Great Man's Words Applicable Now

In these days when security has replaced freedom, when a planned life pattern takes the place of initiative and when government subsidies or payments are regarded as far more desirable than hard-earned dollars any voice raised in opposition is cried down as the vapid mouthings of a weakling or the traitorous outpourings of someone eager for power. Here are some examples of an opposing voice:

You cannot bring about prosperity by discouraging thrift.

You cannot strengthen the weak by weakening the strong.

You cannot help strong men by tearing down big men.

You cannot help the wage-earner by pulling down the wage-payer.

You cannot further the brotherhood of man by encouraging class hatred.

You cannot help the poor by destroying the rich.

You cannot establish sound security on borrowed money.

You cannot keep out of trouble by spending more than you earn.

You cannot build character and courage by taking away man's initiative and independence.

You cannot help man permanently by doing for him what they could, and should, do for themselves.

Who was the weakling who mouthed those sayings? Abraham Lincoln, one of the most beloved Presidents who ever sat in the White House. The man whose patience and wisdom guided the United States through four years of strife and preserved it a nation.

Lawton Named Vice President-Sales and Marketing

Welch President R. T. Ryan has announced the appointment of Alfred A. Lawton as vice president - sales and marketing.

Prior to joining Welch's, Mr. Lawton was an account executive with McCann-Erickson, Inc., where he coordinated advertising and marketing programs for Corn Products Co. and Ocean Spray Cranberries, Inc.

Mr. Lawton started his career in food sales as a retail salesman with General Foods Corporation in 1948. Within a year he was promoted to assistant sales manager of General Foods Minute Division and later shifted to brand work in the Jell-O Division.

From 1954 to 1957 he was an account executive with Paris & Pearl Advertising, Inc. In 1957 he became vice president and account supervisor with Kenyon & Eckhardt, Inc., where he directed the marketing of the first complete "meal-in-a-glass," and the first "boil-in-the-bag" frozen food product.

A Hinsdale, Illinois native, Mr. Lawton attended public schools in Davenport, Iowa. He holds degrees in business administration and law from the University of Iowa and is a member of the Iowa Bar Association. He also attended Harvard Business School.

Coat of Arms

Lampson

Historiography

The Lampson Coat of Arms illustrated left was drawn by an heraldic artist from information officially recorded in ancient heraldic archives. Documentation for the Lampson Coat of Arms design can be found in Burke's General Armory. Heraldic artists of old developed their own unique language to describe an individual Coat of Arms. In their language, the Arms (shield) is as follows:

"Per saltire ar. and gu. two gryphons' heads erased in fesse and as many escarbuncles in pale counterchanged."

When translated the Arms description is:

"Quartered diagonally of silver and red: two griffins' heads, jagged and placed horizontally, and two carbuncles placed one over the other, counterchanged."

Above the shield and helmet is the Crest which is described as:

"A gryphon's head erased gu. charged with an escarbuncle ar. betw. two wings paly of four ar. and gu."

A translation of the Crest description is:

"A red griffin's head, jagged, charged with a silver carbuncle, between two wings, divided into four vertical bands of silver and red."

Family mottos are believed to have originated as battle cries in medieval times.

The Motto recorded with the Lampson Coat of Arms is:

"PERSEVERA ET VINCE"
(Persevere And Conquer)

Individual surnames originated for the purpose of more specific identification. The four primary sources for second names were: occupation, location, father's name and personal characteristics. The surname Lampson appears to be patronymical in origin, and is believed to be associated with the English, meaning, "the son of Lam, a pet form of Lambert (land, bright)." The supplementary sheet included with this report is designed to give you more information to further your understanding of the origin of names. Different spellings of the same original surname are a common occurrence. Dictionaries of surnames indicate probable spelling variations. The most prominent variations of Lampson are Lamson, Lampsons and Lamsons.

Information available to us indicates that in 1971 there were approximately 300 heads of households in the United States with the old and distinguished Lampson name. The United States Census Bureau in 1970 estimated that there were approximately 2.1 persons per household in America which yields an approximate total of 930 people in the United States carrying the Lampson name. Although the figure seems relatively low, it does not signify the many important contributions that individuals bearing the Lampson name have made to history.

No genealogical representation is intended or implied by this report and it does not represent individual lineage or your family tree.

