The officers and board members of the Benton-Franklin County Fair Association take this means to convey to the fair visitors their most hearty greetings.

The Fair is a community enterprise sponsored by the members of the Benton-Franklin County Fair Association, a non-profit organization under the supervision of the Benton-Franklin County Commissioners. The Fair receives most of its support from people of Benton and Franklin Counties. It has as its aim to provide Benton-Franklin Counties with a Fair where anyone can show the public what he is doing and where the most exacting individual can find something to interest him.

Since its organization in 1948, the Fair has made steady progress. Each year new facilities have been added. Each year new youth groups have been attracted. As a growing community we have a growing Fair.

The officers and members of the Benton-Franklin Fair Association, Benton County Mounted Posse, the Extension Service, and many other groups and individuals work all year to make the Fair a success.

Once again we say thank you for your support, and once again welcome you to a bigger and better Benton-Franklin County Fair, Friday, August 26 through Sunday, August 28.

BENTON COUNTY COMMISSIONERS

The Board of Benton County Commissioners is truly proud of the Benton-Franklin County Fair. The continuous improvement of this annual event is a tribute to those who give their time and talents unselfishly in the interest of community betterment and youth development. It is also proof that bi-county cooperative efforts are practical and desirable.

If the opportunity arises during the Fair, or at any other time, to compliment these people for their hard work and other contribution, be sure to do so, they certainly deserve it.

We are very happy that we have been able to assist. We have every confidence that the fair will continue to grow and prosper, and be a matter of pride for our entire area.

Two divisions of booth exhibits are made for convenience of competition.

Senior booth exhibits are open to all Granges, and other adult organizations, while junior booth exhibits are open to all F.F.A. Chapters.

All groups desiring space must write Box 694, Kennewick, by August 12. Space will be assigned. Displays will be judged according to the score card presented below. Since these booths are agricultural exhibits, the displays should be constituted of agricultural products and produce, and non-agricultural materials should be eliminated or held to an absolute minimum.

A guarantee of $25 will be given to any organization completing a display in this section. This does not include those awarded the premium prizes.

Each booth scoring 65 or more judging points shall receive the $25 booth guarantee. In addition to 1st place booth shall receive 75 premium points; 2nd, 50 premium points; 3rd, 25 premium points.

PLEASE NOTE the following explanations and suggestions:

Arrangements should be neat and artistic and should carry out some central theme. The booth should not be overcrowded but should make good use of space allotted.

Labels or posters should be neat, well-placed and not predominant. If posters or labels play a part in demonstrating some practice or developing some theme, they should be brief, attractive, easily read, and properly placed in relation to parts of the exhibit to which they refer.

Decoration effects such as colored streamers, wall or shelf coverings, or flowers should be colorful but should blend with or add to the general exhibit.

Section 2. GRANGES AND OTHER ADULT ORGANIZATIONS

Theme: "Our American Heritage"

Individual items in the booth should be representative of the principal products of the farms and or homes in the community without one or a few kinds of types of articles predominating. Novelties or oddities should be held at a minimum unless they are used to show some special use. Articles should be limited to those produced in the community or by the members of the organization during the year. Purchasing commercial products to fill out an exhibit is not permissible.

Individual items or articles should be carefully selected, sound, well prepared, neat and clean. Size and characteristics should be representative of kinds and varieties. Large size is permissible if specimens are not rough, mis-shapen or poor in quality.

Each display should include as many of the following as are grown in the area covered by the exhibiting Grange.

1. Forage crops. Including individual plants and sheaf material for all kinds of forage crops. Sheaves should be uniform in diameter at the butt.

2. Cereals and grains. Threshed grain of each variety. Grain sheaves are made up as forage plant sheaves. Corn—any kind of cob, each variety.

3. Fruits. Tree fruits, small fruits, and grapes. Quantities should be as indicated in Department 37, Section 1, canned and fresh.

4. Vegetables and root crops. No minimum or maximum number.

5. Livestock products. Eggs, wool, honey, cured meats, etc. Fresh milk generally sours on display and detracts from the exhibit.

6. General. Empty cartons and containers should not be used and this use will be counted against the exhibit. The various kinds of products should be well balanced in amount. Quality should be of the highest. Canned goods should be in uniform containers insofar as possible for good variety and of highest quality.

Judges are specifically authorized and instructed to examine carefully all displays to ascertain their quality. Judging will be done early in the period of the fair in order that all displays may be judged at their best. Avoid using materials which will wilt or otherwise lose their attractiveness.

The service was read by the Rev. William L. Reid, pastor of the church. Music was provided by Mrs. Joe Anderson and Mrs. Robert Martin, who sang "Old Rugged Cross" and "What a Friend We Have In Jesus." They were accompanied at the organ by Mrs. Glen Bayne.

Burial followed in the East Prosser Cemetery. Bearing the casket were Al Raap, Jack Miller, John Gress, Vance Gage, Howard Burkholder, and Norman Wilson. Honorary bearers were Noah Miller, William Scott, J. S. Cobb, A. V. Nixon and Sam VonKrosigk.

He was a charter member and director of the Jersey Cattle Club; past secretary and past master of the Rattlesnake Grange; director of Grange Supply of Grandview; director of the Washington-Oregon Farmers Union and secretary of the Sunnyside Local Farmers Union.

His interest in the youth of the area was shown by the part he played in the 4-H program. He was an organizer of the Benton Busy Farmers 4-H Club and leader for six years. Mr. Bohlke was active in promoting the fat stock sale at the Benton-Franklin County Fair and Rodeo.

He was a member of the Lutheran Church.

Columbia Park Development Holds Spotlight

COLISEUM, RACE TRACK, COMBINED AREA C

By BRAIN MORGAN

Possibility of a huge development at the West end of Columbia Park, to include a new coliseum, a race track with pari-mutuel betting, the Pasco Water Follies, Richland's Atomic Frontier Days and the Benton-Franklin Counties Fair and Rodeo was discussed in Richland yesterday.

John Vibber of the Benton County Park Board of Directors and John Clark, superintendent of Columbia Park, told members of the Richland Tourist and Convention Committee and the Richland Chamber of Commerce that best use of the land, now vacant, would be to augment facilities at the park.

Vibber told Chamber luncheon guests that the annual affairs of the three cities could be combined and still maintain separate identities.

"The Pasco Follies could be held one weekend during the summer, the Richland Frontier Days could be held the following weekend, or vice versa, and the Benton-Franklin fair and Rodeo could be held in between," Vibber said.

Kit Campbell, prominent Tri-Cities' businessman and civic leader, who was in the audience, then suggested that a race track also be included, with pari-mutuel betting.

"I'm all for it," chimed in Sam Volpentest, Chamber president,

"It's perfectly legal," someone in the audience said that pari-mutuel betting is allowed in Kennewick.

"I was over in Seattle over the weekend and I don't think the morals over there are any different," Vibber agreed after the meeting.

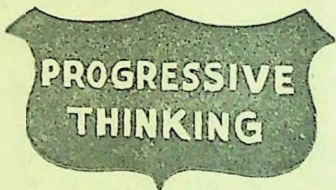

Vibber agreed after the meeting that plans are just in the "talk stage" and that plans are just in the "talk stage" and that plans are just in the "talk stage."

He added, however, that it might be possible to move the fair buildings to the new land at the fairgrounds for the land at the fairgrounds.

"That would open up the fairgrounds for development," he said.

Park Space Set Aside For The Fair

TRI-CITY HERALD
Tuesday, Feb. 16, 1960 Pg. 1

Benton County Park Board has made provision in Columbia Park for the eventual relocation of the fair and rodeo grounds, Courtney Kirkeeng, chairman of the park board, revealed at a meeting of the Richland Chamber of Commerce yesterday.

Kirkeeng outlined an ambitious plan to combine the civic celebrations of the Tri-City area into one "terrific week second only to Seattle Seafair" and a "spectacular even in the Pacific northwest calendar."

HE EMPHASIZED THAT he was just describing a vision at now but that Columbia Park could be the hub of an activity which would combine the Pasco Water Follies, the Benton-Franklin County Fair and Rodeo and the Richland Atomic Frontier Days, the home show and the boat show.

The county park board has set aside 37 acres of land at the west edge of Columbia Park, Kirkeeng said. The area planned for camping and trailers has been moved eastward to make this possible.

There is also some privately-owned land bordering the park which could perhaps be purchased for development, he said.

This area is the center of the Tri-City population area, Kirkeeng pointed out.

HE SUGGESTED THAT each city could have its own particular event in its own name during one big week and yet have a better event because of the co-ordination. "We could do things together that none of us could do alone," Kirkeeng said.

Comments from chamber members indicated a general acceptance of the idea, there were also suggestions for additions.

KIRKEENG SAID HE HAD no idea now how the new fair grounds might be financed, but he added that it was possible the present land in southwestern Kennewick might be traded, or sold, to raise money.

workings. That's because wax chalk or dressmaker carbon may be difficult to remove. Use thread, interfacing, ribbon type and materials similar to the fabric; then you'll be a step closer to safe laundering or dry cleaning. For instance, if a cotton interfacing is used in a dacron drip-dry dress, it would need special pressing to make it smooth after washing.

It's wise to begin by testing the stitching on a double thickness of fabric bias. The machine tensions for dacron and mercerized thread are similar, but for nylon thread you may need to loosen both tensions. Another suggestion--adjust the pressure and the stitch length of your machine to fit the fabric texture and weight---short stitches for sheer fabrics---longer for heavy crepes. Run the machine slowly and evenly. Hold the fabric firmly, but be careful not to push or pull. Lock the ends of each seam with back stitches. Cut your threads instead of breaking them. Most man-made fabrics ravel, so cut seams wider and use a suitable seam finish. Often pinking is not sufficient.

SPOTLIGHT FAIR PLANS STUDIED

Several persons agreed that the fairgrounds are in a poor area for public access, compared to the proposed site near the so-called Mad Turk intersection.

Whether the proposed plans will get further than the "talk stage" depends on several factors, Vibber agreed.

Talk of combining the Pasco Water Follies, the Richland Atomic Frontier Days and the Fair and Rodeo, has met with little enthusiasm in the past. Vibber thought the annual Home Show and the annual boat show also might be held during the proposed special "week."

Mostly sunny today, but some fog in early morning. Increasing cloudiness tomorrow, but showers not likely in Tri-Cities area. High today around 55, with low tonight 36.

BENTON-FRANKLIN COUNTIES FAIR:

SEWING MADE-MADE FABRICS

Sewing man-made fabrics is much the same as sewing natural fabrics. But there are some variations. For example, the fibers in man-made fabrics are tough. Therefore, your sewing supplies should include well-sharpened shear. Sharp shears will let you cut the tough, long wearing fibers smoothly and without chopping or pinching the fabrics. Some of these fibers are so tough that they often dull needles both in sewing machines and handsewing needles, too. You'll simplify your work if you have pins and needles with sharp, smooth points.

Clay chalk is best for pattern markings. That's because wax chalk or dressmaker carbon may leave oily marks that are difficult to remove. Use thread, interfacing, ribbon type and other sewing supplies that have qualities similar to the fabric; then you'll be a step closer to safe laundering or dry cleaning. For instance, if a cotton interfacing is used in a dacron drip-dry dress, it would need special pressing to make it smooth after washing.

It's wise to begin by testing the stitching on a double thickness of fabric bias. The machine tensions for dacron and mercerized thread are similar, but for nylon thread you may need to loosen both tensions. Another suggestion--adjust the pressure and the stitch length of your machine to fit the fabric texture and weight---short stitches for sheer fabrics---longer for heavy crepes. Demos Will Open Office

A Benton county Democratic headquarters will be opened in Richland July 1, members of the party's executive board decided at a meeting this week in the Desert Inn.

The party will sponsor a booth at the Tri-Cities Water Follies in July and at the Benton-Franklin County Fair in August. The Water Follies booth will be handled by the three Democratic women's clubs in the county—Kennewick, Benton City, and Richland. Mrs. T. R. Smith, president of the Richland club, will be general chairman. The Kennewick Democratic Club, Jimmy Phillips, chairman, will handle arrangements for the County Fair booth.

