

Mr. Edward Luckey Visits Seniors

Representative From Washington College

On Thursday, March 27, Mr. Edward Luckey spoke to the Senior Class. Mr. Luckey gave us many reasons why further education was essential to our lives. He also showed us several charts pertaining to the amount of money earned with no education, high school education, and College or University education. Through these he made us see the actual need for further education.

He then referred to Washington College as a splendid place for us to continue our education. He spoke of the expense, the dormitories, the campus, the clubs, the course and degrees offered at Washington College.

His talk proved a great benefit to us, since many of us were undecided where to continue our education.

Senior Class Play To Be Given at Opera House May 7

The Senior Class play "A Full House" to be given at the Opera House May 7, should prove a success. The characters are alive and up to the minute, with their wise cracks and funny actions. Every character is different and each gives you a new laugh. Don't forget to watch Susie, and Parks, the maid and butler. They don't seem to understand what it's all about but they are forever learning and bumping into new experiences; they offer much amusement. Do we have a love affair?—I'll say—two of them! Ottily and George, the newlyweds seem to be continually having trouble but still they stand together and what could be more thrilling than the pretty Daphne and her suitor, Ned Pembroke, Jr. Just watch

Early History Of Snow Hill Parish

The purpose of this essay is to trace the early development of the Protestant Episcopal Church of Snow Hill and to call attention to this early temple of faith, as a monument of that civilization our forefathers were building.

When William and Mary came to the English throne there was an establishment of the English church in

Baseball

Baseball season has now opened, and every day a number of both experienced and inexperienced ball players may be seen on the S.H.H.S. campus. Many remarks can be heard, such as: "all right; let us have it right here"; and the balls go whizzing past, making each one feel much enthusiasm in the game, while each boy's nerves are tingling clear down in his toes, to make a home run.

Our capable coach, Mr. Bromley, is

Snow Hill Wins Return Practice Game With Delmar

On April 4, Delmar played a return practice game at Snow Hill. It was a very exciting and interesting game and showed that the Snow Hill team had improved since it was defeated at Delmar.

Cash pitched in the first part of the game while Townsend and Sturgis the colony. So by the act of General Assembly in 1692, Maryland was divided into thirty parishes with territorial limits.

"Snow Hill Parish" was not of these original parishes. It consisted of Boggettenorton and Mattapony Hundreds, and extended east from the Pocomoke River to the Atlantic Ocean, and north from the Virginia line to far within the lines of the present state of Delaware.

The first church of this parish was in Snow Hill — "The Snow Hill Church", as it was then known, was not on the site of the present building but stood near the banks of the Pocomoke River.

The changing of the name of the church can be found in records of the Assembly of the Upper House. The records ran as follows: "Wednesday, October 24, 1711. There was read the Rt. Hon. and Rev. the Lord Bishop of London's letter in favor of the Rev. Christopher Wilkinson, by his lordship sent into the province and recommended to officiate as rector of All Saints Parish. Whereupon it was advised that the Honorable, the President (Edward Lloyd, acting Governor) appoint him to said parish." But this name was not carried out for Rev. Wilkinson wrote a letter to the Bishop of London in 1724 and said, "It is thirteen years since I arrived in Maryland. I was inducted into All Hallows Parish, Somerset County, first, and continued there for three years." So it must be correct when we applied Rev. Wilkinson's name as the rector of the All Hallows.

It is obvious that the name "All Saints" was not carried out for simple reason that there was another church in Somerset County by that name.

In June 1748, an act of the Colonial Assembly was passed for a levy of Eighty thousand pounds of tobacco for the building of a parish church of brick, to be erected on a part of the ground laid out for public use in Snow Hill. The site chosen was an excellent one, for it is on a hill and was opposite the town market lot, which is now the corner of Church and Market Streets.

Rev. Patrick Glasgow's and Rev. John Rosse's names are associated with the erection of the present building. The building was started during Rev. Glasgow's ministry, but, as he died in 1750; it was completed by Rev. Rosse.

Rev. Rosse was an ideal minister as well as a leader. He served at the "All Hallows" for a very long time (1754-1775). It is he, to whom we owe the planning of parts of Snow Hill and also the establishment of the country system of education.