National Opens Membership In Eastern Division

In a major policy change, the National Board of Directors opened the membership in the Eastern Division for the first time since 1958. The move was brought about by the immediate needs of the Welch business for an additional 10,000 tons of Concords to assure the continued growth of the business. The urgency of this need results from low inventories due to the short 1968 and 1969 crops, expansion of the business, and replacement of tonnage lost through membership cancellations, anticipated Board cancellations in March of 1971 for policy violations, and failure of some non-member patrons to renew their non-member contracts.

Permanent National membership is being offered to split contract members for their non-contracted acreage and to selected non-members. Members desiring to purchase non-contracted acreage for this purpose should check with their Field Representatives before concluding the purchase to be sure we are still open for additional acreage.

Allied Program Signup Underway

Eighty-nine members in the Western Pool indicated a desire to plant 503.6 additional acres for the Allied Pool. Since the objective was 400 acres, Supplemental Agreements are being offered to those members based upon 85% of the acreage they requested as authorized by the Board of Directors at their November 10th and 11th meeting.

When the signup is completed, grapes from those acres will be marketed in a separate pool for the next 13 years through Allied Grape Growers of California. While there will be no harvest advance on these grapes, the eventual price paid in cash will be the average paid for Concords on a sugar solids basis in Washington State plus a share of Allied's profit in the form of special Allied Pool retention Certificates.

Rather Late To Change

If Benton County Commissioner Walt Jacobs is trying to make political hay out of the one unit road system, it's apparent he will get no help from Commissioner Frank Lampson.

Lampson has fought for consolidation of road districts for three years and Jacobs is the one who dragged his feet on it. The reason Lampson wants the present system consolidated is because he believes, as an engineer's study showed, that it will save the county at least $100,000 yearly in duplication and waste.

Now Jacobs is trying to make it appear that he's for consolidation and the other two commissioners won't go for it. This is the picture he tried to paint when he and Lampson spoke Thursday at a forum of the League of Women Voters.

Commissioner Lampson replied to Jacobs' charge and told the forum he still favors consolidation, but he will not vote for it now. He pointed out that the elections are not far off.

He and Jacobs must run and they may not be on the new board next year, Lampson pointed out. The decision should be made by the new board, in his opinion.

We also believe that Lampson sees that Walt Jacobs may be trying to win votes by jumping on the consolidation bandwagon after opposing it for three years. We hope the voters will see through the smoke.

An Open Letter To Commissioners Of Benton, Franklin Counties

Dear Commissioners:

You've got a lot of problems, we know, but how about getting "on the ball" in maintaining the old Pasco-Kennewick Bridge which still carries a tremendous load of traffic?

Right now a minor but important item is needed — in fact, it's been needed for a long time. This is painting a center line between the two lanes.

A clearly visible center line is needed at all times, but lack of one poses a great hazard in the winter.

Darkness arrives early now and snow and rain hinders visibility. It's hard enough to drive on a slippery surface without a driver having to strain to see the center line on the narrow span.

Incidentally, fellows, don't forget to sand the bridge promptly this winter.

We know maintenance of the bridge involves expense and you didn't want the bridge in the first place, but don't forget that it still handles more traffic by several times than any other structure you have and it requires attention.

Any mishap on the bridge rests squarely on your shoulders. Whether you wanted jurisdiction of the bridge or not is now a moot question. You have the responsibility for the span and thousands of people who pay their taxes to Benton and Franklin counties use the bridge every day.

These drivers will appreciate every consideration you can show them.

Thank you.

Yours very truly,

Beneficial Plan For All Needed

Benton County Commissioner Walt Jacobs has decided he's going to support the single unit road district plan for the county after all.

This is the plan which it has been estimated will save the county $100,000 each year. It will avoid duplication of costly machinery. Eliminate sets of shops which the county now has for its three separate districts. Get away from "politics" in building and maintenance work. Place responsibility and planning for roads with the county engineer, after all, is responsible to the commissioners anyway.

Jacobs used to think the plan was "dud." He pooh poohed the idea of 100,000 worth of savings.

Last November he said he'd studied the single road district plan and found claims made about it wouldn't hold water.

The only thing Jacobs seemed to support was a central garage for maintenance and distribution of county equipment. Jacobs felt and feels a garage should be built and it should be located at Kiona which, incidentally, happens to be his commissioner district.

As a matter of fact, in indicating support to the single road district plan last week, Jacobs apparently makes the location of the garage in his district the bargaining point for his vote.

