Research Report 2
Selected Hoboken, New Jersey Companies and National Labor Relations Board

Report Summary

Per your e-mail direction, I began looking for information on the Hoboken companies identified by you in the records of the National Labor Relations Board (Record Group 25, NLRB). I followed the same procedure identified in the research for the Sweets Company of America.

I again had little success finding the companies in the microfilmed indexes. The exception was an entry for the Wilson Line. However, when I ordered the microfilm volumes for this folder, the staff lost the microfilm between the textual stacks (where they were stored) and the Microfilm Reading Room. I have been assured that the records were found once and should be available. To date, I did not have time to pursue this search.

I began going through A1 Entry 155 Formal and Informal Unfair Labor Practices and Representation Case Files for the 16 new companies listed in your email, plus Todd Dry Dock. Although this is a straightforward process for 1936-1946 when the files were arranged by year, and thereafter chronologically, the magnitude of ordering the boxes within Archives pull time and box limit constraints (combined with time for photocopying), proved too much for me to complete by your original deadline of January 7. I stand ready to complete these searches at your direction and apologize for not being able to get through all the materials.

As you will see from the research findings, there was sometimes more than one folder with the same case number; some materials in these were duplicates but some were not. I tried going backwards, beginning with 1946 to see if I could speed up the process but found this made little difference. I have included the inclusive company names for the individual boxes so that you can search for any other companies that might be of interest and can assume that there are no folders for that company in the specific box as I searched for other Hoboken companies in all ordered boxes.

I have kept the materials in the order in which they appeared in the folder; for the most part this means folders are in reverse chronological order.

Please note that the Bethlehem Steel and Todd Dry Dock materials often contain information on both the New York and Hoboken yards. Apparently their cases were investigated and pursued both individually and together.

To date, I have located files on the following companies:

1935-37

Case No. II-R-49 Davis, (R.B.) Baking Powder, Hoboken, New Jersey
Case No. II-C-320 R. Neumann & Co., Hoboken, N.J.

I ordered Volumes 286 and 431 through textual records to follow up on the Wilson Line cards. Thus far these microfilm reels have gone missing, although I have received assurances that they were picked up from the stacks for delivery to the Microfilm Reading Room. I did not have the chance to verify this.

Formal and Informal Unfair Labor Practices and Representation Case Files

After the success of finding the Sweets Company of America, I researched your new companies of interest in these files for 1938-1946. These files are arranged chronologically and thereunder alphabetically. I ordered the companies of interest by year, with the hope that there would be a file in the appropriate file range.

You will notice that there is a declassification sticker on some of the photocopies. This was not necessary in the true sense of declassification (such as a State Department document becoming declassified); however, whenever a document has the word "Secret," it is recommended that the researcher obtain a declass sticker so as not to raise the potential of any problems with the guards on exiting. In this entry group, there were "secret ballots" for union elections.

Located folder for Todd Shipyards & Robins Drydock & Repair Co. R-237, Hoboken, New Jersey Stamped Case Closed, Archives, Stored, Transferred from II-R-133 to R-237

--please note, this was a very extensive file. Apparently NLRB decided to consolidate the cases involving the Hoboken Dry Docks and those in Brooklyn

--I have photocopied this file but did not photocopy the next, about the same case, until I checked with you about continuing with this extensive photocopying. I have noted those documents in the second file which do not duplicate items in this first file.

Photocopied:

Case Closed, Week Ending August 28, 1937 [please note, I did not photocopy the other week ending reports in this folder as they all referenced the Brooklyn facility

Recommendations for further research

1. Follow up on the volumes listed for the Wilson Line in the Microfilmed Bound Briefs.

2. Photocopy all materials previously identified but not yet photocopied.

3. Complete going through files for 1944 and 1946.

4. Go through files for 1945.

5. Search companies in NLRB Table of Cases Decided, Vols. 75-104, August 22, 1947-May 27, 1953 and NLRB Table of Cases Decided, Vols. 1-74, December 7, 1935-Aug. 21, 1947.

6. Search companies in Decisions and orders of the National Labor Relations Board at the Library of Congress Law Library.