An "all-candidates" dinner will be held in October to which all state and local Democratic candidates will be invited, headed by Governor Albert D. Rosellini. Gordon Cochrane, Benton county chairman, announced that the next Central Committee meeting will be July 19, at which time Gordon Cochrane, Sam Volpen-test, and Mrs. Carroll Pratt will report on the National Convention.

2 TRI-CITY HERALD, Thursday, June 23, 1960. Competition Keen For Posse Prizes

Competition is extremely keen in the Benton County Sheriff's Posse for prizes which will be awarded during the Benton-Franklin County Fair and Rodeo.

Next Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. posse members will hold another intra-posse competition event at the Benton County Rodeo grounds near Kennewick. Riders will attempt to add points to their present totals in order to qualify for the prizes to be awarded at the annual fair.

Leading the standings at the present time are Bill Kelley, Ralph Scott, Ward Larson and Dave Garrett. The public is invited to attend next Tuesday night's competition.

32 TRI-CITY HERALD, Thursday, June 23, 1960

Posse Here Scores High

Although they competed with the least amount of men and horses, the Benton County Sheriff's Posse placed in more events than any other group at the annual three-day convention at Port Angeles.

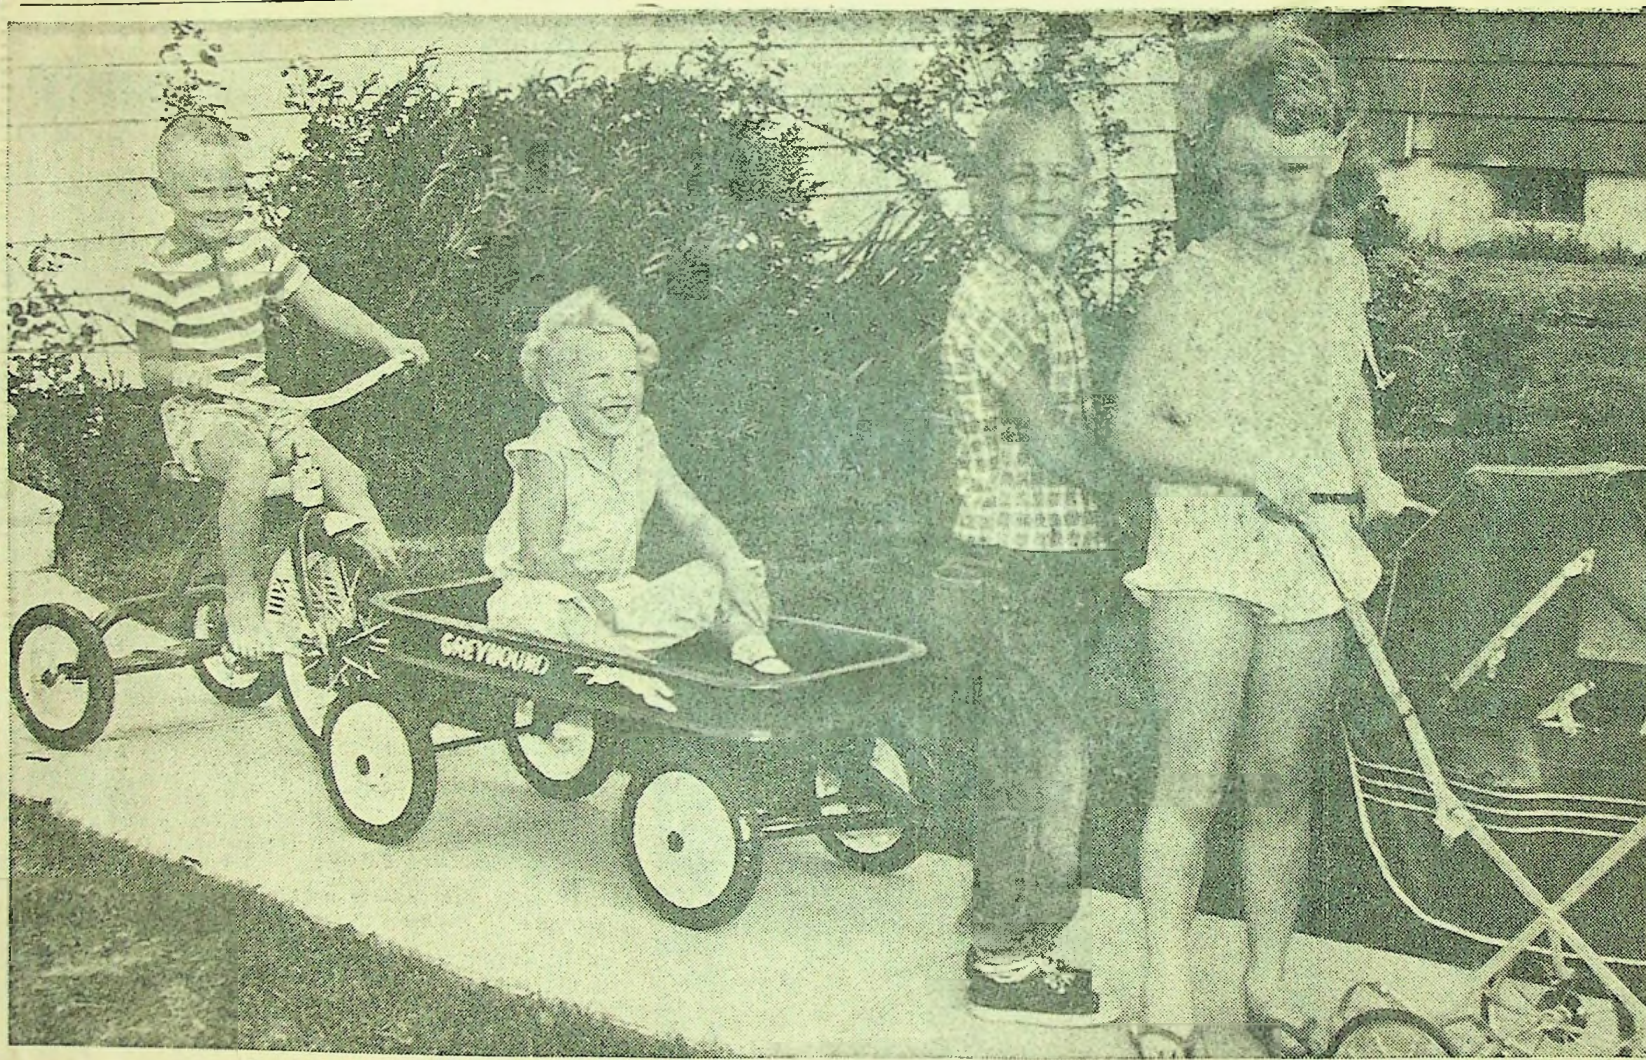

The Benton County posse competed with 16 other registered posses from throughout the state, and placed in 12 of 17 events.

Benton County horsemen placed in the following events: 220, second; $\frac{3}{4}$ mile, fourth; half mile, third; four man relay, fourth; six man relay, fifth; pony express, fifth; team pole bending, fifth; team barrel racing, third; individual barrel racing, third; calf roping, second; and pistol shoot, fourth.

Participants were Bill Kelley, Ralph Scott, Jim Williams, Bernie Chapman, and Courtney Baze, all Kennewick; Sheriff Pete Harrison, Prosser; and Dana Zimmerman, Pasco.

The outstanding performance within the posse itself was made by Jim Williams and his horse, Button. The horse was used in more events than any other horse at the meet, and performed well in all events.

Members of posse are trying to bring the posse meet to the Tri-Cities for next year, following the group's vote to hold next year's annual meeting in Eastern Washington.

WE LOVE A PARADE — Equip four children with things that move on wheels, and before anybody can say "John Philip Sousa" they will have formed a parade and started off down the street making their own music as they go. Young marchers above, left to right, are Lynn Shreves, 7; Danny Dettrich, 5; Karen Dettrich, 4, and Scotty Shreves, also 4, who made South Dayton Place, Kennewick, their parade ground. Parents of Danny and Karen are Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Dettrich, and parents of Lynn and Scotty are Mr. and Mrs. Ira Shreves. With all this practice, the children should be a sure thing for prizes when it's time for the children's parade during the Benton-Franklin County Fair.

4-H CAMP

Any adult homemaker who would be willing to help at 4-H Camp, June 20 to 25 is very much needed! Contact either Extension Office. We need more to help with crafts, hikes, and recreation. The fee is $9.00 for all who attend--adults included. This barely covers the costs which we must pay including food, lodging, crafts, insurance, etc. The camp is limited in the sleeping and eating capacity, and in persons capable of working with the 4-H'ers, so there is no place for children below 4-H age. Two of the Triple K Homemakers members are going to try their skill at being 2 of the 3 cooks this year. Several clubs are offering 4-H county campships to members to attend camp. For those who have funds available, this is a very worthwhile project. As a general rule, some 125 4-H'ers attend Camp Wooten. To date we have enough adults to accept just 60 children. We urge you to give this your serious consideration.!

Did you know that the lowly tin can that is familiar nearly everywhere is celebrating its 150th birthday this year? The can has served man faithfully from polar wastes to jungle swamps. It is no stranger in the leaf-thatched households of people who have never heard a radio or seen an electric range. At first foods were preserved chiefly of out-of-season luxuries. Today the United States alone turns out more than 40,000,000,000 cans a year, according to the Can Manufacturers Institute.

'Pony Express' Jaunt Scheduled For Tonight

The Richland Riders Club and Benton County Mounted Posse members will compete tonight between Kennewick and Richland to commemorate the 100th anniversary of the start of the Pony Express.

Richland Riders will mount their trusty steeds at 5:45 p.m. to deliver mail to Kennewick, while at the same time members of the Benton County Mounted Posse will leave the Kennewick Post Office to deliver mail to Richland. Eight riders from each organization will be used to make the ride. Seven "Pony Express Stations" will be set up along the main highway between the two cities.

TODAY MARKS the first day of issue of the new Pony Express stamps.

The mail will consist of envelopes with a special printed "cache" outlining a brief history of the 100th anniversary of the Pony Express, including a sketch of the route. Envelopes and the new stamps are available at either the Kennewick or the Richland Post Offices. The envelopes were designed by the Kennewick Stamp Club. Price of each envelope, including one of the new four cent stamps, is 15 cents.

HOLDING THE stop watch on the modern - day Pony Express riders tonight at Richland will be Postmaster E. C. Peddicord, while in Kennewick, Postmaster Walter Woehler will be on hand to give the "Go!" signal to the riders.

The original Pony Express started simultaneously from St. Louis, Mo., and Sacramento, Calif., just 100 years ago today. Cost of a ½-ounce letter between the two cities at the start of the fast-riding venture was $5, Peddicord said last night.

SWEEPSTAKES WINNER—Above is the non-commercial float entry of the Episcopal Youth Fellowship, Church Of Our Saviour, Pasco, which took sweepstakes honors in the Tri-Cities Water Follies Grand Parade Saturday evening. The parade was one of the largest and longest in history of the Follies and the crowds watching it also set a record. The winning float, graced with beautiful girls in bathing suits of the Grand Coulee Dam, over which water appeared to flow. On front of float, seated in a wheelchair, was a youth impersonating F. D. Roosevelt.

PRETTY — This entry of the Pasco Jaycees captured top spot in the non-commercial classification of the Grand Parade which highlighted the Tri-Cities Water Follies Saturday evening. The float was indeed pretty, and the beautiful girls on it made it even more so. (CBNewsphoto)

Trophy Polishing Now In

The Tri-Cities Water Follies is all over but for trophy polishing.

Winning the grand sweepstakes in Saturday night's parade floats was Pasco's Episcopal Youth Fellowship, Church of Our Saviour.

And winner of the Drum Calvacade later Saturday night was Pendleton, Ore. for the Seniors and the Pasco Junior Drum and Bugle Corps took first for the juniors.

The Episcopal Youth float was decorated by a covey of lovelies in bathing suits placed around a replica of Grand Coulee Dam with water tumbling down the face.

Master of ceremonies for the Drum Calvacade was Les Brosious, Pasco, and three junior teams, one senior and two women's drill teams took part in the program. Wenatchee Women's Drill Team took first place in drill competition.

