This has been a year of change, a year of growth, a year of learning and maturing, for getting to know ourselves and others, for becoming more than what we were. This year has brought more students, more teachers and new courses to Pocomoke High. Yes, 1967 was to each of us, in some way, a very special year. We, the 1967 Papoose Staff, hope that this book will help you remember 1967 as "a very good year."

Dedication

William T. Dorman, Jr.

From our encounter with your unique personality, we have come to admire and respect you for your understanding, patience and humor; for offering us an academic challenge which has prepared us for the future; for demonstrating daily perseverance, character, leadership and fair play. With more appreciation than words can ever tell we dedicate the 1967 PAPOOSE to Mr. William Thomas Dorman, Jr.

as a teacher

as a friend

When you needed help, he never failed. If anything went wrong you asked his advice. If you "just wanted to talk", he was always there.

as a guide

Mr. Dorman frequently supervised the halls, cafeteria, and "Dorman's Parking Lot". Here he keeps a watchful eye on students at an assembly.

CURRICULUM

Eddie Pettit and Doug Dryden weigh an element to complete an important chemistry experiment.

Scientific Importance Is Stressed

The science department seeks to familiarize students with the many sciences in both interesting and comprehensive ways. By obtaining a solid foundation in high school, students prepare themselves for today's world, where science plays both an important and vital role.

In the biology course, a study is made of all living things. This study includes research from the smallest to the largest living cells.

The elements, their discovery, properties, and reactions form a background for the study of chemistry.

The student of physics discovers how interesting fundamental science of the physical world can be. Earth science, a course offered to commercial and general students, provides a study of geology, astronomy, and related subjects.

Brenda Thompson feeds several hamsters in biology lab.

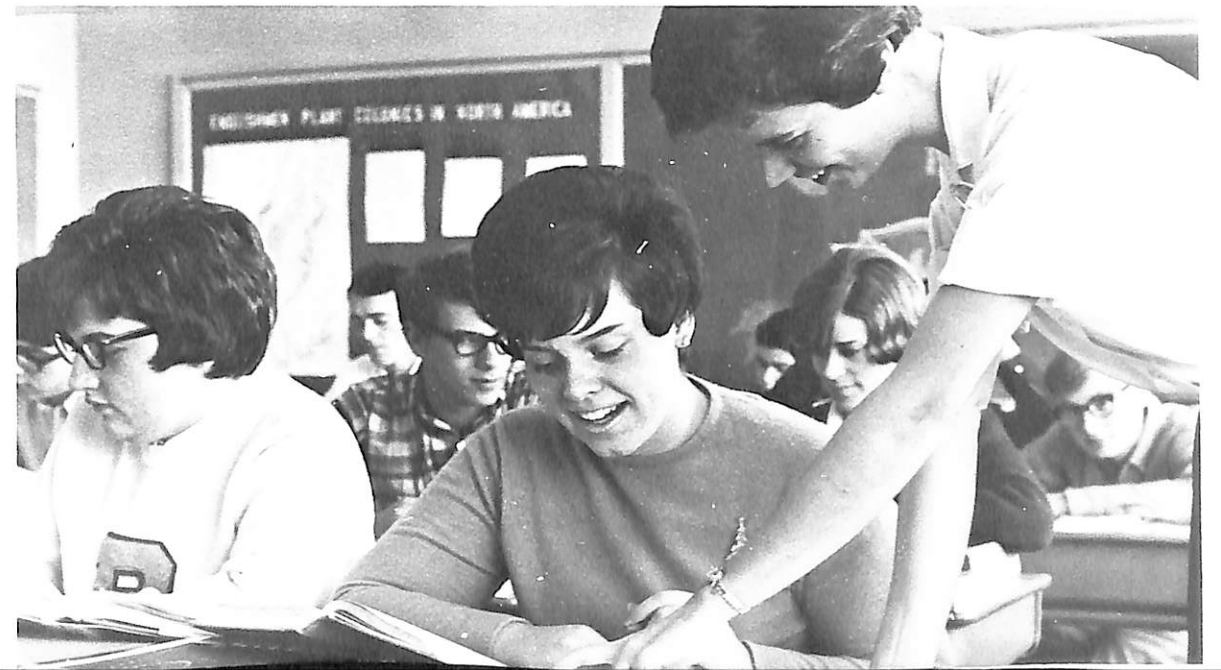

Steve Hornung draws a triangle with specific measurements in math class.