There are in the rear of the church two tablets which testify that his wife, Elizabeth Allen, and his daughter Margaret, were buried within the church under the floor.

Successors to Mr. Glasgow and Mr. Rosse were Rev. Edward Gault and Rev. Leonard Cutting. The first was a Whig, having studied at Princeton and Edinburgh. Dr. Cutting was an Oxford graduate, a good classical scholar. At one time he was professor in King's College (now Columbia University) New York.

In Mr. Covington's book "The Early History of the All Hallows Parish," he sketches the beginning of the All Hallows and he says that he wrote it in a community composed largely of non-conformists of dissenters to one of prominence and ascendancy, in later colonial days. He also says in his book that "I agree with Rev. Robert Scott who says, 'we hold to the tradition that the bricks for the building of the church were brought from England.'"

The Old Bible which is kept under glass cover near the entrance, is one of the valuable possessions of this church and was dedicated to it by Queen Anne. The title page bears on it "London 1701."

"The building stands today, as before 1776, staunch and true, little changed on the outside save for the buttress of a walk on the southwest corner and the luxuriance of ivy. The ivy was brought years ago from Kenilworth and was planted by a member of the Church, Priscilla Townsend Upshur." This wealth of green ivy which now grows over the All Hallows seems to stretch out its many arms in protection of the inheritance from our forefathers.

The old bell which originally hung in a belfry, now hangs in a tree on the left side of the church, which adds a touch of picturesqueness. It is rung by means of a long pole attached to the bell. Would that this bell could relate the happenings of the many years it has sounded, "Ring out the old! Ring in the new!"

doing splendid work training the players, but it's up to the boys to win. Each player should put every ounce of energy he has in practicing that they may be able to win the Field Meet, not for any honors that may come to any individual, but for their old high. Let us work, and even though all do not make a team, they can at least feel they have done their best in trying to. They can also be helpful by cheering and encouraging others to win.

Only a few weeks more to practice before the Field Meet. Let everyone get busy and make that time worth while. By working in unison they may be able to make a greater record for our school than has been made in the past.

Let us keep in our minds the slogan that it's for our school we are working; and may it be said that the classes of 1930-31 did their part in living up to their standard; and that each game whether lost or won, was played fairly. Get Busy Boys, and Win!

MR. PERKINS

ADDRESSES SCHOOL

On Thursday April 3, we were called to the Senior Home Room where Mr. Simmons introduced us to the speaker, Mr. Perkins.

Mr. Perkins was sent out by the Maryland Conservation Bureau. He showed us stereopticon pictures of birds and talked about their appearance, instinct and habits. He also told us why some birds are extinct today and how we could help to prevent other species from becoming extinct. Everyone found his talk very interesting.

JUNIORS TAKE UP

INTERESTING PROJECT

IN HOME ECONOMICS

The Junior girls have been studying home management for the past month. At the end of this study we were required to hand in note books on home management.

The next project we took up was the painting of furniture. This proved quite as interesting as home management, and many of the attractive articles made will be seen at the exhibition in May.

With Miss Reinecke as the driver, a truck full of gay Sophomores left the home of Miss Jones Friday evening, April 11, at 7:00 o'clock P. M. bound for a very enjoyable weenie roast at Public Landing. Miss Reinecke exhibited much skill in driving, while the persons in the back of the truck found the ride very chilly.

Upon arriving at Public Landing the class discovered that it had supplied itself with matches and kerosene, but had forgotten to bring dry wood with which to start a fire. This problem was solved by the aid of Charles Moore, who found wood for the picnics, and helped them to start a fire.

The "dogs" were roasted and enjoyed by everyone. After the "dogs" came the roasting of marshmallows. During this time one could hear Miss Jones exclaiming, "I will roast this one without burning it—Oh! there it goes again," and see her lift the burning marshmallow from the fire.

Finally everyone became convinced that he had eaten enough and proceeded to the bowling alleys. A bowling contest issued in which Elizabeth Byrd gained renown by slipping down to aid her ball in making a "strike" or "spare". Although everyone tried diligently, Miss Reinecke carried off the honors by a great lead.

