State of Conservation

The support seems to be in stable condition. It may have been previously lined although it is impossible to tell without closer examination. There are sections of flaking paint in the upper left as well as along the bottom of the painting. There are evident losses along the bottom of the painting which have been heavily re-touched. The following treatment proposal is only general. This painting would require a closer examination in order to determine the exact treatment.

Treatment Proposed

1. Consolidate flaking portions of paint.
2. Clean as necessary, including removal of past retouchings.
3. Varnish.
4. Inpaint as necessary.