That's certainly unfortunate. Because it has always seemed logical that the shop should be at Kiona. That's the midway point for the county.

There may be good reasons why the shop should be located some place else. Such a determination must be made by engineers and then passed on by the commissioners.

But the situation seems to be this: Jacobs sees another election year fast approaching. He's a sharp enough politician to know it's not smart to vote against economy and the single road plan is economy, sensible economy.

Commissioners Tom Bettinson and Frank Lampson want the single road district. To put it across the commissioners must be unanimous. So Jacobs has been able to keep the matter pigeonholed.

It's a good bet Jacobs would like to keep it buried. Since he considers it politically unwise, he has attached strings to his support.

Now we will probably see some more maneuvering.

Commissioners Lampson and Bettinson may not look kindly on this proposition. They may feel they are being pressured, and since they are still in a better position on the matter of a single road plan than is Jacobs, both men may not go for his idea.

That means Benton County will not be any better off with Jacobs now supporting the plan than when he didn't support it.

Citizens sincerely hope the commissioners can work this matter out to the benefit of the county.

PROSSER JUSTICE of the Peace Ben Knox sported a carnation to celebrate his 80th birthday yesterday while receiving congratulations from Frank Lampson, Kennewick, chairman of Benton County commissioners.

Ben Knox Celebrates Eightieth Birthday

By Staff Correspondent

PROSSER — Ben Knox, Prosser justice of the peace who moved into the Benton County Court House the day it was completed in December, 1926, was honored by court employees yesterday on his 80th birthday.

Not only is Judge Knox the oldest employee at the court house, he has been there the longest—a total of 50 years.

He has held the offices of deputy assessor, treasurer-assessor when it was a combined office, and was later assessor. He has been a justice of the peace for 20 years.

Judge Knox has seen many changes in the county since he began to serve it. When he was assessor—in the 1930's, the county had a population of about 10,000. Today, more than 50,000 people make their homes in Benton County. In 1934 the assessed valuation was about eight million dollars. Today the valuation goes over the 35 million dollar mark.

Kingston, in Caldwell County,

Mo., was the judge's home before he settled in Goldendale in 1893. He worked on ranches in Klickitat County until 1902 when he established a homestead on the Rattlesnake.

Judge's Family

Judge and Mrs. Knox have three sons, Will Knox, Walla Walla; Dr. Clint Knox, Richland, and Clyde Knox, Portland. They have seven grandchildren.

Coffee and individual cakes, each centered with a red candle, were served to callers. The table, covered with a lace cloth, was centered by a bouquet of miniature red roses set off by red tapers.

Wearing a white carnation, Judge Knox greeted friends during the afternoon and reminisced about early court house episodes.

"Are you going to continue as justice of the peace?" one guest asked.

Judge Knox's bright blue eyes snapped. "As long as they'll let me," he said.

Grape Growers Find Success In Co-Op

By JOHN LYMAN
Herald Farm Writer

Concord grape growers in the lower Yakima Valley and seven other states own the Welch Grape Juice Company, Inc., Westfield, N.Y., "lock, stock and barrel."

They hire expert managers for the firm which does a $65-million annual business. The growers, by virtue of their association average $50 a ton above open market prices for their grapes.

Three Washington vineyard operators are on a board of 15 directors of National Grape Cooperative Association, Inc., owners of Welch Grape Juice Co.

LOCAL OFFICERS

They are Frank Lampson whose vineyard is in Kennewick Highlands; Kermit Dorsey, Prosser, and John H. Marble, Grandview.

Dorsey was elected third vice president and Marble was named to the executive committee at the cooperative's annual meeting Feb. 18-19 at Westfield.

Attending in addition to the three Washington directors were Lonnie Conner, Pasco, Kennewick district delegate, and Hugh Carlson, Grandview district director.

Delegates are a link between the board management and growers. They help the vital two-way flow of information, according to Lampson.

Lampson has been a grape cooperative member since the growers bought Church's Grape Juice Co., in 1953. The decision to buy Welch's came three years later when directors took an option on the big concern.

There were mixed opinions about the wisdom of farmers

Pruning in local vineyards was delayed by cold weather. C. C. Mills, Winston, Mont., cut excess branches from vines as grape grower Frank Lampson checked his technique. At least two weeks pruning is left. Mills first pruned here in 1956.

getting involved in processing and distribution, recalls Lampson. But the move has worked so well a multi-million-dollar purchase price was paid off in five years.

