

A photograph of two sled dogs, likely huskies, running through deep snow. The dog on the right is in the foreground, its mouth wide open with its red tongue hanging out. It has black and tan fur and is wearing a red harness. The dog on the left is slightly behind and to the side, also running. The background is a bright, snowy landscape.

Alaska Airlines[®]

March 2000

Happy Trails

There's no place like
Nome for the Iditarod