Everyone now decided to return to childhood plays, so they gathered on the new addition to the boardwalk and started playing. Miss Jones had much trouble trying to teach them how to dance the "Virginia Reel". She finally abandoned all hope and started such games as "Farmer in the Dell," and "Drop the Handkerchief." However, all good times must come to an end and so this one ended when we arrived home at ten o'clock.

PRELIMINARY DECLAMATION CONTEST

Snow Hill's Preliminary Declamation Contest was held April 11 in the Senior Home Room where the whole school was assembled. The participants read their selections very well.

Mary Brown, who gave the selection, "Aunt Jane at the Missionary Society," was a typical member of such an organization. Harriet Grey's selection, "Lasca" suited her well. Sara Moore Hayward spoke O'Henry's "Memoirs of a Yellow Dog," and gave us a splendid picture of this yellow pup who lived with a fat lady in a New York flat. James Hancock caused many laughs when he rendered "Tom Sawyer Learns to Smoke" from Mark Twain's book "Tom Sawyer." Eloise Adkins spoke "Our Angel Boy" which was taken from Gene Stratton Porter's popular book "Laddie." Vera Jones gave "The Dinner Party" taken from Bird's "Christmas Carol." Holland Stanford also spoke "Memoirs of a Yellow Dog." Elizabeth Byrd's selection was "The Theatre Party" from "Mrs. Wigg's of the Cabbage Patch." George Lee Barnes spoke "The Saint John's Fund." Marion Pettit, coming last, rendered "The One Legged Goose." Marion nearly proved to us that geese have only one leg.

Miss Bratten, Mr. Bromley and Mr. Jones, the judges, chose Mary Brown, Harriet Grey, Vera Jones, Sara Moore Hayward, Marion Pettit, and George Lee Barnes as the six to speak at the Opera House on May 2.

SCIENCE CLUB NOTES

There was a regular meeting of the Science Club on Monday, March 17 in the Lab. The meeting was called to order by the president and the business meeting ensued. Ways of raising money were discussed, and it was decided that on Friday, March 21 the club would serve a luncheon.

Gordon Conner came before the club with a lecture on "Materials For Construction." He was later admitted to the club.

There being no further business the meeting was adjourned.

FRENCH CLUB NOTES

The Les Hiboux Francais held its business meeting on March 14. Most of the time was devoted to teaching the new members La Marseilles, the national anthem of France. The old members sang it also.

It was decided to take up Victor Hugo and Dumas as the French authors to be studied. All of the members chose some book written by one of these authors as they were required to read one and report on it at the April meeting if possible.

Alma Martin read a very interesting article on France to the club after which the meeting was adjourned.

CLUBS HELP FURNISH NEW SCHOOL

Different organizations in the school are earning money in various ways for furnishings and other accessories for the new building. This shows a fine school spirit and is a goal well worth working for. When the clubs earn enough money to give something useful to the high school they will feel that their efforts have not been in vain.

CLUB TREASURIES ARE INCREASING

The clubs of our school are showing much interest and enthusiasm in earning money to go toward gifts to the new school. Several bakes, ice cream sales, candy sales, and popcorn sales have been held and also a luncheon has been served. They are now planning to have sandwich and candy sales at the baseball games. We hope these will be successful and are sure the clubs will have worth while gifts to show for their efforts.

SCIENCE CLUB SERVES LUNCHEON

The Science Club held a luncheon Friday, March 21, in order to earn some money for their gift to the new school. The luncheon was a typical old fashioned Maryland one and proved a great success.

We suggest that boys stop using hair grease as their heads are so slippery that everything slips their minds.

them and learn.

And there is a mystery too! Who could have stolen the jewels of the wealthy Mrs. Pembroke? That's what the police Mooney would like to know, and he doesn't intend to let the thief escape. How is King, the "rough Romeo," involved in this affair—yes, there is plenty of mystery! There never was a play that didn't have and I told you so person, and Miss Winnecker is this person, for sure. Mrs. Flemings, the poor old lady who owns the apartment, thinks it is a terrible world she lives in, and is very indignant at being taken advantage of in this way. The flapper, Vera Vernon, offers much amusement, and even though she is cheated out of what is rightly hers, she sure can hold her own. Just imagine all these different characters in one play! We'll guarantee that you'll forget your troubles.

