise ran riot.

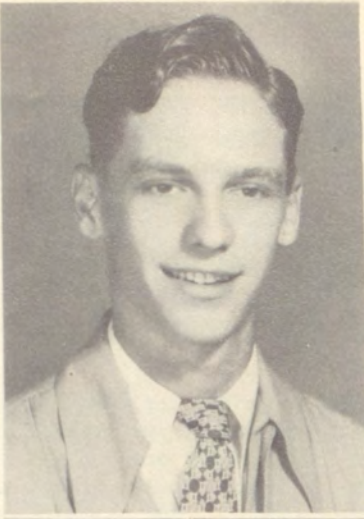

There had been a change of wardens this year. Mullet Mary Milner and Bottlefish Bradford now took over the group and it was die to Mullet Mary and the warden-sponsor of the annual, Sharky Sidney Anderson, that the Minstrel was a hit.

Come graduation, the Senior-Denizens will set forth on the Seven Seas of Life to finish the successful careers which they began when they were Almost-Senior Denizens. With a fond, bubbly farewell, they will bid adieu to the Day School for the Denizens of the Deep, with one last parting word: "Keep Your Fins Up". "Bubble-Bubble".

CLASS PROPHECY

The Year? 1950. Rockets, Jets, and Clouds fly over the thriving air metropolis of Key West, one of the most modern cities in the nation. Fashions, times, everything has changed, everything that is but the faces. What faces? The faces of my classmates the year I graduated. Let me see, Johnny was born in 1958, Peter in 1956, and Donna in 1954. Was it '53 or '54? That's right '53. Three years after I graduated. It was 1950.

Walking along White Street we see a new five and ten cent store operated by none other than Milton Bazo with Bonnie Bennett still slaving away at the counter. Right next door Harry James in disguise is doing good business in his soda fountain, yes it's Jackne Drudge. Across the street we find Juanita Sanchez, Manager of the Gulfstream.

As we jump to another section of town we look in on the sports arena to see our up and coming Jack Dempsey, known to everyone as James Cowart. Also the "Red Heads" of Oklahoma are playing basketball with none other than Beatrice Demeritt, their Captain.

While we're on the subject of sports there are reports that some of our boys have made the major leagues in baseball. They are: Jose Fernandez, hurling for the Red Sox, with John Solomon trying out with the same team. The New York Yankees have great hopes for our own Joe Lewis as a pitcher. Sports magazines are raving about a new basketball sensation. He is John Busto who played for Key West High for several years. Another person who has changed is Robert Soper. He is now a pro basketball player. And as we know Ralph Henriquez is staring in both baseball and basketball.

Down on the water front we find Kenneth Spencer trying to rebuild the sponge industry in our fair city.

A report just came through that Mrs. Eugene Kirchoffer had a baby girl. She was the former Miss Anita Esperdy. Louis Fernandez is still waiting around for his government check to come every month.

Dorene Clawson has taken over Miss Eva's job in the office. Just can't get out of that rut can you Dorene?

Hubert Martinez sure worked himself up in the nickles and dimes, he is now general manager of Kress. Working under him, we find Flora Cruz, Alice Johnson, Alice Hernandez, Joyce Gibson and Margie Fields. Margie is still waiting for that certain boy from West Virginia.

Any time you're near the city hall take a walk into Jose Sanchez's coffee mill. He might offer you a drink. Of Coffee that is. Going along William Street we find Edna Elwood the present owner of Elwood's Place.

Let's now take a glance out of Key West. Rumors are spreading that Patsy Hampton is in New York with the Powers Model Agency. Someone told me the other day that Ed Steen now has a seat with the Detroit Symphony Orchestra. A late bulletin tells of the marriage of Rose Shannahan to that famous coach "Buck" Sawyer. By the way, any time you need some legal advice look up a good friend of mine, Vincent Cremata, Attorney at Law.

Our scene shifts to the College of William and Mary, then to Duke, now to North Carolina University. Wait a minute, who is this person traveling so much? Why it's Virginia Russell still looking for that certain man.

Across the sea we find Edward Jackson studying money making ways at the University of Palestine. We also have quite a few of our class members serving Uncle Sam. They are Bobby Fernandez, Melvin Whitmen, James Carey and Frank Young. Tony Calleja, our billard expert is in the Merchant Marine Academy, and Kermit Kerr just seems to have disappeared. Some people say he joined the Army to become a general. General Kerr, Ha! Bill Henry just graduated from West Point, at which time Eva Terrell and he were married. . .

Back in New York we find Janice Brule doing fashion designs for leading women's stores. Donald Kerr also is a big business man, he operated the Kerr School of Voice and Dance. Louise Rayzor, Diane Dickens and Leila Lynch are here also as the professional dance teachers. At the New York Metropolitan Opera House, Becky Gregory is making her debut in "Little Lame Larry". Floyd Roberts has made the headlines of the New York Times as a Congressman trying to get a bill passed to give Walter Johnson, Graham Conner and Charles Auxier a pension the rest of their life. They never did like to work. By the way Mae Kaplan is now editor of the Times.