About 2,000 persons watched the spectacle at the Edgar Brown Memorial Stadium, Pasco. Many stayed until after the competition when the combined bugle and drum corps put on an unscheduled show while waiting for hot dogs and coffee to be served the contestants.

Membership In 4H Gains

Franklin County 4-H enrollment reached a new peak with 445 4-H'ers enrolled in the 1959-60 year. This is an increase of 68 over the last year's enrollment figures of 377.

In 1953 there were only 160 boys and girls enrolled in 4-H. The increase in Franklin county in the last five years is the second highest in the state.

The program has an increase in the number of leaders also. Last year 52 volunteered as 4-H club leaders, and this year 74 are working in the program.

Officers of the Franklin County 4-H Leader's Council are: president, E. M. VanBlaricom; vice-president, Mrs. Art Johnson; secretary, Mrs. Boyd Redmond; counselor for the 4-H Challengers, the teenage group, Paul Fitzhugh.

Fast Horse Gets Ticket

Kennewick "Pony Express" riders called "foul" today and demanded a re-run of the race between Kennewick and Richland.

Anchor man Bill Kelly was cited for speeding on the last lap to Richland Wednesday night, causing a delay which, possemen said, cost them the race. Richland riders, reversing the route to Kennewick, came in two minutes ahead.

Kelly's citation said that he was going 36 miles an hour in a 35-mile zone in Richland. Sheriff Pete Harrison, who issued the ticket, noted also that he did not have an operator's license and was operating a 1954-model quarter horse.

Richland Riders Outrun 'Injuns'

OFF AND RIDING — Members of the Benton County Sheriff's Posse are off and running in the Pony Express run between Kennewick and Richland

Wednesday. They are Eldon Rex, holding the mail sacks, and Courtney Baze with the flag.

One thousand "Pony Express" letters are continuing on the route to the addressees today, after being saved from heat, dust and "Injuns" last night.

Richland riders Joe Nickolson and Tom Surplus had to put the iron to their mounts to escape a band of 10 war-whooping redskins who were out to count the coups they missed 100 years ago when the real Pony Express riders carried the mail from Sacramento, Calif. to St. Joseph, Mo.

"INDIANS" WERE members of the Richland Ramblers, a youth riding group sponsored by Richland Riders. They pursued two of the Pony Express riders who were traveling from Richland to Kennewick.

Their "chase" is credited for the Richland team victory over the Kennewick team, by two minutes.

Nickolson was clocked at 38 miles an hour for a short stretch while he was chased. This would figure out to 1:58 minutes for a mile, compared with 1:33:12 which is the world record for a one-mile horse race.

BOTH RICHLAND AND Kennewick had teams of eight on the commemorative ride between the two post offices. The Richland team time was 31½, while Kennewick riders made it in 33½ minutes.

The ride was conducted on the dividing strip between traffic lane on Highway 410 as far as possible, to avoid traffic hazards such as Pony Express riders never encountered. Sheriff's deputies and Richland police and Kennewick police provided the safety escort.

Flanking Rex are: Cortney Baze (left) and Oliver Hue who carried the flags during the first phase of the express route. A similar group left Richland last night to deliver mail to Kennewick.

Richland 'Pony Expressers' Win

By BRIAN MORGAN

"Pony Express" riders from Richland to Kennewick Wednesday evening bested by two minutes the time of riders from Kennewick to Richland to commemorate 100th anniversary of the start of the famed Pony Express route.

During the ride yesterday, unlike the days of yore, "nary an Indian was seen," one rider said, although there was another hazard undreamed of by the Pony Express riders of 100 years ago: truck and auto traffic.

Members of the Richland Riders Club carried the mail with the new Pony Express stamp and a specially-designed envelope, from Richland to Kennewick in exactly 31½ minutes, compared to the time of the Benton County Mounted Posse riders of 33½ minutes, Kennewick Postmaster Walter Woehler said last night.

The specially-franked mail was addressed to people in nearly every state in the union and to some foreign nations. A total of about 1,000 letters were carried between the two cities, Woehler said.

Woehler, who had "bet" Richland Postmaster E. C. Peddicord that the Benton County Mounted Posse would deliver the mail to Richland faster than the Richland Riders Club would deliver the mail to Kennewick, will have to "pay off" today by working for Peddicord in the Richland Post Office "general delivery" window.

At the same time, the Richland Riders Club members will split a "pot" contributed by each rider from the two clubs taking part in the ride yesterday. Each rider had contributed $5 so members of Richland club in effect were $10 richer last night.

Unlike the lonely Pony Express riders of 100 years ago, the modern-day mounted postmen yesterday were protected from traffic hazards along the entire route.

Benton County Sheriff Pete Harrison, Sgt. Ted Jongewaard and three deputies, Larry Palmer, Harry Wear and Dale Henniger, worked the Pony Express "beat" between the two cities, while in Kennewick police Capt. John Dickinson, Sgt. Lou Boscola and Officer Red Marino split the chore of protecting the riders to and from the city limits. In Richland, police Sgt. Walter Kerr and Officer David Whitehead conducted the riders to the city limits.

Eight members of each riders' organization were used in the ride yesterday. Seven "Pony Express stations" were set up along the main highway between the two cities. First station out of the Kennewick Post Office was in the 800 block on Innaba, while the first station out of the Richland Post Office was next to the Bowl (sewer plant) on George Washington Way.

Members of the Kennewick Riders Club prepared and sold the specially-designed envelopes which included a sketch of the route between the two cities.

Groups Work To Prepare for Coming Valley Junior Fair

Getting projects ready to show at the Yakima Valley Junior Fair at Grandview, Aug. 17-20, is the main purpose of a Prosser High School Future Farmers of America project tour, scheduled for Saturday, July 30.

Twenty-five chapter members will be exhibiting projects in the annual show, reports Lewis W. Porter, chapter adviser. All of these projects will be visited during the tour, which will start at 9:00 a.m. Saturday at the Prosser High School Vocational Building.

Jim Bottorff, assisted by committee member Ron Juzeler, has planned a picnic lunch for the noon meal.

Each member should bring enough food in a sack lunch for himself and his parents, Bottorff advised.

Parents are invited to attend the tour, Porter said.

Assisting FFA Chapter President Ed Craig in the planning of the event were other officers Louis McCullough, Leon Darby, and Bob Travaille.

There will be a short business meeting at noon, President Craig announced. Fair activities and plans for fair booths at both the Yakima Valley Junior Fair and the Benton-Franklin County Fair, which is scheduled for Aug. 26-28, will be discussed at the meet.

Young People Take Part In Pre-Fair Judging

As the days of the Benton-Franklin Fair come nearer, activities of the 4-H boys and girls are at a fast tempo. Many of the contests now being conducted cannot be held during the actual days of the fair due to the nature of the contest and the lack of facilities needed for each particular activity. Since the 4-H building on the Fair grounds could now be used, the Home Economics Judging contests were held there and at the Prosser High School with 261 participants.

Each contest was divided into junior and senior groups. The junior division is for those in their beginning years in 4-H and up to the age of 13. The senior division is for those who feel they have had enough experience to try. Those who are 14 years old must attempt the senior division, though.

There are 4 items in each class, each a little different so they can be placed 1, 2, 3, 4. The juniors judged cookies, tomatoes, vitamin C fruits, breakfast place settings, cups for measuring milk, and a drink for a specified meal. The seniors judged fruit desserts for a specified meal, cooked vegetables for a specified meal, fruit and vegetable choices for a day, canned fruits for a dessert, and preparing a food to conserve vitamin C.

After a 4-Her has placed the 4 in each group the way she feels is best, she must tell a qualified judge, usually a 4-H leader, why she placed them that way. Reasons are given on only one pre-chosen class. This year the reasons were on vitamin C placings.

Clothing judging is conducted in the same manner. The seniors judged wool tailored skirts, cotton pajamas, peasant aprons, blouse material for a specified pattern, and posters of three-piece dirndle cotton skirt and blouse outfits.

The real value of the judging contest is in teaching that whatever we buy, whether it be foods fresh, frozen or canned; clothing, ready made or material; or utensils for sewing or cooking, we have choices to make. The best choice helps us to get the best buy for the money, for nutrition, for wearability, for looks and the purpose. 4-Hers are learning ways to think and evaluate for their future homes.

Those receiving highest scores in foods were: Sue Hokanson—486, Maxine Graham—481, Carol Hoerner—480, Beatrice Maberry—485, Virginia Gilkerson—461, Geraldine Nipper—460.

High scores in the clothing judging were: Coral Hoerner—489, Marilyn Bottorf—485, Ruby Hunter—484, Betty Plum—484, Linda Rogers—483, Donna DeFord—482.

Some of these 4-Hers will represent the county in the State Fair judging contests in Yakima in September.

Western Show Slated As Part Of Fair Week

Plans for a western show under Kennewick Jaycee sponsorship to be held Aug. 24 and 25 as a part of Benton-Franklin County Fair and Rodeo week were announced today.

The show—to be held on a roped off section of Kennewick Avenue—will feature amateur and professional talent from both counties, according to program chairman Dale Miles.

"The Jaycees feel the fair is a combination of the best in farm and home demonstrations from the two counties so the show will follow that pattern with the best of talent from the two areas," Miles said.

He added, "We have sent out offers to the top young talent not only in the Tri-Cities but also in Prosser, Connell, Benton City and other towns in our area."

Under the Jaycee plan, the show will feature established young talent along with professional musicians, rather than hold a talent show with winners being picked and tryouts held.

"We thought about that," Miles said, "But the committee felt it would be better to invite the winners of such talent shows as the Water Follies and Prosser talent show to perform."

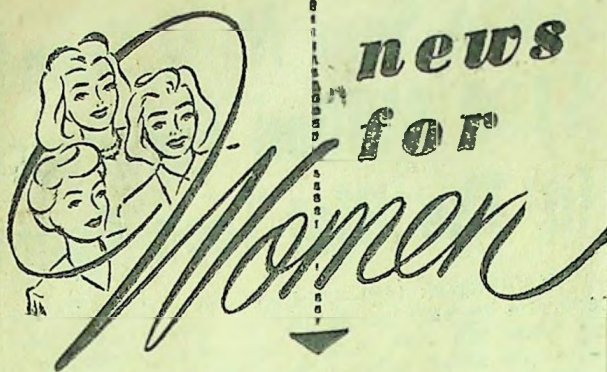

"That way we know the quality of our show will be top notch, plus it will give those youngsters another chance to perform before large crowds," he added.

Demonstration Contests For 4-Hers Precede Fair

Demonstration contests are among the many activities heralding the approach of County Fair days for Benton County 4-H Club members.

According to Miss Virginia Vaupel, Benton County extension agent, a demonstration is "telling how while one is showing how." It can develop a speaking voice, give the voice a ring of authority and develop poise and self-confidence.

First demonstrations are usually the "show me how" type with not too much explaining. As members develop, they learn technical skills and reasoning, so that they give rather complex demonstrations which make the audience want to go home and adopt the practices that have been shown. Talks with charts or graphs as illustrations are a popular method, but many more are given by actually making something.

Mrs. Ralph Smith of Pasco and Russell Turner of Prosser have judged all 62 demonstrations, held in Richland and Prosser July 28 and Kennewick and Benton City July 29. From these, about 12 will be chosen to represent the county at the state fair.

Ribbon placings given these 4-Hers are:

Ben-Franklin Fair, Rodeo Soon

From beards to beef and giant blue jeans to dressed up windows.

That is the scope of sidelight events designed this year to promote interest in the Benton-Franklin county fair and rodeo which runs Aug. 26, 27 and 28. The Kennewick Jaycees are sponsoring the side gimmicks as a part of their handling of the 1960 fair-rodeo public relations.

The most profitable contest is the annual raffle of a 1,000 pound beef donated to the Kennewick Chamber of Commerce and Jaycees by the Kennewick branch of the National Bank of Commerce.

Contest chairman George Murphy said the beef will be cut and wrapped for the winner by Jones Food Supply.

"Last year was the first time we tried this stunt," Murphy said, "and it went over very well in the community so we feel it's going to become an annual event."