Emphasis on Math Increases

For many students, math is one of the most challenging departments at Pocomoke High. Academic students receive special training in new math, algebra, plane geometry, and trigonometry. These courses prepare them for college mathematics.

The math department provides programs for both the academic and general student. In this way, the personal wants and needs of the individual are considered.

With the able assistance of Mrs. Nancy Smith, Wendy Atkinson tries to solve a trig problem.

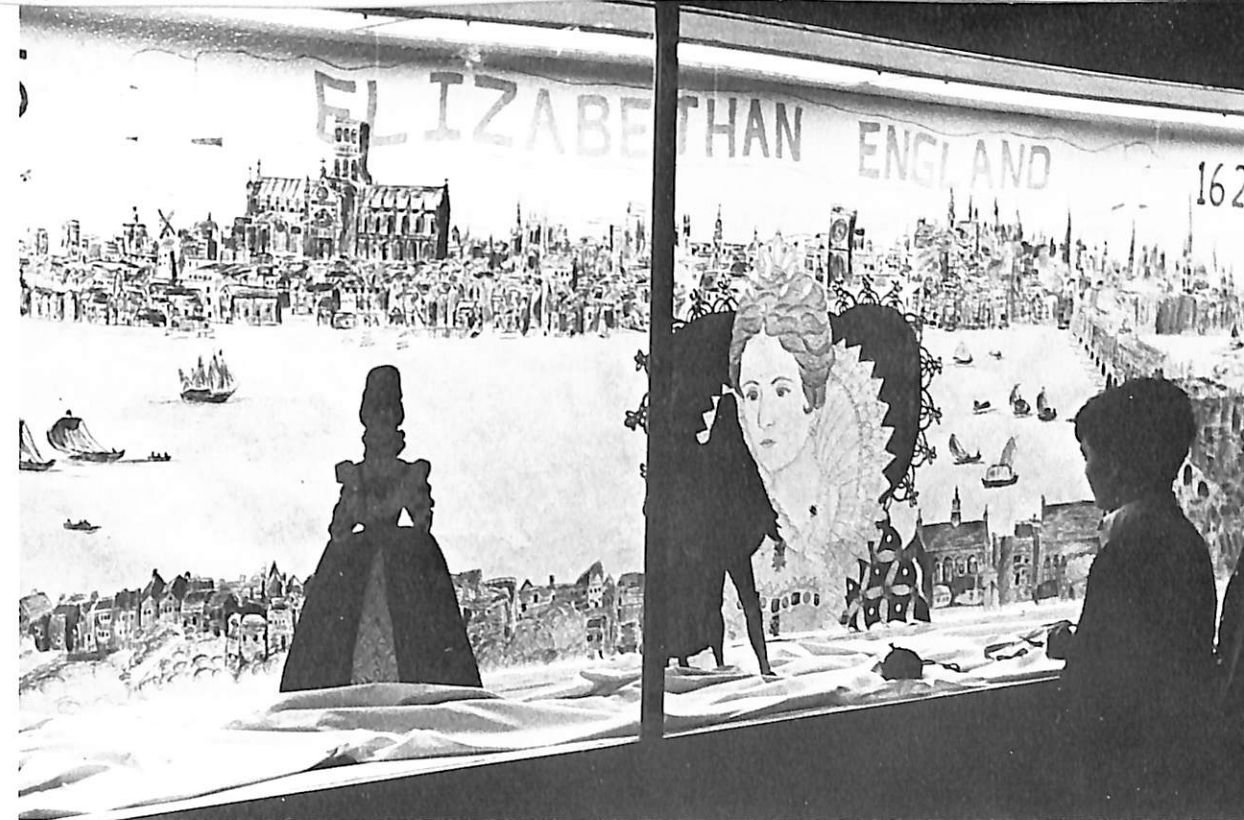

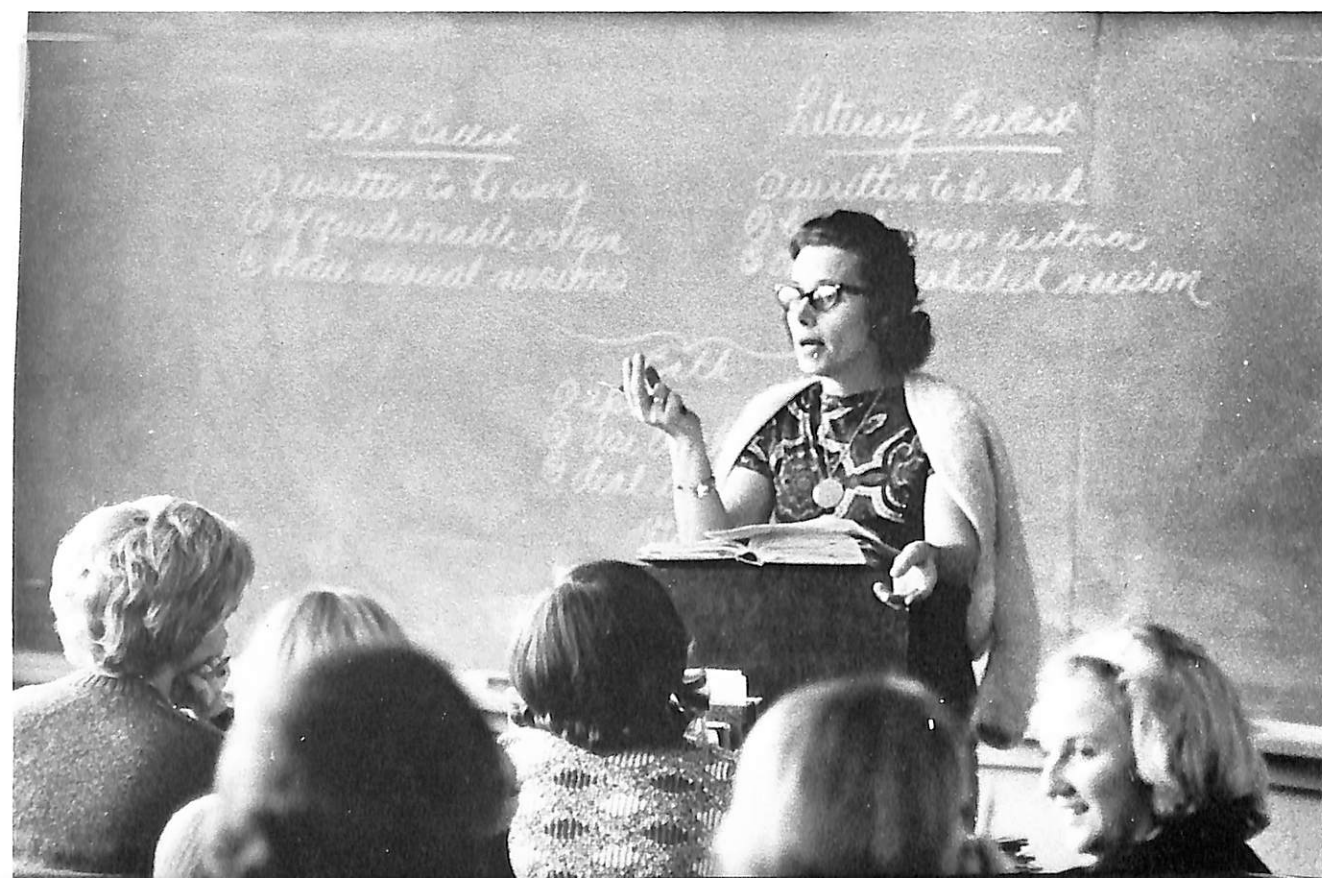

Miss Heilig drills students on verb tenses.

Language Classes Prove Rewarding

Senior girls listen as Mrs. Tatem lectures on the development of English literary ballads.

French students at P.H.S. study hard as they struggle to master the French vocabulary, to memorize French verbs, and to improve their accents through the use of the language lab. Three years of French are a requirement for an academic diploma.