USE EXPERTS

Lampson says the secret lies in turning over all the processing and distribution decisions to experts in those fields.

Also the producer cooperative has shown an unusual degree of self discipline, something not always exercised by farmer co-operatives. One way of disciplining has been for the vineyard operators to "loan" crops.

In National Grape Co-operative, there has grown up the co-operative working capital through the years by taking deferred payments for their a system of five cash payments over 15 months, plus an allocation certificate much like a producer dividend. The certificate, under by-laws, has 20 years for payment. National Grape Co-operative has cut this lag to seven years, Lampson said.

No new members are permitted except when a vineyard is sold. Since the marketing agreement between the co-operative and its members is based on each year's grape acreage, land may be sold with or without the right to grow grapes for Welch, explained Lampson.

When the grape contract is involved in a land sale the buyer may become a NCGA member subject to approval of the co-operative's board of directors.

CONTRACTS VALUABLE

A national contract normally brings a premium in excess of $1,000 an acre when a vineyard is sold.

Welch also produces a line of fruit drinks and a line of jams, jellies and other spreads.

Another secret of the co-operative's success is the geographical spread of its vineyards. They are located in New York, Pennsylvania, Arkansas, Oregon, Ohio, Michigan, Missouri and Washington.

Somewhere in that spread of vineyards ideal crop conditions are likely to prevail in any given year.

The Welch company board consists of nine members, three who are elected from the board of National Grape Co-operative. The 15-man board of the co-operative elects the Welch board, which in turn elects its own officers.

Welch has weathered many changes in its 100-year history. In 1869, T. B. Welch, Vineland, N.J., vineyard operator, applied the theory of Louis Pasteur to grape-juice processing. In his kitchen, he produced Welch's "unfermented sacramental wine."

No change in the ensuing century perhaps, was welcomed as much as the prospect of the machine picking of grapes.

Last September trials for two distinct types of pickers were successful.

Grape Year Termed Tops at Co-Op Meet

By Mrs. Harold Jones

"We have completed another banner year," Douglas M. Moorhead stated at the National Grape Co-operative Ass'n. district meeting at Waneta Grange Hall near Sunny-side Friday.

Moorhead, president of National, further stated net sales of The Welch Grape Juice Company owned by National members, reached a new high of $58,426,949, an increase of 5.4 per cent over 1963. Payments distributed to growers on the 1962 crop were the highest on any crop in the 12-year record. Completed payments received by members this month amounted to $91.60 cash per ton and $34.43 average in allocation certificates of which $7.46 was paid in cash also. This brings the total to $129.12 per ton. To date members have been paid $80 in cash and $29.38 in allocation certificates for a total advance of $109.38 for their 1963 crop. The members will receive additional advances on the 1963 crop as 1965 sales permit with a final accounting at the end of the 1965 fiscal year Sept. 1.

Moorhead also stated that the board of directors made history when it voted to redeem both the 1956-57 series certificates in December, 1964. Business results permitting, certificates will be redeemed on a seven-year basis instead of the eight-year program.

Top Efficiency

Raymond T. Ryan, president of Welch Grape Juice Company, stated the Grandview Plant had top processing efficiency of all Welch plants this past season.

Frank Guthrie, general sales manager, forecast the outlook for this fiscal year to be better than ever, but expects stiffer competition, due to the citrus fruit comeback since the devastating freeze in 1962.

The local processing plant is being converted over from a hydraulic press to a continuous press. It will be the first in the Northwest, stated N. M. Brown, vice president in charge of manufacturing. This lends to much faster processing of the crop per day.

In the yearly elections, Frank Lampson of Kennewick was re-elected director for a three-year term. Other directors from this district are Kermit Dorsey and John Marble, Grandview, who is also third vice-president of National and on the board of directors of Welch.

Walter Carlson was re-elected alternate delegate and renamed to the nominating committee were Roy Bedker of Kennewick and George Jaquish of Granger with Blaine Taylor of Wapato as alternate.

Waneta Grange served a turkey dinner to the group preceding the meeting.

TRI-CITY

Clarence Appenzeller, right, employee of the Kennewick Irrigation District for 43 years was honored at a party given Friday on the eve of his retirement. Frank Lampson, KID board chairman, presented him a gift from the district.