He added the Jaycees felt that while the beef is a welcome addition to anyone's budget, "the community aspect of the plan where one firm donates the animal another prepares it for storage and a third conducts the raffle shows how the interest in the fair and rodeo is growing."

Beards springing up among Jaycee members is another physical reminder of the upcoming fair. While most Jaycees are taking after Yakima residents in the growing of fancy facial hair, some meeker members are paying the $1 for a "sissy" button.

A pair of 76-inch Levis on a nine-foot dummy is providing the most spectacular gimmick of pre-fair days. They are being displayed at Ken's Clothing and Lantor's Men's Store on Kennewick Ave.

Contest Chairman Ray Ward said the idea of the contest is to guess the number of stitches in the huge pair of pants owned by the Levi Strauss Co. and sent around the West to fairs and rodeos.

"I've never seen anything like it," Ward said. "It looks like there is enough material in those jeans to make a pair for each member of the Jaycees."

The winner will receive a western outfit from the Levi Co. plus articles donated by local merchants.

The fourth contest being promoted by the service club is a western window contest for area merchants. Each downtown store is being asked to fix up a window display with a western theme for the fair and rodeo days. The winner will receive special prizes from the Jaycees.

While all of the antics are going on to promote the fair, work at the fairgrounds continues at a furious pace. Workmen are continuing to get the fairgrounds in shape.

At the same time, exhibitors are getting final touches on the product that makes a fair: the exhibits. Once again fair officials reminded that Aug. 12 is the final day for entering the fair. Entries should be sent to: "Fair Office, P. O. Box 694, Kennewick, Wash."

Tips Given On Preparing Flowers For County Show

To encourage local gardeners to exhibit their blooms and plants in the horticulture section of the Benton-Franklin County Fair, Mrs. W. K. Rice of Richland, superintendent, has compiled instructions on preparing and hardening flowers for display.

When to cut: In the cool of the evening, after the sun has been down long enough for plants to recover from the heat. Place at once in water near the temperature of the air. A plastic pail is a good container. Allow to stand over night in a sheltered spot. Cut annuals as soon as they are open or two thirds open. Avoid day old blooms.

Perennials—freshly opened. For woody stems such as mums, shrubs, tree branches and evergreens, stems should be split at the butt with a sharp knife vertically, two or three times to facilitate water absorption. Before hardening mums, hollyhock, lantana, campanella and similar flowers, it is a good idea to sear the stems with candle flame before placing in water.

Bulbous flowers, or soft stem: half open if possible. Do not place tuberous begonia stems in water. Pack in a tight box, covered with moist cotton, in refrigerator. Before hardening, wrap the bottom inch of each stem to avoid curling.

Spike flowers, snapdragon, stock, lupine, glads: lower flowerets freshly opened, upper ones in bud.

Dahlia: two thirds open. Place stem ends in boiling water, (do not let steam reach blooms). Harden in cold water.

Roses: to keep in bud: after calyx has turned back and a few petals have unfurled, to use next day, one quarter to one half open, depending on variety.

Flowering fruit trees: in bud showing color. Submerge completely in cool water for half hour before hardening. Also suggested—add 1 eighth teaspoon boric acid to each quart of water for hardening; or add 1 tablespoon salt to each quart of water. Works well with hollyhock, coreopsis, bamboo sunflower, achillea and tuberoses. Boric acid may be used on any plant material. Another method is to add one tablespoon of sugar to each quart of water, especially good for asters, mums, daisies, gaillardia, verbena and petunia.

One tablespoon of vinegar and one teaspoon of sugar for each quart of water is good for hardening laurel, rhododendron, zinnia and cat-tails. Spray heads of cat-tails with clear plastic to keep intact. Floralife or Bloomlife, commercial cut flower preservatives may be added to the water.

Groom plant material for specimens and arrangements by removing all damaged leaves, foliage and bruised parts. For arrangements, thorns may be removed from roses. Do not remove for specimens. Lilies should also have the pollen bearing anthers removed to prevent staining the petals. Water drops on the petals will also spot.

If orchids are used in arrangements, stems should be split vertically for one inch at the base, and inserted in orchid tubes of cool water. Refrigerate in tight box. Remove stems from water for one hour each day to prevent saturation of petals.

Street Dance Is Protested

Kennewick City Council members indicated to City Manager William Hansen that they didn't approve closing off Kennewick Ave. for a street dance in conjunction with the Benton-Franklin County Fair and Rodeo Aug. 24 and 25.

Hansen said he had received a request for closing the street between Auburn and Benton but he didn't think it was a good idea.

"We might have to move a fire truck down Kennewick Ave.," he said.

Also at the meeting a liquor license application was approved for the Gourmet Shop owned by Hal Clark. The business will be able to sell beer and wine to take out, according to the permit.

County Fair Entries Top Last Year

Benton - Franklin county fair and rodeo time is drawing near and officials said in Kennewick it appears the entries in the 1960 event will top last year's record.

Fair entries close Aug. 12. They must be turned into the fair office at box 694, Kennewick.

The fair this year will feature a new building that will house cattle entered in the show. The 60' by 60' structure was completed the first part of the month and fair leaders said it will "help greatly" in taking off some of the pressure of the overcrowded conditions on the grounds.

"This won't solve the problem completely," J. C. Pratt, Sr., long time board member said. "But it will help and it means we have separate buildings for all types of livestock shown at the fair."

Pratt said the entry list has been expanded and several new categories have been added.

"It looks as though the $3600 we gave out in premiums last year will be at least equaled and probably topped this year," he added.

The Sunday before, Aug. 21, halter classes and a trail horse class will be held on the fairgrounds. That Wednesday all exhibits except floriculture and horticulture (Thursday) and champion horses (Friday 8 a.m.) must be on the grounds by 8 p.m.

Friday's official opening will be at 9 a.m. At that time the judging of all animals listed in the fair book plus the judging of horticulture will begin.

At 10 a.m. a kiddies parade will be held in downtown Kennewick. That night the 4-H Grand Champion showman will be picked in front of the grandstand at 7:15. At 8, the first session of the rodeo will begin.

Saturday's highlight will be the fat stock sale at 10:30 a.m. A downtown parade in Kennewick a 2 p.m. is the feature afternoon attraction. At 7:15 p.m., the FFA Grand Champion showman will be chosen on the fairgrounds.

Sunday the awards in the agriculture show will be presented at 7 p.m.

Mrs. Anderson Tests Recipe

By Mrs. Cormac Thompson

Mrs. Chester Anderson, Prosser's prize-winning pastry maker, received recognition recently from Flieschman Yeast Co., when she was called from the New York City offices of the company requesting her to test a new bread recipe called Scotch Bread.

Mrs. Anderson complied, filled out the questionnaire stating approval. . . and received $40 for her trouble. The new recipe will appear in the company's advertisements in the October issue of national farm magazines.

Mrs. Anderson, winner of many county and state prizes for her baking, has many trophies in her home—silver cake plates, a diamond brooch, and a box of blue, red and white ribbons from many fairs.

MRS. ANDERSON'S FIRST Fair entry in 1943 was a result of her children's insistence that she enter her Devil's Food cake in the county fairs. On her first entry she received a blue ribbon on her Devil's Food and a red ribbon for her Angel Food. From then on she has entered fairs at Kennewick, Grandview and Yakima.

"Every year I think this will be the last time I will bother to enter the competition but when the next year's premium fair books are available I get anxious to try one more time," Mrs. Anderson said.

In 1949 she won the first silver cake plate, sponsored by General Mills, at the Yakima State Fair. Since then she has won two more silver cake plates and numerous other prizes.

For six years, before 1943, Mrs. Anderson had plenty of opportunities to try out her favorite recipes when she cooked for a crew of men on their Horse Heaven wheat ranch.

For best results Mrs. Anderson believes the old-fashioned method of making pastries and breads is the best and does not use any prepared mixes. Her cocoa chiffon cake, always a blue ribbon winner, takes about three hours to make, bake, cool and ice.

Another sure winner is a coffee cake made from a basic sweet dough recipe. She covers the bottom of the pan with small balls of dough, about the size of a walnut, then sprinkles a layer of red cinnamon candies and brown sugar. After making about three layers of this she butters the top, lets rise, bakes and spreads on a thin powder sugar icing.

The Andersons live on Johnson Road about 3½ miles west of Prosser, although they still farm on Horse Heaven.

Fair And Rodeo Interest Mounts

"Compared with other years, there is a tremendous amount of renewed interest among area groups and individuals."

That was the word last night from Benton-Franklin county fair and rodeo board president Frank Lampson following the last regular fair board meeting of the season before the 1960 event Aug. 26, 27 and 28.

"As an example of that interest," Lampson said, "we had a meeting of the superintendents of various divisions of the fair earlier this week and nearly 75 turned out. That is almost 100 per cent and a tremendous percentage when compared to previous years."

The fair board spent about three hours at its meeting putting the final touches on the 1960 fair. That included the reports of many chairmen concerned with publicizing the fair, preparing the exhibits and events and setting up the physical running of the show.

BOARD MEMBER Ed Hopkins reported on the physical condition of the fairground. He said the fairgrounds "look the best they have in years" and the workmen are about finished with the final preparations.

"We are doing everything possible to set a record attendance this year and the fairgrounds are going to show our feelings," Hopkins said. "All buildings, fences and other wooden surfaces have received a new coat of paint this year and it makes the place look like a brand new fairground."

The fair board took a tour of the grounds before their meeting and even the long time members were smiling as they sat down to take care of the final business.

One new feature adopted at the meeting was in conjunction with the horse show that will be held on the grounds the weekend before the fair. The board approved a plan to sell season tickets for the fair — at $1 — and allow them to be used as tickets for the horse show.

"THIS IS the best news we have had all year," Mel Hendrickson, superintendent of the horse show said. "We are going to have an outstanding show this year because the winners here will compete later this year in the state horse show and with this fair board help, our attendance will probably take a terrific jump."

The Junior Chamber of Commerce representative on the fair board, Jack Robinson, said the Jaycees plans and promotions are moving along better than expected.

"We have received tremendous cooperation from all news media in the area and it appears the Tri-Cities are really ready to build their fair into one of the best in the state of Washington," he added.

Robinson also got in a plug for the western show that is to be staged in downtown Kennewick Aug. 24 and 25. The show will feature outstanding area amateur and professional talent in an outdoor show and dance on Kennewick avenue each evening.

B-F Fair, Rodeo Entry List Largest One Ever

Benton-Franklin county fair and rodeo personnel were all smiles following the closing of entries for most exhibits for the 1960 event which runs Aug. 26, 27 and 28.

According to one fair official the entry list in every event was above last year's corresponding period.

"We definitely will have a larger and better fair this year than last," Mrs. Jane Foreman, head of the crew that processed the entries. "There is no doubt the community interest is much greater than any time in the past."

THE FAIR official admitted that while the entry time was closed, the board will accept the late comers as they have done in the past.

"This is only the second year we have tried this early closing date for the majority of the exhibits other than animals," Mrs. Foreman disclosed. "So we can't expect everyone to know that and we're going to take it easy on the late comers."

As of 5 yesterday afternoon, the entry list included some 60 youngsters in the calf scramble and several hundred animals including four goats which was somewhat of a rarity.

Last year there were a total of 844 exhibitors in the fair. Of that the majority came from Benton and Franklin counties. Mrs. Foreman said the radius of the fair is growing with the enthusiasm.

"WE HAD entries from Yakima county, Adams county and Oregon this year along with the usual rash of local entries," she said.