Taking a glance at the White House we see Colleen Moore giving her view on Democracy. And look at Betsy Cates as Secretary for the Governor of Florida.

Let's step back to Key West. Irene Whitaker is now the private secretary at the exclusive Strand Theatre. And here we see Oscar Oropeza earning a living for his cute little family. And Sylvia Smith is the attractive wife of that five and ten store operator, Milton Bazo. It's been heard that John Borges is going to stop blowing that sax and open a florist shop. Donald Beavers was undecided about going into business, he'll decide some day. James Sheppard has become a paper carrier. Something new, huh James? We were hoping that Martha Garcia would become a school teacher but she didn't. She is on Duval Street at that new restaurant owned by Aleli Bennett.

At the Monroe County Hospital we find nurses Carolyn Camalier, Doris Cowley, and Estelle Kaufman. And the Key West population has increased immensely since Alice Carballo, Zaida Diaz, Betty Jean Williams, Eleanor Demeritt, Christine Lastres and Lillie Lanier have all settled down with their families.

Tourists in Key West now find a good night's entertainment at the exclusive Shrimp Club with that ever popular emcee Gene Kirchoffer and his entire show including two of our most popular girls, Pat Mallory singing those sweet sentimental songs and a gal that really pokes you in the ribs - our own Betty Hutton known to you all as Barbara Crusoe. Incidentally, all beverages served in this club are purchased from Manuel Ortega's package store. And I'm sure there is no need to tell you who owns this club. He was one of the laziest in the class but his rich Uncle Bert died and left him the money. Everyone knows this person by William Pinder.

From this journey we must continue on to the future. What will be in the next ten years no one knows. We sincerely hope that fate will be good to all of us.

CLASS WILL

I, Kermit Kerr, do hereby will to Donald Malone, Paul Walter, and Millard Solomon my desire to speed, as I have given it up.

I, Vincent Cremata, leave my ability to argue with Mrs. Thompson and still pass Civics to Marvin Boza; he'll need it.

I, Becky Lou Gregory, do hereby leave my nickname "Porky" to anyone who thinks they can have more fun with it than I have had.

I, Colleen Moore, bequeath to "Lucky" Walker my ability to play the clarinet.

I, Edna Elwood, will all my hopes and prayers to Miss Trevor that soon in the future she will have a new library. To Eugene Roberts I bequeath all my jokes and smiles.

I, John Solomon, leave my ability to become a four Letter man in baseball to anyone who can attain it.

To any Junior who wants them, Walter Johnson leaves his glasses.

I, Jim Cowart, to June Yates do will my ability to play the clarinet.

I, Sylvia Smith, do hereby leave my title "Prettiest Girl in the Senior Class" to Suzie Hoffman.

I, Virginia Russell leave to Glendora Sawyer my rolling eyes and ability to get along with the guys.

I, Anita Esperdy, will my title "Best Dressed" to Anne Yates.

I, John Borges, who am about to pass on to the world of troubles, leave my ability to drive the teachers crazy in a nice sort of way to any Junior who wants it.

I, Ralph Henriquez, leave to Terry Daughtry my ability in baseball and basketball in which he may receive honors.

I, Milton Bazo, hereby leave to Cookie Garcia my ability to succeed.

I, Rose Marie Shannahan, to Jaque Duane leave my innocent looks and guilty ways.

I, Estelle Kaufman, do leave to Frances Meggs some of my length so that people can really look up to her.

I, Barbara Crusoe, leave my wittiness along with my ability to always annoy my front seat neighbor to none other than Edward Sheppard.

I, Oscar Oropeza, leave to Terry Daughtry (the Chinaman), my eyes, so that he can see.

I, John Busto, leave to James "Lead" Baker my flat feet and big ears so that he can fly.

I, Gene Kirchoffer, leave my flashy shirts to any Junior who's brave enough to wear them.

I, Pat Mallory, do hereby will my glasses and my perpetual giggle to Connie Emery.

I, Dorene Clawson, bequeath to Barbara Delgado my ability to play the Piano.

I, Irene Whitaker, leave to the many girls that will follow me as Seniors, a little thought, "All of life is not bed of roses."

I, Tony Calleja, leave my way with the women to Bill McConnell.

I, Beatrice Demeritt, to June Yates do leave my sharp eye, my fast feet, and my ability to handle a B A S K E T B A L L.

We, James, Cary and Frank Young, to Paul Walter leave our undying love of a Ford.

I, Donald Kerr, will my ability to dance to Marvin Boza and Louis Maloney.

We, Louise Rayzor and Marjorie Fields, from our dying bed do leave our roaming eyes and shuffling feet to Connie Hudgins who needs them to be reet.