Whether they are preparing for a test on SILAS MARNER, mastering English grammar or listening to recordings of MACBETH, students find English classes varied and challenging. Throughout their four years, they are encouraged to use the library, develop good reading habits, and gain experience in self-expression.

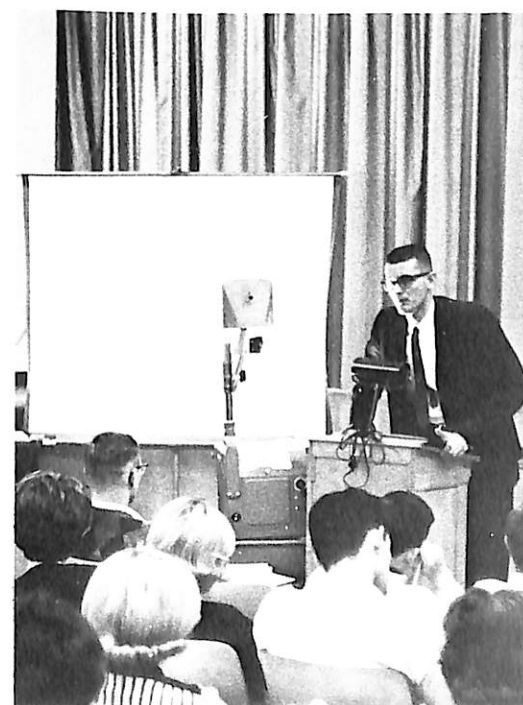

A showcase mural of Elizabethan London was prepared by an art committee as an introduction to the study of the period.

"Experience In Depth"

A new program in team teaching proved most successful this year at Pocomoke High School. In previous years, senior students have studied Elizabethan England primarily from a literature viewpoint. This year many phases—art, music, history, religion, science, and drama—were brought together for an "experience in depth". Teachers from various departments pooled their knowledge of this period. The Elizabethan program was highlighted by two events: a program of selected readings from Elizabethan writers given by Miss Dolores Miller of Salisbury State College and a field trip to St. Peter's Episcopal Church in Salisbury.

Mr. William McComb lectures to students on the scientific methods of the Elizabethan Period.

Senior boys listen attentively to Father William Varley as he speaks to them on the history of St. Peter's Episcopal Church.

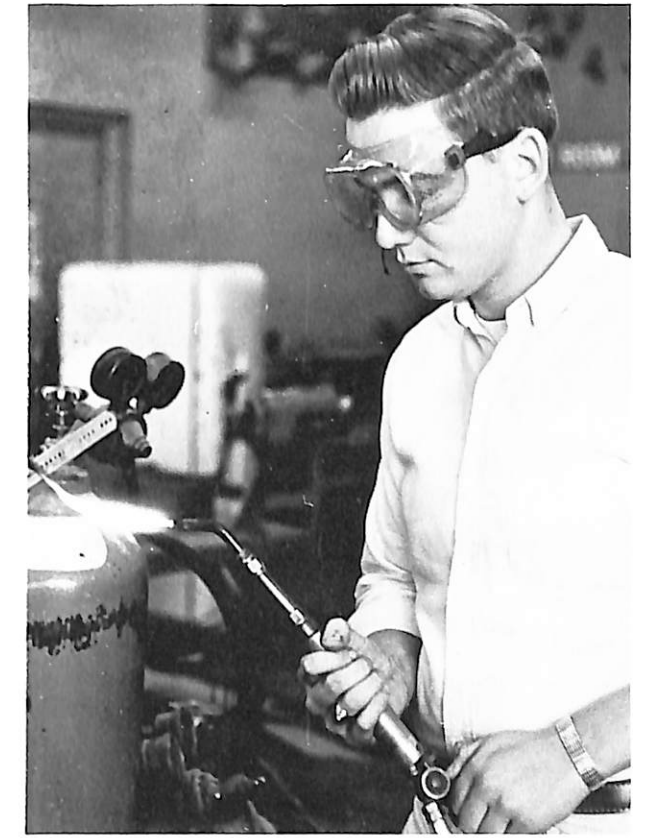

Miss Holmes accompanies her music class in singing.