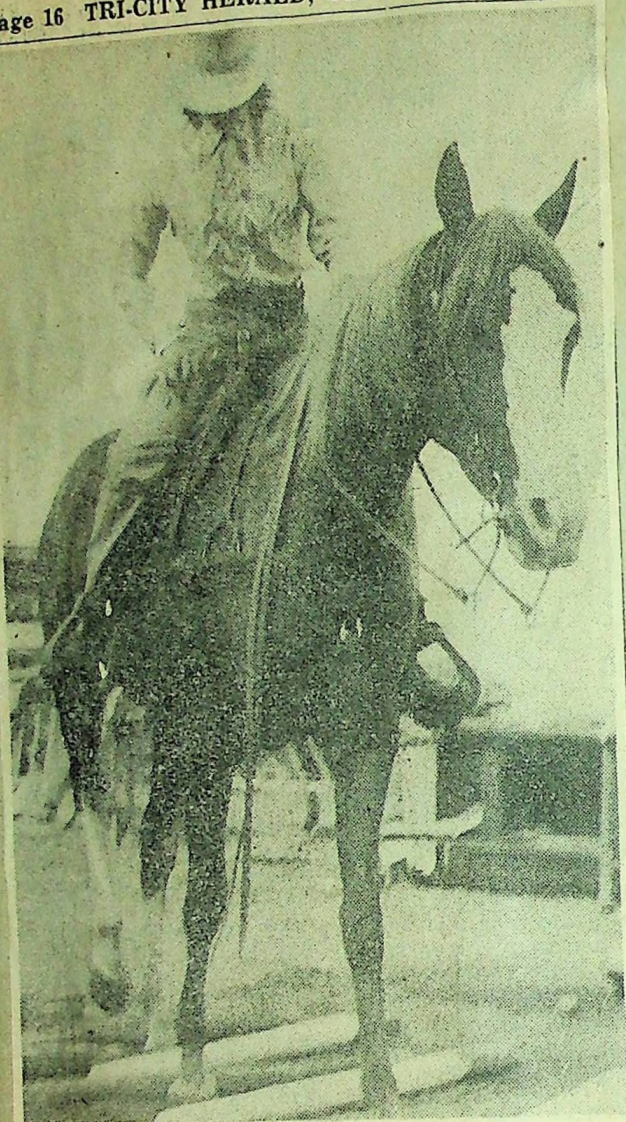

Final registration figures won't be available until the later part of next week, the woman said.

The entry list for animals in the 4-H, FFA and open events totaled 680 as of noon yesterday and was expected to jump to nearly 700 by closing time.

TRI-CITY HERALD, Sunday, Aug. 14, 1960

CALF SCRAMBLE—James Lunders, a member of the Franklin County Junior Ranchers, displayed the Hereford he won in the calf scramble at the Benton-Franklin County Fair and Rodeo in Kennewick. Lunders will have the calf entered in fair competition next year. A calf scramble is scheduled again next year.

EASY NOW—Kathy Anderson puts her Arabian mare through one of the obstacles which may be encountered in the trail horse competition of the 4-H section of the Benton-Franklin County Fair and Rodeo. The mare steps over the logs placed in a row with enough room for her feet between. Kathy trains her horse for trail competition by going through anticipated obstacles time after time until the horse learns not to fear them.

CONTEST THIS WEEKEND

Patience Required To Train Horses

Preparing horses for trail ride competition takes lots and lots of patience and persuasion.

Spectators at the 4-H Horse section of the Benton-Franklin County Fair and Rodeo, which will be held this weekend, one week before the rest of the fair because of lack barn space, will see the results of many hours of work by Benton and Franklin County youngsters in the trail - ride competition.

COMPETITION WILL START at 2 p.m. Sunday at the fairgrounds.

The horses do not take to the obstacles naturally, they have to be taught.

Kathy Anderson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Anderson, Road 60, west of Pasco, says she trained her Arabian mare by taking the obstacles used in trail competition one-by-one and working with them until the horse would do what was required.

The success of Kathy's method is attested to by her first place win in the trail competition at the Benton County Junior Fair in Benton City last weekend. She will be one of the 4-Hs competing in the horse competition in Kennewick this weekend.

Kathy has been working with her mare for two years, but was unable to enter trail horse competition last year because her horse was injured.

SHE TRIES TO WORK with her horse every day. When she rides the mare and works on the obstacles, she generally spends at least an hour each time.

Even after the horse has learned to take the obstacles in stride, Kathy runs through them while working with the mare. It's a kind of review of what the mare has learned, Kathy says.

The length of time required to train a horse for trail competition varies, depending on the horse and how often it is worked, Kathy says.

A PARTIAL LIST OF obstacles encountered in trail ride competition includes walking over poles or logs, riding over a bridge, loading into a trailer, small jumps, cow hide to walk over, open and shut gate without dismounting from horse or letting lose of handle of gate, open a mail box and take letter out, dragging firewood behind the horse with a rope, carrying a stuffed dummy on the back of the horse and sometimes saddling and bridling the mount. Each trail event sets its own obstacles, usually about eight or nine.

TRI-CITY HERALD, Monday, Aug. 15, 1960.

Fair Plan Moving Ahead

Members of the Benton-Franklin Mounted Posse today are cleaning up the Kennewick fairgrounds for the fair and rodeo Aug. 26-28.

Friday the entry list was closed for many of the events. The entry list this year will top last year's 844.

Mrs. Jane Foreman, superintendent of the crew that handled the entries, said the Friday deadline found close to 700 animals — including four goats — entered. Among the animals entered were the grand champion steer and fat lamb of the Benton county Junior fair this weekend in Benton City.

Mrs. Foreman said, "We still have entries in all horticulture and many other home economic classes to take this week and the week of the fair."

Definite commitments from amateur and professional western and other talent have been received by the Jaycees for the show which runs Aug. 24 and 25.

Queen Eileen Benitz and her court, Mary Abel of Connell, Connie Morebeck of Kennewick and Dale Johnson of Richland, made appearances nearly every day of the week and are booked nearly solid for the remaining two weeks.

The Fair board approved a plan that will give season ticket holders at $1 for adults and 50-cents for youngsters access to the horse show the weekend before at the fairgrounds arena.

The horse show will be final competition for 4-H youngsters before the state 4-H show in Yakima next month.

4-H Judging Tour Slated

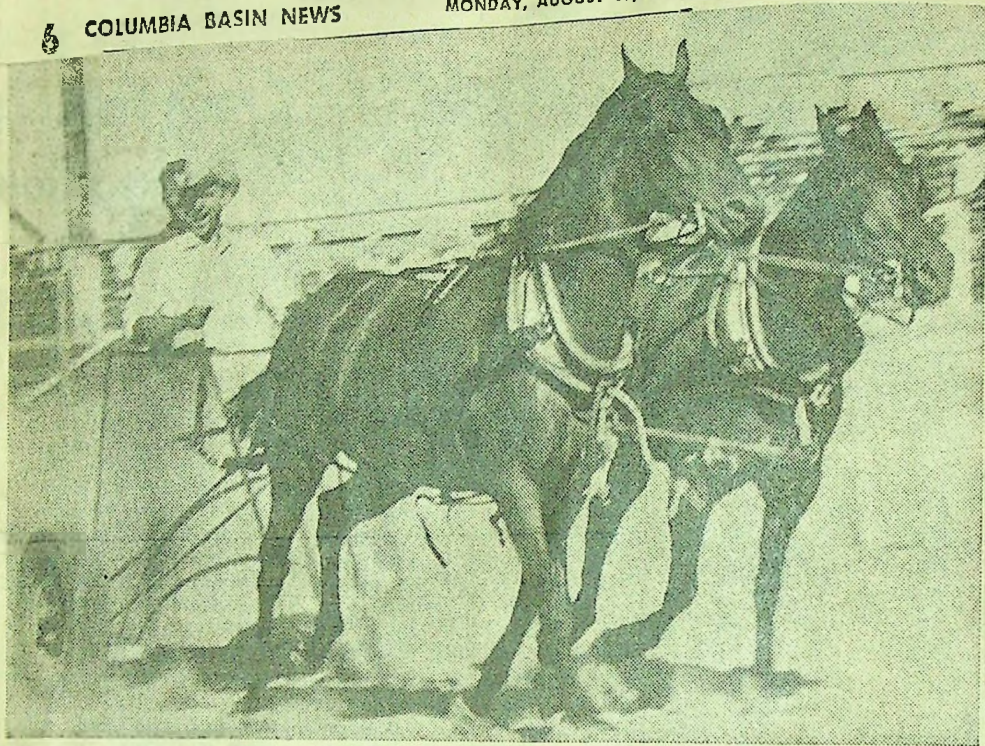

A 4-H judging tour is scheduled Tuesday starting at 9 a.m. at the Boyd Redmond residence in Block 12, it was announced today by Roger Roberts, Franklin County extension agent.

Judging of two classes of beef and swine will be done at the Redmond farm. Judging of three classes of sheep will be at 11 a.m. at the Les Crawford farm in Block 12.

Chariot Racing Added

Chariot racing, a sport popular back in the days when Roman fair were first held, will be added to the Benton - Franklin fair and rodeo schedule Aug. 26, 27 and 28.

The Benton - Franklin Mounted Posse announced Sunday the chariot races will be staged as part of the track events that run during the RCA approved rodeo. The rodeo is held the Friday and Saturday nights and Sunday afternoon of the fair.

John Gravenslund, who will drive the chariot, said the idea of holding the races was "stolen" from the Walla Walla frontier days and the Pendleton Roundup where they are held each year as a part of the rodeo.

"WE HAVE definite commitments from chariot racers in both cities," Gravenslund said. "It appears the chariot racing will be come a permanent part of the show here and probably become a three way fixture among the cities that hold shows of their own."

A purse of $120 has been put up for the racers by the Mounted Posse. It will be split three ways and all chariot drivers must pay an entrance fee.

The just completed Benton - Franklin chariot will be the lone local entry. It was tested at the fairgrounds Sunday as the Mounted Posse took time off from its clean-up day to get a look at what thousands of Romans cheered on over a thousand years ago.

"Our chariot isn't exactly like the ones the Romans used," Gravenslund said. "It's made of metal with 15-inch rubber tires to ride on. Two horses will pull our entry as the rules call for and I found out Sunday it's no easy trick driving one of those things around that track."

THE DRIVER said most races end up with several turned over rigs. He added the sport is proving quite popular as a rodeo event in the two area cities.

While the mounted group was cleaning up the rodeo section of the Kennewick fairgrounds over the weekend, fair officials were wondering what kind of cleaning they will have to do between now and the time the fair opens in two weeks to find room enough for the exhibitors.

It was announced Saturday the entry list is going to be the largest ever and every available inch of space will be needed for the exhibits.

FAIR GROUNDS
KENNEWICK

Top Names Due For Local Rodeo

Benton - Franklin County Fair and Rodeo officials said today they are looking to Vancouver B.C. to help the 1960 B-F rodeo become the top show name-wise ever held in the Kennewick Fairgrounds arena.

Vancouver is holding its big show, which is staged every 10 years, on Aug. 20 and 22 through 27. The local rodeo, with its $3,600 purse, will run Aug. 26, 27, and 28.

Pat Owens, arena director for the area rodeo, said today he has contacted "most of the nationally ranked cowboys" and they indicated they will attend the Benton-Franklin rodeo.

"The Vancouver show runs during the afternoon on the days we conflict," Owens said. "So many of the cowboys that are high in national standings will probably fly to our Friday and Saturday night shows. Vancouver winds up Saturday so our Sunday afternoon performance won't conflict."

Owens said another feature that makes the local rodeo attractive to cowboys is the fact it is a part of the Northwest Rodeo Association that offers a $1,000 prize to the cowboy that picks up the most points in the 48 recognized Northwest rodeos. Vancouver doesn't figure in the standings.

"We also give the all-round winner here a saddle and the individual winners a silver buckle that adds to the amount of our prize money," Owens added.

The former bronc rider said he has contacted nearly all of the leaders in that event from across the country and has definite commitments from "at least nine and probably 12 of the best names in the event."

While the rodeo is getting set up, the track events, which run in conjunction with the athletic show are about set. One new feature aimed at attracting the thrill seekers was revealed over the weekend.

Chariot races will be held at the Tri-City rodeo hopes to rival both Walla Walla and Pendleton in the often bloody field. The Benton-Franklin County Mounted Posse, sponsors of the rodeo, is building a chariot to run in competition with rigs from both area rivals that hold chariot racing at their rodeos each year.

The local chariot was tested by driver John Gravenslund over the weekend on the track. Afterwards he said it was one of the biggest thrills of his life.

Two horses pull the chariot, riding on 15-inch wheels, around the track. Officials said they expect at least one roll over each race.