Ditchrider To Tend Farm After 43 Years On The KID

By ROBERT WHERRY
Herald Staff Writer

A small, quiet party marked the end of 43 years of continuous employment with the Kennewick Irrigation District for Clarence Appenzeller, 626 S. Morain St., Kennewick.

The 67-year old Appenzeller went to work for the Highland Water Users Association in 1919, and continued on with KID when they took over in 1932.

HE WORKED AS A DITCHRIDER all that time. He saw the irrigation district grow from a crew of four serving less than 4,000 acres to a crew of 14 today serving 18,000 acres.

The party was Friday and took the old-timers down a path of dusty half-forgotten memories.

It was pointed out how the Kennewick Highlands was once crowded with apple trees instead of homes.

Appenzeller, who owns a 10-acre farm, said he has no plans other than taking care of the farm.

"THAT WILL KEEP A FELLOW busy," he observed. Asked why he was retiring, he hesitated then jokingly retorted, "I'm afraid of the (canal) breaks next summer."

He came to the Kennewick area in 1914 from Ohio with his parents. Other than for a two and one-half year hitch with the Army during World War I he has been here since.

When he started working with the Water-Users Association he recalls ditches were patrolled on foot.

"Farmers would break out their teams of horses during the winters and do maintenance work on the canal to pay water bills," he stated.

THERE WAS ONLY ABOUT 14 miles of canal system then. Today there is nearly 100 miles.

During the 1930's, ditch riders had to furnish their own cars. Only compensation they received was their monthly salary.

The entire KID staff attended the party. Remembrances included discussions on how trains were ferried across the Columbia River before the railroad bridge was constructed.

Cal Liebel, KID manager, reported how he had attended ceremonies in "the early 1930's" marking the opening of the old highway bridge to free crossing in a "brand new Model A."

Work Progressing on Kennewick Canal Sections

COLUMBIA BASIN NEWS

December 28, 1953-5

Construction is now under way on three major parts of the $14,000,000 Kennewick irrigation project, which will by 1956 bring water to 14,534 additional acres of land in Benton county.

During the past week workmen for A. J. Cheff Construction co., of Seattle have been driving sheet piling for work on the foundation of the $2,000,000 Chandler power and pumping plant on the Yakima river and carry irrigation water under the river bed.

A cofferdam is being built off half of the river while crews excavate for the discharge line and this is done the other half will be blocked off to complete the discharge line.

EIGHT MILE SECTION

J. A. Terteling & Sons, Inc.,

of Boise, is working on an eight mile section of the Chandler power canal, which will bring water from Prosser dam to the Boise firm has completed lining of a 3,000 foot section of the canal and lining work is expected to be resumed under a $1,700,000 contract with the Bureau of Reclamation.

Cheff, the company which is building the power and pumping plant, also has a $270,000 contract for building a 2.2 mile section of the main irrigation canal. Work on this project started last month.

AIDS OLD LAND

In addition to supplying water to new land, the Kennewick division of the Yakima project will also provide a new point of diversion and pumping facilities for 4,637 acres now irrigated. Some 350 new farms will be created by the project to bolster the already rapidly expanding economy of the Tri-City area.

CREATE RICH AREA

Water from the Yakima river, diverted at Prosser, will go through the Chandler canal, with a capacity of 1,500 cubic feet per second, to the power and pumping plant. Here pumps will lift part of the water 101.5 feet through a discharge line to the main irrigation canal on the south shore. The main canal will carry water to the land by gravity.

AGRICULTURAL AREA IN BENTON COUNTY

Part of the water will be used to generate 12,000 kilowatts of electric power, which will go on the BPA system. This power will repay $7,838,857, or about 57 per cent of the total cost. The part of the project already irrigated has been receiving water from the Columbia district canal since 1909.

THE KENNEWICK DIVISION

Construction was authorized by congress in 1948 and construction started in 1952. First water is scheduled for delivery in 1956. The project will create a rich agricultural area in Benton county.

THE KENNEWICK DIVISION

The district has an exceptionally long growing season of 240 days, which combined with high quality soils, will be capable of producing a wide variety of crops. Crops expected to be grown in the new lands will include asparagus, grapes, mint, tree fruits, corn, sugar beets, beans and alfalfa. The growing Tri-City area will be the key terminal for railroad and highway transportation for marketing the crops. No part of the division is more than a few miles from a railroad loading point.

