Horizon Air

A Native American man is the central figure, wearing a large, elaborate feathered headdress with white and brown feathers. He has white face paint around his eyes and mouth. He is dressed in a blue tunic with a red collar and a yellow armband. He holds a large, circular, colorful object, possibly a drum or a ceremonial mask, in front of him. The background is dark, and the lighting highlights the textures of the feathers and the man's features.