OPENING OF BASEBALL SEASON

April 15th brings the opening of our baseball season. All of us want our boys to win this year so let's all get down to work and help them. This can be done by attending games and cheering with all our might. No one has any idea how much good cheering does to help a team. There is no reason why Snow Hill can't win in baseball this year. If we will all back the team up and cheer as we should, we will win! So let's all help the team all we can and have a champion baseball team as well as a champion soccer team.

FACULTY VERSUS VOLLEY BALL TEAM

Look out Mr. Simmons! Hit it! Whee! Watch Mr. Jones serve!

These were some of the remarks to be heard during the volley ball game between the faculty and volley ball team. Mr. Jones' high jumps after the ball, Mr. Simmons' brilliant work at center, and Miss Jones' beautiful serves were the high spots in the game. After a tough battle the ball went to Miss Reinecke to serve. She hit at it valiantly, but just smit it. Seeing this she yelled:

"Keep it up! Hit it, Mr. Simmons!

Mr. Simmons missed it, then turned around and replied.

Why it was nearer to you than to me! Why didn't you hit it yeorself?

Elizabeth Warner made a beautiful serve. Mr. Jones in his determination to hit that bobbing ball, jumped three feet in the air, and came down from his trip very angry, and he missed the ball by four inches.

After the pedagogues changed sides they got along better and Mr. Uhrbrock did some beautiful playing. In fact, he and Mr. Jones were so intent upon cooperation that on one occasion the referee found them clasped in each other's arms.

The faculty fought a losing battle and finally retired with the score 27-6 in favor of the Volley Ball Team.

The line up was as follows:

SOPHOMORES PROUD OF BASEBALL PLAYERS

The Sophomores are very proud of their home room baseball players. This year is the first year for some-time that the school has had so many players out of the Sophomore Class.

It is thought that in the next two years they will be successful and expert players.

THE CLUBS OF S. H. H. S. WILL GIVE PROGRAM AT OPERA HOUSE

On May 14, the clubs of Snow Hill High School will give a program demonstrating the type of work that has been carried on in the clubs. The receipts of the night will go to the benefit of the school.

The Dramatic Club will give readings. The play "Cinderella," will be presented by the French Club, and the entire play will be given in French. An illustrated lecture will be given by the Science Club.

Youth is the time for joy,
Youth is the time for play,
But youth has its many sorrows
As time goes on its way.
But let it be remembered

Whose step is the lightest
Who leads others by his call,
He is not always the happiest
But oftimes the saddest of all.

HAPPY DAYS ARE GONE

A dark cloud passed over the Green household, when Dr. Brown pronounced Betty's sickness a light case of Scarlet Fever. The Doctor said that Betty would be quarantined for at least twenty-nine days, and the others in the house would be quarantined for a while.

The case was pronounced on Friday, and by Sunday the future looked very dull. Sunday being a rainy day everyone was so miserable they could have jumped up and down and screamed.

The doctor told Phil, Betty's brother, that he could return to school in three or four days which would be Wednesday or Thursday.

By Friday Phil was not yet in school, and as his mother came down stairs he said, "Dr. Brown walked out the door and did not say anything when I asked him when I could go to school. I have already missed a week from school and—"

Betty, up stairs, "Mother! Mother! come get me a book!"

Phil kept on talking, "If I miss any more school and get Scarlet Fever, too that will be—"

Betty, still with a strong voice, "Mother, come on, hurry up!"

"Betty, for pete's sake shut up! I must go to school. Dr. Brown hath denied me three times. Something is going to happen if I miss five weeks of school. I will fail."

Mother putting in a good word for the doctor, said: "I am sure you will be in school on Monday."

"Well, if I am not, it will be just too bad!"

When Monday came the Board of Health said that Phil must spend a week in a private home before going to school.

During that week, Phil was happy not to hear the yells of Betty but it was still a miserable week.

Happy days were here again when Phil returned to school the following Monday.