ALL OF THE LAND NOW UNDER IRRIGATION

is privately owned. The federal government owns an estimated 2,828 acres of the new land, the Kennewick Irrigation district owns 3,700 acres, the state owns 1,024 acres and several small blocks of land are owned by the city of Kennewick and Benton county. Of the privately owned lands, about two-thirds are held by individuals and the rest by the Northern Pacific railroad. Land holdings under the new project are limited to 160 acres and less than a third of the holdings now exceed that limit. The federal land will be laid out into about 30 farm units.

WILL BE REPAID

The entire federal investment in the project is to be repaid through payments by the water users and revenues from the sale of power, except for $1,041,400 allocated for fish and wildlife, which congress agreed would be non-reimbursable. Total cost of the project is $13,768,157. Completion of the Kennewick division will mark the sixth and final part of the 450,000 acre Yakima project started nearly 50 years ago and has become one of the richest agricultural areas in the nation.

Two fair board members, Frank Lampson, left, and Melvin McInturf went over final plans at the fairgrounds were in the final stages of readiness for this year's fair.

Say:

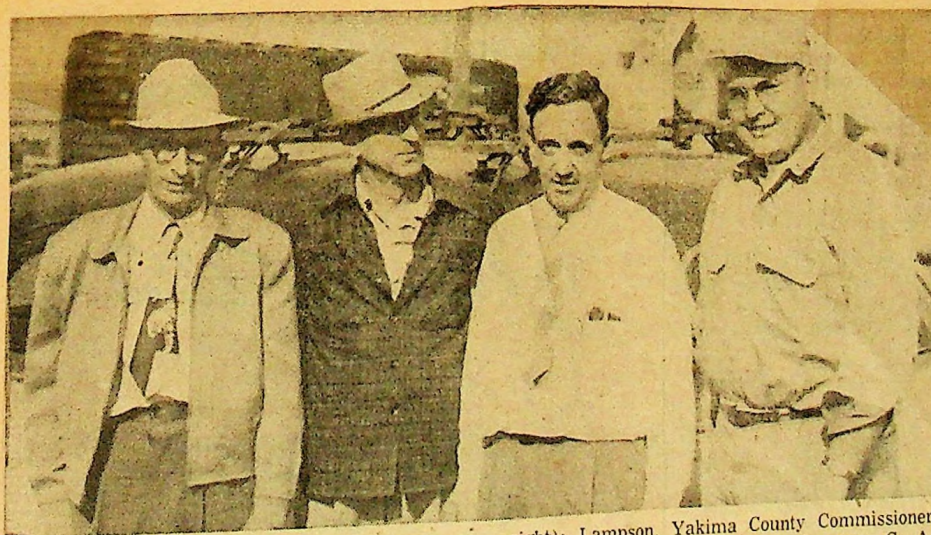

THEIRS AS MUCH AS OURS

The refusal of Benton County commissioners to join Yakima county in building a 6-mile access road to the Priest Rapids dam site surprises us. The project is every bit as much an access road to the Tri-Cities as it is to Yakima and it is in Benton County. It is the only way for Tri-Cities folks to get to the site at all. And even when the Wabluke slope road is opened through the Hanford area, the route through the lower Yakima Valley still will be the quickest and best one for the Tri-Cities. Nevertheless, we suppose there are some in the Tri-Cities who hold the plan suspect of giving Yakima an advantage over them. Possibly their fears have reached the ears of their commissioners. We hate to see these folks cutting off their noses to spite their faces, when building of the piece of road would help Yakima, Pasco, Kennewick and Richland so much.

DAMAGED GRAPES — Frank Lampson, oldtime resident of the Kennewick West Highlands, looks over some of his grape vines that he alleges have been injured by drifting spray from planes working over Horse Heaven wheat lands. Lampson estimates he has lost 25 per cent of his crop but admits some damage was also caused by high winds.

Lampson Reelected To The KID

Frank Lampson was re-elected chairman of the Kennewick Irrigation District Board at its reorganization meeting Tuesday night. Nelse Petermann was elected vice-chairman.

Robert Marsh was seated as a new member of the board. He succeeds William Mills who did not seek re-election.

Cal Liebel was re-appointed manager. Mrs. Fred Hoppe Jr., secretary and John Westland attorney by the board.

Liebel, Petermann and Marsh will attend a meeting of irrigation district representatives in Sunnyside Thursday.

Liebel was authorized to send two district employees to a spraying short course in Pullman at the end of this month. Under a new state law, spray rig operators must be licensed.

