

An aerial photograph of a dramatic coastline. A massive, jagged rock formation dominates the center, with waves crashing against its base. To the left, a natural rock archway frames a view of the sea. The water is a vibrant turquoise color. Several small boats are visible: a white motorboat in the lower left, a blue boat in the middle right, and another white boat at the bottom center. The sky is not visible, as the image is a full-page aerial shot.

Alaska Airlines

DECEMBER 2010

Solar Energy

Sun and fun along
Mexico's Pacific coast