IN HE GOES — Kennewick Jaycees, in keeping with the spirit of the Benton-Franklin County Fair and Rodeo, staged a show of support for "western dress" yesterday noon when they "raided" Kennewick Ave. and threw into a water tank those who were tired in ordinary clothes. Above Bart Giard manages a smile as he gets thrown into the pool by (left to right) Joe Cross, unidentified, Jack Robinson and Ron Ridgely. A stern warning was issued by the Jaycees that "western type" clothes are a must for all, plus beards for the men, or else the "dunkers" will come again. (CBNewsphoto)

Stock Sale Registrations Announced

Final preparations for the fourth annual fat stock sale held during the Benton-Franklin county fair and rodeo Aug. 26, 27 and 28 were announced by the fair board Tuesday.

Chairman John Moffett said about 90 animals will be entered in the sale's three divisions. He said 70 cattle and 20 head of hogs and sheep will be put up for sale.

"The cattle range in the choice and prime steer range," Moffett said. "This is one of the best years we have had in the four the show has been held."

A SALE SUCH as this is the end result of a full year's work for the 4-H and FFA youth of Benton and Franklin counties. The youngsters feed and raise their animals then show them for judging at the fair. A grand champion is named in three cattle divisions as well as the sheep and hog classes.

"Besides naming the grand champion for the show, champions in the Angus, Shorthorn and Hereford classes are picked and reserve champions named," Moffett said.

He added the fair board is very anxious each year to get the backing of the area merchants "not only to buy the animals but also to show they are interested in the farm youth of today that will become the farmers of tomorrow."

THE SALE HAS steadily increased in value as more and more merchants have shown interest in helping to promote the youthful activity. It costs a youngster quite a bit of money for feed to bring a steer to the choice and prime classification. The only way he has of getting his money back is through such sales.

"Our goal isn't so much the money out of the merchants as it is to promote animal raising among the young people of the area farms and small towns," the chairman said. "We know that if the merchants from the area are around that sale ring the youngsters will get a feeling his hard work was worth the effort."

Guests were Miss Judy Selph and Miss Charlotte Melchior. The Misses Barbara and Nancy Southwick will be hostesses Sept. 8.

At Benton-Franklin Show

Local Ace Plans Rodeo Farewell

A touch of nostalgia will be added to the Benton - Franklin County Rodeo this year as long-time great Deb Copenhaver competes for the last time.

Copenhaver, three time winner of the Rodeo Cowboys Assn. saddle bronc title, will make his final professional rodeo appearance at the B-F rodeo. He went into retirement this year after 19 years on the circuit but agreed to come back for the local show at the request of rodeo director Pat Owens.

"I asked Deb to do this as a personal favor because the rodeo this year will be one of the best ever held in Kennewick. It will be a fitting place for Deb to take his last turn."

Owens said he has lined up "eight or nine" of the nation's top ranked bronc riders to compete for the saddle along with the purse. He said that in addition to the bronc riders, long the favorite contest in the Northwest, there will be "plenty of ranked ropers, bulldoggers and bull riders" competing for the $3600 purse.

The rodeo runs at night Aug. 26 and 27 and on Sunday afternoon Aug. 28. The Kennewick rodeo is the sixth largest purse in the state of Washington.

"We are going to be rather late getting the list of entrants this year," Owens said, "because of the Vancouver rodeo which runs the Saturday and Monday through Saturday before and during our show."

The arena director, a former rodeo performer himself, said the Vancouver event which offers a $10,000 purse, naturally will draw the nation's top cowhands. He said the ones that lose out in Vancouver or the cowboys that are near the national lead and will fly can be counted on for the local rodeo.

Cowboys like to fly between shows when one is an afternoon event and the other at night. The Vancouver rodeo, on two conflicting days, Friday and Saturday, is during the afternoon.

And Vancouver winds up on Saturday afternoon, leaving the local Sunday afternoon show as the only major rodeo in the Northwest that weekend.

The Benton - Franklin Mounted Posse, sponsors of the rodeo, has lined up a full schedule for the track which runs around the rodeo arena. Relay races, a dinner bell race and other track specialties will be held during the rodeo to give the event a two-ring circus atmosphere.

A new feature is the chariot race with competition between the Tri-Cities, Walla Walla and Pendleton lined up. Pendleton and Walla Walla hold chariot races at their rodeos, and the event is expected to turn into a major portion of all three rodeos.

ALL GROOMED AND READY—Karen McClelland poses with her horse in show position as they will be seen at the 4-H Horse Division of the Benton-Franklin County Fair and Rodeo competition this weekend. Getting the horse shined and ready represents a lot of hours of work for the young exhibitors.

Elbow Grease Used For Grooming Horse

"Elbow grease is the best coat dressing for a horse," is the policy of Karen McClelland, a member of the Crooked Creek Trail Riders 4-H club, in getting her horse ready for the 4-H horse section of the Benton-Franklin County Fair and Rodeo.

Karen and other 4-H members will show their horses this weekend, a week before the rest of the fair.

REASON FOR THE early showing of the horses is the lack of barn space at the fairgrounds to accommodate the increasing number of horses entered. Horse entries have jumped from 34 last year to between 140 and 150 for the coming event.

The young horsemen and women have spent a lot of hours grooming and training their horses for the competition.

Karen grooms her horse every day, and bathes her once in a while, Karen says. If the horse is groomed every day, the natural oils in the coat are brought out and no coat dressing is needed, Karen believes.

Karen spends at least a half-hour every day grooming her horse, using a body brush, rubber curry, a metal curry comb and a tail comb.

After the brushing and currying, she uses a Turkish towel to wipe the horse down. This, she says, helps to bring out the natural oils and put a shine on the coat.

Karen uses no special feed, but, some horsemen use molasses to improve the coat she says.

Just before showtime, the horse gets a thorough going over from the end of her nose to the tip of her tail.

THE HORSE IS BATHED, and the hooves trimmed. The nose and eyes are cleaned and the mane reached according to the specifications for the breed.

The long hairs in the ears are clipped and the "whiskers" on the end of the nose trimmed.

It takes between three and four hours the day before the show to put the finishing touches on the horse, Karen says.

The Benton - Franklin County Fair and Rodeo has lined up several contests aimed at promoting the event which runs Aug. 26, 27 and 28 that range from baking to beard growing.

FOR WOMEN ENTERING the baking exhibits at the fair, there are two added prizes. Both offer cash prizes.

Other contests are entirely promotion gimmicks. They include a beard growing contest, western dress, western window, steer raffle and stitches in the britches.

Being Princess Is Lots Of Fun

Being a Benton - Franklin County Fair princess has its responsibilities, but it also has its compensations and lots of fun, according to Dale Johnston of Richland.

Miss Johnston, with the other members of the court, rides in parades, appears at rodeos and other community events in surrounding towns. In addition, they are guests at luncheons and banquets of such civic organizations as Chamber of Commerce, Rotary, Jaycees, Kiwanis, and their sponsoring groups, the Benton - Franklin County Mounted Posse and Auxiliary. A formal banquet at Walla Walla is also on the calendar.

Miss Johnston, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Johnston, came to Richland from Michigan, near Detroit, and her love for horses and riding is shared by her family. Her parents gave her her first pony when she was 3 years old. At present she owns a mare and a colt which she broke herself.

The family has lived in Richland for 11 years and Dale hopes to attend Columbia Basin College this fall and major in home economics. She likes sewing and cooking but loves the outdoor life, which in addition to riding includes water skiing and boating. She also gives riding and swimming lessons.

nise Halstead, Marcia Myers, Lee Hamilton and Jean Cox. The trophies were donated by various Tri-City business firms. Ticket purchasers for the Benton-Franklin County Fair and Rodeo will be able to see both events on the same ticket.

Horse Events Start On Saturday

4-H horse club members are busily grooming, combing and brushing their mounts today in preparation for the 4-H horse division of the Benton-Franklin Fair and Rodeo. The 4-H horse division will be held this weekend at the fairgrounds, one week before the rest of the fair and rodeo.

Persons who buy a season ticket to the Fair and Rodeo will be able to see the show both weekends, the fair committee has announced.

The 4-H horse division is being held a week early because there is not enough barn space at the fairgrounds to handle the increased number of horse entries along with the rest of the animals.

Between 140 and 150 entries are expected in the halter classes and the trail horse classes. There were 34 4-H horse entries in the fair last year.

Horses must be on the grounds before 9 a.m. Saturday. The horse judging contest will be at 10 a.m. Saturday and the fitting and showing competition at 1:30 p.m. Saturday.

Sunday activity will be the judging of halter classes at 8 a.m. and the judging of trail horse classes at 2 p.m.

Flower Show Entrants Given Tips By Expert

Because flower show exhibitors sometimes lose a blue ribbon when a specimen bloom or a portion of the material in an arrangement fails to hold up long enough for the judge to see it in perfect condition, it pays to learn at what stage and what time to cut material and how to handle it to insure long life.

That is the belief of Mrs. W. K. Rice of Richland, superintendent of Floriculture Department, No. 39, of the Benton-Franklin County Fair, who has been doing a great deal of studying and experimenting in order to pass on good methods to exhibitors.

She also suggests clipping an article such as this one, to be used for future reference.

In hot weather, she believes, it is best to cut material in the cool of the evening, after the sun has been down long enough for plants to recover from the hot afternoon hours. It should be placed at once in water not much colder than the surrounding air. A plastic pail with rolled edges is the best container for conditioning plant material, which should then stand over night in a sheltered spot away from wind and draft.

Mrs. Rice has found that annuals should be cut as soon as they are open or two-thirds open, avoiding day old blooms.

Perennials should also be freshly opened. Those with woody stems such as chrysanthemums, shrubs, tree branches and evergreens should have the stems split vertically two or three times at the butt end with a sharp knife to facilitate water absorption.

Bulbous flowers, or those with soft stems, she believes are best picked half open if possible, otherwise just opened. Tuberous begonias must not have the stems placed in water. Instead they should be packed in a tight box, covered with moist cotton, and placed in the refrigerator. Before bulbous flowers are hardened, the bottom inch of each stem should be wrapped with soft string to keep it from curling back.

Mrs. Rice believes that spike flowers such as snapdragons, stock, lupine and gladiolus ought to be cut when the lower florets are freshly opened and the upper florets in bud. Dahlias are best cut when two-thirds open. The stem ends should be plunged immediately into boiling water, taking care that the steam does not reach the blooms, then hardened in cold water.

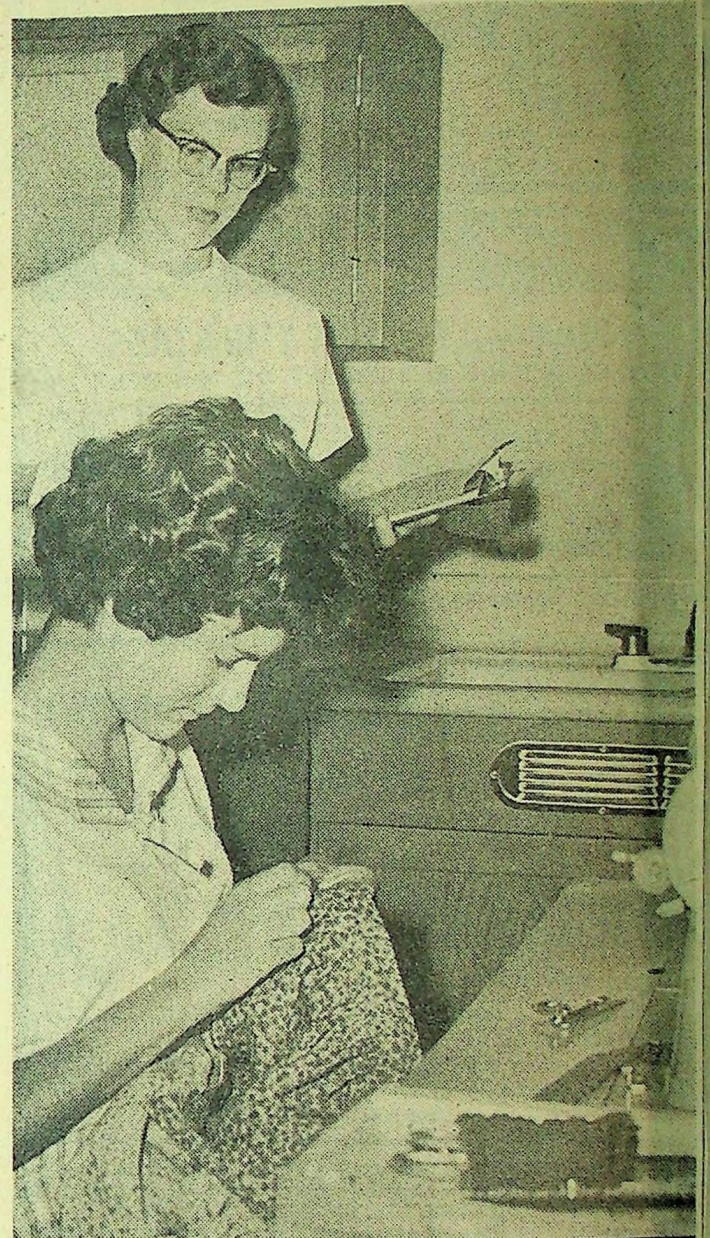

If the exhibitor wishes to keep roses in bud, they should be picked after the calyx has turned back and a few petals have unfurled. If they are to be used the next day, they should be one-quarter to half open, depending upon the variety. Singles open quickly, Mrs. Rice says, and doubles more slowly.