The music department at Pocomoke High strives to develop the musical talents and arouse in students an interest in music. Under the able direction of Miss Holmes and Mr. Bragg, the chorus and band provide the musically inclined student with a chance to do what he enjoys doing and at the same time help him become more proficient.

With the assistance of Miss Rollins, Cheri Smith puts the hem in a blouse which she is making.

Jim Shelton does a torch welding job for his shop teacher.

Creative Ability Encouraged

Seventh grade students strive to complete an assignment in abstract design.

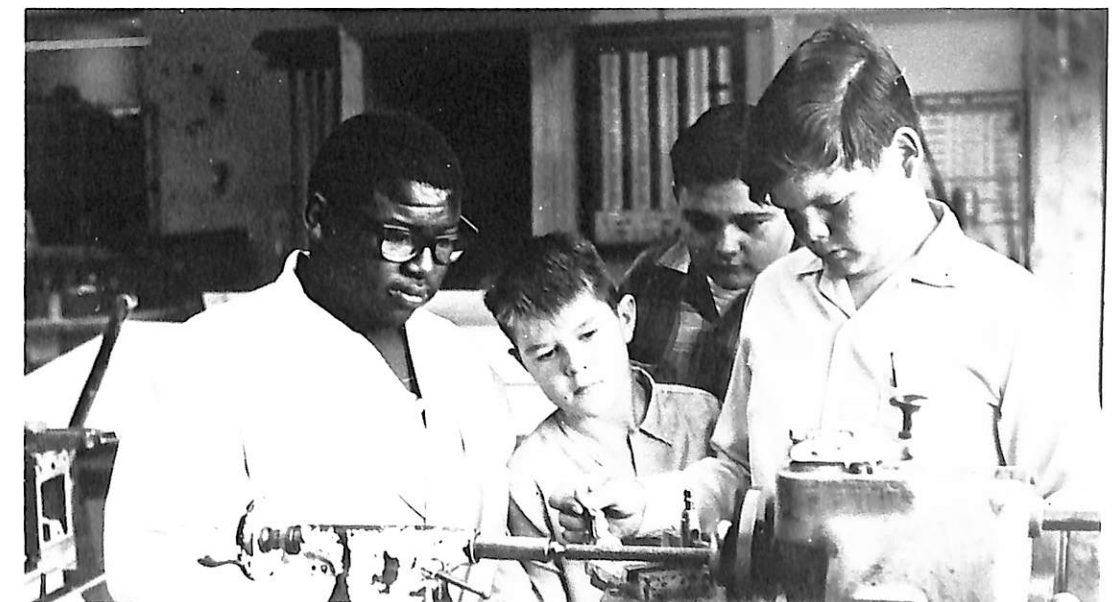

Bulletin boards, posters—the art department is always ready to do its part when called upon to help. In regular class activity, students carry on many interesting and worthwhile projects. They are given the opportunity to work with materials such as wood, water colors, oils, and paper maché in the art department. Through colorful films and informative lectures, the students grow to appreciate beauty and understand the basic fundamentals of art.

Students Learn Practical Skills

The home economics department seeks to provide opportunity for girls to acquire many useful homemaking skills such as: cooking, sewing, and interior decorating. Home economics is required of all eighth grade girls. For older students, the subject is an elective.

The industrial arts program teaches its students the fundamentals of trades which may someday become vocations. Instruction in auto mechanics, woodwork, drafting, and metalwork is given.

Several ninth grade students try their hand at lathe work.

Commercial Courses Promote Accuracy

The commercial department plans its courses in accordance with what the graduate will need to successfully enter the field of business. Courses such as typing, bookkeeping, office practice and shorthand are offered to all students. Miss Mary Emily Matthews strives to help the student become familiar with all phases of business. This year the classes helped publish the school paper, the Arrowhead, and print various programs for school and civic functions.

Because notehand is a symbol system of writing used to assist in notetaking, college-bound students may elect this class to improve their methods of taking notes during lectures.

Miss Mary Emily Matthews dictates shorthand to her first-year students.

ADMINISTRATION

Mr. Leon N. Timmons
Principal

The responsibilities placed upon the principal of a high school include all phases of student life and the administration of the school. Mr. Timmons works closely with both the faculty and students in an effort to better Pocomoke High.

