

Manhattan College Dedicates Covino Museum and Library

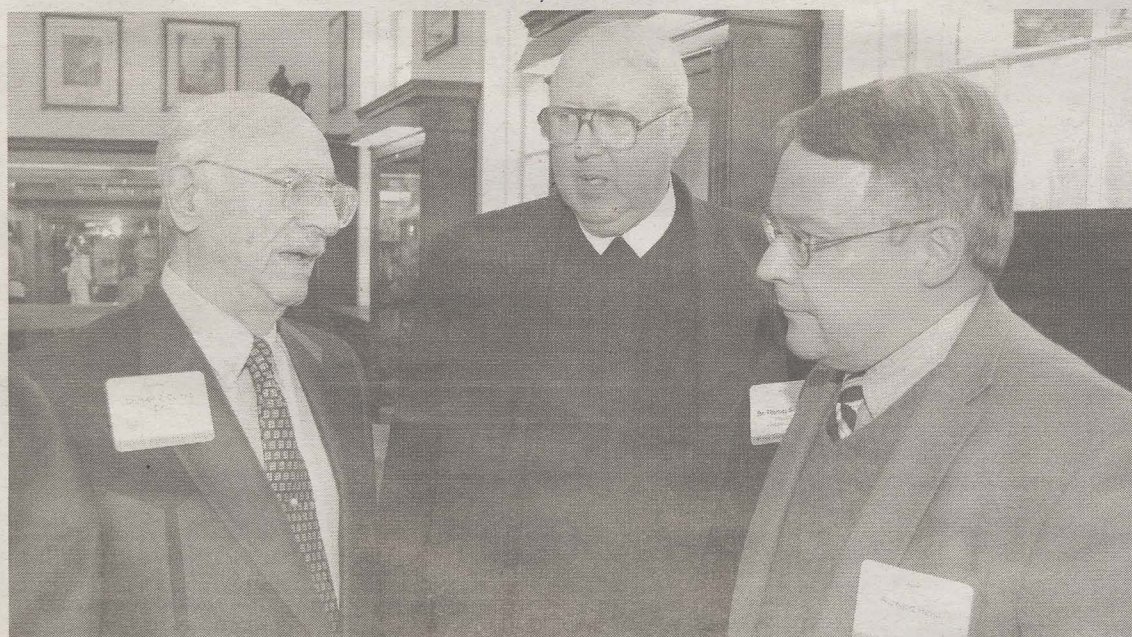

THE DR. CHARLES P. COVINO '50 Museum and Library recently opened at Manhattan College as a tribute to Dr. Covino's many accomplishments. Pictured at the reception honoring Dr. Covino, former head of General Magnaplate, are Dr. Joseph Russo, Edmund Aversenti, and Buddy D'Avella. Doc Covino is shown in the photo at left.

CONGRATULATING DOC COVINO are John Longo, Vice President of Smith Barney, and Candida Aversenti. Candida is Dr. Covino's daughter and now serves as head of General Magnaplate, the company Doc began in 1952 in a garage in Hoboken, New Jersey.

FRANK PRATT & DR. LAWRENCE NAJARIAN attended the event in support of their longtime friend, Doc Covino.

ENJOYING THE COVINO MUSEUM & LIBRARY opening reception are: guest of honor Dr. Charles Covino, Brother Thomas Scanlon, and Dr. Richard Heist, Dean of the English Department at Manhattan College.

ROBERT BURNS, Director of Athletics at Manhattan College, was on hand to congratulate Dr. Covino. An outstanding athlete in his younger years, Covino competed in discus and football, and is a member of the Manhattan College Athletic Hall of Fame. He is now one of the best senior athletes in the United States, holding records for the Shot Put and the Super Weight Throw.

A Great Man's Life Worthy of Admiration

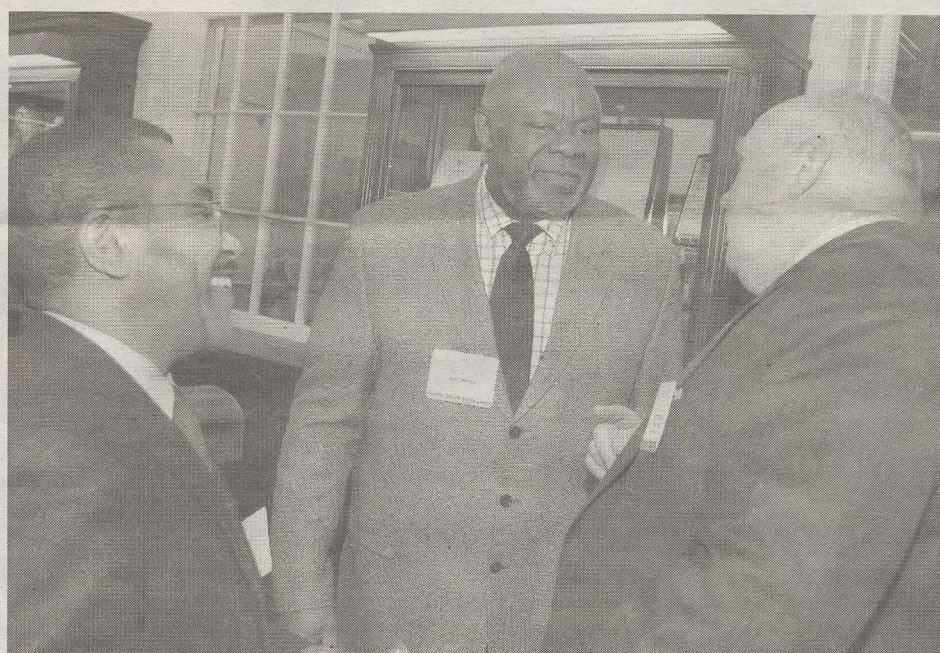

DR. CHARLES COVINO, affectionately known as "Doc", delivers his thank you/acceptance speech before the large crowd at the opening reception of the museum and library named for him. Dr. Covino has spent his life striving to improve the quality of others' lives through his knowledge of metallurgy, plastics, and chemistry. Brother Scanlon, wife Sylvia, and daughter Candida look on.