When showing branches of flowering fruit trees, it is best to cut them in bud showing color, then submerge the branch completely in cold water for half hour before hardening.

Entries in the floriculture section, both horticultural and design, are to be made Aug. 25 between 1 and 6 p.m., and judging will take place the same evening, while entries are still fresh, between 7 and 9:30 p.m. The judging period is not open to the public. Clerks will be furnished by the Planterettes Garden Club.

Pre-Fair Activities Include Skirt-Making

JUDGE WATCHES — Mrs. Richard Hampton, Prosser, standing, watches as Jean Starkebaum works on her skirt in the sewing competition for 4-H members in Highlands Junior High School Thursday. This contest was part of the pre-fair activity for 4-H members. Miss Starkebaum was awarded a blue ribbon on her skirt.

Pre-fair 4-H activity continues in Benton County with young members demonstrating their skills in various projects.

Yesterday, 13 girls, 12 to 16 years old, competed in the sewing competition in Highlands Junior High School in Kennewick.

The girls made a drindl skirt under contest rules, including seams, zippers, gathers, interface bands, fasteners, hems and pressing, all in 2½ hours.

In the final part of the contest, the girls modeled their finished skirts.

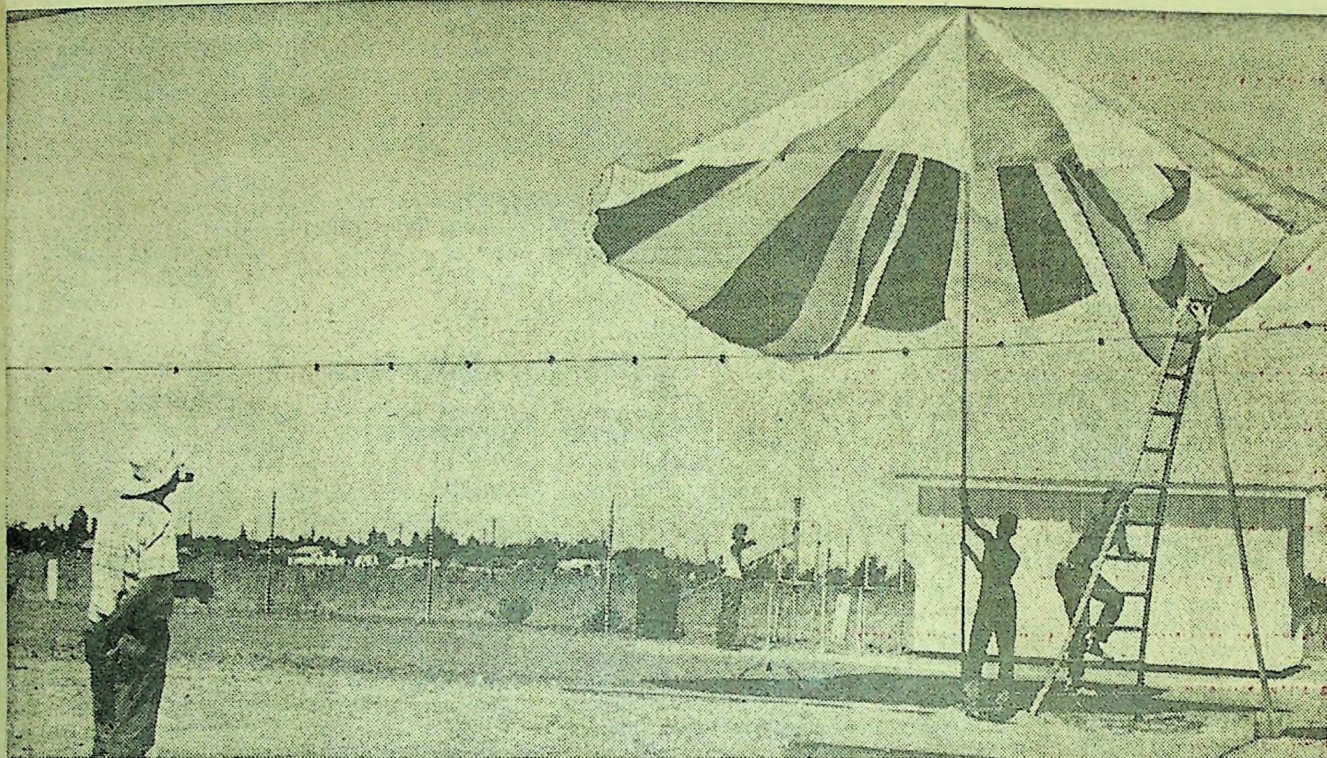

Judging was Mrs. Richard Hampton, Prosser.

Many of these skirts will be entered in competition at the Benton-Franklin County Fair and Rodeo Aug. 26-28.

Blue ribbon winners were Jean Starkebaum, Charlene Manius, Mary Jean Klostermeyer, Linda Rogers, Susan Hartley, Sue McIntyre and Marilyn Bottoroff.

Red: Linda Rawling and Sharon Tyrrell.

White: Susan Van Weller, Pat Cheney, Marilyn Jones and Dianne Williams.

WORK PROGRESSES — Parachutes at the Fairgrounds! Sounds strange, but it is true. As Col. Ed Hopkins, (left) secretary of the Fair Board supervises, workmen place one of several orange and white parachutes into place on the grounds. The chutes will be used for attention purposes as well as providing a limited amount of shade. The Benton-Franklin County Fair is scheduled to open Aug. 26, with something of interest planned for every family member. Climax will be Aug. 28. (CB Newsphoto).

That Special Touch Will Be Home Canning Feature

Women throughout Benton and Franklin counties were putting finishing touches on the extra special jar of summer canning yesterday as they eyed the Benton-Franklin county fair and rodeo week.

In addition to the ribbons and money that goes with the winners, several new prizes have been added to the 1960 fair which runs Aug. 26, 27, and 28. Look at some of the prizes:

The U and I Sugar Co. has announced that it is making special awards to entrants in the home economics open class division of canning and baking.

Ribbons plus merchandise certificates will be given to the winners in each of two divisions. They are:

Canned fruits, jams, jellies, preserves, and sweet pickles and the baked goods which include sweet breads, cakes, pies and candy.

The only qualification is that all items entered be made with the sugar and be marked with special identification tags.

Another award will be given by the Fleischmann's Yeast Co. The best-of-show award of $10 will be given to the winner picked by the local fair judges. The Fleischmann award is given in most major fairs across the nation. After the local winners are chosen, their baked goods are entered in national competition with many top prizes given on the national level.

Mrs. Ruth Simmelink, superintendent of the home economic classes, said added prizes were included to encourage homemakers from both the farm and home to enter the fair.

"We feel that by giving a little something extra we will draw more cooks than ever. That means not only in the Tri-Cities area but throughout both counties," she said.

FAIR and RODEO
 BENTON, WASHINGTON

Benton-Franklin Fair And Rodeo This Week End

BENTON-FRANKLIN COUNTY FAIR AND RODEO NEWS

KENNEWICK—Benton-Franklin county fair and rodeo time is drawing near and officials said in Kennewick today it appears the entries in the 1960 event will top last year's record.

The fair this year will feature a new building that will house cattle entered in the show. The 60' by 60' structure was completed the first part of the month and fair leaders said it will "help greatly" in taking off some of the pressure of the overcrowded conditions on the grounds.

"This won't solve the problem completely," J. C. Pratt, Sr., long time board member said. "But it will help and it means we have separate buildings for all types of livestock shown at the fair."

Pratt said the entry list has been expanded and several new categories have been added.

"It looks as though the $3600 we gave out in premiums last year will be at least equaled and probably topped this year," he added.

The fair week is filled with several events as the city councils of each of the Tri-Cities named the entire week "Fair week."

Sidelight programs are being handled by the Kennewick Jaycees. A beard growing contest, western dress contest, window dress contest and several other gimmicks are being promoted by the service club.

Topping the Jaycee work will be a western show in downtown Kennewick the Wednesday and Thursday of fair week. Outstanding talent both amateur and professional is being lined up for the outdoor show.

The Jaycees have invited the winners of talent shows from both Franklin and Benton counties to share the spotlight with professional western bands and vocal groups that appear in the Tri-Cities.

Jaycee president Al Tomich said the show was first scheduled to be a talent contest but changed when it was decided to give the youngsters that had won in other places a chance to perform before another large crowd.

SCHEDULE OF EVENTS WEDNESDAY

will probably be right.

"A break in the weather is all we need to push our attendance for the fair alone over the past record and bring in about 25,000," said one official today.

One major indication the fair was drawing the interest of people outside the Tri-City area came over the weekend at the 4-H horseshow held at the rodeo grounds. Despite poor weather, the turnout of spectators was considered "surprisingly good" and the show drew entrants from as far away as California as the 4-Hers competed for spots in the state 4-H fair in Yakima next month.

One member of the Kennewick Jaycees, the group handling the public relations for the fair board, said the trip to Hermiston with the Jaycee sponsored Medicine Man show brought "remendous response from the people of Northeastern Oregon who said they 'were going to the fair in Kennewick, by golly'."

The fair officially opens Friday morning with the flag raising ceremonies on the grounds at 9 a.m. The ceremonies have become a much honored feature of the week end and people from all parts of the area take part and attend.

With the large entry list, judges won't waste any time in getting to work. On Thursday five contests are scheduled from 4-H home economic exhibits to livestock and weed judging and identification contests. Also on Thursday, the first step toward the much important fat stock sale takes place in the fitting and showing contest at 2 p.m.

That Fat stock sale will be held at 10:30 a.m. on Saturday. It is the fourth year of the show and during that time it has grown to become the biggest in southeastern Washington. Most local merchants take part and even the ones that don't support the show.

Friday also finds the continuation of judging as all animals listed in the premium book are judged as is the horticulture. Friday evening the Grand Champion 4-H showman will be selected followed on Saturday night by the naming of the FFA Grand Champion showman.

The 1960 downtown Saturday parade in Kennewick is being billed as an hour and 45 minute event and may run longer. Several new groups indicated they would like to enter following the Hermiston parade on Saturday.

Friday night the three performance rodeo opens. It is expected to draw the top names in cowboys from throughout the nation thanks to a rodeo being held during this present week in Vancouver, B. C. The leading cowboys are prone to fly between shows and the B-F rodeo runs at night Friday and Saturday (compared to the afternoon Vancouver rodeo) and on Sunday afternoon following the close of the Canadian event Saturday.

Queen Eileen Benitz of Prosser and her court of Dale Johnston, Richland; Mary Abel of Connell; and Connie Morbeck, Kennewick, have a busy week as the fair draws near. They have appearances each day and Tuesday through Friday have at least two per day and in some cases three.

The first major event of the week comes Wednesday and Thursday nights with the downtown Western show in Kennewick. The show is billed as providing amateur and professional talent from both counties and throughout the Columbia Basin and Yakima Valley. The free show starts at 8 each night.