College applications, scholarships, tests, and schedules are synonymous with only one person at P.H.S. — Mrs. Lankford, our guidance counselor. Because of her special interest in each student and her willingness to help everyone, she has won our respect and admiration.

PHS Teachers Guide and Instruct

A friendly word of encouragement when the going gets tough and an active concern for each boy and girl have made students at P.H.S. realize that the faculty is genuinely interested in each and every one. They have been more than school personnel; they have been guides, counselors, and friends.

Education is their chief objective but they strive also to guide us toward higher goals and develop our personal character.

Faculty

Feeding over 500 students a day is not an easy job, but our cafeteria staff, under the management of Mrs. Brimer, accomplishes this task with a gourmet's touch. Lunches at P.H.S. are always appetizing and nourishing and are often complimented by the student body.

Staff Helps Students Daily

Mrs. Florence Brimer
Cafeteria Manager

Affectionately known as "Ben" and "Elmer" to the students, Mr. Beauchamp and Mr. Insley head our custodial staff. They manage a cheerful smile and friendly disposition while opening a jammed locker, washing windows or cleaning up a dirty gym after a basketball game. Thanks to them our school has a neat and clean appearance at all times.

Student government at Pocomoke High School is largely vested in the hands of the Student Council. The Council forms a link between the faculty and students and works always for cooperation and understanding between them. Each homeroom elects a student as representative to the council.

This year the Student Council has undertaken such projects as sponsoring the Powder Puff soccer game, selling banners and pompons at basketball games, sponsoring the annual talent show in April, and organizing basketball and volleyball games between the faculty and seniors.

Under the direction of Mrs. Pat Westcott and Mr. Marvin Detwiler, the Athletic Association has again had a very successful year. Membership is made up of one representative elected from each homeroom.

The club serves to promote skill in sports, sportsmanship, fellowship and cooperation with other organizations of the school. In addition, the members help plan intramural games. Projects and activities this year included: sponsoring a dance to raise funds for purchasing a Ping Pong table, selling concessions at basketball games during intermission, and scheduling intramural sports for interested students.

"Do you know who this boy is?"
"I've seen him; he's in my homeroom, but I don't know his name."

These remarks were heard frequently outside the yearbook room as staff members attempted to identify pictures. Members of the staff began the year in earnest with the sale of ads to finance the school annual. During sixth period, they could be seen typing, writing copy, deciding on cover design, identifying pictures, scheduling picture-taking days, and planning layouts. Many hours outside the school day were devoted to preparing the yearbook.

In addition, members of the staff attended meetings in May of 1966 held by last year's staff. Many valuable insights into the production and financing of a yearbook were gained at these meetings.

It is hoped that the students of Pocomoke High School will enjoy the Papoose as much as the staff has enjoyed compiling it.

FBLA Combines Service With Business

Much emphasis is placed today on money, budgets, and new ideas for making money. Preparation for a business career is an extremely important task.

Students interested in becoming business leaders formed the Future Business Leaders of America Club at Pocomoke High School this year. Under the sponsorship of Miss Mary Emily Matthews and Mr. Wilson Duncan, the FBLA has had a very successful beginning.

The club aims to develop competent, aggressive business leadership; to create more interest and understanding in the intelligent choice of business occupations; and to develop character. Initiative, responsibility, and cooperation are also encouraged.

The newspaper attracts students to publication work by offering them opportunities to use their ability, to provide the incentive for improvement of school publications, and to furnish a monthly paper to the students and faculty of Pocomoke High School. The Arrowhead has also helped new students at Pocomoke High become acquainted with the upperclassmen and school activities.

The Key Club is a service organization sponsored by the Kiwanis Club. Aims of the club include developing character, building leadership and promoting better citizenship. The motto "We Build" requires service to the school and the community.

The club's projects of the current year included the sale of tickets for the Kiwanis-sponsored movie, help with the Pocomoke-Chincoteague Horse Show, sale of house numbers-a joint project with the Kiwanis Club, sponsorship of field day, sale of Democratic Messenger subscriptions, and presentation of an African missionary as guest speaker.