The board discussed the bids received on used, tread-type tractors recently and decided to look at some of those offered.

Tractor Pins Ira Lampson

Ira Lampson, 31, of 4621 W. Metaline Ave., Kennewick, escaped "heavy odds" of being crushed to death Monday afternoon when his tractor slid down a 35-foot embankment at a county gravel pit on S. Ely St. and pinned him under.

He had his son, Tommy, 8, to thank for getting him freed after Tommy, who saw the mishap, raced for help. The accident occurred when Lampson was backing his tractor and rock loaded trailer near the pit and the bank gave way.

Lampson was taken by Mueller's ambulance to Kennewick General Hospital after the heavy vehicle was lifted off him. X-rays showed no broken bones.

Tri-Citian Named To Grape Co-op

GRANDVIEW — Frank Lampson of Kennewick was re-elected director for a three-year term of the National Grape Co-operative Association district meeting.

Kermit Dorsey and John Marble, both of Grandview, are also directors. Marble is third vice-president and on the board of directors of Welch Grape Juice Co. at Grandview.

Walter Carlson, Prosser, was re-elected alternate delegate and re-named to the nominating committee were Roy Bedker, Kennewick, and George Jacquish, Granger, with Blaine Taylor, Wapato, as alternate.

Douglas M. Moorhead, president of national, stated net sales of The Welch Grape Juice Co. owned by national members, reached a new high of $58,426,249, an increase of 5.4 per cent over 1963.

Payments distributed to growers on the 1962 crop were the highest on any crop in the 12-year record, Moorhead said. Completed payments received by members this month amounted to $91.60 cash per ton and $34.43 average in allocation certificates of which $7.46 was paid in cash also. Lampson Opposes Funds For Priest Rapids Roads

If Yakima County commissioners want to go ahead and improve the roads in and around the Priest Rapids Dam site, they are welcome to do so.

But Benton County commissioners are not about to foot any part of the bill for such a project.

That was the opinion given Friday night by Frank Lampson of Kennewick, chairman of the Benton County Commission, in answer to a recent Yakima Herald editorial.

The editorial criticized the Benton County commission for its refusal to pay part of the costs for improving the roads leading to and from the dam site.

"There are approximately seven miles of bad road around the Priest Rapids site," said Lampson. "Half of the road, at least, is in Benton County. But we can't see where Benton County would get too much benefit from any development in Priest Rapids."

Lampson said he thinks that

Yakima County Commissioners and Chamber of Commerce officials "honestly realize that they would reap most of the benefits from the dam project."

In addition, Lampson explained, the Benton County Commission has no money budgeted for any improvement of Priest Rapids roads.

"Any money we do have has been obligated to fix roads right here in the area where it would do us the most good," he said.

Lampson added that the Herald editorial said the dam site is in Benton County, while it actually is in Yakima County.

"Any taxes collected for construction of the dam would be for Yakima County, not for us," Lampson said.

The commission chairman said Sunnyside is the closest city to the site, being three or four miles closer than Yakima, which is 53 miles from Priest Rapids.

Lampson Files For Reelection

PROSSER — Frank Lampson, Kennewick, chairman of the board of Benton County Commissioners has filed for reelection to the District 3 commissioner post.

Lampson has served one term. He came to the Kennewick area in 1930 from Goldendale. Since that time has farmed near Kennewick.

He served on the Kennewick Irrigation District board for 12 years and served the board as chairman for several years. He is a former member of the East Benton County Soil Conservation board, is a charter member of the Kennewick Highlands Grange, and a member of Benton County Pomona Grange. He served on a Production Marketing Association county committee and is a member of the Kiwanis Club.

MY CREED

I DO NOT choose to be a common man. It is my right to be uncommon—if I can. I seek opportunity—not security. I do not wish to be a kept citizen, humbled and dulled by having the state look after me. I want to take the calculated risk; to dream and to build, to fail and to succeed. I refuse to barter incentive for a dole. I prefer the challenges of life to the guaranteed existence; the thrill of fulfillment to the stale calm of utopia.

I will not trade freedom for beneficence nor my dignity for a handout. I will never cower before any master nor bend to any threat. It is my heritage to stand erect, proud and unafraid; to think and act for myself, enjoy the benefit of my creations and to face the world boldly and say, this I have done.

All this is what it means to be an American.