WALTER ALINA enjoyed the exciting day with his friend Charles P. Covino, a man who lived through the Great Depression, fought for the U.S. during World War II, attended college on the G.I. Bill and an athletic scholarship, and finally built an empire on a dream.

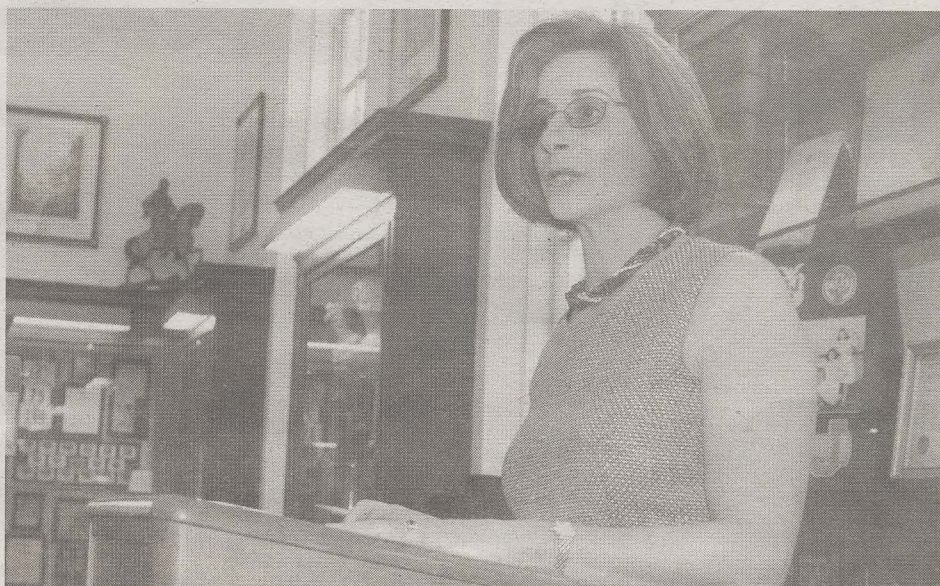

COVINO FAMILY & FRIENDS - Doc Covino, Candida, and Sylvia are pictured with equestrian Andrea D'Vogel, a longtime friend of the close family.

SHARING A LAUGH during the festivities are, from left to right, Dr. Leon Jackson, Vice President and Provost of Manhattan College; Jimmie Jones, Vice President of Reebok; and Bob Burns, Director of Athletics at Manhattan College.

ROSE AND JIM BECKER join Doc and Mrs. Covino for what was a very special occasion at Manhattan College.

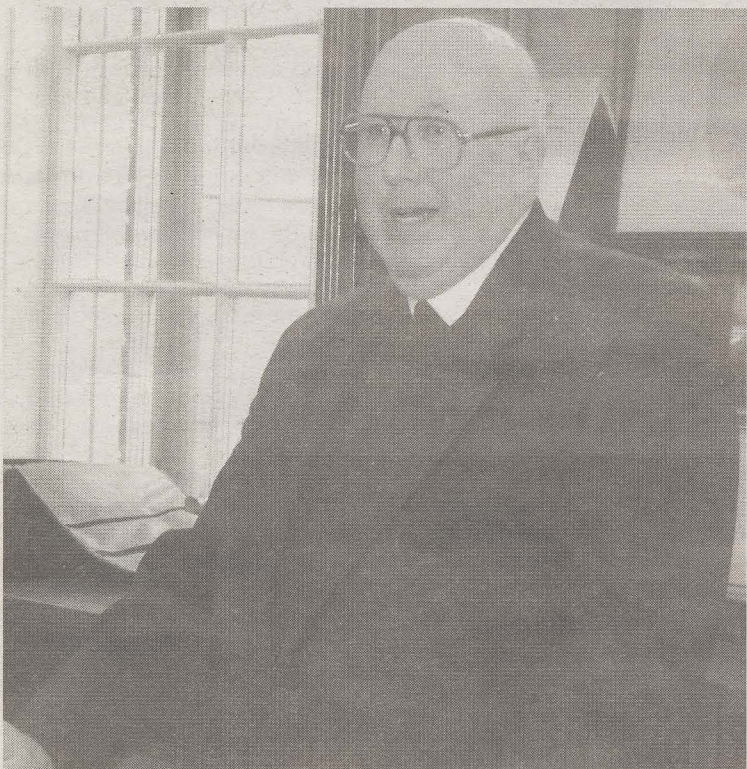

SPEAKING ABOUT HER BELOVED FATHER, is Candida Covino, Dr. Covino's daughter who now serves as head of General Magnaplate.

Family and Friends Show Up to Honor Doc Covino

THE COVINO CLAN - Pictured (left to right) are Dr. Joseph Russo; Ashly Russo, Doc's and Sylvia's granddaughter; Doc and Sylvia Covino; Danyel Aversenti, granddaughter; Danyel's fiancé Chris Stapleton; and Candida and her husband Edmund.

DELIVERING A TESTIMONIAL SPEECH honoring Dr. Covino, a Manhattan College alumnus, is Brother Scanlon. He stated that Dr. Covino serves as an inspiration to current Manhattan students, as well as to the community as a whole.

DOC COVINO is pictured with Candida, Sylvia, and Mrs. Shelly Zlotkin. Candida and her husband Edmund continue Doc's legacy of innovation and problem solving with the purpose of improving quality and production performance at General Magnaplate.