There are presently 25 members in the club. Membership requires that a boy be at least a sophomore in high school and maintain a C+ average. Under the leadership of Mr. William McComb, the Key Club has had an outstanding year.

Each free period this year high school students could hear the Pocomoke High School band practicing for such functions as local festivities, concerts and Band Day at the University of Maryland. At the start of the year, they could be observed marching on the field in preparation for the afternoon home soccer games. As the year progressed, the band and majorettes participated in the annual Halloween and Christmas parades held here in Pocomoke and in Salisbury.

Under the capable leadership of Mr. Charles Bragg, the band performed successfully in the Memorial Day Parade, the Firemen's Parade in Onancock, Virginia, Band Day at the University of Maryland and the Chicken Festival held in Pocomoke City last summer. In December, the band and chorus participated together in the Christmas Concert. They presented this program to various schools in the county. In May, the band again joined the chorus for the annual Spring Concert.

Band parents worked hard during this school year to raise money for the band with candy sales, bakes and a dance. This money was used to take the band and chorus to dinner in Ocean City.

Special honor came to the band this year. In March, the annual judging was held at Salisbury State College where the Pocomoke High School band received a rating of Excellent.

The Sound of Music

Under the able direction of Miss Holmes, members of the Pocomoke High School chorus presented several successful concerts and assembly programs. Accompanied by Susan Marshall on the piano, they participated in the Christmas and Spring concerts, which were presented to the public. Both concerts proved to be quite entertaining and enjoyable. For a final highlight of their year, the members of the chorus joined the band for a dinner in Ocean City in June.

The Women's Ensemble was formed this year by talented girls of the chorus. Under the direction of Miss Holmes, they too participated in the annual Christmas and Spring Concerts. In February, the girls prepared several English ballads for presentation during the "Experience in Depth" program for the senior class.

The Conservation Club of Pocomoke High School has helped students cultivate a genuine interest in conservation of natural resources. For the past three years the club, under the direction of Mr. Wesley Fortney, has enjoyed several very interesting field trips.

This year the members participated in a study of firearms safety and marksmanship, took a trip to Calvert Cliffs in Southern Maryland, and sponsored a fishing contest.

During this year the club undertook three projects: (1) to purchase stamps for distribution among club members, (2) to submit regular news reports to the Arrowhead on the club's activities, (3) and to remember some group at Christmas.

In addition, members prepared an exhibit of stamp albums and collecting tools for display in the front hall. They also enjoyed a visit by the Brazilian exchange student, Tristao de Alencar Araripo Neto, at the March meeting.

The Future Nurses of America introduces its members to the more important fields of medicine and their respective requirements. The club is composed of girls interested in entering some phase of the medical profession.

Speakers for the club meetings included: Sgt. Joseph Hefferon, U.S. Army; Miss Jackie Tarr, a 1965 graduate of Pocomoke High School, and now a student at Maryland General Hospital; and Mrs. Shirley Tilghman, a student teacher of biology.

Under the new coaching direction of Marvin Detwiler, the tenacious Warriors displayed much potential in their hard fought games. The 3-5 record for the 1966 soccer season shows that the losses were not easy victories for the opponents since the scores were marginal. Seven seniors saw action throughout the year. Dominated by juniors and freshmen, the soccer ensemble will be tough in the seasons to come.

This year as an added feature, the team voted for the MOST VALUABLE PLAYER. Charles Overholt and Steve Hornung shared the honored title.

During the 1966 season, the Warriorettes posted a 1-3-2 record which showed the close competition between Worcester County and Somerset County. Due to these circumstances, the girls were tied in two of the six contests. Mrs. Pat Westcott had 3 seniors who were starters in all 6 games. Much experience will be on hand next season despite the loss of the three seniors, for the team was dominated by juniors and sophomores. The County Championship will be the goal for next year.

District 5 Champs Compete

Coach Marvin Detwiler's Warriors had a most commendable 1966-67 basketball year as they displayed a record of 10-5 during the fifteen scheduled games of the season.