We, Manuel Ortega and Hubert Martinez, leave our Mr. Bradford to the mercy of the Juniors.

I, Christine Lastres, will my ability of keeping one boy-friend to Elena Monzon.

I, Joyce Gibson, will my quietness and shyness to Alice White.

I, Melvin Whitman, do hereby will my ability to run the movie projector to any Junior who wants it.

I, Floyd Roberts, leave my ability to sing to Hoke Holcomb who is somewhat like Bing.

I, Graham Conner, leave to Sammy Torano any ambition to be a success.

I, Alice Hernandez, hereby do leave to Sarah Roberts my growing speed.

I, Leila Lynch, do hereby will to Anne Yates my great cheerleading skill.

I, Zaida Diaz, leave to all Junior girls my ability to get along with people.

I, Joe Lewis, leave my ability to play sports to anybody who wants it.

I, Bill Henry, leave my ability to get along with Miss Thompson to Don Williams.

I, Chip Fernandez, leave to Raymond Gwynn my ability to play baseball.

I, Mae Kaplan, leave my glasses and my ability to make good grades to Barbara Delgado.

I, Doris Cowley, leave to Shirley Spencer and Dorothy Wilson my intelligence to pull them through their Senior year.

I, Diane Dickens, hereby will to Gail Wallace my dancing feet to add to her skill.

I, Pete Fernandez, leave to Peter Diaz my admiration of beautiful women.

I, Betty Cruz, leave my ability to hook good looking men to Marjorie Gomez.

I, Pat Hampton, leave my flying fingers to my sister Edie in hopes they will help her type the daily Bulletin.

I, Betsy Belle Cates, leave my happy ways to my brother Murphy.

I, Eva Terrell, to Pamela Russell do hereby bequeath my pep-hep and cheerleading vitality.

I, Lillie Lanier, will my ability to keep quiet to Shirley Spencer.

I, Martha Garcia, leave to Koloress Perez my knack for getting along with Casy.

I, Betty Williams leave to Jaque Duane my being able to get and keep one man.

I, Sylvia Clark, leave my art of cooking in a fancy way to my sister Faye.

I, Janice Brule, do leave my artistic ability to anyone who wants to become a great artist.

I, Aleli Bennet, do bequeath my calmness and good taste in clothes to Dotty Miller.

I, Bonnie Bennet, to Laurell Walker my initiative.

I, Alice Carballo, hereby do give my devilish smile and embarrassed look when called on to recite to Gail Wallace.

The Senior High Student Council accomplished many different projects during the school year of 1949-1950. We sponsored the school Bond Issue Drive, which consisted of a parade and pep rally the afternoon before the election, furnished cars to take the voters to and from the polls, baby sitters to care for the children while their parents voted, and publicized the election over the radio and in the newspaper. We sponsored Friday night dances in honor of the visiting basketball teams and also a school beautification program. The council was elected the President and Secretary school of the Seventh District Federation of Student Councils of which we were very proud.

JUNIOR STAFF

SEATED: Jeanne Canova, Julie Stone, Editor; Carol Dalton.
STANDING: Dale Mitchell, Vita Barroso, Evelyn Nettles.

In past years the Annual has been a Senior High publication, but this year, for the first time a section was allocated to the Jr. High school. Though new at the game the Jr. Staff has spent time, thought and energy in the preparation at their section in the 1950 High School year book.

SECOND ROW: Mrs. Wellons, Edyth Hampton, Mitchell Appelrouth, Vita Barroso, Xavier Sanchez, Evelyn Nettles.

Every year there is a very proper article in the annual telling of the organization and purposes of Junior High Student Council. Please refer to them for that information this year. Let us now think of the human side of Student controlled government.

Do most of our students like student government? The best proof of that is that they look back on the years in the Junior building with pleasure and a slight yearning!!! Many learn the value of self government thru actual experience. John goes before the executive board, sent from court because he has his fourth summons. The Board, made up of five elected officers, talks over his problems with him and they decide on a plan to help John adjust to school rules. They plan to give him a helping hand. John is urged to come to Council meetings and see how it works; or he spends a few days with the Safety Director to see how it looks from the other side of the fence. It is not unusual to have John become a constructive member of the student body!

Citizenship is developed by turning knowing into doing! Membership is only of value to those who take part.

SEATED: Betty Rowan, Julie Stone, Ass't Editor; Carol Dalton, Editor; Helen Darby, Sponsor; Jimmie Collins.

STANDING: Reporters: Rose Baker, George Perez, Whit Swain, Parker Mentzer, Ray Winkle, Peggy Tift, Jo Ann Mullins.

Jr. SNAPPER

The "SNAPPER", our student paper "Takes in the Whole School." In order to do this it is necessary to have a staff and several reporters in Jr. High to help carry news and views to all the little fishes at our salty sanctuary.