Chariot racing, a sport popular back in the days when Roman fairs were first held, will be added to the Benton-Franklin fair and rodeo schedule Aug. 26th, 27th, and 28th.

The Benton-Franklin mounted posse announced this week the chariot races will be staged as part of the track events that will be during the RCA approved rodeo. The rodeo is held the Monday and Saturday nights and Sunday afternoon of the fair.

John Gravenslund, who will drive the chariot, said the idea of holding the races was "stolen" from the Walla Walla Frontier days and the Pendleton Roundup where they are held each year as a part of the rodeo.

"We have definite commitments for chariot racers in both cities," Gravenslund said. "To appear in the chariot racing will become a permanent part of the show here and probably will become a three way fixture among the cities that hold shows of this type."

A purse of $100 has been put up for the races by the mounted posse. It will be split three ways and all chariot drivers must pay an entrance fee.

The just completed Benton-Franklin chariot will be the lone local entry. Gravenslund said the rig has 15 inch rubber tires and is made of metal.

While the mounted posse cleaned up the rodeo section of the fairgrounds early this week, fair officials were wondering what kind of cleaning they will have to do between now and the time the fair opens in two weeks to find room enough for the exhibitors.

It was announced earlier that the entry list is going to be the largest ever and every available inch of space will be needed for the exhibits. The closing date for many exhibits was last Friday and officials said that nearly every division of the fair has more entries than last year.

One official said part of the increase was due to the outlying areas entering more events than usual. Entries were recorded from throughout both sponsoring counties, Grant, Yakima, Walla Walla and Adams counties in Washington and Umatilla county in Oregon.

All 51 weeks of planning go by the boards this week as the annual Benton-Franklin county fair and rodeo opens Friday in Kennewick.

Fair officials as well as members of the rodeo-sponsoring Mounted Posse, have promised a better show on all fronts than in 1959 and from the size of entry lists and enthusiasm shown for pre-fair events, they

Record Set For Entries At B-F Fair

An all-time record number of entries have been registered for the 4-H and FFA fat stock sale Saturday morning at the Benton-Franklin County fair, Roger Roberts, Franklin County extension agent, reported yesterday.

Altogether, 195 head of stock are entered, including 92 steers, 56 lambs and 47 hogs, Roberts said.

Last year, youngsters brought 116 head of stock to the sale. This included 56 steers, 26 hogs and 34 lambs.

Sponsors of the sale hope for buyers who will keep the auction sale prices up, Roberts said. The fat stock sale has grown each year, but continued success of the event depends largely on maintaining sale prices high enough to encourage youngsters to raise stock and bring their animals to the fair.

Livestock Barns Full

Judging Starts At Fairgrounds

The Benton-Franklin County fairgrounds were bustling with activity yesterday as preparations moved ahead on numerous exhibits, and fair officials forecast that this year's event will be the biggest so far.

The livestock barns were reported full, including a 60-by-60 foot structure that was finished recently and has a capacity of 60 head of cattle.

Many hogs and sheep were among the stock brought in for the fair.

Judging is scheduled to start today on exhibits. Grounds and buildings will not be open except for entries in horticulture and floriculture. These two types of exhibits will be brought in today — flowers from 1 to 6 p.m. and horticulture from 9 a.m. to 8 p.m.

The number of art exhibits is considerably larger this year than last.

Twenty-eight head of horses that won blue ribbons and championship ribbons at the horse show on the fair and rodeo grounds last weekend will be on display at the fairgrounds. They will be brought in tonight.

Commercial booths will be completed this evening for showing starting at 9 a.m. Friday.

Meekers carnival held off on opening Wednesday evening, which was rather dusty and windy, and will open today.

Fat stock sale is scheduled for 10:30 a.m. Saturday, with Lyman Nelson, Oscar Hamblin and Roger Roberts in charge. John Moffett is fair board committee chairman of the fat stock sale.

Ticket gate will be handled by the Tri-Cities Kiwanis club members, and money they earn will go to youth work at Columbia Park.

Fair officials reported grounds in fine shape. They are under supervision of Ed Hopkins.

GETTING READY — Larry Davis, Benton City, blocks the head of his lamb at the fairgrounds today in preparation for the fat stock sale Saturday. The 195 animals which will be sold at the sale are getting "the works" today as their young owners try to get them looking their best for prospective buyers. Giving Larry a hand with a brush on the other end of the lamb is Donna Van of Franklin County.

195 Animals

Entries In Fat Stock Sale Saturday More Than Ever

Going-going-gone—the cry of the auctioneer will ring across the Benton-Franklin County Fair and Rodeo grounds at 10:30 a.m. Saturday as the 4-H and FFA fat stock sale starts.

To go on the block are 92 steers, 56 lambs and 47 hogs.

This total of 195 animals is the largest number ever auctioned at the fair. John Moffett, chairman of the fat stock sale said. "We will need the support of the merchants in the Tri-Cities to make the sale a success" he said in urging merchant participation.

The 195 animals this year compares to 116 in 1959 and 56 in 1958. Also, the animals this year are from Benton and Franklin counties only. In previous years, stock from Yakima and Walla Walla counties has been included.

"The quality of the animals is better this year than last," Moffett said. He said the animals will grade mostly prime and choice.

The sale will be just west of the hog barn at the fairgrounds and will start at 10:30 a.m. sharp.

Auctioneers will be Jenkins and Booker.

Today, the young showmen and women were busily getting the animals scrubbed, curried and brushed for the judging today and the sale Saturday.

The fat stock classes, along with other livestock classes, are being judged at the grounds today.

Fair Preliminary

Even the casual observer at the Benton - Franklin County Fair will notice that a tremendous amount of work has gone into making up the various exhibits. One such project was this huge eagle patterned by the Chiawana Grange of Franklin County. Here, Mrs. Herb Turner and Mrs. Bud Urbach are putting the finishing touches on it.

Cowboys Arriving For Show

(Other fair stories and pictures on page 3, 8 and 10.)

Free-wheeling, swivel-hipped cowboys aplenty have arrived in Kennewick to open tonight's first performance of the big 11th annual Benton Franklin County Rodeo.

Arena Director Pat Owens reported today an above-normal roster of 92 performers—including 12 Girls Rodeo Association members who will ride in the girls' barrel race—have paid their entry fees of one or more of the six events.

FOLLOWING A GRAND entry and fireworks salute, bucking chutes will start banging at 8 p.m. with top-hand waddies aboard such famous buckers as Snake and Rubber Dolly of Joe Kelsey's saddle and bareback bronc string and Old Ought and other hard-to-ride Brahma Bulls. Calf-roping and steer wrestling events will be interspersed.

Owens listed among the nation's famed performers in the Kennewick rodeo sign-up, Bobby Robinson, a Wilder, Idaho, bareback and saddle broncer, Eddie Akridge, Buddy Peak, Bill Linderman, Darrel Hobdey, Marty Wood, Winston Bruce, Les Johnson, Pete Crump and other stars. Top local hands, such as Zeb Smith, Don Mock, Stan Riley, John Gravenslund and Doc Berman complete the roster.

LATE THIS MORNING, Owens expressed doubt that Deb Copenhaver, two-time world champion saddlebronc rider will make it, as he indicated earlier.

A race track program, including a pack horse race, chariot races, a dinnerbell derby and other events, are scheduled.

Tonight only, children under 12 will be admitted free.

LOOKING FIERCE — This group of African warriors looked fiercely at the crowd as they went through the kiddie parade in Kennewick this morning.

Record Number of Entries Shown at Annual Area Fair

KENNEWICK, Wash., Aug. 26. —At the halfway mark of the four-day Benton-Franklin fair and rodeo, new attendance figures for participants seem to be already broken. Fair officials said tonight that a record number of entries have already been processed.

SEMPER FIDELIS — Wouldn't you know it though. What more fitting a thing — other than winning a war — would a U. S. Marine be doing than driving a tank in a parade and looking out smilingly between two good-lookin' girls and six lethal rocket launchers. Yes sir, the man at the controls of this tank in Saturday's Benton-Franklin County Fair parade is M-Sgt. Frank Pond, Tri-City Marine recruiter. "If it gets recruits, I'm all for it, because that's my business," said the smiling leatherneck.

Cowboys Smash Marks In Saturday's Go-Round

By CHARLIE LAMB

A capacity grandstand and bleacher audience last night saw superbly-performing cowboys exceed winning Friday night scores in all but one event and make arena history at the second go-round of the 11th Annual Benton-Franklin County Rodeo in Kennewick.

History was made in Saturday's greatest of all local rodeos when all-around contender Bobby Robinson of Rockland, Idaho, stayed the full eight-second count with Old Ought, a brindle long-horned Brahma in Joe Kelsey's string that had never before allowed a rider to score. Robinson's 179-point score exceeded a 174 tally of Pete Crump of Greenacres, Wash., Friday.

OUT TO BEST Friday's 11.5-second time in calf-roping, by Tuffy Cooper of Monument, Tex., the Saturday night performers outdid Cooper, and then themselves. Final score—one that would rank in world championship arenas—was 10.5 by Hershel Romine of Big Springs, Tex. Stan Neal of Los Angeles racked up an unbelievable 5.3 second steer dogging time to beat Robinson's runner-up score of 6.2 and leave a Friday 7.9-second score of Jack Burkholder, San Antonio, Tex., in the dust.

Top scorers in other arena fetes were: All-rounder Bobby Robinson, 181 in saddle bronc riding; Pete Crump, Robinson's chief opponent, 178 in bareback riding; and Barbara Barnes, Touchet, girls' barrel racing. Two-day low score for the gals' event was 19.2 scored Friday by Viola Thomas, Calgary.

THE CONTESTANTS will ride again at 2 p.m. today to decide championships in each event, and to be accompanied by silver trophy buckles in all events but saddle bronc riding. A beautifully-engraved saddle for the champion saddle bronc buster of the show will be awarded. A total of $3,300, plus some $5,000 in entry fees, will be divided among winners following today's show and trophy presentation.

Last night's fast-moving show saw Brahma bulls on the loose near the bleachers on four occasions, which kept fans on their toes. Near-disaster came when two riders fell on the south turn during the races. A Umatilla senior posse woman contestant tumbled during the relay races and a pack horse racer identified as Brown was hauled away by ambulance following a spill.

Arena Clowns Dodo and Johnnie Earles of El Centro, Calif., provided hilarity and deflected bulls from riders a mile a minute.

Gunshot Wound From Careless Hunter Takes Life of Prized Horse of County Fair Queen

By Lenore Pearson

Topper is gone. The four-year-old Morgan and Quarter horse that pranced so gaily in parades this summer carrying his vivacious mistress, Eileen Benitz, Benton-Franklin County fair and rodeo queen, is dead.

The horse, pride of the queen, succumbed from bullet wounds incurred during hunting season and was found dead in the corral. Examination showed Topper had taken a charge of shotgun pellets in one flank, possibly from some careless hunter.

Topper, a valuable animal, was acquired by Eileen last May especially for her big year as rodeo queen. He was "just broken to ride" when Eileen bought Topper from Mel Ammerman. From extensive work with his mistress all summer Topper emerged well-trained and well-mannered. By parade time he no longer shied from the pressing crowds at the 30 events in which he and Eileen participated.

"He knew the proper way to stop and could turn on a dime," Eileen said. It is an accomplishment for a horse to stop quickly without pitching his rider over his head, Eileen explained. Instead of bracing their front feet horses must learn to slide to a stop to keep from unseating their riders.

Spirited Topper learned from his patient mistress through long hours of schooling to stand quietly when admiring youngsters came close.

His small well-shaped head reminded Eileen of the graceful Arabian horses' characteristic which many Morgans have.

"I couldn't believe it," said Eileen. "Topper came that morning to eat when he was fed. When I came home from school and my brother greeted me with 'Topper is dead,' I just knew it couldn't be true. My books went flying and I tore down to see. 'He must be sleeping,' was my first thought. But my brother was right, Topper was dead."

Hunting is allowed with permission on the Max Benitz farm but for Eileen it's hard these days to greet hunters with a smile when she thinks of Topper who will never come galloping to her call.