For the second time in three years, the Warriors traveled to the District 5 Finals in Salisbury and carried away the Class C honors. After defeating North Dorchester High by a score of 74-62, the Warriors played the highly regarded, defending State Champions, Somerset Dragons. From the opening tap, the Warriors showed the huge Civic Center crowd that they had come to win. The game went into overtime and the Warriors upset the Dragons by a final score of 65-63 and captured the District 5 honors.

By defeating the Dragons, the Warriors earned the right to play at College Park in the State C Finals. Mt. Savage High, (15-6), the eventual State Champs, representing the Western Shore, played the Warriors on Friday, March 10. After the first quarter, the Mt. Savage Indians maintained a slim lead. The final score was Mt. Savage 66 and Pocomoke 58.

Coach Detwiler's team represented Pocomoke well this season and will hopefully continue to do so in the years to follow.

The Warriors' big Jim Mason goes up for two points in District 5 game with Somerset.

Warriorettes Post Winning Record

With a composite record of 5-4, the P.H.S. Warriorettes had a most successful 1966-67 season. The girls were 2-2 in County play; they posted a 4-3 log in non-County contests. The team had only two seniors, Linda Ennis and Nancy Nibblett; Nancy, during an afternoon game with Atlantic High School, made 26 points which broke a school record previously set by Joanne Holland in 1962. Because of the majority of sophomores and juniors, who will return next year, Coach Pat Westcott looks to the future with an eye on the County title.

Season Ends With 6-5 Log

Parsons, Faith Hall, Peggy Brittingham.

The 1966-67 basketball season was very successful as the P.H.S. cheerleaders led the Warriors through three important phases of Maryland basketball. Spurred on by the cheerleaders' spirited yells, the Warriors won the County Title, District 5 Finals, and went on to the state playoff at College Park. Juggling busy schedules, they always managed to find the time needed for practice. New cheers and songs added this year were warmly received by the student body.

And Pep Club Boost Team to State

The Pep Club serves to inspire student attendance and support at athletic events and pep rallies. Its members try to make students realize that they, as well as the cheerleaders, should be enthusiastic supporters of their school teams. By attending all games, they promote the best possible sportsmanship, leadership, and enthusiasm in all projects the school undertakes.

Softball Title Ends with Tie

A tie for the Worcester County Championship occurred after the Warriorettes lost their last county game with Snow Hill in May. Compiling a winning record of 6-3, the girls played well against all of their opponents and much recognition should be given to their coach, Mrs. Pat Westcott. Because she is losing only three seniors, Mrs. Westcott has many experienced players on hand for the 1968 season.

SENIOR BASEBALL SQUAD: Nelson Townsend—Coach, Glenn Kurka, Sonny Morrison, Terry Dix, Charles Overholt.

Headed by their new coach, Mr. Nelson Townsend, the Warriors had a fine '67 baseball season. The 4-6 record, which the Warriors displayed doesn't fully represent the hard-fought games staged during the season. Five games out of the six losses were a result of last inning errors and walks, for in each game Pocomoke led going into the final stanza. In the county contests, the team defeated Worcester twice and Stephen Decatur once. Hopes for the County Title were dampened when Snow Hill managed to take advantage of three walks given up by the Warriors' pitching staff in a decisive home game.

The opponents of the Warriors felt the strength of the P.H.S. ensemble throughout the season—especially Worcester who was defeated in the last scheduled game of the year.

Posting an 8-6 overall record, the Junior Varsity played exceptional basketball this past season. Mr. David Ross, a new member of the P.H.S. faculty, coached the team and greatly improved the past records of the J.V. The last four games spoiled a 8-2 record. The squad is looking forward to next season when they hope to top this year's record.

Good Year for J.V. and Golf Team

With a commendable record of 3-1, the P.H.S. Warriors broke even in county play by splitting matches with Stephen Decatur. Mr. Wilson Duncan coached the team this year. With the limited four game schedule, the squad was able to practice frequently at the Winter Quarters golf course here in town. On May 26, the team played in the District Five Tournament and came in third.

The addition of five girls gave a feminine touch to this scholastic sport. Although the five girls didn't actually participate in any matches, they showed signs of great promise for next year's team.

A varied curriculum permits students to choose from many different subjects. Offered this year for the first time is a new science program. This consists mainly of lab work in which there are many interesting and worthwhile fields to explore.
